Sibton Abbey, in Suffolk.

IBTON ABBEY was founded, according to the best authorities, in 1149,^a by William de Cayneto or Cheney, sometimes called "Willielmus fil. Roberti vicecomes."^b It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary. Its first inhabitants were a colony from Wardon in Bedfordshire.

Taylor, in his Index Monasticus, says, the revenues of this abbey received considerable additions from the pious contributions of the Lady Margaret de Cressy, and a number of other benefactors; all which donations were confirmed by charters of King Henry the Second and King Henry the Third.

The following is given as the list of benefactors:

The Lady Margery de Cressy, daughter of the founder, about A.D. 1149; Robert Walensis; William, son of Robert the sheriff;^c William the Black; Geoffrey the Black; Ralph Walensis; Hugh de Cressy; Roger Bigod, earl of Norfolk; Richard Fylby and John Fylby; Robert Garnish of Heveningham; William Rous of Dynyngton; John Lawrence, chaplain of Westleton; Hubert de Derneford; John, son of Oliver de Vallibus or Vaux; master Alexander de Muncy; Basilia, prioress of Campsey; Roger, son of Ivo de Cranesford; Thomas de Donewic; Normannus Manne; John de Redenhale, clerk, rector of the church of Shippe-medne; Sir William de Bovile, knt.; Thomas de Donewyc; rector of Westleton; Roger de Melles, chaplain of Donewyc; Roger Bygod; Julianus de Braham; Hubert de Alencun; William of Westhaie; John de Verdon, lord of Bressingham; Ralph Loverd of Shelfanger; Thomas and Simon Sorel, t. Hen. III.; Robert Fitz Roger de Corbrug, t. Hen. III.; Reginald de Pynrho, t. Hen. III.; Sir Walter de Senges, t. Hen. III.; Sir Robert Hovell, 1268; William de Tornello.

The value of the Revenues of Sibton in 1291, may be gathered from the note below.^d

Among the Lists of Principals of Religious Houses, prefixed to the last edition of Tanner's Notitia Monastica, we have the following

^a See Chron. Jo. Oxneade, MS. Cotton. Nero D. II. and the Chronicle of Louth Park: though other annals make it founded A. D. 1150.

^b Tann. Notit. Monast. Suff. xxxviii. His foundation was confirmed in the first instance by King Stephen. See the Appendix of Instruments, Num. I.

^c Taylor, here, makes this a different person from the founder.

Taylor says, "A. The present owner is John, lord bishop of Salisbury, in right of Dorothea his wife, late Dorothea Scrivener."

There was a Hospital at the gate of this abbey, to the better support of which Simon, bishop of Norwich, appropriated the church of Crainsford, in Suffolk, A.D. 1264.^e

Tanner mentions two REGISTERS, one "penes Tho. Scrivener de Sibton arm." the other, as belonging, in 1645, to the Earl of Arundel, now in the library of the Royal Society, num. 221.^f

Narratio Foundationis Abbatiae de Sibeton, in agro Suffolc.

[Ex registro de Sibeton penes Tho. Scrivener gen.]

ANNO Domini millesimo sexagesimo sexto Willielmus dux Normannorum venit in Angliam, et, occiso Haraldo tempore conquestus, coronatur in regem: quo tempore quidam Walterus de Cadomo venit, cum Roberto Malet comite Cornubiæ, et domino Honore de Eye, qui post conquestum tenuit baroniam de Horsford, quam tenuit de prædicto comite ut de Honore prædicto. Idem Walterus habuit quendam filium et hæredem, Robertum nomine, qui in fundo et solo proprio fundavit ecclesiam sancti Petri de Sibton tempore Willielmi Rufi regis Angliæ; qui habuit tres filios, viz. Rogerum, Johannem, et Willielmum. Rogerus et Johannes obierunt sine prole de se. Defuncto itaque prædicto Roberto, Johannes filius ejus, qui postea dictus est Johannes vicecomes, successit ei in hæreditate prædictæ baroniæ de Horsford. Evoluta autem aliquanto tempore, idem Johannes, gravi infirmitate percussus, cognovit vovisse se Deo construere abbatiam de ordine Cisterciensi in fundo suo, propter multa mala quæ gesserat, tam tempore pacis quæ regebat vicecomitatum, quam tempore belli. Et quia ex eadem infirmitate, qua laborabat, sensit se vivere non posse, rogavit et conjuravit Willielmum fratrem suum quem suum reliquit hæredem, qui postea dictus est Willielmus de Chethney, L. Willielmus de Cayneto, ut pro ipso votum quod voverat, perficeret et abbatiam de ordine Cisterciensi construeret. Mortuo itaque Johanne, Willielmus hæres exitit in prædictâ baroniâ; et postea vicecomitatum rexit, unde Willielmus vicecomes voca batur. Hic autem Willielmus, prout ordo consanguinitatis exigebat, pro animâ fratris sui sollicitus, votum quod voverat, devotè implevit; et, Deo volente, fundavit ecclesiam monasterii S. Mariæ de Sibton de ordine Cistercii, in solo proprio, per manus abbatis de Sartis, quod modo vocatur Wardon; et terram suam de Sibton ad perficiendam abbatiam dedit, et cartâ suâ confirmavit, anno Domini millesimo centesimo quadagesimo nono, tempore Stephani regis Angliæ: quæ carta sic incipit:

Stanley Abbey, in Wiltshire.

TANLEY ABBEY has its history written to our hand, by the Rev. William Lisle Bowles, whose account^a we shall make no apology for adopting, as the best which it is probable can now be given.

"Before we proceed to illustrate the history and local antiquities of Stanley Abbey," he observes, "it will be proper to advert to all that we already know of it. This is contained in Dugdale, Leland, and Tanner. The information which Dugdale has given^b is taken from the register of Lacock, in Biblio. Cottoniana, namely that, in the year 1161, the Abbey of Stanley was first founded at Lockswell, removed from Quarrie, in the Isle of Wight; that after three years it was removed from Lockswell to Stanleigh.

"By Leland we are informed that Matilda the empress first founded a religious house in a place called Lockswell; that afterwards Henry the Second removed the brothers from Lockswell to Stanley, where he founded the Abbey of Stanley, and gave the lordship to them^c.

"In Tanner's Notitia is contained as follows:

"'LOCKSWELL. This place, in the forest of Chippenham, was given by Henry, son to the Duke of Normandy, and Earl of Anjou, afterwards Henry the Second, to the monks of Quarre, upon condition that they should settle there a convent of Cistercians, which they did A. D. 1151; but three years after, that prince and his mother Maud, the empress, removed the religious from thence to STANLEIGH, where they built and endowed, to the honour of the blessed Virgin Mary, an abbey for thirteen white monks, whose revenues were valued, 26th Hen. VIII. at 177*l.* 0*s.* 8*d.* per annum, Dugd. 222*l.* 19*s.* 4*d.* Speed.^d The site was granted, 28th Hen. VIII., to Sir Edward Boynton.'

"This is the substance of all the knowledge we have of the foundation and the history of Stanley Abbey.

"The documents for the foundation of this knowledge are, first, the charter of Henry the Second, son of the Duke of Normandy, published by Dugdale, ex Officio Armorum^e; secondly, the charter of Henry the Second, and his mother Matilda, published in the Monasticon^f; thirdly, two charters of Richard the First, also published in the Monasticon^g.

"I am not aware," Mr. Bowles proceeds, "that there exist any other published authentic documents for the history of Stanley Abbey; the light, therefore, which I hope to throw on the EARLIEST FOUNDATION of Lockswell and this abbey will be derived from personal investigation, and from authentic copies of all the original grants in the possession of the Baynton family, by whom the lands belonging to both abbeys were purchased from Henry the Eighth. The most important of these are, first, the charter of Henry, son of the Duke of Normandy, (afterwards king Henry the Second) copied in the Monasticon; secondly, a grant from Henry Duke of Normandy, of a hide of land at Lamburne, which Hugh Plugenet gave to the monastery at St. Mary at Drownfont, in the manor of Chippenham. This grant has never yet been published; upon this, therefore, it will be proper to make a few remarks. In the first charter, Henry is entitled the son of the Duke of Normandy; and therefore it must have been granted before the death of his father. In the second grant, Henry is entitled Duke of Normandy. The first grant from Henry, son of the Duke of Normandy, gives the lands at Lockswell to the monks of St. Mary de Quararia in Insula, &c. to build there "capitalem abbatiam," for the soul of his father Geoffrey Duke of Normandy, his mother's, and his own, and for the welfare of the kingdom of England; this grant was in his father's lifetime, in the year 1150, as in that year his father died, and Henry had the title of Duke of Normandy soon after. Dugdale places the foundation of Stanley 1161, and Leland 1151; in fact, this latter date must have been the date of the earliest abbey at Lockswell.

"In the second charter of confirmation, when Henry was Duke of Normandy, we find a hide of land in Lamburn given by Hugh Plugenet (the name of Pinnegor very common in this county,) to the monks of Drownfont. There is no published account of Drownfont, or THE MONKS OF DROWNFONT; and therefore it was my first object to ascertain where this Drownfont was situated, and the origin of this forgotten name; and I flatter myself I have completely succeeded.

"It will be remembered that the land first granted in Wiltshire was for the foundation of Lockswell. I therefore naturally concluded, that in the neighbourhood of Lockswell (now Lockswell-heath, at the back of the Marquis of Lansdown's plantations at Bowood) there must be some remarkable spring or fountain; for the second unpublished charter gives so much land to the monks of St. Mary of Drownfont. In the third grant, conjunctively from Matilda and her son, of a meadow in the forest of Chippenham, near Lacock Bridge, this Abbey Drownfont is called Abbatia de Drogonis fonte. In further investigation of the place and the origin of the name, I was convinced that the abbey which had existed for three years in Lockswell, and then vanished, like Aladdin's palace, must, from the name, have been built near the spring or fountain in Lockswell, which must yet exist.

"Why it was called the Abbey de Drownfont, and 'de Drogonis Fonte,' must be equally clear, when, in turning to the first and earliest grant, we find this remarkable passage: 'Ego filius, &c. Ducis Normanniæ have given Lockswell, (Lockwellam) with all the rights and customs which my mother and myself gave to Drogo, my mother's chamberlain, to the monks of Quarre;—terras, cum consuetudinibus et libertatibus, quos et mater mea et ego dedimus Drogoni matris meæ camerario.' It will therefore, I think, clearly follow, that Drogo, Matilda's chamberlain, having the first possession of Lockswell, the name of the abbey, as long as it then continued, was that of St. Mary de Drownfont, or de Drogonis Fonte. To this abbey the grants are made primarily of Henry and Matilda. There is also a grant to the same abbey from William Earl of Salisbury, son of Patrick, the founder of Bradenstoke Abbey, in the neighbourhood. All the other grants, from Richard I., dated Messina, when he went to the Crusades; from Edward I., dated Dumfermling, where he kept his Christmas after the conquest of Scotland; from Henry III., &c. are to STANLEY.

"The site of the earliest abbey at Lockswell, the name, and the origin of that name, as I flatter myself, I have been the first to discover. I may perhaps, if you will give me leave, occupy a few more pages of your valuable Miscellany some future time, in communicating an account of the other grants which throw so much light on the history of the Abbey of Stanley, in this parish, and particularly in describing the beautiful fountain or spring at Lockswell, which has been nameless for centuries, and which, bursting from the top of a woody and romantic eminence, which commands a vast sweep of distant country in front, winds his way

A very fair and perfect impression of the COMMON

SEAL of this Abbey, attached to a deed dated in 1363, remains in the Augmentation Office: it is round, and has for its subject the Blessed Virgin and child on one side, and Saint John the Baptist on the other; between them is an olive tree. The legend is S. COMVNE. ABBIS. ET. C'VENTVS. DE. STANLEYA. The impression is on dark green wax.

Joreval, Gervis or Jervaux Abbey, in Yorkshire.

OREVAL ABBEY is situated in the parish of East Witton, in the deanry of Catterick, and archdeaconry of Richmond. The first foundation of the convent was at Fors. Burton says, "In the time of King Stephen, Akarias son of Bardolf, and nephew of Bodin, lord of many possessions in Yorkshire, having given to Peter de Quinciano, a devout man, and an able physician, and to some other monks of Savigny, one carucate and an half of land in Wandesleydale at Fors, called Dalegrange, to which he gave three carucates in Worton, where the said friar Peter and his companions began at first to form an Abbey, and so erected simple edifices for their habitation, in A.D. 1145, which they at first called the abbey of Fors, then the abbey of Wandesleydale, afterwards the abbey of Charity. This was afterwards made subject to the abbey of Byland, from whence, in A.D. 1150, an abbat and twelve monks were sent, who, A.D. 1156, on account of the pooriness of the place and intemperance of the air, were removed, with the consent of Herveus, son of Akarias their original founder, to a pleasant valley upon the river Eure, in East Witton, and the great pasture of Wandesleydale, given to them by Conan, duke of Brittany and earl of Richmond, taking the bones of their founder and his wife along with them. There John de Kingston their first abbat began to build a church (dedicating it to St. Mary), and other offices, calling it from its situation Joreval."^a

Alan, earl of Brittany, father of Conan, granted to these monks toll, theam, infangtheof, &c.^b

Burton has arranged the places alphabetically in which the abbey of Joreval had property. These were,

Aikesgarth, with the church there, which was appropriated to the abbey in 1423; tithes in Ainderby-steple; lands in Alverton, Appleton, and Askerigge; free warren in Aykebergh; land in Barton, Boston, or St. Botolph in Hoi-land, Braithwaite-grange in Witton, in Brigwath, Brumpton, Burgh, and Burton Constable; a fishery in Chambesgarth; lands and rents in Clifton, Clough in Sedberglic, Coleburn, Colling, Coldlongston, and Colsterdale-grange; lands in Croft, Dalton, Travers, Darlington, Didreston, Dykerberghe, Ellingstring, Ellington or Elkington, Engelby or Ingleby, Estleby or Exilby, Feldome, Ferriby, Fingal, Fors, Galtres, Gilling, Grisendene, Grisedale, Hawkeswell, Helfakal, Herneby, and Heselton; fishery in Higlamare; lands in Horton in Ribblesdale, with free-warren; lands and free-warren in Hoton-hang; launs and rents in Hunton Kenerdley in Lancashire, Kilgrimhou-grange, Kneton, Langton upon Swale, Lasynby on Wyske, Masham and Mashamshire, Melsamby, Merske, Middleton-querno, Middleton in the mires, Milnby, Miton, Morton, Murecote, Nappay, Newhouse, Newbiggin, Newstead-grange, Newton in the Willows, Ramshaw, Rich, Richmond, Ridmere, Rokwyke-grange, Ryswyke, Sudberge or Sedberge, Scuweton alias Scruton, Somercotes, Stanfield East, Stapleton East, Stratford, Tannar, Thirne, Thirnetoft, Thorenton, Thornton Steward, Todington, Tunstal-grange, Venflet, Ulnedale, Upledon, Walburn, Wendesley, Whitwell, Widdal, Winkesley, Witton East, Witton West, Worton in Wensleydale, and Yarum.^c

Burton has given the following letter to Lord Cromwel from one of the visitors of this Abbey, in the time of Henry the Eighth.

"Pleasythe your lordship to be advertysed, I have taken down all the lead of Jervaux, and made it into pecys of half foddors, which lead amounteth to the number of eighteen score and five foddors, with thirty and four foddors and a half that were there before: and the said lead cannot be conveit, nor carried until the next sombre, for the ways in that countre are so foul and deep, that no caryage can pass in wyntre. And as concerninge the raising and taking down the House, if it be your lordship's pleasure, I am minded to let it stand to the next spring of the year, by reason of the days are now so short, it would be double charges to do it now. And as concerninge the selling of the bells, I cannot sell them above fifteen shillings the hundred; wherein I wolde gladly know your lordship's pleasure, whether I sholde sell them after that price, or send them up to London; and if they be sent up, surely the caryage will be costly from that place to the water. And as for Bridlington, I have done nothing there as yet, but spayreth it to March next, because the days are now so very short; and from such time as I begin, I trust shortly to dispatch it after such fashion, that when all is finished, I trust your lordship hath appointed me to doo; and thus the Holy Ghost ever preserve your Lordship in honour. At York, this 14th day of November, 1538. By

Your lordship's most bounden beadman,
RICHARD BELLYCIS."

TEMPORE regis Stephani, qui Henrico primo successit in regnum Angliæ, fuit quidam miles generosus prosapiæ, nomine Akarius filius Bardolfii, magnus dominus terrarum et possessionum in comitatu Eboracensi. Divina gratia inspiratus, hic dedit cuidam monacho servienti Deo, Petro de Quinciaco, in arte medicinæ valdè subtili et bene experto, et quibusdam aliis monachis de Savigneio, quandam partem terræ suæ in Wandesleydale, scilicet in Fors, et in Wrtona, ubi prædictus frater Petrus et socii sui, prout melius poterant initium cujusdam abbatiæ ordinare cœperunt, et simpliciter ædificare, et primitus vocabatur illa habitatio abbatia de Fors, postea abbatia de Wandesleydale, deinde vocabatur abbatia de Charitate; et tandem juxta proprietatem aquæ currentis, et loci, vocabatur abbatia de Jorvalle. In quo loco prædicti monachi multiplices defectus laboresq; sustinuerunt. Qualiter autem, aut quibus ex causis idem frater Petrus cum cæteris sociis suis de Savigneio in Angliam venit, incertum habetur, nisi secundum quod creditur ipsos moram traxisse in curia Alani comitis Britanniae et Richmundiæ, prætextu artis medendi infirmitates et plagas, vel ut elemosinas aulæ colligerent, et egenis distribuerent. Donationes verò quas prædictus dominus Akarius et alii fecerunt prædictis monachis, confirmavit prænominatus comes Alanus per cartas suas sic:—

Terram prædictam concessit ei, me vidente et audiente, cum omnibus rebus et pertinentibus, in bosco, et in plano, et in pratis, et in aquis, et in campis et pasturis. Alia Carta ejusdem Comitiss.

[Ex eodum registro.]

ALANUS comes Britanniae et Angliæ, dapifero suo et constabulario suo de Ricomonte, et omnibus baronibus suis et hominibus suis, Francis et Britonibus et Anglis, salutem. Scire volo vos et posteros meos et vestros, quod ego, pro amore Dei et redemptione animæ meæ, et pro anima patris mei et matris meæ, et antecessorum meorum, concedo et confirmo donationem quam Akarius dedit monachis et fratribus de Wandesleydale, scilicet tres carucas terræ in Wrton, et unam carucatam et dimidiam in Fors. Concedo et confirmo eisdem monachis et fratribus totam villam de Engilby, quam Rogerus de Gunymary, et Warnerus frater suus eis dedit. Concedo etiam et confirmo unam carucatam et dimidiam in Fors de Hugone filio Gernagoti. Si quis autem baronum meorum, vel hominum meorum ipsi terras vel aliquod aliud pro amore Dei dare voluerit, ego illae eorum donationes concedo libenter et confirmo, salvo tamen meo servicio, et ita salvo, quod per defectum illius servitii nec alicujus petitionis, supra eosdem fratres nec super homines illorum namium capiatur, nec aliqua molestia eis inferatur. Ego eis do et concedo pasturam per totam forestam meam de Wandesleydale et prata falcanda, quantum eis opus fuerit. Do etiam eis et concedo ut capiant materiam ubicunque voluerint in eadem foresta, ad domos suas et ad omnia necessaria sua facienda, sine omni impedimento et perturbatione. Quod si minaria ferri vel plumbi in sua terra invenerint, concedo ut ad opus suum ea fodiant. Si vero fratres ipsi, vel aliqui suorum servitium carnem alicujus feræ in mea foresta invenerint, cum Dei benedictione illam accipiant, feræ dico quæ luporum morsu peremptarentur. Volo autem et concedo, et firmiter præcipio, ut omnia quæ memoratis fratribus dedi et concessi, bene et in pace, et honorifice, in nemore et in plano, in terris et in aquis, et pratis et pasturis, et exitibus et omnibus consuetudinibus suis liberis, in perpetuum teneant et possideant, cum tol et teame, infangentheof, &c. Test. &c.

Postmodum verò idem Alanus comes præcepit prædicto fratri Petro, quod ipsum certificaret quando deberet erigere primum ædificium suum, quia tunc ibidem voluit personaliter adesse. Omnibus autem præparatis ad erectionem primi ædificii, frater Petrus quæsiuit comitem sicut præceperat. Qui veniens ad locum illum ubi domus illa deberet levari, advocavit sibi nominatim quatuor vel quinque de militibus qui secum advenerant, et dixit illis, jocundo vultu quasi in ludendo, "Nos omnes habemus terras magnas et possessiones; nunc ergo propriis manibus adjuvemus, et erigamus istam domum in nomine Domini nostri, et unusquisque nostrum terram vel redditum exhibeat, in perpetuum elemosinam et sustentationem partis quam levaverit." Cui suggestioni quidam eorum satis bene concenserunt, et alii consentire noluerunt, nisi per conditionem. Et sic erexerunt primam domum ligneam in loco oratorii, scilicet anno Domini millesimo centesimo quadragesimo quinto.

Audiens autem dominus Rogerus de Molbray fundator noster quod quidam monachi de Savigneio inceperant construere de novo quandam abbatiam, volens esse particeps orationum suorum et beneficiorum spiritualium, sicut et aliorum religiosorum, cum magna devotione et liberalitate animi, dedit eidem fratri Petro terram, pasturam et boscum de dominio suo de Masham per talem cartam.

ROGERUS de Molbray, omnibus ministris suis et hominibus suis de Eborasciria, Francis et Anglis, salutem. Sciatis me dedisse et concessisse Deo et sanctæ Mariæ de Caritate, et Petro monacho, et fratribus suis de abbatia super Jor flumen, totam terram et boscum totum sicut semita vadit de Brigwath usque Witebercuade, et præter hoc ad piscandum in Higlamare, et warrennam et pasturam totius nemoris mei. Et volo quod habeant hanc terram usque in Jor liberam et quietam sicut terra potest esse, libere et in elemosina. Teste Rogero abbate de Bellalanda.

NUM. V.

Alia Carta ejusdem Rogeri.

[Ibid.]

OMNIBUS qui has literas sunt visuri Rogerus de Molbray, salutem. In veritate testificor quod antequam prima vice irem ad Jerusalem in peregrinatione, et quatuor annis antequam Walterus Bury haberet terram in Mashamshire, dedi abbatiae quæ tunc vocabatur de Caritate, nunc vocatur de Jorevalle, terram quam monachi tenent apud Bigwath, et pasturam et maremium de toto bosco meo de Mashamshire, in perpetuam et liberam elemosinam, sicut cartulæ meæ quas monachi inde habent testantur. Et si quis voluerit ipsas cartulas contradicere, vel falsificare, ego et hæredes mei parati erimus defendere et warrantizare ubique.

Non diu post ipsam donationem comes Alanus transfretavit in Britanniam ad terras suas. Qui veniens apud Savign. intimavit abbati et conventui, quod frater Petrus et alii monachi socii eorum inceperant unam abbatiam in dominio suo non longè a castello suo de Richo-monte in Anglia. Et idem comes statim dedit illam abbatiam qualicunque tunc metatam potius quam inceptam ipsi abbati Savign. qui illam domum suscepit, sed tanquam invitatus et renitens, et tenuit bene et in pace, sed per quantum tempus non constat. Prænominatus autem Petrus sedulus promotor illius novæ plantationis Benedicti, de die in diem adventum cujusdam abbatis cum uno conventu de domo Savign. desideratissimè præstolabatur, et sæpius scripsit abbati suo, ut abbatem et conventum sibi transmitteret, et ad inhabitandum ibidem per successionem. Sed abbas Savign. in animo suo revolvens pericula, labores, et defectus quos monachi sui sustinuerant qui in Angliam diversis in locis aliàs missi fuerant de Savign. ad abbatias incipiendas, et construendas, à quibus sæpius hortabatur ut ipsos domi revocaret, in auditorio suo coram pluribus cum magna indignatione juravit per virtutem summæ civitatis in cujus honore fundata extitit ecclesia Savign. quod nunquam voluit ibidem conventum destinare, et gratissimum haberet, si de donatione ejusdem loci bono in modo totaliter posset exui et liberari. Rescripsit etiam fratri Petro, quod stultissimè egit in hoc, quod abbatiam inceperant sine consilio domus Savign. et istud mandatum fratri Petro et sociis suis multum displicuit, et eorum animos deiecit, non tamen à bono incepto cessaverunt. Postea verò regni regis Stephani, secundum quosdam, undecimo sive duodecimo, eo scilicet anno quo abbas de Fontibus, Henricus Murdac nomine, fuit consecratus in archiepiscopum Eborum, anno Domini millesimo centesimo quadragesimo sexto, contigit quod abbas noster Rogerus processit ad capitulum generale apud Savign. et pro quibusdam negotiis hujus domus ulterius in Normanniam, ad dominum Rogerum fundatorem nostrum, qui tunc ibi morabatur. Audiens autem hoc frater Petrus accessit ad abbatem nostrum, ipsum exorando ut portaret unam litteram abbati Savign. ex parte sua, et illius litteræ responsum suum reportaret, ac suggereret et instaret provocando ut abbas Savign. litteratorie eundem Petrum certificaret quod sibi placeret fieri de illa nova plantatione abbatiae quam inceperat, et secundum quod abbas mandaret, ipse et socii sui libenter parere vellent in debita executione. Abbas noster litteram assumpsit, transfretavit, et usque Savign. venit, ubi inter cætera, negotia fratris Petri exposuit, ac litteram ejus abbati Savign. liberavit, qui abbatem nostrum recepit cum magno honore.

In ipso quidem Capitulo generali fuerunt abbates de Anglia, scilicet de Quarera et de Neth tantum, et denunciatum fuit ibidem quod Papa Eugenius proposuit celebrare concilium generale Rhemis, sed certitudinem nondum receperant, si illo anno vel anno sequente. Evoluta primo die capituli generalis, secundo die sermo quætionis ab ipso abbate Savign. coram quindecim abbatibus de sua gubernatione ibidem præsentibus, proponebatur, quid melius esset faciendum de negotio fratris Petri, quod plenè in audientia fuit recitatum. In qua sermocinatione diversi diversa dixerunt. Sed tandem quia abbas Savign. cui locus Jorevallatus fuit à comite Conano, nullo modo consentire voluit, quod abbas, cum uno conventu monachorum de Savign. ibi mitteretur, ordinatum fuit ut idem abbas Savign. si sibi placeret, daret illam novam abbatiam juniore filiae suae de Bellalanda, quae illi loco propinquior erat in Anglia de sua propagatione, quod et factum postea fuit. Et quia abbas noster diutius expectare non potuit, volens se festinare ad dominum Rogerum fundatorem nostrum pro remedio impetrando contra multas injurias et dampna nobis illata per Robertum de Davidvilla, Willielmum et Hugonem de Malabissa, in absentia praedicti fundatoris nostri, constituit loco suo praedictum abbatem de Quarera, in omnibus quae ipsum tangebant, ac sic cum omni devotione et reverentia abbas Savign. et totius capituli, non sine magnis donis licentiatus est, et sic recessit. Domum tandem prospere reversus est, sed diutius moram traxit in partibus Normanniae, cum domino Rogero fundatore nostro.

Finio capitulo generali, et abbatibus disgregatis, abbas Savign. Serlo nomine, fecit advocari abbatem de Quarera coram pluribus de domo sua, et de pluribus ipsum convenit, cui tandem tradidit illam cartam, quam habemus de donatione abbatiae de Jorevall, et injunxit ei, ut illo anno visitaret per totam generationem suam in Anglia, et si viderit quod unus conventus monachorum, cum abbate, posset apud Fors de terra et substantia ibidem sustentari, tunc eandem cartam et locum cum tota substantia traderet abbati nostro, ex sua et sui conventus donatione, ac ipsum poneret in plena possessione. Et si terra cum substantia sufficere non posset, quod tunc retineret illam cartam penes se, et diceret fratri Petro quod locum illum bene custodiret, ac promoveret ad proprios usus abbatiae Savign. Liberavit etiam eidem abbati de Quarera, alias litteras clausas sub tali tenore, quod si terra et substantia sufficere posset ad praemissa, quod tunc ipse frater Petrus et socii si vellent abbati nostro licite profiterentur aut apud Savign. remearent. Cum ergo tali mandato et praeepto venit abbas de Quarera in Angliam, et, in Pascha subsequente, visitavit domum nostram una cum domino Matthaeo monacho Savign. qui sibi imperanti fuerat destinatus et associatus, cum praenominato fratre Petro apud Jorevall commorante.

Peracta nostra visitatione, praedictus frater Petrus duxit secum abbatem de Quarera et abbatem nostrum usque Jorevall, ubi idem abbas de Quarera tradidit eidem fratri Petro litteras clausas domini abbas Savign. cui etiam ore tenuis dixit, quod abbas de Savign. illam novam plantationem dederat abbatiae de Bellalanda, si tamen quidam abbas cum uno conventu monachorum de terra et substantia ibidem possent sustentari; ac cartam donationis illi demonstravit, dicens quod abbas et conventus Savign. nunquam ibidem voluerunt conventum destinare, et ideo talem fecerat donationem. Praenominatus frater Petrus, litteras clausas sibi transmissas, coram duobus monachis sociis suis, scilicet Conano et Himberto, produxit, qui vocabant sibi praenominatum D. Matthaeum, et sic diligenter et diu mutuò vicissim tractaverunt super negotio superius tacto. Inter quos consilium domini Matthaei tale fuit. Ut locus ille, cum pertinentiis et substantia, tanquam minus sufficiens abbati et conventui, remaneret abbatiae Savign. in proprios usus. Sed frater Petrus et socii ejus, qui multos et graves ibidem sustinuerant labores, una voce et voluntate dixerunt, quod magnus honor et commodum ecclesiae Savign. et ipsis coram Domino Deo meritum eveniret sempiternum, si in eorum labores, abbas et conventus possent induci, ac debita et justa successione ibidem perpetuari; nec aliquo modo consentire voluerunt, ut ille locus domui Savign. in proprios usus remaneret. Et sic eorum concilio soluto omnes pariter in oratorio ad abbates accesserunt, ubi frater Petrus ad abbatem de Quarera taliter est locutus. "Sancte pater de Quarera, super negotiis quibus huc advenistis, nunc et alias sufficienter tractavimus. Vos volo certificare in praesenti, quod ego et duo socii mei, quibus locus iste specialiter primitus donatus fuit ad servitium Dei, eundem locum pro viribus nostris hucusque interius et exterius promovimus et substantiam multiplicavimus. Nam nunc, benedictus sit Altissimus, habemus carucas quinque arantes, vaccas quadraginta cum secta, equas sexdecim cum sequela, de dono comitis, sues quinque cum secta, oves trecentas, et triginta coria in tanno, et plus ceram et oleum pro duobus annis cum parvo adjutorio; et certi sumus quod nos invenimus panem et cerevisiam, caseum et butirum pro primo anno, et credimus quod quidam abbas et unus conventus monachorum de tanta substantia incipere possunt in hoc loco scilicet vivere, donec Deo placuerit illis uberius providere." Et ego frater Petrus dico, tam pro me quam pro istis duobus sociis meis, quod ex quo placet abbati meo et conventui Savign. quod abbas de Bellalanda locum istum obtineat, ex eorum donatione, si idem abbas nobis fideliter promittat, quod abbatem cum uno conventu monachorum huc de domo sua destinare voluerit successione perpetua in inhabitandum in servicio Christi, sicut à nostris superioribus ordinatum est, et nobis licite praeeptum, secundum tenorem cartae confectae, et litterarum nobis transmissarum, parati sumus locum istum cum tota substantia sibi reddere, et etiam profiteri."

His dictis abbas de Quarera secretè tractavit aliquantulum, cum abbate nostro et domino Matthaeo, ac postea in audientia omnium dixit, "Satis expresse liquet sancta voluntas cordium et animarum vestrarum, qua tam sincerè affectatis animarum salutem, et ordinis incrementum: et abbas de Bellalanda ore proprio hic coram nobis hoc quod petistis, benignè facere compromittit. Sed et ego subicio me et domum meam de Quarera vobis et domui vestrae de Savign. ad complendam, si vestram petitionem non adimpleverit, cum viderit melius oportere." Et tunc coram omnibus legit cartam donationis quae talis est.

NUM. VI.

Carta Serlonis Abbatis Savignei.

[Ibid.]

UNIVERSIS sanctae Dei ecclesiae filiis et fidelibus Serlo abbas monasterii Savign. totiusque loci ejusdem conventus, salutem. Sciatis nos omnium fratrum nostrorum consilio, et consensu, dedisse et concessisse, Deo et ecclesiae sanctae Mariae de Biland, abbatiam de Wandelesdale, quae et Jorevalls dicitur, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, habitis et habendis, liberam et quietam, sicut comes Alanus de Richmond eam nobis dedit et concessit. Haec etiam haerede suo Conano, cum baronibus suis, concedente et confirmante eo scilicet tenore et intuitu ut haec ecclesia praedicta de Beyland sicut filia matri sit subjecta, et secundum ordinem nostrum eidem obediat per omnia. Testibus iis, Henrico archiepiscopo Eborum, Aldredo abbate Rievallis, Turolde abbate de Fontibus, et fratribus eorum plurimis.

Quae carta perlecta, praedictus frater Petrus, locum cum tota substantia reddidit abbati nostro, et eidem cum praenominatis duobus sociis suis et uno converso, in oratorio, suam fecit professionem. Alius conversus ibidem fuit, qui profiteri noluit, et ideo cito post cum domino Matheo apud Savign. remeavit. Deinde abbas de Quarera ulterius processit ad officium sibi, injectum prosequendum, et abbas noster, curam ejusdem loci, sicut prius, eidem fratri Petro tunc monacho suo commisit, et sic domum reversus est, ac quotiens sibi placuit ibidem accessit, et negocia loci pro libitu suo disposuit, et ordinavit, unum monachum ad officium hostellariae et quendam conversum tannatorem ibidem destinavit. Post circulum unius anni secundum dictum Amphredi prioris, et secundum dominum Walkelynum post duos annos, abbas Savign. transmisit litteras cum domino Guidone priore suo ad universam generationem suam in Anglia, autoritate apostolica praecipiendo, ut constitutiones ordinis Cisterciensis, et habitum sicut Papa Eugenius in suo generali consilio celebrato Rhemis anno D. millesimo centesimo quadragesimo septimo ordinaverat omnes de generatione ordinis Savign. sine mora, accepto mandato, sumerent et conservarent. Timens autem abbas noster Rogerus, ne in tali subita mutatione habitus, donatio sibi facta abbatiae Jorevall irrita fieret, aut fortè revocaretur quia abbatem et conventum nondum ibi transmiserat, sedulo cogitavit, et consilium diversimode quaesivit quod sit ei melius faciendum. Sed tandem sibi consultum fuit à diversis amicis, quod procederet usque Savign. et inquireret si praedictus Serlo abbas Savign. et conventus adhuc ratum haberent, donum quod fecerant ecclesiae Bellalandae de abbatia Jorevall, vel non, quod si sit incorporatio ordinis Cisterciensis non obstiteret quia abbas noster posset ibidem abbatem cum conventu destinare securè pro sua voluntate. Et cum tali consilio abbas noster Rogerus transfretavit, scilicet anno Domini millesimo centesimo quadragesimo nono. Qui cum apud Savign. pervenisset, tempore opportuno causam adventus sui, abbati et conventui Savign. plenè et maturè demonstravit. Et post biduum vel triduum, habita consulendi deliberatione, tale recepit responsum. Quod si vellet promissionem adimplere quam fecerat abbati de Quarera, et domino Petro de Quinciaco, quod ingressum habuit in abbatiam de Jorevalle, et seisinam recepit, quod donatio sibi facta in perpetuum stabilis permaneret. Et abbas noster Rogerus ibidem iterum protestabatur quod infra breve tempus post suam reversionem promissionem veterem deberet adimplere. In vigilia verò sancti Laurentii anno prædicto apud Savign. viam arripuit versus Cistercium, ad capitulum generale, et habuit in comitatu suo abbates de Briostell, de sancto Andrea, et abbatem nostrum. Cum apud Clarevallensem pervenisset, abbas Savign. adduxit abbatem nostrum coram beato Bernardo tunc ibidem abbate. Cui negotium abbatis nostri, pro quo ibi venerat, plenè exposuit, et cartam donationis suæ demonstravit, et legit, ac ejus consilium et auxilium postulavit. Cui breviter sic respondit beatus Bernardus. "Ista tua donatio consilio et autoritate tui capituli generalis, aliquando facta evidenti instrumento, cum corporali possessione, Cisterciens. capituli non indiget fulcimento. Nam omnia quæ in capitulo Savign. ordinata et stabilita fuerunt, in Cisterciensi capitulo non debent aliquater retractari, sed rata et firma semper permanebunt. Benè quidem scimus omnes quod momentanea donatio à vero domino dat aliis jus perpetuum possidendi, et ideo concedet ut celeriter suppleatur, quod certis ex causis hucusque est prorogatum." Plus illa vice de isto negotio non loquebantur. Cum autem apud Cistercium pervenissent, tertia die, capitulum generale quando abbas Cistercii præcipiebat, secundum morem, ut nomina abbatiarum illo anno fundatarum in tabula Cistercii tribuerentur, inter alia dixit beatus Bernardus. Abbas Savign. consilio et ordinatione sui capituli generalis, ac assensu fratrum domus suæ, jam quatuor annis elapsis, dedit quandam abbatiam suam de Wandelaydale in Anglia, quæ nunc Jorevalle dicitur et nominatur, filia suæ de Bellalanda per cartam suam, quæ si placet coram vobis recitetur. Sed et abbas de Bellalanda certis ex causis abbatem in illo loco hucusque ordinare non potuit, infra annum abbatem cum uno conventu monachorum ibidem destinavit, et ideo nomen abbatiae Jorevall inter cæteras abbatias hoc anno fundatas in tabula redigatur. Tunc abbas noster Rogerus surrexit, et tradidit cartam suam abbati Savign. qui illam tradidit beato Bernardo, et beatus Bernardus cuidam abbati ad pedes ejus sedenti, qui illam recitavit. Qua perlecta, abbas Savign. dixit in pleno capitulo, quod tam pro se, quam pro confratribus suis Savign. illam donationem ratam et gratam habuit. Sic statim ad suggestionem B. Bernardi et abbatis Serlonis Savign. nomen abbatiae Jorevall ibidem inter alias scriptum fuit in tabula Cistercii, prout manifestè liquet, nec unquam aliud in scriptis habuimus à capitulo Cistercii de abbacia Jorevall. Et hoc quia præscriptionem sive possessionem ejusdem loci cum personis et tota substantia, ordinatione capituli generalis Savign. diu obtinuimus antequam ordo Savign. fuit incorporatus ordini Cistercii. Unde abbas Robertus de Jorevall aut Willielmus exortus, quibusdam simultatibus aliquando secrete causabatur à latere obloquendo, quod minus habuimus pro nobis in munimentis ad visitandum domum suam. Et sæpius petiit inspectionem cartæ abbatis Serlonis Savign. de donatione nobis facta, sed sua importunitas caruit effectu petitionis, et sic tandem omnes conatus suos subtraxit ex desperatione optatum consequendi. Sed redeundum est ad processum. Postquam autem capitulum generale Cistercii finitum fuit, licentia cum benedictione tam a beato Bernardo quam abbate Savign. humiliter petita et optenta, abbas noster Rogerus in bona prosperitate domum reversus est in vigiliis Omnium Sanctorum. Et cum aliquantulum post suum laborem quieti vacasset, præcepit domino Lanrico tunc cellerario nostro, ut meliorem campanam ecclesiæ parochiali veteris Bellelandæ destinaret in quodam plastro usque Jorevallem, qui præceptum celeriter adimplevit. Post Circumcisionem Domini, abbas noster processit usque Jorevallem, et ibidem traxit moram usque ad Purificationem beatæ Mariæ, tractans et disponens interius et exterius negocia illius loci et necessaria ad humanam vitam ibi provisa, et scribi fecit. Tandem præcepit domino Petro et duobus monachis sociis suis ibi manentibus, quod omnes essent apud Bellamlandam prima dominica Quadragesimæ, et sic inde recedens domum accessit. Cumque prima dominica Quadragesimæ advenisset, prænominatus dominus Petrus cum sociis suis, et omnes alii monachi domus nostræ in capitulo præsentés fuerunt, et consummatis omnibus quæ ad capitulum pertinent, omnes in pace sedebant.

Tunc abbas noster Rogerus, longum ab intimis suspirium trahens, talia verba dixit: "Jam diu est, ut benè scitis, ex quo promissa facere et adimplere cupivi quod Deus ante ordinaverat in sua æternitate manens: sed ut meliùs et securiùs illud producerem in opus, hucusque expectavi, et sæpe a vobis omnibus et singulis consilium et vestram voluntatem diligenter quæsivi. Nunc ergo invocans virtutem divinæ gratiæ in nostra operatione, ad laudem et honorem Dei, et utilitatem et incrementum universalis ecclesiæ, et salutem animarum, in nomine Patris, Filii, et Spiritus Sancti, ordino et constituo abbatem dominum Johannem de Kinstan." Quo nominato, omnes statim surrexerunt, et elevantes eum à terra inter brachia sua, portaverunt usque ad magnum altare dicendo, Tu es abbas Jorevallis. Iste dominus Johannes fuit unus de illis qui recesserunt de Caldra cum abbate Geroldo, et inceperunt domum nostram. Postea sedato clamore monachorum, omnes in capitulum redierunt, et abbas noster sumens abbatem Johannem per dextram manum in principali sede collocavit dicens, "Ego te confirmo abbatem, et tibi committo curam animarum, et regimen abbatiae Jorevall, cum tota substantia, personis et possessionibus habitis et habendis, tam in temporalibus quam in spiritualibus, sicut Serlo abbat Savign. illam nobis dedit." Et tunc tradidit illi in manibus regulam sancti Benedicti, et parvulam tecam cum reliquiis.

Deinde abbas noster nominavit prædictum Petrum e. duos socios ejus, et novem alios monachos de conventu et de professione eorum sibi facta ipsos absolvit, qui omnes abbati Johanni statim ibidem profitebantur. Et die Mercurii proximo sequente, scilicet viij. Idus Martii, anno Domini millesimo centesimo quinquagesimo, recepta benedictione consueta, post vigiliis nocturnas, abbas Johannes cum duodecim monachis suis exivit de domo nostra versus Jorevallem, in quo itinere ipsum Jesum Christum habuit ductorem, et beatam Mariam virginem consolatricem, sicut sæpius abbati nostro Rogero secretè fatebatur, et revelationem sibi factam, non sine lachrymis demonstravit, quam hic pertranseo ratione brevitat. Sed postea eam tangere volo ut ad noticiam succedentium perveniat. Die Veneris proxima, abbas Johannes cum conventu suo venit apud Jorevallem, ubi nunc est bona grangia cum sex carucis, quæ vocatur Vallis grangia, et ibidem fuerunt et venerunt contra eum dominus Akarias, primus fundator illius loci, et plures alii nobiles viri, qui ipsum receperunt in magna reverentia et honore, promittentes ei consilium et auxilium in omnibus quæ ipsum tangebant, et post refectionem recesserunt, humillime petendo participationem orationum et beneficiorum suorum spiritualium. Tunc abbas Johannes constituit dominum Edwaldum priorem suum, et dominum Petrum prædictum cellarium suum, et cæteros officiales diversos, et ibidem simul vivebant in magnis laboribus, et variis defectibus, prout melius poterant, quatuor annis. In quinto verò anno tanta pluvia extitit, in partibus illis, circa festum sancti Michaelis, cum metere deberent, et in horreum congregare; quod omnes segetes eorum perierunt, ita quod nullum semen de proprio habuerunt. Propter quod abbas noster Rogerus, ad petitionem abbatis Johannis, quinque skeppas frumenti illis destinavit ad seminandum, et plus habuerunt de emptione alibi, quam similiter abbas noster fecit ipsis caruari, et illum annum in magno defectu tam bladi quam brasii transegerunt. Sed nullus in tantum angustiatum est, quam cellarius solus. Et cum sic vixissent, percipientes sterilitatem terræ, et patriæ illius maximè quantum ad granum, quod ibi maturescere et crescere non potuit, propter pluviam et immoderantiam aeris sæpius mutuo tractabant de reversione ad maternam domum, et nihil resistebat eis, nisi sola exprobratio hominum, qui dicere possent, Isti monachi cœperunt ædificare, et consummare non potuerunt. Veniens autem abbas noster, secundum morem ad visitandum, invenit abbatem Johannem et ejus conventum valde desolatos, pro causa memorata. Nam expenderant illo anno totam pecuniam quam ceperant pro lana sua, et animalibus venditis, in blado et amplius. Ude abbas noster pro posse suo volens relevari eorum desolationem, transmisit illis iterum quinque skeppas frumenti, et decem brasii ad sustentationem eorum centra autumnum. Insuper dedit eis per assensum conventus nostri decem bovatas terræ in Ellington, quas frater Serlo conversus noster dedit nobis ad suum ingressum in domum nostram cum decem bobus, et decem vaccis, ibidem et sex equabus cum pullis earum, in eadem pastura.

Tenor Cartæ Abbatis nostri talis est.

ARCHIEPISCOPO Eboracensi, omnibusque filiis sanctæ matris ecclesiæ, Rogerus abbas Bellalandæ, salutem. Notum sit vobis nos dedisse et concessisse abbatiæ de Jorevalle, decem bovatas terræ in Ellington, quas Serlo cocus prius dedit nobis, per concessionem Rogeri Moubray fundatoris nostræ abbatiæ de Bellalanda, quietè in perpetuam elemosinam. Valete.

Qua donatione facta, abbas noster præcepit abbati Johanni, et consuluit, ut cum festinatione nuntiaret per aliquem de suis domino Alano comiti, qui tunc fuit in partibus transmariis, suam necessitatem, qui si subvenire nolisset, tunc bene voluit abbas noster, ut omnes remearent ad domum nostram matrem suam, quousque tempus fertilis se offerret. Sed dominus Petrus cellarius, bene semper in adjutorio Dei confidens, omni modo reditum apud Bellalandam dissuasit, volens si abbati placeret sub omni festinatione proficisci in Britanniam ad comitem Alanum et ipsum convenire super eorum defectum et destructionem, qui sic fecit. Et cum ibi pervenit, demonstravit comiti cum lachrymis defectum abbatis et conventus sui, ubi talem gratiam consecutus est, quod comes scripsit abbati Johanni, inhibendo, ne recederet de Jorevalle, et promisit ei bonum subsidium in proximo ejus adventu apud Richemond. Sub tali promisso recessit dominus Petrus de comite, et ivit apud Savign. et ibi traxit moram cum antiquis sociis ejus per quindecim dies et amplius, ubi dominus abbas plures reliquias dedit ad novam abbatiæ quam inceperat, et sic honorificè licentiatus, domum reversus est cum literis comitis. Sed quia comes Alanus diutius pro, rogavit venire in Angliam, et abbas Johannes non habuit unde conventum suum per totum annum potuit sustinere, quinque de monachis suis misit ad domum nostram, et tres apud Furnesiam ad perhendinandum. Interim ferè transierunt duo anni, et tandem comes Alanus venit apud Richemond, qui infra breve tempus fecit adjuvare motam causam suorum, et sic inde processit rursum in Valle, ad veniendum cum baronibus et militibus suis, ubi traxit moram per sex dies continuos, nec unquam alicubi tanta copia cervorum et bissarum succederat ad votum pro tractu arcus et cursu canum sicuti tunc. Sed graviter irascebatur contra Scollandum dapiferum suum, et Rollandum constabularium suum, et quosdam alios pro multitudine luporum ibi commorantium, qui multa mala tam hominibus quam bestiis faciebant, et sic de Valle rediit per illam novam plantationem abbatiæ, ubi stando aliquantulum, comedit et bibit.

Postea autem abbas Johannes duxit illum ad parvas officinas suas, et dicendo exposuit ei graves defectus, quos ipse et conventus suus ibidem patiebatur, subsidium ab eo postulans, et auxilium, quia si non subveniret, diutius in tam sterili patria comorari non potuerunt, sed ipsos recedere oporteret omnimodo. Cui comes Alanus, compaciendo dixit, quod vellet loqui cum dapifero suo et aliis de statu et quæremonia sua, et scundùm quod illi consulerent, voluit facere et operari. Et sic idem recessit valdè ædificatus de principio illo, et duxit secum dominum Petrum cellarium, qui continue traxit moram in curia domini comitis. Alanus fecit illi suam magnam cartam de terris sibi datis de domino Akaria et aliis militibus et hominibus ejus, et dedit illis de proprio suo dono magnam pasturam in Wandesleydale meum et minam, et multa alia quæ superius in illa carta continentur, et hoc fuit ultimum donum Alani comitis, licet scribatur in principio supra.

Quo defuncto successit comes Conanus filius ejus, qui multum dilexit abbatiæ de Jorevall. Et cum vidisset quod locus ille ineptus et insufficiens fuit ad abbatiæ construentiam dedit abbati Johanni et conventui, terram vastam et incultam in territorio de Estwitton, et magnam pasturam in seperabili in Wandesleydale, cum multis aliis pertinentiis et commoditatibus, sicut patet in carta sua, quæ talis est.

Præterea concedo et confirmo prædictæ abbatiæ et monachis ibidem Deo servientibus, omnes donationes concessionis patris mei comitis Alani, cum omnibus libertatibus et aisiamentis suis per totam forestam de Wandesleydale, et prohibeo quod nullus ducat animalia ad pascendum in prædicta foresta ad molestiam monachorum meorum. Præter hæc dedi eis et concessi ut faciant vaccarias in foresta mea de Wandesleydale. Insuper concedo et confirmo ipsis monachis totam terram quam habent ex dono Akariæ filii Bardolfi in Wrton, et in Fors, cum omnibus rebus eidem terræ pertinentibus. Concedo et confirmo eisdem monachis totam villam de Ingelby cum suis libertatibus et pertinentiis, quam Hugo filius Wy-mar, et Garnarus frater ejus eis dederunt, et ex dono Briani filii Scolandi, et Hugonis filii Garnegoti, unam carucatam terræ et dimidiam in Fors, cum omnibus suis pertinentiis. Hanc meam elemosinam et patris mei, volo esse puram, liberam, et quietam ab omni servicio, pro salute animæ meæ, et omnium antecessorum meorum, ita quod omnes donationes et confirmationes meas prænominatas, ego et hæredes mei prædictis monachis contra omnes homines warrantizabimus imperpetuum. Testes hujus donationis et confirmationis meæ sunt Radulphus filius Ribaldi, Henricus filius Akariæ, &c.

POSTEA vero, scil. an. Do. MCXvj. comes Conanus fecit abbatem Johannem et conventum se transferre de Fors, cum omnibus bonis suis mobilibus, usque ad dictum locum in territorio de East-witton, de permissione capituli generalis, et bona voluntate domini Hervei filii Akariæ.

AMANTISSIMO patri et domino Rogero, Dei gratia Eborum archiepiscopo et abbati de Fontibus, omnibus venerabilibus abbatibus Cistercii ordinis, frater Lucas Cister. et totus conventus abbatum Cisterc. capituli, perpetuam in Domino salutem. Inprimis multiplices domino nostro Eborum archiepiscopo referimus gratias, quia, sicut audivimus, gratiam et protectionem nostri ordinis fratribus summa cum diligentia paternè impendit. Quia vero ut eadem gratia quam cepit, necesse est nobis perseveret, preces ei pro fratribus nostris porrigimus, et maxime pro coabbate nostro de Jorevalle, qui de ipsius benignitate apud nos plurimum est glorietus. Notum autem vobis esse volumus quod communi licentia prædicti abbates omnes, in commune concessimus ut domum suam transmittet, et in territorium Wittoniæ super fluvium Jor, licet infra terminos esse videatur, eam transponat. Constituimus itaque et præsentì pagina confirmamus, ut quod a nobis sancitum est nullus deinceps impetere præsumat. Valete.

NUM. XII.

Concessio Domini Hervæi filii Akariæ.

[Ibid.]

ARCHIEPISCOPO Eborum, et omnibus filiis sanctæ ecclesiæ, Hervæus filius Akariæ, salutem. Quia video quod monachi de Jorevalle nequeunt abbatiam tenere in feodo meo apud Fors, propter penuriam et paupertatem loci, et aeris intemperantiam, ideo in bona pace et amore concentio, quod transferant abbatiam suam de Fors in dominica terra domini mei comitis Conani de Richmond apud East Witton. Salvis sibi omnibus terris suis et tenuris quas de me tenent, ubicunque sint, liberè et quietè, videlicet unâ carucatâ terræ et dimidiâ in Fors, et tribus carucatis terræ in Wrton, ad grangiam suam construendam, cum omnibus rebus quæ pertinent ad prædictam terram, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, in bosco et in plano, in aquis, pratis et pasturis, altè et bassè, subtus terram et supra terram, nihil mihi et hæredibus meis retinens, ex omnibus. Ita quod ego et hæredes mei, omnia prædicta, sicut prædictum est, præfatis monachis warrantizabimus, et acquietabimus, et defendemus contra omnes homines in perpetuum. Et sciant omnes homines, qui sunt vel futuri sunt, quod baronia de Witton incipit deorsum ad aquam de Jor, tendendo sursum usque ad Scaynlupanegil ex occidentali parte de Thorneton Ruske, usque ad medium montis de Otholburgh, et inde usque ad Greneberghe, et inde sursum usque ad Grenesker, et inde sicut fons descendit deorsum in Keldebothem, et inde sicut idem siketum manat et currit in Blaynbeck, et inde sicut aqua de Blaynbeck currit in Semerwater, et inde sursum per Bayn usque in Jor. Testes hujus rei sunt Hervæus sacerdos, Walterus clericus de sancto Reynaldo.

In alia ejus confirmatione non nominatur iste, sed dicitur ibi; hanc translationem prædictæ abbatiæ concedo et confirmo tali conditione, quod nihil perdam de advocatione, quoad prædictam elemosinam patris mei et meam pertinet, sed particeps orationum et beneficiorum quæ in abbacia de

Jorevalle fient, imperpetuùm efficiar, et ossa patris mei et matris meæ secum removebunt et honorificè collocabunt. Testes sicut qui supra.

Cumque prædictus Johannes abbas cum suo conventu se transtulisset de Fors usque in territorium de East Witton, incepere fundare et construere magnam ecclesiam suam quæ est in fiendo, ubi charitas et fraterna dilectio, ac sanctæ religionis profectus, continuè crescit et multiplicat, ad laudem et honorem Dei et multarum animarum salutem.

Conano comiti successit nobilissima domina filia ejus Constantina nomine, quam filius regis nostri (cujus nomen ignoro) duxit in uxorem. Ista Constantina, sicut ejus antecessores, multa bona contulit abbatiæ Jorevalle, sed certificationem sive evidentiam in transcriptis, sicut de donis antecessorum ejus et quorundam aliorum non habemus. Cum autem abbas Serlo de Savign. debitum exsolvisset, successit ei abbas Willielmus, qui donationem prædecessoris sui domui nostræ factam, de abbacia de Jorevalle ritè confirmavit in forma quæ sequitur.

UNIVERSIS sanctæ ecclesiæ Dei filiis Richardus dictus abbas Savign. in Domino salutem. Sciatis nos inspexisse quasdam cartas prædecessorum nostrorum piæ memoriæ dominorum Serlonis et Willielmi abbatum Savign. de abbacia nostra de Wandelesdale, quæ et Jorevall dicitur, quam dederunt et concesserunt dilectæ filiæ nostræ ecclesiæ de Bellalanda in perpetuum, cum possessionibus habitis et habendis. Quas quidem cartas confirmamus, ratificamus, et probamus, eo videlicet tenore et intuitu, ut hæc ecclesia de Jorevall prædictæ ecclesiæ de Bellalanda sicut filia matri sit subjecta, et secundum ordinem nostrum eidem obediat per omnia sicut in cartis prædecessorum nostrorum plenius continetur.

Valete.

Cum dominus Johannes primus abbas Jorevallis ac duodecim monachi sui profecti fuerunt de domo nostra versus Jorevalle, prima nocte quieverunt in quadam villa in itinere, ejus nomen sæpius vocare audivi, sed nunc elapsum est à memoria mea, ubi abbatì Johanni talis facta fuit in somnis revelatio. Videbatur sibi quod fuit in domo nostrâ apud Bellalandam, et quod abbas noster Rogerus præceperat ei proficisci cum pluribus monachis nostris in regionem longinquam quasi ad ordines recipiendos; et cum exisset per claustrum, videt in medio claustrì quendam mulierem nobilissimam indutam et ornatam, ejus pulchritudo omnem pulchritudinem humanam excellebat, quæ tenuit in sinistra manu quendam puerum speciosum valdè, ejus facies quasi lux lunæ. Et puer discerpit quendam pulcherrimum ramum de parva arbore quæ stetit in medio claustrì, et sic inde recesserunt et evanuerunt ab aspectu ejus. Processit ulterius ad portam, et ibi invenit socios suos paratos, et abierunt: quibus invicem progredientibus dixit abbas Johannes sociis suis, Nostis bene viam ad locum quo tendimus? et responderunt, Non. Quibus ille dixit, Putabam vos nosse, et ecce jam ingressi sumus quandam silvam valdè spissam et condensam, et si erraverimus, quis nos educet? Cui unus respondit, Procedamus et fidenter, quia diu errare non poterimus, ut spero. Et cum aliquantulum processissent, videbatur sibi quod omnes inclusi fuerunt arctissimè inter spinas, vepres, et magnas rupes, ubi omnino nulla apparebat vel semita progrediendi, sed et regredi quoquo modo non potuerunt. Cumque taliter diutissimè hæsitantes stetissent, de vita sua desperaverunt, et unusquisque alterum ad subveniendum cum magna cordis angustia excitabat et provocabat. Sed nullus alium potuit de loco in quo stabat amovere vel adjuvare. Tunc dixit abbas Johannes, Ex quo sic præpedimur, interim dicamus horas et evangelia nostra; qui sic fecerunt; et cum perdixissent, subito, quasi subsequens, venit, illa pulcherrima mulier cum puero suo quam idem abbas Johannes viderat in claustro nostro, cui ille dixit, O pulchra mulier, tenera et deliciosa, quid agis in deserto cum filio tuo, et quo tendis? cui illa, Sæpe sum in locis desertis, et nunc venio de Ryvalle et de Bellalanda, et habui colloquium cum abbatibus illis, et quibusdam monachis eorum, quibus sum valdè specialis, domestica, et multum amabilis, et nunc vada ad Novum-Monasterium, ut aliquantulum specialis meus abbas et quidam monachi sui de meo adventu ibidem consulantur. Tunc dixit abbas Johannes ad illam, Tu una cum sis, qualiter et quomodo unus amicus tibi non sufficit, quin multos habeas, et inter se distantes? Tunc illa, Verè unum habeo amicum qui me sibi elegit, et ab illo nunquam me substraxi corpore vel voluntate, et tamen nitor mihi quærere alios amicos, qui me sub illo fideliter diligant, et alios amicos quos ipsi sub me diligant, cum tamen amor noster semper optimus nunquam decrescit, sed augmentatur. Tunc abbas Johannes ad illam, Bona domina, humiliter te supplico ut me et socios meos in tam arcto loco et ignoto deviantes educere velis, et in viam ponere quæ ducit ad illam civitatem ubi isti monachi, Domino auxiliante, debent ordinari. Hoc autem peto pro amore amicorum tuorum qui sunt in Bellalanda, de qua nos omnes monachi sumus. Tunc illa, Verum (inquit) dicis de Bellalanda estis, sed annexi tanquam pars toti, seu membrum capiti. Fuistis nuper de Bellalanda, sed nunc de Jorevalle estis. Cumque illa nominasset Jorevalle, mirabatur ille, et dixit, Bona domina, doce nos viam versus Jorevallem, nam illuc tendimus. Tunc illa respiciens filium suum dixit, Dulcissime fili, pro amore quo semper me dilexisti, esto ductor istius, nostri, et conventus, consternati sunt nimis de isto impedimento. Invocata enim sum alibi ubi accelerare me oportet: et his dictis recessit. Puer vero prætendens ramum quem habebat in manu discerptum de claustro Bellalandæ, voce clara et vultu jocundo, dixit, Procedo, viriliter me sequamini. Et cum sic processisset, sequebantur per vias duras et difficiles, nec inde gravabantur. Nam infinitæ volucres albæ et parvæ ut passeress, inestimabilis candoris, descendebant super ramum quem in manu gestabat, et ibidem crebrius cantabant totum hymnum, Benedicite omnia opera Domini Domino, de quo cantu, in tantum reficiebantur, quod nil difficultatis ex itinere sentiebant. Tandem pervenerunt ad quendam locum horridum nimis et incultum, in quem puer ingreditur quasi usque in medium, et ibi fixit in terram, et plantavit prædictum ramum cum avibus canentibus, dicens, Hic Deus adorabitur et invocabitur post modicum tempus; et quasi in momento ramus crevit in pulcherrimam arborem, per totum repletum avibus albis. Sub ista arbore quiescite, et vires vestras reparate, nam respicere jam potestis locum ad quem tenditis, et via quæ illuc ducit, satis est vobis manifesta. Quibus dictis, puer disparuit. Non illico sed paululum abbas Johannes evigilavit, et omnia suprascripta diligenter in animo suo revolvit, et valdè admirabatur, et consolabatur multum de tali visione; nec amplius illa nocte obdormivit, nam ex verbis pueri concepit quod diu apud Fors non essent commansuri. Summo mane abbas Johannes surrexit, et dictis vigiliis ipse et monachi sui, adhuc lucentibus luna et stellis processerunt. Et cum per medium cuiusdam villæ in aurora diei venissent quidam habitantium illuc fuerunt in surgendo, qui audientes magnum latratum canum, et fieri solet, per fenestras domorum suarum, in viam respexerunt, et cum vidissent plurimos in albis pannis transeuntes, unus eorum dixit, Quam multi albi homines transeunt hic? Quod audiens abbas Johannes substitit sub quodam muro in umbra quasi exploraturus et auditurus quid de illis ulterius diceretur, et alius homo dixit socio suo qui ipsos viderat, Nescis qui sunt isti? et alius respondit, Non; et ille qui prius, Dictum fuit mihi heri ad aulam, quod unus abbas et duodecim monachi se transferunt, et transmigrent de Bellalanda ad habitandum apud Jorevallem; quod tertius homo audiens sub omni festinatione hostium domus exivit, et suspiciens aliquantulum lunam, stellam, signa et statum firmamenti, talia verba dixit, In foelici tempore se transferunt boni homines isti, nam infra breve tempus, scilicet triginta vel quadraginta annorum ad talem statum vivendi in hoc sæculo pervenient, quod nunquam deficiant et accrescent. Quibus verbis auditis abbas Johannes processit, et se festinavit ad socios suos bene confortat et animatus, tam de verbo simplicis hominis bona fide loquens, quam de revelatione suprascripta, cui in omni profectu gratia maiorem spem et fidem adhibebat. Interpretatur tam dictum quam revelationem prout libet, quicumque voluerit. Sufficit mihi quod ea simpliciter notificavi sic et senioribus nostris, non semel, sed sæpius, audivi.

Genealogia Comitum Richmundiæ post Conquestum Angliæ.

[Ex regist. feodorum de Richmundshire in bibl. Cottoniana, fol. 94 b.]

Eudo comes Britanniae, ante conquestum Angliæ, filius Galfridi ducis, genuit tres filios successivè post ejus mortem in comitatu Britanniae præsidentes, Alanum scilicet dictum Rufum vel Forgaunt, qui primo venit in Angliam cum Willielmo bastardo duce Normaniæ. Cui idem Willielmus postquam coronatus fuit in regem Angliæ per conquestum, auxilio Matildis reginæ suæ, dedit honorem et comitatum comitis Edwini in Eborakshira (qui modo vocatur Richmundshire) et qui ad tunc extitit geldable, sed postea regum privilegio in libertatem est mutatus.

Hic Alanus primo incepit facere castrum et munionem juxta manerium suum capitale de Gilling pro tuitione suorum contra infestationem Anglorum tunc ubique exhæredatorum similiter et Danorum, et nominavit dictum castrum Richmond suo ydiomate Gallico, quod sonat latinè divitem montem, in editiori et fortiori loco sui territorii situatum. Et obiit sine exitu de corpore suo, et apud sanctum Edmundum sepultus est.

Alanus Niger frater suus eidem successit in honorem Richmundiæ. Cujus anno gubernationis xvj. quidam miles nomine Acharias filius Bardolfi fundavit monasterium ordinis Cisterciensis apud Fors in Wenslaidale, quod postea translatum est usque in territorium de Witton, et vocatur Jorevallis, per Stephanum postea comitem Richmundiæ. Et obiit sine liberis.

Stephanus frater dicti Alani eidem successit et honorem prædictum, qui transtulit abbatiam de Fors usque locum qui nunc Joravallis dicitur, genuitque filium nomine Alanum, et obiit Idus Aprilis anno gratiæ millesimo centesimo quadragesimo quarto, et sepultus est apud Begar, tamen cor suum jussit sepeliri in monasterio sanctæ Mariæ apud Eboracum, quod ipse prius construxerat et possessionibus amplissimis dotaverat anno gratiæ mxxxviiij. secundo Willielmi Rufi.

Alanus filius Stephani comitis eidem successit, qui obiit in Britannia 3. kal. Aprilis, anno gratiæ mclxvj.

Conanus filius Alani comes Britanniae et Richmundiæ successit in honorem Richmundiæ, et disposavit Margaretam sororem Willielmi regis Scotiæ. Ex qua genuit unicam filiam et hæredem nomine Constanciam, quam Galfridus frater regis Angliæ Ricardi disposavit.

Iste Conanus ædificavit turrim magnam infra castellum Richmundiæ. Et obiit in Britannia et apud Begar sepelitur anno gratiæ mclxxx.

Constancia filia Conani tenuit honorem prædictum, et ex Galfrido fratre regis habuit filium nomine Arturum, quem Johannes rex Angliæ occidi fecit, et Alianoram incarceravit apud Corf post mortem Arturi fratris sui. Postea duxit eam Ranulphus comes Cestriæ, quæ ab eo propter adulterium divorciata et sine prole generata nupsit cuidam Guidoni de Toarcho. Ex quibus processit filia nomine Adelia, quæ post mortem parentum remansit in custodia regis Franciæ, quam rex dedit in matrimonio domino Petro Mauclerc militi suo cum Britannia. Et obiit in Britannia, sepultus apud Begar anno mccj.

Johannes filius Adeliæ obiit in Britannia anno mcccxxiiij. et nunquam fuit comes Richmundiæ.

Johannes filius Johannis comes Richmundiæ disposavit Beatricem filiam Henrici regis Angliæ. De qua genuit Arturum, Petrum, et Johannem. Occisus fuit apud Lugdunum in coronatione domini Clementis Papæ anno mcccv. ibique sepultus fuit.

Arthurus dux sed non comes Richmundiæ filius suus obiit in Britannia et sepultus est apud Plonarmel mcccxj.

Johannes frater Arthuri comes obiit in Britannia et sepultus est apud Vanys mcccxxx.

Johannes filius Arthuri comes obiit in Britannia et sepultus est apud Plonarmel anno gratiæ mcccxlj.

Greenfield Priory in Lincolnshire.

GREENFIELD PRIORY was founded for Cistercian nuns before A. D. 1153,^a by Eudo de Greinesby and Ralph de Abi his son, to the honour of St. Mary. Eudo's charter is given in addition to those which Dugdale has preserved in the Appendix to the present account: to which, for brevity's sake, we refer for the endowment of this house.

In Pope Nicholas's Taxation we have but one entry concerning Greenfield, p. 59. "Penc. in ecclesia de Beseby."

Tanner says, here were, about the time of the suppression, ten nuns;^b whose revenues in the 26th Hen. VIII. amounted, in the gross, to 79*l.* 15*s.* 1*d.*; in net income to no more than 63*l.* 4*s.* 1*d.*

The site of this house was granted first to Charles, duke of Suffolk; and afterwards, 12 Eliz. to Sir Henry Stanley, knt. Lord Strange, and Margaret his wife.^c Carta Hugonis Episcopi Lincolniae de Confirmatione.

[Ex autog. in bibl. Deuvesiana.]

OMNIBUS Christi fidelibus ad quos praesens scriptum pervenerit Hugo Dei gratia Lincolniensis episcopus salutem in Domino. Ne donationes locis religiosis a fidelibus factae aliqua malignantium machinatione possint in irritum revocari, solers antiquorum cavit prudentia eas episcopali auctoritate confirmari; inde est quod nos eorum sequentes vestigia, et domui de Grenefeld atque monialibus in ea Deo servientibus quantum in nobis est providere volentes, ea quae ipsis pie collata sunt auctoritate qua fungimur duximus ipsis confirmare, et ea propriis vocabulis annotata scripto autentico imprimere; videlicet. Ex dono Eudonis de Greinesbi et Radulfi filii ejus, fundatorum praefati loci, ecclesiam de Abi cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, et culturam de Boland et de Wargarthweit, et de Cattecroft, cum cultura juxta boscum de Swinewit, et pratum quod pertinet ad Cattecroft. Combe Abbey, in Warwickshire.

OMBE ABBEY was founded, according to the Annals of Waverly, in 1150, by Richard de Camvilla. The Annals of Parcolude place the foundation in 1149.

The following is Sir William Dugdale's own account of this Monastery in his History of Warwickshire:—"Being now to speak of the particular endowments which this Monastery had, I shall but only point at the Benefactors, with the places where those lands and possessions so given were situate, in respect that the substance of them were in this County, so that, as they fall in my way, I omit them not. And first touching the posterity of Camvill I only find, that Gerard de Camvill, son and heir to Richard the founder, and Nichola de Haya his wife (Daughter of Gefrey de la Haya) gave to these Monks C. sol. to keep his Anniversary there for ever: but Nigel de Moubray added all the rest of the woods, which adjoynd to those that Roger his Father had bestowed on them before; ^b Will. de Mowbray son to the same Nigel confirming whatsoever his ancestors had given.^c

"The other special Benefactors were these; Richard de Morevill, who gave certain lands in Withibroke:^d Thurbert de Bilnei, with some others, a large part of Bilneie:^e Laurence Prior of Coventre, with the Covent of that place, half a hide of land in the said town of Bilneie:^f Herbert Putot certain lands in Hopsford:^g Thomas the son of Laurence de Stoke xxiii. acres of land in Withibroke, and all his errable land in Bilneie:^h Seher the son of Hugh le Harper of Stoke, a wood called Harper's wood, lying in Stoke:ⁱ Alice the wife of Walter Britton, Wikin-mill which lyeth near Sow, and a messuage there:^k Rob. Chetwode and Sibil his wife Purmilne in Stretton, super Fosse;^l Agatha le Strange, divers lands in Wlricheston (now Wolston:^m) Ric. de Frevile, Merston mill:ⁿ Hamund de Thurville lands in the same Merston: Will de Borthun, Blakedon mill: in the parish of Lillington: Walter Spigurwell of Emscote certain common of pasture in the said Blakedon.

"In Church-Lawford were there divers petty parcells of land given to these Monks, some by Roger Hayrun, Lord thereof, and some by inferior men: So also in Anstl,^o and Shulton,^p by Rog. de Buschervill and others. Little Lawford was wholly bestowed on them by John de Chaveni Lord of that Mannour.^q In Herdeberwe were divers small parcells of land given by ordinary persons;^r so likewise in Burchlingbury.^s

"In Little Copston^t and Wolvey,^u by Rob. Basset and Reginald his son; which Reginald gave also the moytie of the Church of Wolvey. In Shirford^v and Bromecote^w they had lands also given them by Thomas Trove, Lord of Shirford and others. And in Merston-Jabet divers petty parcells by inferior persons;^x besides all that John de Merston (otherwise called John Jabet) had in that Village.^y Part of which lands in Merston were particularly assigned to find shoos for the poor that were dayly releived at the Abby-gate.^z So likewise were certain lands in Bilney and some houses in Coventre.^{aa}

"In Cotes (id est Coton juxta Church-Over) and Neuton, they had much of the grant of Hugh Bagot, Symon Bagot, and others.^{ab} In Church-waver they had also divers small parcells bestowed on them by Rob. de Waver and others.^{ac} In Holme (now called Biggin) the Mill there, with certain lands.^{ad} In Caldecote half a yard land given by Emme the wife of Will. Pludio.^{ae} In Napton two yard land granted to them by Hugh de Alneto.^{af} In Rodburne a large quantity given by Will. de Arden.^{ag} In Hodenhull^{ah} very much by Will. Angevin, and divers more: And in Astanesote severall parcells by sundry persons.^{ai} In Lodbroke the like, some whereof John de Lodbroke bestowed on them.^{aj} In Harberbury Reginald Basset gave all that he had,^{ak} which was a great proportion; many others bestowing severall parcells.

"In Coventre they had many houses, and divers parcells of small Rent given to them by sundry persons; all which Ranulph E. of Chester ratified.^{al} In Staffordshire, at Trescote Will. fil Wydonis gave them two hides of land,^{am} which Gervase Paganell (Baron of Dudley) confirmed.^{an}

"But all these were antient gifts. To which were added the Mannour of Little-Copston, purchased by the Monks, of Sir Andrew de Asteley in H. 3, time, as I have there at large declared.^{ao} The Mannour of Brinklow granted to them by Will. the son of Sir Robert Thorpe Kt. in 18. E. 3.^{ap} And the perpetuall Patronage of the Church of Navesby in Northamptonsh, obtained by them in 8 H. 6.^{aq} Neither were the priviledges which they had throughout all their lands of mean consideration: for K. H. 2. granted to them Free-warren, Court-leet, Felons goods, Infangthef and Outfangthef, (id est power to judge any thief taken within their Fee, and to question any man dwelling with their own Fee, and taken for felony in another place; as also to judge him in their own Court): To be free likewise from services to the County, or Hundred-Court; and moreover for paying of Toll; and all other customes pertaining to the Crown.

"To these K. Ric. 1. added an immunity from paying Toll, and repaying High-ways and Bridges.^b And K. H. 3. from giving any Fine for murder committed within their liberties.^c But such as they had from the Popes, were in generall, to their whole Order; Innocent the III. in 6. Joh. exempting them from payment of any Tithes for those lands which they husbanded with their own proper labour or charges; as well such as had been anciently tilled, as those that were but new broke up.^d And his successor, Honorius, extending that Priviledge, as well to all such lands as they had obtained after the generall Councell (id est of Lateran) as what they had before; which Bull of his bears date at Lateran 7. Kal. Julii, Pontif. sui vi.^e Howbeit by the speciall command of Thomas Becket Archb. of Canterbury, they were to pay Tithes to the Canons of Kenilworth for all that they had within the Parish of Smite, as fully as the said Church of Smite received the same before the Cistercian Monks were seated there,^f till that by complaint to Pope Urban the third, who appointed Baldwin, then Archb. of Canterbury to hear the matter, the same was otherwise settled, viz. that the Monks of Combe should thenceforth provide Divine service to be fitly celebrated in the Church of Smite, discharging all duties to the Bishop and Archdeacon for that Church. And touching viii. marks yearly which the Canons of Kenilworth were to receive, it was determined, that six marks thereof, which they had yearly out of the Church of Cherleton (id est Cherleton-Camvill in com. Somerset) and the other two marks out of the Church of Brinklow, which the Monks of Combe were content should be paid to those Canons, they for peace sake allowing two shill. yearly Pension to be payd at the Feast of St. Michael, towards the charge of Lights in the Monastery of Combe should suffice; upon condition, that if the Monks of Combe did till any ground out of which the Chappell of Brinklow had wont to receive Tithes before this agreement, that they should still pay tithes for the same, except it were new broke up ground; as of woods reduced to tillage; and except gardens and inclosures within the precincts of the Grange, there, belonging to the Monks, and what should arise by the keeping of Cattell; which Award was made an. 1187. (33. H. 2.)^g

"Thus in great glory, plentifully endowed, stood this Monastery little less then four hundred years, till that K. H. 8. a person whose sensuall disposition, suiting so right with that corrupt age wherein he lived, finding Instruments fit for his sacrilegious purposes, contrived the destruction of it, and all the rest of those pious foundations that his ancestors and other devout persons had made; of whose subtil practices for effecting that work, I shall in a short Corollary, before I finish this tract make some discovery: amongst which that generall Survey and valuation, by Commissioners from him, in 26. of his reign, at Robin Hoods penni-worths, did not a little conduce thereto: At which time this Monastery, with all its Revenues, over and above reprises, was certified to be worth cccii. l. xv. s. iii. d. per an.^h

"Of their Hospitality to strangers, and great charity in dayly releif of poor people, I need not descend to particulars, our common Historians and the tradition of such, who were eye-witnesses thereof before that fatall subversion of those Houses, may sufficiently inform the world. I shall therefore only adde what the certificateⁱ upon the before mentioned Survey takes notice of touching this Abby; viz. that by their Foundation, and a Decree by a generall Chapter of their Order, they bestowed in Almes on Maunday-Thursday, every year 4. s. 8. d. in money, ten Quarters of Rye made in Bread at 5. s. the Quarter; three Quarters of Malt made in Beer at 4. s. the Quarter; and 300 Herings at 20. d. the Hundred, distributed to poor people at the gate of the Monastery: Their principall Officers being at that time these; viz. Thomas Howard D. of Norff. high Steward, whose fee therefore was v. marks per an. (which shews what respect the great Nobility had to those Religious persons) Will. Wilcock Receiver generall, whose fee was 6. l. per an. And Baldwin Porter, Auditor, his fee being x. l. s. per an.

"After which ere long, ensued the surrender thereof to the K. hands, viz. 21. Jan. 30. H. 8. by the then Abbot and his Covent, whose names, as they stand subscribed under their severall hands to their publick Instrument,^k whereunto their conventuall Seal is affixed, with the Pensions granted to them, recorded in the Court of Augmentation, which I have here inserted.

"As for the Curses which were usually pronounc't by the Founders of these Religious houses, whether they have attended those violators of what they so zealously and with devout minds had dedicated to God's service; I will not take upon me to say: but sure I am, that after K. H. 8. had accomplish'd this work, he thrived but a little (as I shall elsewhere in particular observe.) And how long such possessions have been enjoyed by those that had them, the that have look't into the course of this world may easily see. For this, whereof I am now speaking, it was by K. E. 6. first granted to John E. of Warwick and to his heirs, 22 Junii 1 E. 6.^m and after his attainder (whereof in Warwick I have spoke) in 3. and 4. Ph. and M. Rob. Abbey of Stratford Langthorne, in Essex.

STRATFORD LANGTHORNE ABBEY was founded, in 1134 or 1135, by William de Montfichet, who endowed it with all his lordship in West-Ham; also with eleven acres of meadow and two mills, his wood of Bocherst in Woodford, and the tithe of his pannage.^b Morant says that the demesnes of the Abbey in West-Ham ultimately comprehended near fifteen hundred acres.^c Its other possessions will be found enumerated in King Henry II'd.'s charter of confirmation, and in the Ministers' Accompts of the 30th Hen VIII.^d

Leland, in his Itinerary, says, "This Howse first sett amonge the low Marches was aftar with sore Fludes defacyd, and removid to a Cell or Graunge longyng to it caullyd Burgstede in Estsex, a mile or more from Billirica. Thes Monks remainid at Burgstede untill entrete was made that they might have sum helpe otherwyse. Then one of the Richards, Kings of England, toke the Ground and Abbay of Strateford into his protection, and reedifienge it browght the forsayde Monks agayne to Stratford, where amonge the Marches they reinhabytyd."^e

The abbat of Stratford had summons to Parliament in 1307.^f

ABBATS of STRATFORD LANGTHORNE.

WILLIAM occurs Sept. 20th, 1330.^g

^a It must have been in one of those years, and not in 1140, as Leland, Speed, and Weaver imagined; for William Corbois archbishop of Canterbury, who is mentioned in the founder's charter, died in 1136.

WILLIAM ETHERWAY was made abbat in 1516.ⁱ

ROBERT abbat of Stratford was at the Christening of Queen Elizabeth, 10th Sept. 1533.^k

WILLIAM HUDDLESTONE was the last abbat.

The value of the revenues of this Monastery in 1291 will be gathered from the items in the Note.^l The Return of them for the Valor Ecclesiasticus 26th Hen. VIII. being lost, no more is recorded in the Abstract of that record intitled "Liber Valorum" than what follows; viz.

The Convent was surrendered to King Henry VIIIth. by the last abbat March 29th, 1538. The deed of Surrender, which remains in the Augmentation Office, is signed by the abbat, the priest, the sacrist, the chanter, and eleven monks; one of whom was so illiterate as to be obliged to make his mark, which is called "the mark of John Wyght which cannot wrytte."ⁿ

The CONVENTUAL SEAL, which is appendant to the Surrender, is round and not large, having on it the Virgin and Child. All that can be read of the legend is SIGILL. COM DE . STRETFORDE.

No REGISTER of this Abbey has, as yet, occurred. References however to the principal Records relating to it will be found in the Note below.^o

The Abbey stood at the distance of about three furlongs south west from the parish Church of West-Ham: the precinct, which was moated, contained about sixteen acres. The only remain of the buildings is a part of a Chapel, adjoining to a public house called The Adam and Eve.

Flexeley, sometimes called Dene Abbey, IN GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

ROGER the second Earl of Hereford after the Conquest, according to Bishop Tanner, built Flexeley Abbey in the time of King Stephen:^a which, like most other Houses of the Cistercian Order, was dedicated to the Virgin Mary.

The first possessions of this House are enumerated in two Charters of King Henry the Second; one granted by him whilst Duke of Normandy, the other after he had taken possession of the English Throne.

From Pope Nicholas's Taxation, A.D. 1291, it appears that the Temporalities of this Abbey in the Diocese of Hereford amounted at that time to 14*l.* 0*s.* 1*d.*: in the Diocese of Bath and Wells to 11*l.*: and in the Diocese of Worcester to 6*l.*: beside 1*l.* 5*s.* in a portion of the Church of Brumefeld among the Spiritualities of the last mentioned diocese.^c

The possessions of this Abbey in the 26th of Henry VIIIth. as recorded in the Valor Ecclesiasticus, will be found in the Appendix to the present account. The clear income of the Abbey amounted at this time to 112*l.* 3*s.* 1*d.*^d

It was under the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Hereford, by whom the abbats were consecrated.

Willis and Atkyns have preserved the following names and dates of the

WILLIAM DE RYA, elected 1314.

RICHARD PEYTA, elected 1372.

JOHN, elected in 1509.^e

WILLIAM BEAUDLEY.

THOMAS WARE was the last abbat. He retired after the Dissolution to Tame in Oxfordshire, where he died in 1546.

After the Suppression, the Abbey Church was totally demolished.

The Site of this House was first granted by King Henry the VIIIth. to Sir William Kingston, who dying seised thereof in the 32nd of that King, son Sir Anthony Kingston had livery of it: But he conveying his property in it to the King, had it re-granted to him in the 34th Hen. VIIIth.^f William Kingston was lord of the manor in 1608: soon after which it passed to Abraham Clarke, Esq. who died seised of it in 1683. From him the manor and scite went to his relation William Bovey, Esq. who dying in 1692 his widow enjoyed it, after whom it passed to Thomas Crawley, Esq. who assumed the name and arms of Bovey. In his family it still continues.

Tanner's references to Books and Records concerning this Monastery will be found below.^h There are no Ministers' Accounts of this House remaining in the Augmentation Office, but in that repository is an Abstract of the Grant to Sir Anthony Kingston of the Site and other possessions of the abbey in 34 Hen. VIII.

No COMMON SEAL has yet been found of Flexeley, but a Seal and Counter-Seal of one of its Abbats to a Deed 10 Edw. II. remains in the Chapter House, Westminster. The subject of the Seal is an Abbat standing erect with his crozier under a canopy slightly ornamented. Legend: S. ABBATIS. DE. FLAXLE. The Counter-Seal is a hand with a crozier and other ornaments, viz. a Fleur-de-lis, &c. and the Inscription round it is CONTRASIGILLVM. ABBATIS. DE. FLAXLE.

Flexeley Abbey, at least that part of it which was occupied by the Head of the Monastery, though greatly altered, is still occupied as a habitation. It is the seat and residence of Sir Thomas Crawley Bovey, Bart.

REGILL, on Broadwell Down, six miles from Bristol, in Nemnot parish in the County of Somerset, was a CELL to Flexeley Abbey: and as such in the 36th Hen. VIII. was granted to Sir Anthony Kingston.

Sir Robert Atkyns makes this Abbey to have been founded temp. Hen. I. but I have continued it, says Tanner, as in the former edition; Roger not being Earl of Hereford till 9 Steph. as Dugd. Baron. tom. i. p. 538.

Albalanda, or Whiteland Abbey, in Caermarthenshire.

LBALANDA, WHITE-
LAND, or BLANCLAND
ABBEY, called in Welch
Ty Gwyn ar Taf, or the White House on the River
Taf,^a was founded as some will have it, by Rhaese the son of Theodore Prince of South Wales in the time of William the Conqueror;^b but more probably by Bernard bishop of St. David's,^c
A.D. 1143.^d Tanner says it was dedicated to St. Mary, and had eight monks in it.^e In the 26th of Henry the Eighth, the total of the revenues of Whiteland amounted to 153*l.* 17*s.* 2*d.*, the clear income to 135*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.*^f The enumeration of the possessions of this Abbey, as they occur in the Confirmation of King John and in the Minister's Accompts of the 31st of Henry VIIIth. will be found in the Appendix^g

THOMAS occurs Abbat of this House in 1499.

Tanner has given but few references to Books and Records relating to it.ⁱ

The Site of this abbey, and divers lands belonging to it, were granted by King Henry the Eighth to Henry Audley, and John Cordall, in the 36th year of his reign.

No SEAL of Whiteland has been discovered.

This Abbey was situated in the parish of Llan Gan in a sequestered valley, sheltered by majestic groves of wood; the present remains are inconsiderable, but are sufficient to mark the site. It is said that the celebrated legislator Hhoel Dha resided in this Abbey.

Abbey of Holm Cultram, in Cumberland.

ENRY, son of David King of Scotland, founded the Abbey of Holm Cultram for monks of the Cistercian Order, A. D. 1150;^a to whom he gave two-thirds of the manor of Holm Cultram, having given the other third to Alan, son of Waldeve, as a chase for hunting. This third part Alan, soon after, gave to the Abbey.

King Henry the Second being possessed of the county of Cumberland by the cession of Malcolm, took the abbey into his protection; and having confirmed the grant of Holm Cultram and other lands, was recognised by the monks as their patron.^b Ample revenues were afterwards given to this abbey by various benefactors. Dugdale and Stevens have been so immensely copious in their extracts from its Registers, as to render it unnecessary to give abstracts here of their contents. More than eighty Charters will be found in the Appendix of Instruments. Among the Papal Bulls, which Stevens has given, that of Pope Clement the Third to this monastery, in 1190, is perhaps the amplest and most specific.^c

The Abbats, though not mitred, were occasionally summoned to Parliament; according to Nicolson and Burn, in the 23d, 24th, 28th, 32d, and 34th Edw. I. and in the beginning of the reign of Edward II.^d

In 1301, Bishop Halton permitted the Abbat and Convent to build a church and erect a parish at Skinburnesse.^e

It was at this abbey, in the month of October, 1300, that King Edward the First, in person, released the bishop of Glasgow from his imprisonment, and received his allegiance with much solemnity, in the presence of the bishop of Carlisle, the abbat, and the French envoys.^f

This abbey was pillaged by the army of Alexander, the Scottish King, in 1216;^g and again in 1322 by Robert Bruce, notwithstanding, as the historian observes, that his father's body was interred there.^h

In or about 1383, during an inroad not mentioned by any of the historians, the abbat and convent were obliged to pay the sum of 200*l.* to the Earl of Douglas to save the monastery from being burned.ⁱ

In the Taxation of Pope Nicholas IVth. but two entries occur of the revenues of this monastery, amounting to 207*l.* 5*s.* 10*d.*^k

EVERARD, the second of the name, is mentioned by Stevens, but without date. He might possibly have lived before the year 1200. He is placed here only to preserve him in the list.

HUGH, elected in 1223.

GILBERT died in 1237.

JOHN, elected in 1237, died 1255.

HENRY succeeded.

GERVASE, 1278.

ROBERT, 1292.

WILLIAM DE REDEKAR, 1434.

ROBERT CHAMBER occurs in 1507, and again in 1518.

GAWIN BORROWDALE was the last abbat. He surrendered his house to the king, March 5th, 29 Hen. VIII. and was appointed rector of Holm Cultram for life; receiving all tithes and rates personally, which the inhabitants of the lordship had been accustomed to pay to the abbat and convent as their tenants.^m The abbey church, at the petition of the tenants, being made, at the dissolution of the monastery, a parish church.ⁿ

In the 26th of Henry VIIIth. the gross amount of the Revenues of this monastery was returned at 535*l.* 3*s.* 7½*d.*; the clear income at 427*l.* 19*s.* 3½*d.*^o

The manor of Holm Cultram continued in the crown from the time of the Dissolution till after the restoration of King Charles the Second. It was purchased of William Burton, Esq. of South Luffington, in Suffolk, in the year 1732, by Edward Stephenson, Esq. sometime governor of Bengal, and is now, or was lately, the property of Edward Stephenson, Esq. of London, grandson of his first cousin.^p

Two REGISTERS of this abbey, small quarto volumes on vellum, occur among the Harleian Manuscripts, Numbers 3891, and 3911. One of them is the same with that quoted by Dugdale and Stevens, as belonging to William, Lord Howard, of Naworth. A modern Transcript of another Register occurs in the same Library, No. 1881.

Collections from one of these Registers will also be found in the Harleian MS. 294, fol. 203. See also MS. 1499, fol. 82. of the foundation and arms of this abbey.^q

VIII.; the subject is, the Virgin Mary at full length, with the infant Jesus in her arms; underneath is a shield bearing three lions passant gardant, held up by two monks, under whom is a lion couchant; on one side of the Virgin stands a king crowned, on the other an abbat with his crozier. The inscription is

The CONVENTUAL BUILDINGS, which were of free stone, were chiefly taken down in the time of the civil wars in the seventeenth century.^a

When Buck published his Views in 1739, a few of the pillars and arches of the choir of the abbey church were standing.

JOHANNES miseratione divinâ Karleol. episcopus, dilectis sibi in Christo filiis abbati et conventui S. Mariæ de Holmcoltram, ordinis Cisterciensis nostræ Caerleolensis diocesis, salutem, gratiam, et benedictionem. Basilicarum sanctarum, sive ecclesiarum nova constructio eo potissime alicubi est necessaria, quo regi summo in eisdem mysticis muneribus complicato, animarum saluti melius prospicitur, dum populus Christianus reddatur devocior, et in alterius præjudicium non redundet. Advertentes siquidem terras, possessiones locaque nostra, infra fines vestros de Holmcoltram, extra limites omnium ecclesiarum parochialium nostræ diocesis, ut ex assertionem quam plurimum intelleximus situata, ac distantia ab eisdem. Considerantes insuper statum vestrum per hostiles invasiones et depredationes Scottorum, adeo depauperatum, quod terras vestras, more solito, ad commodum vestrum excolere non potestis; immo eas aliis tradere excolendas ad vestri sustentationem, pauperum et hospitem suceptionem urgens necessitas vos compellit; ad Dei honorem, sui cultus augmentum, et salutem animarum, ac sacræ religionis vestræ reverentiam, et ad vestras oppressiones notorias et jacturas citius, favente Altissimo, relevandas, invocatâ sancti Spiritus gratiâ, habitis super hac deliberatione providâ et tractatu, auctoritate nostra pontificali, de consensu capituli nostri Karleol. concedimus, pro nobis et successoribus nostris, et specialiter indulgemus, ut liceat vobis in territorio vestro de Arlosk, infra fines vestros prædictos, unam capellam seu ecclesiam de novo construere, pro vestris inquilinis et inhabitantibus infra fines vestros de Holmcoltram morantibus, et processu temporis moraturis. Quam capellam, seu ecclesiam, cum constructa fuerit juxta decentiam quam convenit, omnibus insigniis parochialibus volumus et decernimus insigniri, ipsamque cum omnibus decimis, majoribus, et minoribus, prædialibus et personalibus, ac obventionibus quibuscunque à dictis inquilinis et inhabitantibus vestris, quoquo modo provenientes, vobis et monasterio vestro de Holmcoltram, ac successoribus vestris, auctoritate nostrâ prædictâ annectimus, appropriamus, ac in usus vestros proprios, et successorum vestrorum, pro vobis et successoribus vestris imperpetuum possidendas, liberè concedimus per præsentem.

Porro de vestræ conscientie puritate, et sollicitudine circumspiciat, quam erga honestatem et decorem ecclesiæ Dei credimus vos habere, intimè confidentes, dictam capellam, seu ecclesiam, et ad ornamenta ecclesiastica, cooperturam et clausuram cimiterii, super quorum sustentatione et reparatione vestram, domine abbas, conscientiam, successorumque vestrorum abbatum conscientias oneramus, à nostrâ et successorum nostrorum officialium, archidiaconorum, et aliorum ministrorum nostrorum visitatione et jurisdictione prorsus eximimus, et exemptam esse imperpetuum decernimus, et judicialiter diffinimus, visitationibus et correctionibus clericorum, et laicorum secularium, infra dictos fines vestros morantium et morandorum, sicut aliorum clericorum et laicorum nostræ diœcesis, nostri jurisdictioni ordinariæ subjectorum, extra tamen eosdem fines vestros exercendis, nobis et successoribus nostris, officialibus, archidiaconis, et aliis ministris nostris semper salvis, et in omnibus reservatis. Et ut vobis et successoribus vestris, ex istâ appropriatione vestrâ major fructus commodi temporalis accrescat, ad vestram, successorumque vestrorum quietem perpetuam, exclusâ omnis dissensionis materiâ, concedimus pro nobis et successoribus nostris, et statuimus, quod dictæ capellæ, seu ecclesiæ, per quendam presbyterum secularem idoneum, per vos et successores vestros eligendum, nobis verò, et successoribus nostris, seu officialibus nostris, cum extra nostram diœcesim nos esse contigerit, præsentandum, benè et fideliter serviatur. Quem quidem presbyterum sic per vos electum, et nobis præsentatum, ad curam populi, infra dictos fines vestros habitantes, pro nobis et successoribus nostris, sine difficultate quacunque decernimus admitti; et cum vobis, successoribusque vestris placuerit amoveri, aliquâ cum causâ rationabili amotionis ejusdem, per vos et successores vestros, nobis et successoribus nostris, seu officialibus nostris, in absentia nostrâ, extra nostram diœcesim legitimè assignatâ: quam quidem causam, sine contradictione qualibet, pro nobis et successoribus nostris, seu officialibus nostris, extunc volumus acceptari.

Idem verò presbyter à nobis et successoribus nostris, seu officialibus nostris in absentia nostrâ, ut præmittitur, curam animarum inquilinorum, et inhabitantium vestrorum prædictorum recipiet, et eisdem ecclesiastica sacramenta canonicè ministrabit: qui quidem presbyter, pro labore suo ad ipsius sustentationem, et ad omnia alia onera incumbentia, temporalia, videlicet, et archidiaconalia subportanda, quatuor libras Sterlingorum, ad duos anni terminos, prout inter vos ipsos meliùs poterit convenire, de dictæ capellæ sive ecclesiæ proventibus, fideliter singulis annis solvetis; et unam aream pro domo et curtillagio, pro libito vestræ voluntatis, eidem assignabitis competentem, ultra quas vos aut successores vestros, occasione dictæ capellæ seu ecclesiæ, in nullo per nos, vel successores nostros, officiales, seu ministros nostros prædictos, vel per prædictum presbyterum volumus onerari. Præterea, si processu temporis, dicti inquilini et inhabitantes vestri, à locis vestris prædictis, quoquomodo fuerint amoti, volumus et concedimus, pro nobis et successoribus nostris, quod liberè

LUCIUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Everardo abbati monasterii sanctæ Mariæ de Holmcoltram, ejus fratribus, tam præsentibus quàm futuris, regularem vitam professis imperpetuum. Religiosam vitam eligentibus apostolicum convenit adesse præsidium, ne fortè cujuslibet temeritatis incursus, aut eos à proposito revocet, aut robur (quod absit) sacræ religionis infringat: Ea propter, dilecti in Domino filii, vestris justis postulationibus clementer annuimus, et præfatum monasterium sanctæ Mariæ de Holmcoltram, in quo divino mancipati estis obsequio, sub beati Petri et nostræ protectione suscipimus, et præsentis scripti privilegio communimus. In primis siquidem statuentes, ut ordo monasticus, quam secundum Dei et sancti Benedicti regulam, atque institutionem Cisterciensium fratrum, in eodem loco institutus esse dinoscitur, perpetuis ibidem temporibus inviolabiliter observetur. Præterea quascunque possessiones, quæcunque bona idem monasterium in præsentiarum justè et canonicè possidet, aut in futurum, concessionem pontificum, largitione regum vel principum, oblatione fidelium, seu aliis justis modis, præstante Domino, poterit adipisci, firma vobis, vestrisque successoribus, et illibata permaneant. In quibus hæc propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis: ex dono illustris Anglorum regis Henrici, totam insulam de Holme, in quâ præfatum monasterium situm est, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, et omnibus libertatibus, à præfato illustri rege nobis indultis, et ipsius cartâ confirmatis: grangiam veterem, cum omnibus appendiciis suis: grangiam de Ternis, cum omnibus appendiciis suis: grangiam de Senile, cum omnibus appendiciis suis: grangiam de Rabi, cum omnibus, &c.: grangiam de Arlosk, cum omnibus, &c. Et quicquid habetis infra insulam de Holme per rectas divisas suas, sicut fuit forestata tempore Henrici regis senioris, et Ranulphi comitis Cestriæ.

Extra insulam de Holme, ex dono Cospatricii filii Orm, et Thomæ filii Cospatricii, terram et grangiam de Flemingebey, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, per rectas divisas suas, sicut in eorundem cartis continentur. Ex dono etiam ejusdem Cospatricii terram de Keltone, cum omnibus visamentis suis, sicut in ejusdem cartâ continetur. Libertates insuper ejusdem terræ, ex dono Willielmi comitis, et Cecilie comitissæ Albemariæ: et ex dono ejusdem comitis et comitissæ forgiam unam in Wynnefel, cum omnibus necessariis suis, sicut in cartis eorundem continentur. Ex dono Waldevi filii Gamelli terram de Kirkeby-Thore, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis. Grangiam etiam et terram in Galwidia, quæ dicitur Kirkewinni, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, per divisas suas, in cartâ Rolandi filii Hratredi manifestè decern unam etiam salinam, extra easdem divisas in Lotchchitdale necessariis suis. Et pasturam porcis sine pasnagio per omnes silvas infra dominium ejusdem Rolandi, et aisia-menta nemoris in Preston et Lotch et semitas, et aisia-menta portuum. Omnia hæc, sicut in cartâ ipsius Rolandi continentur.

In Hiberniâ quoque quicquid comes Ricardus, et Hugo de Lacy, et alii nobiles, pietatis intuitu, vobis et domui vestræ contulerunt, et suis cartis munierunt; nichilominus vobis, auctoritate apostolicâ, confirmamus.

Inhibemus etiam ne terras, seu quodlibet beneficium ecclesiæ vestræ collatum, liceat alicui personaliter dari, sive alio modo alienari, sine consensu totius capituli aut majoris et sanioris partis. Si quæ verò donationes, vel alienationes, aliter quam dictum est, factæ fuerint, eas irritas esse censuimus.

Antiquas præterea et rationabiles, ac regulares monasterii vestri consuetudines, hactenus observatas, ratas ha-bemus; et eas futuris temporibus illibatas permanere censuimus.

Sane laborum vestrorum, quos propriis manibus, aut sumptibus colitis, seu de nutrimentis animalium vestrorum, sive de piscationibus vestris, ubicunque fuerint in aquis salsis, vel fluminibus, nullus à vobis decimas extorquere præsumat. Liceat quoque vobis, clericos, vel laicos, è seculo fugientes, liberos et absolutos, ad conversionem recipere, et in vestro monasterio sine contradictione aliquâ retinere. Prohibemus insuper, ut nulli fratrum vestrorum, post factam in loco vestro professionem, fas sit, absque abbatis sui licentiâ, de eodem discedere: discedentem verò ab-que communi literarum cautione, nullus audeat retinere.

Inhibemus etiam, auctoritate apostolicâ, ne quis præsumat monasterium vestrum novis exactionibus aggravare. Paci quoque et tranquillitati vestræ, paternâ solitudine providere volentes, auctoritate apostolicâ prohibemus, ut infra ambitum monasterii vestri et clausuras locorum, seu grangiarum vestrarum, nullus violentiam, vel rapinam sive furtum committere, aut ignem apponere, seu hominem capere, vel interficere aliquo modo præsumat. Ad hæc autem adjicimus, ne aliquis frater sive conversus sub professione vestræ domus astrictus, sine consensu et licentiâ abbatis, et majoris partis capituli vestri, pro aliquo fidejubeat, vel ab aliquo pecuniam mutuo accipiat ultra precium capituli sui providentiâ constitutum, propter manifestam domus vestræ utilitatem. Quod si facere forte præsumperit, non teneatur conventus, sine cujus licentiâ et consensu hoc exigerat, pro eis aliquatinus respondere.

Præterea licitum sit vobis in causis vestris fratres vestros idoneos ad testificandum adducere, atque ipsorum testimonio, si rectum fuerit, et propulsare violentiam, et justiciam vendicare. Pro oleo sancto, consecrationibus altarium, vel ecclesiarum, ordinationibus monachorum, qui ad sacros ordines fuerint promovendi, sive abbate deducendo ad sedem, vel quibuslibet aliis ecclesiasticis sacramentis, nullus à vobis, aut sub contentu consuetudinis, aut quolibet alio modo quicquid audeat postulare.

Statuimus etiam, ne episcopi, vel alia persona secularis, seu alterius ordinis regularem et canonicam abbatis vestri electionem unquam impediât, nec de deponendo eo qui pro tempore fuerit, contra statuta Cisterciensis ordinis, et auctoritatem privilegiorum vestrorum, se nullatenus intromittat. Præterea si episcopus, in cujus parochiâ domus vestra fundata est, tertio, cum humilitate et devotione, sicut convenit, requisitus, abbatem vestrum cum substitutus fuerit, benedicere fortè noluerit; liceat eidem abbati, si presbyter fuerit, proprios novicios benedicere, et alia quæ ad officium illud pertinent exercere; et donec idem episcopus duriciam suam recogitet, et benedicendum abbatem benedicere non recuset. Decernimus ergo, ut nulli omnino hominum liceat præfatum monasterium temere perturbare, vel ejus possessiones auferre, minuere, vel ablatas retinere, vel quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare; sed omnia integra et illibata serventur, eorum pro quorum gubernatione, ac sustentatione concessa sunt usibus omnimodis profutura; salvâ sedis apostolicæ auctoritate, &c.

Data, &c. viij^o Maii, anno Domini mclxxxv^o. pontificatus verò domini Lucii papæ tertii anno quarto.

Stevens, Contin. Monast. tom. ii. p. 263.

NUM. XXIV.

Bulla Alexandri tertii Papæ de Privilegiis Abbatii de Holmcultram Ordinis Cisterciensis, in comitatu Cumbriæ, concessis.

[Chartularium Abbatii de Holmcultram, penes Jo. Warberton, arm. p. 130.]

ALEXANDER episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Everardo abbati monasterii sanctæ Mariæ de Holmcultram ejusdemque fratribus, tam præsentibus quam futuris, regularem vitam professis imperpetuum. Religiosam vitam eligentibus apostolicum convenit adesse præsidium, ne cujuslibet temeritatis incursus aut eos a proposito revocet, aut robur, quod absit, sanctæ religionis infringat. Ea propter, dilecti in Domino filii, vestris justis postulationibus clementer annuimus, et præfatum monasterium beatæ Dei genetricis semperque virginis Mariæ, et quo divino estis mancipati obsequio, sub beati Petri et nostra protectione suscepimus, et præsentis scripti privilegio communimus. In primis siquidem statuentes, ut ordo monasticus, qui secundum Dominum et beati Benedicti regulam, et institutionem Cisterciensium fratrum, in eodem loco institutus esse dinoscitur, perpetuis ibidem temporibus inviolabiliter observetur. Præterea quascumque possessiones quæcunque bona idem monasterium in presentiarum juste et canonice possidet, aut in futurum concessionem pontificum, largicione regum vel principum, oblatione fidelium, seu aliis modis fidelibus, præstante Domino, poterit adipisci, firma vobis vestrisque successoribus et illibata permaneant. In quibus hæc propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis. Locum ipsum in quo præfatum monasterium situm est cum omnibus pertinentiis suis; grangiam veterem cum omnibus appendiciis suis; grangiam de Ternis cum omnibus appendiciis suis; grangiam de Maxburgh cum omnibus appendiciis suis; grangiam de Rabi cum omnibus appendiciis suis; grangiam de Semeburn cum omnibus appendiciis suis; quicquid habetis infra insulam de Holm per rectas divisas suas, sicut fuit foresta tempore Henrici regis et Radulphi comitis Cestriæ. Extra insulam de Holme, grangiam in Galwidia quæ dicitur Kirkwyni, cum omnibus aysiamentis nemoris a portu Hur usque ad Povesterbened, et salinam in loco idoneo, sicut in carta Uctredi filii Freser continetur; grangiam de Millebronna per rectas divisas suas cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, sicut in authentico scripto Gilberti continetur; terram de Chelton cum pastura et omnibus aliis pertinentiis, sicut in autentico scripto Gospatricii filii Ormi continetur. In Hibernia quicquid comes Ricardus et Hugo de Lacy et alii nobiles, pietatis intuitu, vobis et domui vestræ contulerunt, nichilominus vobis auctoritate apostolica confirmamus. Liceatque vobis clericos vel laicos e seculo fugientes liberos et absolutos ad conversionem recipere, et in vestro monasterio absque contradictione aliqua retinere. Prohibemus insuper ut nulli fratrum vestrorum, post factam in loco vestro professionem, fas sit de eodem loco absque licentia magistri sui discedere, discedentem vero sine communi literarum vestrarum cautione nullus audeat retinere. Sane laborum vestrorum quos propriis manibus aut sumptibus colitis, sive de incrementis vestrorum animalium, nullus omnino a vobis decimas præsumat exigere. Paci quoque et tranquillitati vestræ paterna sollicitudine providere volentes, auctoritate apostolica prohibemus ut infra ambitum monasterii vestri seu grangiarum vestrarum nullus violentiam vel rapinam sive furtum committere, aut ignem apponere, seu hominem capere vel interficere audeat. Statuimus etiam ne episcopi vel alia persona secularis seu alterius ordinis regularem et canonicam abbatem vestri electionem unquam impediat, nec de deponendo eo qui pro tempore sublatus fuerit, contra statuta Cisterciensis ordinis et auctoritatem privilegiorum vestrorum, se nullatenus intronittat. Præterea si episcopus in cujus parochia domus vestra fundata est, tertio cum humilitate et devotione sicut convenit requisitus, abbatem vestrum cum substitutus fuerit benedicere forte voluerit, eidem abbati liceat proprios novicios benedicere, et alia quæ ad officium illud pertinent exercere, donec ipse duritiam suam recogitet, et benedicendum abbatem benedicere non recuset. Decernimus ergo ut nulli omnino hominum liceat præfatum monasterium temere perturbare, aut ejus possessiones auferre, vel ablatas temere minuere, aut quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare, sed omnia integra et illibata serventur eorum pro quorum gubernatione et sustentatione concessa sunt usibus omnimodis profutura, salva sedis apostolicæ auctoritate. Si qua vero in futurum ecclesiastica secularisve persona hanc nostræ constitutionis paginam sciens contra eam temere venire temptaverit, secundo terciove commonita, nisi reatum suum digna satisfactione correxerit, potestatis honorisque sui dignitate careat, reamque se divino judicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate cognoscat, et a sanctissimo corpore et sanguine Dei et Domini redemptoris nostri Jesu Christi aliena fiat, atque in extremo examine districtæ ultioni subjaceat. Cunctis autem eidem loco sua jura servantibus sit pax Domini nostri Jesu Christi quatenus, et fructum bonæ actionis percipiant, et apud districtum judicem præmiæ eternæ pacis inveniant. Amen. NUM. XXV.

[Ibid. fol. 136.]

CLEMENS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Everardo abbati monasterii sanctæ Mariæ de Holmcultram ejusque fratribus, tam præsentibus quam futuris, regularem vitam professis. In perpetuum religiosam vitam eligentibus apostolicum convenit adesse præsidium, ne cujuslibet temeritatis incursus aut eos a proposito revocet, aut robur, quod absit, sacræ religionis infringat. Ea propter, dilecti in Domino filii, justis postulationibus clementer annuimus, et præfatum monasterium sanctæ Dei genetricis et virginis Mariæ de Holmcultram, in quo divino mancipati estis obsequio, sub beati Petri et nostra protectione suscepimus, et præsentis scripti privilegio communimus. In primis siquidem statuantes, ut ordo monasticus, qui secundum Domini et beati Benedicti regulam, et institutionem Cisterciensium fratrum, in eodem monasterio constitutus esse dinoscitur, perpetuis ibidem temporibus inviolabiliter observetur. Præterea quasunque possessiones juste et canonice possidet, aut in futurum concessione pontificum, largitione regum vel principum, oblatione fidelium, seu aliis justis modis, præstante Domino, poterit adipisci, firma vobis vestrisque successoribus et illibata pemaneant. In quibus propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis: Ex dono illustrissimi regum Anglorum Henrici Dei gratia filii ejus, totam insulam de Holm et Rabi cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, scilicet per has divisas, per rivulum qui currit subtus Kirkebride inter exterius fossatum monachorum et villam de Kirkebride et cadit in Wachepol, et sic ascendendo per eundem rivulum deforis prædictum fossatum usque ad Cokkelayk, semper sicut dura terra et mussa sibi invicem obviant; et inde ascendendo in directum usque ad medietatem mussæ quæ est inter Waycheholm et insulam sancti Laurentii, et inde per transversum mussæ et nemoris usque ad Ainterpont, et inde descendendo per Waver ad locum ubi Waver et Crombot sibi obviant, et inde ascendendo per Crombot usque ad locum ubi rivulus de Wytekeld cadit in Crombot, et inde ascendendo per ipsum rivulum usque ad ipsum Wytekeld, et inde in directum versus occidentem usque ad sicam quæ circuit Midillrigg ex septentrionali et occidentali parte, et cadit in Polneuton, usque ad locum ubi Polneuton cadit in mare, et inde per circuitum maris usque ad locum ubi Wachepol cadit in mare; et sic ascendendo per Wachepol usque ad locum ubi prædictus rivulus qui currit subtus Kirkebride cadit in Wachepol; et quicquid infra prædictas divisas continetur; grangias et possessiones, et liberos introitus et exitus de abbacia et locis vestris infra et extra prædictas divisas ubique, per mare et per terram, per sablones, et per vastum, et per visnetum, et marem, et petram, in tota foresta de Englesbad, et pasturam et mansuras vestras infra muros de Kalo, et omnia alia aysiamenta et consuetudines cum libertatibus omnibus a præfatis illustribus regibus vobis indultis, et ipsorum cartis confirmatis. Extra insulam de Holm, ex dono Cospatricii filii Ormi et Thomæ filii Cospatricii terram et grangiam de Flenningby cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, et communem pasturam cum vicinis loci illius, sicut in eorundem donatorum cartis continetur. Capellam quoque in eadem Flenningby, et terram quæ fuit capellæ, pro qua mater ecclesia recepit escambium ad valentiam a præfato Cospatricio possessore fundi, favente tunc temporis persona Adam, et cessionem decimarum prædictæ capellæ eodem Ada favente vobis impetuum, et Roberto archidiacono tunc temporis diocesano, vacante episcopatu, idem testibus adhibitis carta sua confirmante, coram quampluribus tam clericis quam laicis. Ex dono etiam ejusdem Cospatricii terram de Kelton, cum omnibus aysiamentis et pertinentiis suis, sicut in ejusdem carta continetur. Libertates insuper ejusdem terræ, ex dono Willielmi comitis et Cecilie comitissæ Albemariæ, sicut in eorundem cartis continetur. Ex dono Thomæ filii Cospatricii unum rete in Derwent cum visneto, et unam piscariam in Derwent, et unam maysuram in ripa ejusdem fluminis, sicut carta ejusdem testatur; terram quoque et grangiam in territorio de Kirkebythore, cum omnibus pertinentiis et libertatibus, sicut cartæ donatorum testantur. Libertates quoque ejusdem terræ ex dono illustris Anglorum regis Ricardi vobis indultas, et ipsius carta confirmatas. Insuper in Hibernia quicquid comes Ricardus et Johannes de Curcy et alii nobiles, pietatis intuitu, vobis et domui vestræ rationabiliter contulerunt, et suis cartis munierunt, vobis nichilominus auctoritate apostolica confirmamus. Sane laborum vestrorum quos propriis manibus aut sumptibus colitis, tam de terris cultis quam de incultis, sive de ortis et virgultis vestris, vel de in crementis animalium vestrorum, nullus a vobis decimas exigere vel extorquere præsumat. Liceat quoque vobis clericos laicos a seculo fugientes liberos et absolutos ad conversionem recipere, et eos absque contradictione aliqua retinere. Prohibemus insuper ut nulli vestrorum, post factam in eodem loco professionem, fas sit absque abbatis sui licentia de eodem loco discedere; discedentem vero absque communium literarum cautione nullus audeat retinere; quod si quis forte retinere præsumperit, liceat vobis in ipsos monachos vel conversos sententiam proferre regularem. Illud districtius prohibentes, ne terras seu quodlibet beneficium ecclesiæ vestræ collatum liceat alicui personaliter dari, sive alio modo alienari, absque consensu totius capituli vel majoris vel sanioris partis ejusdem. Si quæ vero donationes sive alienationes aliter quam dictum est factæ fuerint, eas irritas esse censemus. Adhæc etiam prohibemus ne aliquis monachus vel conversus sub professione domus vestræ astrictus, sine assensu et licentia abbatis et majoris partis capituli vestri, pro aliquo fidejubeat vel ab aliquo pecuniam mutuo accipiat, ultra pretium capituli vestri providentia statutum, nisi propter manifestam domus vestræ utilitatem, quod si facere præsumperit non teneatur pro hiis aliquatenus respondere. Licetum sit vobis præterea in causis vestris, sive civilem sive criminalem, contineant questionem fratrum vestrorum testimoniis uti, ne per defectum testium jus vestrum possit in aliquo deperire. Insuper auctoritate apostolica prohibemus ut nullus episcopus vel alia persona ad sinodos vel conventus forenses vos ire, vel iudicio seculari de propria substantia vel possessionibus subiacere compellat, nec ad domus vestras causa ordines celebrandi, causas tractandi, vel aliquos publicos conventus convocandi venire præsumat, nec regularem abbatis vestri electionem impediat, aut de instituendo seu removendo eo qui pro tempore fuerit, contra statuta Cisterciensis ordinis et auctoritatem privilegiorum vestrorum, se nullatenus intro-mittat. Si vero episcopus in cujus parochia domus vestra fundata est, cum humilitate ac devotione qua convenit requisitus, substitutem abbatem benedicere et alia quæ ad officium episcopale pertinent vobis conferre renuerit, licitum sit eidem abbati, si tunc sacerdos fuerit, proprios novicios benedicere, et cætera quæ ad suum officium exercere, et vobis omnia ab alio episcopo percipere quæ a vestro indebite fuerint denegata; illud adicientes, ut, in recipiendis professionibus quæ a benedictis vel benedicendis abbatibus exhibentur, ea sint episcopi forma et expressione contenti quæ ab origine ordinis nostri sunt instituta et hactenus observata, ut scilicet abbates episcopis salvo ordine suo præsentari debeant, et contra statuta ordinis apostolicæ sedis privilegio roborata nullam professionem facere compellantur. Pro consecrationibus vero altarium vel ecclesiarum, sive pro oleo sancto vel quolibet ecclesiastico sacramento, nullus a vobis sub obtentu consuetudinis vel alio modo quicquam audeat extorquere, sed hæc omnia gratis vobis episcopus diœcesanus impendat; alioquin liceat vobis quemcumque malueritis catholicum antistitem adire, gratiam atque communionem sacrosanctæ Romanæ sedis habentem, qui nostra fretus auctoritate quod postulatis vobis impendat. Quod si sedes diœcesani episcopi forte vacaverit, interim omnia ecclesiastica sacramenta a vicinis recipere episcopis libere et absque contradictione possitis, sic tamen ut ex hoc in posterum propriis episcopis nullum præjudicium generetur. Quia vero priorum interdu episcoporum copiam non potestis habere, si quem episcopum Romanæ sedis communionem habentem, de quo plenam notitiam habeatis, per vos transire contigerit, ab illo benedictiones vasorum et vestium, consecrationes altarium, ordinationes monachorum, auctoritate sedis apostolicæ recipere valeatis. Porro si episcopi vel alii ecclesiarum rectores in monasteria vestra vel personas inibi constitutas, sive in mercenarios vestros, pro eo quod decimas non solvitis vel aliqua occasione eorum quæ ab apostolica benignitate vobis indulta sunt, seu benefactores vestros, pro eo quod aliqua vobis beneficia vel obsequia ex caritate præstiterint, suspensionis, excommunicationis vel interdicti sententiam promulgaverint, eandem sententiam tanquam contra apostolicæ sedis indulta prolatam, decernimus irritandam, nec ullæ literæ firmitatem habeant quæ tacito ordine Cisterciensium contra tenorem apostolicorum privilegiorum constiterint impetratæ. Cum vero commune interdictum terræ fuerit, liceat vobis clausis januis exclusis excommunicatis et interdictis divina officia celebrare. Paci quoque et tranquillitati vestræ paterna in posterum sollicitudine providere volentes, auctoritate apostolica prohibemus ne quis infra clausuram locorum seu grangiarumstrarum violentiam vel rapinam seu furtum facere, hominem capere vel interficere, ignem apponere vel sanguinem fundere, aliqua temeritate præsumat. Præterea omnes immunitates et libertates a prædecessoribus nostris piæ recordationis, Innocencio, Eugenio, Alexandro, Lucio, Urbano et Gregorio Romanis pontificibus ordini vestro concessas, etiam libertates et exemptiones secularium exactionum a regibus et principibus, patrocinio communimus. Decernimus ergo ut nulli omnino hominum liceat præfatum monasterium temere perturbare, aut ejus possessiones auferre, vel ablatas retinere, seu quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare, sed omnia integra conserventur eorum pro quorum gubernatione et sustentatione concessa suis usibus omnimodis profutura, salva in omnibus apostolicæ sedis auctoritate. Si qua ergo in futurum ecclesiastica secularisve persona hanc nostræ constitutionis paginam sciens contra eam temere venire temptaverit, secundo tertiove commonita, nisi reatum suum congrua satisfactione correxerit, potestatis honorisque sui dignitate careat, reamque se divino iudicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate cognoscat, et a sanctissimo corpore et sanguine Dei et Domini redemptoris nostri Jesu Christi aliena fiat, atque in extremo examine divinæ ultioni subiaceat. Cunctis autem eidem loco jura sua servantibus sit pax Domini nostri Jesu Christi quatenus, et hic fructum bonæ actionis percipiant, et apud districtum iudicem præmia eternæ pacis inveniant. Amen. NUM. XXVI.

[Ibid. fol. 130.]

INNOCENTIUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis abbati et conventui de Holmcultram Cisterciensis ordinis, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Apostolicæ sedi cui licet immeriti præsidemus nos ammonet auctoritas piæ religiosorum preces clementer admittere, et eorum vota effectu prosequente complere, ut oculis apostolicæ paternitatis eorundem commodis et tranquillitatibus invigilet, ac eorum indemnitati provida studeat circumspectione cavere, hiis præsertim qui malignantium frequentius molestantur versutiis quorum impetum cum materiali gladio nequeat ecclesia refrenare, spirituali sibi remedio postulat subveniri. Ea propter, dilecti in Domino filii, nos quorum interest errata corrigere, et quæ perperam fiunt ad equitatis tramitem revocare, vobis et fratribus ordinis vestri cupientes utiliter providere, universitati vestræ dispensationem duximus indulgendam, ut quicumque bona vel possessiones vestras furtive subtraxerint aut violenter invaserint, eos sublato apostolico juris obstaculo excommunicationis vinculo innodetis; quam eo usque inviolabilem faciatis observari donec condigne vobis satisfaciant de commissis. Et quia frigescente caritate multorum usque adeo malicia noscitur abundasse, ut plures eorum qui ecclesiis modernis temporibus sunt prælati transgrediantur terminos ab antiquioribus constitutos, et in vestrum specialiter ordinem indebitam exercere non dubitent ulcionem, ad exemplar felicitis recordationis Lucii papæ prædecessoris nostri, præsentium literarum inscriptione, statuimus et firmiter inhibemus, ut nulli omnino in vos vel monasteria vestra seu fratres inibi constitutos, contra id quod ab origine ordinis vestri noscitur observatum, excommunicationis, vel suspensionis, seu interdicti sententiam liceat promulgare; quod si factum fuerit auctoritate apostolica irritum habeatur. Sane laborum vestrorum quos propriis manibus aut sumptibus colitis, sive de nutrimentis animalium vestrorum, non tantum de novalibus sed etiam de terris antiquitus cultis et incultis, necnon de terris conductis quas ad firmam vel terminum tenetis, vel quomodocumque tenueritis, nullus a vobis vel ab aliis pro eo quod animalia vestra in pastura aliqua custodiant et habeant decimas nullatenus exigere vel extorquere præsumat. Quod si a sede apostolica literæ impetratæ fuerint quarum occasione quis a vobis decimas exigere vel aliquid aliud contra privilegia et indulgentias vestras extorquere nitatur, illis respondere minime tenemini, nec ullæ literæ habeant firmitatem quæ tacito nomine Cisterciensis ordinis et contra tenorem privilegiorum et indulgentiarum sedis apostolicæ fuerint impetratæ. In quibus si inhibita fuerit appellatio, nichilominus habeatis potestatem appellandi. Si qui vero episcopi, archidiaconi, vel alii ecclesiarum rectores in aliquo de familia vestra, quamdiu in famulatu vestro permanserint, sive in mercenarios vel benefactores vestros, pro eo quod vos ad laborandum adjuverunt in illis diebus quibus conversi vestri laborant et seculares feriantur, excommunicationis, suspensionis, sive interdicti sententiam promulgaverint, illam decernimus non tenere. Concedimus etiam ut liceat vobis decientes vestros in extremis positos absolvere, et opportunitate suscepta eis ecclesiastica sacramenta cum sepultura conferre. Nulli ergo omnino hominum liceat hanc paginam nostræ indulgentiæ, constitutionis, inhibitionis et concessionis infringere, vel ei ausu temerario contraire. Si quis autem hoc attemptare præsumpserit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei et beatorum Petri et Pauli apostolorum ejus se noverit incursurum. Dat. &c.

NUM. XXVII.

[Ibid. fol. 141.]

GREGORIUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, venerabilibus fratribus, archiepiscopis, episcopis, et dilectis filiis abbatibus, prioribus, decanis, archidiaconis, et aliis ecclesiarum prælati ad quos literæ istæ pervenerint, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Cum abbates Cisterciensis ordinis, tempore concilii generalis, ad commonitionem felicitis recordationis Innocentii papæ prædecessoris nostri, statuerint ut de cætero fratres ipsius ordinis ne occasione privilegiorum suorum ecclesiæ ulterius gravarentur de alienis terris et ab eo tempore acquirendis, si eas propriis manibus et sumptibus excolerent, decimas persolverent ecclesiis quibus ratione prædiorum antea solvebant, nisi cum eisdem ecclesiis aliter ducerent componendum, dictus prædecessor noster, quia sperabat ut ecclesiarum prælati prouiores et efficaciores existent ad exhibendum eis justitiæ complementum, et eorum privilegia diligentius et præstantius observarent, statutum hujusmodi gratum habens et ratum hoc ad alios regulares qui similibus gaudent privilegiis extendi voluit et mandavit. Sed quod dolentes referimus in contrarium res versa est, quia, sicut ex inconculcata querela dilectorum filiorum abbatis et conventus de Holmcoltram ejusdem ordinis frequenter audimus, nonnulli ecclesiarum prælati et alii clerici eorum privilegia temere contemnentes et contententes maliciose ipsorum pervertere intellectum, eosdem multipliciter inquietant; nam cum sit ipsis indultum, ut de novalibus quæ propriis manibus aut sumptibus excolunt, sive de ortis, virgultis, et piscationibus suis, vel de suorum animalium incrementis, nullus ab eis decimas exigere vel extorquere præsumat, quidam perverso intellectu confite dicentes quod hæc non possunt nec debent intelligi nisi de hiis quæ sunt ante generale concilium acquisita, ipsos super hiis multiplici vexatione fatigant. Nos autem eorum quieti paterna solitudine providere volentes, universitati vestræ per apostolica scripta mandamus quatinus dictos abbatem et conventum a præstatione decimarum, tam de possessionibus habitis ante concilium, quam de novalibus sive ante sive post idem concilium acquisitis, quæ propriis manibus aut sumptibus excolunt, necnon de ortis, virgultis, et piscationibus suis, et de suorum animalium nutrimentis, singuli vestrum omnino servetis immunes; contradictores per censuram ecclesiasticam appellatione postposita compescendo. Dat. Perusii, septimo Idus Januarii, pontificatus nostri anno tertio.

NUM. XXVIII.

[Ibid. fol. 144.]

INNOCENTIUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, venerabilibus fratribus Karliolensi et Glasguensi episcopis, et dilectis filiis archidiaconis et officialibus eorum, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Gravem dilectorum filiorum abbatis et conventus de Holmcoltram Cisterciensis ordinis Karliolensis diocesis recepimus quæstionem, quod cum ipsi de suis injuriatoribus vel debitoribus coram vobis singulariter tanquam locorum ordinariis conqueruntur, vos non prius eis vultis de his justiciam exhibere quam de prosequenda finaliter coram vobis lite præsentis fidejussoriam cautionem, et si has querelas contingat amabili compositione sopiri, vel eosdem abbatem et conventum in probatione deficere, vos ab eorum fidejussoribus pœnam pecuniariam indebite petitis, prout inter laicos alicubi fieri consuevit, et contra justiciam extorquetis; propter quod idem abbas et conventus ad sedis apostolicæ providentiam recurrentes, nobis humiliter supplicarunt ut super hiis apponeremus consilium salutare. Cum ergo hæc de radice cupiditatis procedere videantur, discretionem vestram per apostolica scripta mandamus quatinus dictis abbati et conventui, nullam super præmissis inferatis de cætero molestiam vel gravamen. Ita quod in foro vestro gratis reddatur justitia, et debitus juris ordo servetur; et nos propter hoc vobis aliter scribere non cogatis. Dat. Lugduni, iii. Kal. Novembris, pontificatus nostri anno vi°.

[Ibid.]

GREGORIUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis abbati et conventui de Holmcoltram Karliolensis diocesis Cisterciensis ordinis, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Animarum salutem desiderio ferventi quærentes, vobis auctoritate præsentium indulgemus, ut hominum ad vestrum servitium commorantium qui de facili suorum non possunt habere copiam sacerdotum, liceat sacerdotibus de conventu vestro quos tu, fili abbas, ad hoc duxeris deputandos confessiones audire, pœnitentiam eis salutarem injungere, ac sacramenta ecclesiastica exhibere, sine juris præjudicio alieni. Nulli ergo hominum liceat hanc paginam nostræ concessionis infringere vel ei ausu temerario contraire. Si quis autem hoc attemptare, &c. Dat. Lateran. iij. Kal. Novembris, pontificatus nostri anno xj°.

NUM. XXX.

Privilegium Innocentii quarti Papæ Monachis de Holmcoltram concessum, ut omnia Loca interdicanur in quibus bona Monachorum detenta sunt.

[Ibid. fol. 145.]

INNOCENTIUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, venerabilibus fratribus archiepiscopis, episcopis, et dilectis filiis abbatibus, prioribus, et aliis ecclesiarum prælatibus, ad quos literæ istæ pervenerint, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Non absque dolore cordis et plurima turbatione didicimus, quod ita in plerisque partibus ecclesiastica censura dissolvitur, et canonicæ sententiæ severitas enervatur, ut vestri religiosi, et hii maxime qui per sedis apostolicæ privilegia donati sunt libertate, passim a malefactoribus suis injurias sustinent et rapinas, dum vix inveniatur qui congrua illis protectione subveniat, et pro fovenda pauperum innocentia murum se defensionis opponat. Specialiter autem dilecti filii nostri abbas et fratres de Holmcoltram Cisterciensis ordinis, tam de frequentibus injuriis quam de ipso quotidiano defectu justitiæ conquerentes, universitatem vestram, literis apostolicis pecierunt excitari, ut ita videlicet eos in tribulationibus suis contra malefactores eorum prompta debeatis magnanimitate consurgere, quod ab angustiis quas sustinent et pressuris vestro præsidio respirare. Ideoque universitati vestræ per apostolica scripta mandamus, et in virtute obedienciæ districtæ, præcipimus quatinus illos qui in aliquem de fratribus ipsius manus violentas injecerint, vel res seu domos eorum aut hominum suorum irreverenter invaserint, vel ea quæ prædictis fratribus ex testamento discedentium relinquuntur contra justiciam retinuerint, vel decimas laborum seu nutrimentorum suorum spretis privilegiis apostolicæ sedis extorserint, aut res eorum a fugitivis ablatas illicite retinere præsumpserint, si laici fuerint, eos et principales fautores eorum publice candelis accensis excommunicationis sententia percellatis, clericos autem, canonicos, sive monachos, appellatione remota ab officio et beneficio suspendatis, neutram relaxaturi sententiam donec prædictis fratribus plenarie satisfaciant, et hii præcipue qui per violentam manuum injectionem vinculo sunt anathematis innodati, cum diocessani literis ad sedem apostolicam venientes ab eodem vinculo mereantur absolvi; villas autem in quibus bona prædictorum fratrum per violentiam detenta fuerint, vel etiam hominum suorum aut prædones ipsi permanserint, seu etiam fratres fugitivi monachi vel conversi contra voluntatem ipsorum extiterint; inhabitatores ipsarum ammoniti si eos a se non curaverint amovere, quam diu ibi sunt appellatione postposita interdicti sententiæ supponatis. Carta Roberti Glasguensis Episcopi, de Capella de Kyrkewynni Monachis de Holmcultram appropriata.

[Ibid. fol. 122.]

ROBERTUS permissione divina Glasguensis episcopus, dilectis sibi in Christo filiis abbati et conventui de Holmcultram ordinis Cisterciensis, Karliolensis diocesis, salutem, gratiam, et benedictionem. Piæ memoriæ Jocelinus episcopus Glasguensis prædecessor noster, Deo et ecclesiæ vestræ sanctæ Mariæ, vobis ac successoribus vestris, locum et capellam in Galwidia quæ dicitur Kirkewynny, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, concessit, scriptoque suo episcopali auctoritate confirmavit, volens ut vos prædictam capellam et locum teneretis et possideretis libere et pacifice a præstationibus synodaliis, episcopalibus, et omnium onerum ordinariorum quieti totaliter et immunes. Quam quidem capellam per xl. annos sic inconcusse possidetis, liberam et quietam de episcopalibus et sinodalibus et omnibus aliis exactionibus, ex concessione ejusdem Jocelini prædecessoris nostri, vobis et ecclesiæ vestræ concessam et collatam, et ex certa scientia Innocentii papæ tertii auctoritate apostolica confirmatam. Porro bonæ memoriæ Walterus Glasguensis episcopus, præfati Jocelini successor, prædictæ sedi apostolicæ conquerendo, monstravit, quod monachi de Holm. et quidam alii Cisterciensis ordinis Karliolensis et Glasguensis diœcesium, quasdam parochiales ecclesias suæ diœcesis indebite usurpantes, parochianis et colonis ipsarum violenter expulsis, ipsas in grangias et oratoria simplicia converterunt, in ejusdem episcopi præjudicium non modicum et gravamen, ac ipso ad episcopum Candidæ Casæ abbatem de Glenlus, et archidiaconum Candidæ Casæ, obtinente, per apostolica scripta, mandari ut, convocatis partibus, causam audirent, et eam fine debito terminarent. Coram quibus, partibus more judicario evocatis, et in judicio sufficienter instructis, legitime comparentibus cum mandatis legaliter factis ad agendum, defendendum, transigendum, componendum, ac omnia alia faciendum quæ causæ seu negotii qualitas exposcebat, lis hoc fine conquievit; scilicet, quod jam dictus Walterus Glasguensis episcopus prædictum locum de Kirkewynny et capellam Sancti Wininy, in eo sitam, Dei intuitu et religionis favore, antedictis monachis de Holm. concessit, liberam et quietam ab omnibus episcopalibus et ab omnimodis exactione et parochiali obnoxitate; habenda et possidenda pacifice et quiete. Quam compositionem memorati judices approbantes et ratam habentes, auctoritate qua in dicta causa fungebantur apostolica roboraverunt, et sub sigillis suis publice confirmaverunt. Et consequenter præmissas concessionem sic pie et salubriter factas decanus et capitulum ecclesiæ Glasguensis, piis oculis intuentes pariter et approbantes confirmare curaverunt, prout in suis literis manifestius continetur. Ut hæc omnia et singula vidimus et intuitu sumus in instrumentis authenticis præfatorum episcoporum Jocelini et Walteri, qui concesserunt ut præmittitur, Candidæ Casæ episcopi, abbatis de Glenlus, et archidiaconi Candidæ Casæ, auctoritate apostolica, cognoscentium, et compositioni de qua fit mentio supra, auctoritatem et firmitatem præstantium; Innocentii papæ tertii concessionem prælibati Jocelini ex certa scientia confirmantis, et confirmationis capituli nostri Glasguensis, quibus inspectis, sæpiusque revolutis, examinatis, discussis, ponderatis, ac plenius intellectis a nostræ jurisdictionis ordinaria quacumque et omnimoda, successorum nostrorum officialium, cæterorumque ministrorum nostrorum, cujuscumque conditionis existant, vos successoresque vestros, locum vestrum de Kyrkewynny, capellam ejusdem, monachos vestros ibidem vicissim existentes, familiam, famulos, servientes, tenentes, et inquilinos vestros, lares in terris et possessionibus vestris foventes, non solum auctoritate apostolica, verum etiam præscriptione quadragenaria, quod omnem prorsus excludit actionem, exemptos judicialiter pronuntiamus, vosque immunes ab omni sarcina ordinarii, liberos in hac parte, et pleno jure vallatos, nosque, successoresque nostros nichil posse nec debere super præmissis, ut præmittitur contra vos, absque nota sacrilegii et Romani pontificis contemptum, attemptare, statuere, decernere, aut immutare quia sacrilegii instar est a principe diffinitum revolvere, aut in dubium revocare sententialiter et diffinitive declaramus, insinuantes Christi fidelibus universis quod vos, per procuratorem vestrum, legitime constitutum, protestati estis palam coram nobis, et manifeste quod concessionibus apostolicæ sedis, capituli Glasguensis confirmationibus, et beneficio præscriptionis, de quibus supra in singulis instrumentis plenius fit mentio, per quamcumque dicta contraria seu facta nullo modo renuntiare vultis, sed eisdem uti conjunctim et divisim, et inniti ad defensionem vestram, prout convenit intenditis cum effectu. Sane licet gratiæ plenitudo adjectionis non indigeat, et supervacuis agitetur impendiis quæ solem certat fascibus adjuvare. Liberales concessionem bonæ memoriæ Jocelini et Walteri, et gratiam summi pontificis vobis factam in hac parte, qui plenitudo gratiæ dicitur et omnia supernatat. Jura sequentes et easdem ratas habentes et illibatas, ex habundanti vobis et ecclesiæ vestræ successoribusque vestris, caritatis intuitu, et sacræ religionis, obtentu, capellam de Kyrkewynny nostræ diœcesis memoratam, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, perpetuo applicandam usibus vestris, pro nobis et successoribus nostris, pleno jure, tam in temporalibus quam in spiritualibus, decimasque majores, minores, obventiones, oblationes, et proventus qualitercumque obve-nientes in vestros usus, pro hospitum susceptione et pauperum subventionem; salvis vobis undique gratia summi pontificis et protestatione præmissis, auctoritate præsentis, de gracia concedimus speciali; et ad majorem securitatem præmissorum et firmitatem, hoc præsens scriptum decanus noster et capitulum Glasguense, post maturiorem examinationem et indagationem frequentiore, intuitu Dei et religionis favore, memoratis religiosi abbati et conventui de Holm, ad nostram instantiam, ex certa scientia et unanimi consensu, confirmaverunt gratuita approbatione, per sigilli sui communis approbationem solemniter roborantes. In testimonium præmissorum præsentibus sigillum est appensum.

Idem episcopus concessit monachis quod capellam suam de Kyrkewynny, cimiterium, et altaria dictæ capellæ, consecrare et reconciliare possent quoties fuisset necessarium.

Robertus filius Willielmi de Moffet dedit conventui de Holmcultram unum toftum cum crofto in villa de Trenguer.

Ricardus filius Lescelini dedit unum toftum in villa de Domfres.

Idem Ricardus quietum clamavit monachis totum jus suum quod habuit in uno tofto, ab ipsis monachis sibi ad vitam suam concessio, in eadem villa de Dumfres.

Michael filius Mathei dedit unum toftum in eadem villa.

Edwardus de Brus, dominus Galwidie, remisit et quietum clamavit eisdem monachis totum jus suum in annua firma decem librarum sterlingorum, quam ipsi reddere solebant dominis de Botil, pro terris quas habebant apud Kyrkewynny in Gallwidia, ex dono et concessione Rolandi filii Huctredi, et aliorum donatorum.

Tarent, or Tarrant Nunnery, in Dorsetshire.

his son William increased, and among other gifts gave all the tithe of the bread made in his house, wherever he might be, in his demesne, except the King's bread, and all the tithe of salt pork, and of cattle killed in his house every year.^a But though Ralph de Kahaines was the original founder,

ANNER has recorded the various names of this Monastery: Tarent, or Tarrant Kaines, Kaineston or Kingston, olim Locus Benedictus Reginae super Tarent, or Locus Reginae super Tarent.

Ralph de Kahaines, says Hutchins, son of Ralph who came over with the Conqueror, built here in the time of Richard I. near his mansion house a little Monastery for Nuns, which bishop Poor, who became bishop of Salisbury in 1217, was the principal one: and has sometimes had the foundation exclusively ascribed to him.^b

In a patent, 8 Edw. I. and 48 Edw. III. this House is said to be of the foundation of Queen Eleanor, wife of King Henry III.; but this, Hutchins says, is to be understood only of her being a great benefactress to, and patroness of this House; on which account, or from the burial of Joan Queen of Scots here, it was stiled in records, as already mentioned, "Locus benedictus Reginae," or "Locus Reginae, super Tarent." Robert Rouse, knt. was a benefactor, as Leland. Coker says, Sir Thomas de Hinton was often mentioned in the Ledger of Tarent Abbey; but whether as a benefactor or tenant does not appear.^c Tanner says this Monastery was dedicated to the honor of the blessed Virgin Mary and All Saints.

The particulars of the endowment of this Abbey will be obtained from the Charters in the Appendix, the Valor of the 26th of Henry VIIIth. and the Ministers' Accompts.^d

King Henry the Third granted it no fewer than three

MARGARET LYNDE was abbess in the 26th Hen. VIII.
MARGARET RUSSEL was the last abbess. She willed her body to be buried in Bere Regis Church.^g

The yearly revenue of this Abbey at the Dissolution, in gross proceeds, amounted to 239*l.* 11*s.* 10*d.*: the net income was 214*l.* 7*s.* 9*d.*

Willis says it was surrendered by the Abbess and eighteen Nuns.

A pension to the Abbess of 40*l.* a-year, was still payable in 1553: with smaller pensions to seven of the Nuns.^h

After the Dissolution, the Abbey, with the manor of Preston or Tarrant Crawford, were granted, for lands in Kent in reversion, to Thomas Wyat.ⁱ Tanner says they were again granted in the 38th Hen. VIII. to Richard Savage and W. Strangeways: and in the 1st of Mary to Nicholas Rokewode.^k The present owner is . . . Portman, Esq. of Brianston.

The COMMON SEAL of this Abbey, had for its subject a nun on her knees, in the attitude of praying to the Virgin and Child. The legend, SIGILLVM . CONVENTVS . DE TARRENT. The impression on red wax, is attached to the surrender, dated 30th March, 30 Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office.^l

From Leland's words, that "Tarent nunry of late stode about Crayford bridge over Stowre ryvar, lower than Blanford,"^m it is inferred that the demolition of the buildings of this House took place at an early period after the Dissolution. All traces of its buildings have long disappeared.

Tiltey Abbey, in Essex.

ILTEY and Woodham, in the first Edition of Bishop Tanner's Notitia Monastica, were accounted the same foundation, upon the authority of the former Edition of Dugdale's Monasticon; but, as in the Surrender of Tiltey Abbey no mention occurs of Woodham, and as the dedication and Order of that House was different from Tiltey, there can be no doubt that they were separate Houses. Woodham was, in fact, the other designation of Bickenacre Priory in Essex.

Robert de Ferrers, earl of Derby, and Maurice Fitz Jeffery or Fitz-Gilbert, about the year 1152, founded the Abbey of Tiltey; and dedicated it to the Virgin Mary.^a Its first endowment may be seen in the Charters of confirmation granted by King Henry the Second and King Richard the First.

According to Stowe's Annals this Abbey was pillaged by a division of King John's army in 1215.^b

The Revenues of this Abbey in 1291 amounted to the annual sum of 115*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.*^c In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross income amounted to 177*l.* 9*s.* 4*d.*: the clear income to 167*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*

The following are the only names of the

^a Maurice English, sometime earl of Essex, saith Speed, ex Leland. Collect. tom. i. p. 63. But if he was the same with Maurice de Tiretai, he was only Vicecomes not Comes Essex. Camden and Weever call him Maurice Fitz-Gilbert. Tann. Notit. Mon. Essex, xlii. note p.

The St. Werburgh's Chron. and the Annals of Burton agree in the year 1152 as that of the Foundation. The Chron. of Parco-Lude says 1153. Chron. Rad. de Coggeshall, Cott. Vespas. D. x. fol. 47. 1154. The former Edit. of the Monasticon, vol. ii. p. 75, seems to place it as low as A.D. 1188.

ABBATS of TILTEY

..... received benediction as abbat 7th Nov. 1436.^e

JOHN LONDON became abbat 1 Apr. 1515.^f

ROGER DE BEVERLEY received benediction as abbat 30 Nov. 1517.^g

JOHN BOSFORNS, alias BROWNE, or BROME, occurs in 1520.^h

EDMUND EMERY, according to Willis, was the last abbat. He surrendered his Monastery to the King Feb. 28th, 1537.ⁱ

The Site of this Abbey was granted in the 34th Hen. VIII. to Thomas Lord Audley.^k Tanner says in the 35th Hen. VIII.

Tanner mentions a CHARTULARY of Tiltey formerly in the possession of Lord Maynard.^l

The COMMON SEAL of Tiltey was of a round form, it represented the Virgin Mary crowned, having in her right hand a sceptre, in her left the divine infant. On either side of her three persons praying. The Inscription remaining round the Impression attached to the Surrender is SIGILLV ASTERII . BEATE . MARIE . DE . TYLTEYA

A neat View of the REMAINS of this Abbey is engraved in Excursions in the County of Essex, vol. ii. p. 114.

^a These Rolls contained a Transcript of about sixty charters and confirmations of grants of lands, and other things belonging to the granges of Thornden and Waterden, in Essex: which the donors, for the salvation of their souls, &c. gave in pure and perpetual alms to God and the blessed Mary, and to the monks of Coggeshall serving God there.

They are thus endorsed, "Transcript. Cartarum qual. hab. abb. de Tylet. de Grang. de Thorend. et Waterden. xxxvij." And the abbat of Tiltey's Instrument under his Seal imports that he [brother Robert as he styles himself] and his convent, in the year of our Lord 1260, on the morrow of St. Thomas the Apostle, had received from Thomas of Coggeshall and his convent all the charters therein transcribed which they had in their power belonging to those granges which they held in free-farm from the abbat of Coggeshall. In order that if the abbat of Tiltey or his successors should be impleaded of those granges, or any of their possessions, or any of these charters should be lost, this transcript might remain as a record. It concluded thus: "Et ut veritas hujus rei successoribus utriusque domus prædictæ patefiat et robur firmitatis optineat in perpetuum—prædictarum Transcriptum apud Coggeshall in præsentibus Rotulis fecimus inseri et Sigillo nostro communiri."

Abbey of Dieulacres, in Staffordshire.

DIEULACRES ABBEY was situated not in Cheshire, as Dugdale has represented in the former edition of this Work, but upon the borders of that county, in the parish of Leek, in Staffordshire. It was founded by Randal the third, surnamed de Blundeville, Earl of Chester, A.D. 1214; who, having translated the monks from PULTON, in Cheshire, hither,^a dedicated it to the Virgin

Mary and St. Benedict.^b Robert Pincerna's charter for the first foundation at Pulton, will be found in the Appendix of Instruments;^c with Earl Hugh's charter in confirmation of it.^d Earl Ralph's charter establishing the foundation at Dieulacres will also be found in the Appendix;^e with two other charters, one giving the monks the manor of Leek, and directing his heart to be interred in their church, the other bestowing upon them the lands of Rudeyard.^f An Agreement between the abbeys of Crokesden and Dieulacres respecting lands which might be acquired by the latter in the neighbourhood of Crokesden, a deed of the abbat of Shrewsbury by which the vills of Northbrae and Little Biscopham, with the tithes of Laton, were let to farm to the Abbey of Dieulacres, and a grant from Roger de Menilwarin of Housebote and Haybote, in the wood of Pevere, are the remaining deeds preserved by Dugdale.^g

The following are the only entries relating to this abbey in the taxation of 1291. "Spiritual. Dioc. Coventr. ecclesia de Leek cum Capella, appropriata 28*l*. Temporal. Dioc. Coventr. et Lich. 29*l*. 15*s*. in Dioc. Ebor. 61*l*. 10*s*."^h

- THOMAS WHITNEY was the last abbat. By his will, dated in 1557, he desired to be buried in Westminster Abbey.^q

Cole, in his manuscript Collections, says, "the paving of Delacres Church, and the isles, and gravestones, and roof, sold, anno 1540, for 13*l*. 6*s*. 8*d*. Six bells weighing five thousand pounds, valued at 37*l*. 10*s*. Gilt plate eighty-seven ounces. White plate, thirty-seven ounces."^r

At the Dissolution, the gross value of the Revenues of Dieulacres amounted to 227*l*. 5*s*. per annum; the net income to 243*l*. 3*s*. 6*d*. The Site was granted in the 6th Edw. VI. to Sir Ralph Bagnall.^s

^a PULTON had been founded in 1153 by Robert the pincerna or butler to Randal, second Earl of Chester. The translation of the convent to Dieulacres was made necessary by the frequent incursions of the Welsh. Pulton continued parcel, however, of the possessions of Dieulacres till the Dissolution; and, as such, was granted in the 36th Hen. VIII. to William Cotton, Esq.
^b The more minute particulars of the history of this foundation, with the legends relating to the founder, will be seen in the Appendix, Num. I.

An imperfect Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Abbey has been met with by the Editors. Like the Common Seals of most of the Religious Houses of the Cistercian Order, the subject is the Blessed Virgin and Child, under whom, in a niche, stands an abbat with his crosier, part only of the Inscription can be read, viz. s. COMMUNE. MON DE . DELACRES. It is attached to a Deed in the Augmentation Office, dated 17th May, 20 Hen. VIII. whereby the abbat and convent grant an annuity of 2*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* to Thomas Arondell, Esq. for his good and sound counsel given to them; the said pension to be for the term of his life.

NUM. I.

Fundationis Historia.

[Ex Hist. Angl. MS. contexta ab Henr. Archidiacon. ad Alex. Linc. episc. an. 1145, fol. 138.]

ANNO millesimo centesimo tricesimo tertio, fundata est abbatia de Cumbermere, filia de Saveney: Ranulfus verò consul Cestriae, cum magnis militum copiis apud Walingford, veniens, cum rege concordatus est; sed citò postea in parlamento apud Northamptoniam tento, dolosè captus est, nec liberari potuit, donec castrum Lincolnense reddidisset; interim Wallenses provinciam Cestriae vastaverunt, scilicet, apud vicum Malbane.

[Ibid.]

Sub hoc tempore Robertus pincerna incepit fundare abbatiam de Pulton, in provincia Cestriae, et adduxit ibidem conventum Cisterciensis ordinis, ad deprecandum pro salute et incolumitate domini sui præfulgentissimi Cestrensis comitis Ranulfi, dum ipse Ranulfus esset in custodia domini regis; quam abbatiam idem Ranulfus postmodum confirmavit, et dedit illis piscariam de Dee, et quietantiam de blado suo proprio in molendinis suis Cestriae.

[Ibid.]

Anno millesimo centesimo quinquagesimo tertio, fundata est abbatia de Pulton, filia de Cumbermere.

[Ibid.]

Anno millesimo ducentesimo decimo quarto, conventus de Pulton translatus est apud Deulacres calendas Maii, anno dicto, per Ranulfum comitem Cestriae, maximè propter intrusionem Wallensium, per quos multa damna perpessi sunt.

[Ibid. fol. 94.]

Fertur de isto Ranulpho comite, quod cum obiret, latitudo quasi hominum, cum aliquo potente festinanter transibat juxta cellam cujusdam solitarii qui manebat juxta Walingford, qui interrogavit unum ex eis quinam essent, et quo festinasset, et ille, Dæmones sumus, et ad mortem Ranulfi properamus, ut eum de peccatis suis accusemus; demon ergo adjuratus ut infra triginta dies redeat, et quod de Ranulpho comite actum sit enarret; qui rediens dixit ut profecimus quod Ranulfus comes, pro maleficiis suis, adjudicatus fuit magnis poenis inferni, sed molosi de Deulacres, et cum eis alii multi sine cessatione sic latrabant ut habitacula nostra dum apud nos esset magno clamore replebant, unde princeps noster gravatus jussit eum de finibus nostris expelli, qui nunc factus est nobis gravis adversarius, quia suffragia quæ fuerint pro eo pertiti cum aliis, sic multas animas liberaverant à locis penalibus.

[Ibid. fol. 139.]

Ranulfus comes Cestriae rediens de transmarinis partibus reliquit constantiam comitissam Britanniae, &c. et se copulavit Clemenciae filiae Radulfi de Feugere. Idem Ranulfus cum quadam nocte in stratu suo quiescit, apparuit ei per visum Ranulfus comes avus suus, dicens, Vade ad Cholpesdale, quod est in territorio de Leeke, et in illo loco in quo quædam capella in honore beatæ Mariæ virginis olim fuit constructa, fundabis abbatiam albi ordinis monachorum, et eam ædificiis instaurabis, et possessionibus ampliabis, et erit tibi gaudia et multis aliis qui per locum illum salvabuntur. Ibidem enim erigenda est scala, per quam descendunt et ascendunt angelorum preces, et vota hominum Deo offeruntur, et referant gratiam, eritque nomen Domini invocatum super locum illum de precatione assidua. Et hoc tempore horum nuncio signum erit ecclesiae, D. papa Christianitatem in Anglia interdicat, sed tu interim ibis ad monachos de Pulton, quorum abbatiam Robertus pincerna in nomine meo fundavit, et particeps ibi sacramenti Domini, habent enim privilegia hæc suis fundatoribus ministris. Et in septimo anno interdictionis transferes eosdem monachos ad locum quem prædixi. Qui cum Ranulfo comiti, et Clementiae comitissæ retulisset, et in dicto loco se velle construere monasterium indicasset, illa in Gallicis verbis sic respondit, Deux encre; et comes congratulans ad dictum ejus, hoc inquit, Erit nomen ejus loci, Deulacres.

Ranulfus comes Cestriæ fundavit abbatiam de Deulacres, et cum poneret primum lapidem fundamenti ejusdem ecclesiæ, dixit in gallicis verbis, Deux encres, et alii circumstantes responderunt, Amen; et comes, Hoc (inquit) monasterium vocatur Deulacres, ut nomen Domini super illud invocetur.

Hoc anno millesimo centesimo quartodecimo relaxata Anglia est ab interdictione, &c. et Ranulfus comes Cestriæ, priusquam H. rex concordatus est cum proceribus suis, profectus est Jerosolymam, et capta est civitas Damietta, ubi Ranulfus comes dux Christianæ cohortis præstitit gloriosa. Qui in redeundo de terra sancta, cum quadam nocte navis in qua erat subita maris tempestate periclitaretur, dixit ad nautas, Quantum tempus est ad mediam noctem? qui responderunt, Spacium fere duarum horarum. Omnibus ille dixit, Laborate interim usque ad mediam noctis, et spero in Deo quod habebitis auxilium et tempestas cessabit. Cumque media nox appropinquaret, gubernator navis dixit ad comitem, Domine commenda te ipsum Deo, quia tempestas crescit, et nos deficimus laborare, et in periculo vitæ sumus. Tunc Ranulfus comes statim exivit de conclavi suo, et cœpit juvare fortissime in rudentibus, et antempnis aliisque navis ornamentis; nec multo post omnis pelagi cecidet. omnisque cessavit tempestas, et die sequenti, cum pacata jam sulcarent equora, et cum jam salus appareret, gubernator navis ait ad comitem, Domine mi comes narrare nobis velitis si placet, qua de causa juvare nos voluisti usque ad mediam noctis, et tunc nos juvisti solus plus quam omnes viri qui erant in nave. Cui ille, Quia (inquit) a media nocte et deinceps monachi mei, et alii religiosi quos progenitores mei et ego in diversis locis fundavimus, surrexerunt ad cantandum servicium divinum, et tunc confisus fui in eorum orationibus, et spero quod Deus propter eorum orationes et suffragia mihi dederit fortitudinem quam prius non habui, et fecit tempestatem cessare ut prædixi, &c.

Monastery of Clynnock Vaur, in Caernarvonshire.

Portionists or Prebendaries,^c and continued so to the time of the Dissolution.

Tanner refers to MS. Harl. 696. fol. 164. for a confirmation of the liberties of this House from King Edward IVth; also to Pat. 1 Ric. I. [but quære] and to Pat. 10 Ric. II.^d

HE history of this House is short. "Here," says Tanner, "was an old monastery of St. Beuno founded, A.D. 616,^a by Guithin of Gwydaint, nearly related to the Princes of North Wales." It was afterwards turned into a Monastery of White Monks;^b but these seem to have been soon suppressed; for at the time of Pope Nicholas the IVth's Taxation it was a Collegiate Church, consisting of five firmation of the liberties of this House from King Edward IVth; also to Pat. 1 Ric. I. [but quære] and to Pat. 10 Ric. II.^d

Clynnock Vaur is situate upon the Bay of Caernarvon. Pennant in his Tour says, "At present there are, I believe, no sort of revenues to keep this venerable pile from falling to ruin. The offerings of calves and lambs, which happen to be born with the Nod Beuno, or mark of St. Beuno, a certain natural mark in the ear, have not entirely ceased: they are brought to the church on Trinity Sunday, and delivered to the churchwardens, who sell and account for them, and put the money into a great chest, called Cyff St. Beuno, made of one piece of oak, secured with three locks. From this the Welsh have a proverb for attempting any very difficult thing, 'You may as well try to break up St. Beuno's chest.' The little money resulting from the sacred beasts or casual offerings is either applied to the relief of the poor, or in aid of repairs."^e Strata Florida, or Stratfleur Abbey, in Cardiganshire.

ISHOP Tanner calls this Monastery Strata Florida, Stratflur, Stratflour, and Istradfleet.^a It was built and endowed by Rhesus or Rhees the son of Griffith,^b Prince of South Wales, according to the Chronicle of St. Werburgh in 1164: though a Patent of the 23d Hen. VI. which will hereafter be referred to, says in 1180. Rhees's confirmation of his first grant, in 1184, will be found in the Appendix:^c together with a confirmation charter from King Henry the Second.^d

This Monastery was burnt down about A.D. 1294, in the wars between King Edward the First and the Welsh, apparently by mistake;^e the Patent of the 28th Edward I. six years after, expressly states this.^f Being soon afterwards rebuilt, it flourished till the general Dissolution.

The following are the notices of the Revenues of this Monastery in the Taxation of 1291. "Spiritual. Beneficium in Dioc. Bangor 16*l.* Temporal. Dioc. Menaven. in archid. Brecon 7*l.* 15*s.* In archid. Kardigan et Kaermerdyn 22*l.* 15*s.* 4*d.* Dioc. Assaven, 2*l.* 9*s.* Dioc. Bangor 6*s.* 8*d.*"^g venues was 122*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*: the clear income 118*l.* 7*s.* 3*d.* per annum.^h

Leland gives the following Account of the Abbey of Stratfleur in his time: "The Chirch of Strateflere is large, side ilid and crosse ilid. By is a large Cloyster; the Fraternity and Infirmatori be now mere ruines. The Cœmeteri wherein the Cuntrei about doth buri is veri large, and meanelly waulid with stoone. In it be xxxix. great Hue trees. The base court or camp afore the Abbay is veri faire and large. The Foundation of the Body of the Chirch was made to have bene sixty foote lengger then it is now."ⁱ

Tanner's references to Books and Records relating to this House will be found below.^k

Strata Florida is now in the possession of the family of Powell of Nant Eôs.

An imperfect Impression of the COMMON SEAL on red wax is in the possession of Dr. Meyrick. It has for its subject the Blessed Virgin and Child: all that can be read of the Inscription is SIGILLVM CÔE..... DE STRATA FLORIDA.

LLANLEIR or LLANCLERE in Cardiganshire is mentioned by Leland as a Cistercian Nunnery, CELL to STRATFLEUR.^l It was of the yearly value of 57*l.* 5*s.* 4*d.*: and was granted in the 7th Edw. VI. to William Sakevyle and John Dudley.

Lekeburn or Legborn Nunnery, in Lincolnshire.

So early as A. D. 1150,^a says Tanner, there was a Nunnery at Karledale, Kedington, and Halington successively, (if they were not all the same place,) which seems to have been removed to Lekeburn by Robert Fitz Gilbert of Lekeburn or Tadwalle before the first year of King John.

Of the History of this Monastery very little is known. The following are the few entries relating to it in the Taxation of 1291: Spiritual. Dioc. Linc. Ecclesia de Salfletteby Sancti Petri porc. Monial. de Lekeburn, 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* Porcio in eccl. de Lekeburn, 7*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* Temporal. In decanatus Lincoln. 0*l.* 3*s.* 0*d.* Calswell 5*l.* 4*s.* 2*d.* Hoyland 2*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.* Luthesk et Latheburg 13*l.* 2*s.* 9*d.* Summa Temporalium, 20*l.* 19*s.* 11*d.*^b

Tanner says, here were ten nuns. In the 26th Hen. VIIIth. the gross revenues of this house amounted to 57*l.* 13*s.* 5*d.*; the net income to 38*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.*

The following are the only names of the

PRIORESSES of LEGBORNE

AGNES, A. D. 1513.^c

JOAN GOODHAND, A. D. 1534.^d

JANE MESSYNDENE occurs A. D. 1537.

The site was granted, Dec. 29th in the 32d Henry VIIIth., to Sir Thomas Heneage, Knt.^e

Dugdale appears to have seen a REGISTER of Lekeburn Priory: and some Excerpts from it are to be found in one of Dodsworth's Manuscripts vol. lxxv. fol. 23. lxxxix. fol. 140.

Tanner gives the following references relating to it to public Records: "Fin. com. ign. 2 Joan. n. 49. pro advoc. eccl. de Cuningesholm. Pat. 3 Edw. I. m. 5. de mess. in Thetilthorp, et m. 23. dorso. Plac. in com. Lincoln. 9 Edw. I. assis. rot. 53. de x. carucatis in Carledale, Lekeburn, Somercotes et Salfetby, cum advoc. eccl. de Somercotes. Pat. 9 Ric. II. p. 1, m. 16." See also Abbrev. Plac. pp. 37, 40, 42, 52, 63, 73.

There is a Letter from the Prioress and Convent of Legborne to their founder or patron, written in 1537, at the time they expected to be dissolved, in Ellis's Original Letters illustrative of English History, vol. ii. p. 74.

The COMMON SEAL of this religious House had for its subject the Virgin Mary crowned, seated, and having in her right-hand a sceptre, in her left the divine Infant; legend SIGILLVM . SANCTE . MARIE . DE . LEKEBUR'. An Impression on red wax is appended to a Deed of the XIIIth. Century in the Office of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Legborn Nunnery was situated in a parish of its own name, at no great distance from Louth.

Strat Margel, or Ostrat Marchel Abbey,

IN MONTGOMERYSHIRE.

ANNER calls this Monastery Ystrat Marchel, Strata Marcella, Alba Domus de Stratmargel, Vall Crucis, or Pola; lying between Guilsfield and Pole. He says, "A Cistercian Abbey was founded here to the honour of God and the blessed Virgin, A.D. 1170, by Owen Keveliog the son of Griffith as some,^a and by Madoc the son of Griffith as others.^b In the beginning of the reign of King Edward III. the Welsh monks were removed from hence into English abbies, and English monks were placed here, and the abbey was made subject to the visitation of the abbat and convent of Bildewas, in Shropshire. The Bennet College Manuscript, Tanner says, mentions but four monks here: this was probably near the time of the Dissolution.

In the Taxation of Pope Nicholas IV. the temporalities of the Abbey of Stratmargell, in the diocese of St. Asaph, are rated at 18l. 10s. 10d., beside a rent of 13s. 4d. in Shrewsbury, in the diocese of Chester; and a carucate of land in the deanry of Pontesbyr, valued at 3s. a year.^c

At the time of the Dissolution the total of the revenues of Stratmargell amounted to 73l. 7s. 3d. per annum: the clear income to 64l. 14s. 2d. The scite was granted in the

the original founder, A.D. 1170, but that after his decease, and his son's being involved in war and worsted by it, Madoc might refund it; or perhaps, on account of some inconveniences, build a new abbey in a different place: for his charter implies (in my opinion) that there was an Abbey of Stratmarkell or Vallem Crucis then in being; and his giving "monachis de Stratmarkell villam de L. ad construendum ibidem monasterium," seems to imply a new foundation in another place. This may likewise bring his charters near together; but if we suppose him to be original founder, and his first charter to have been made A.D. 1170, that will be fifty-two years before his second charter, which is dated A.D. 1222. Abbies of Stanlaw and Whalley.

TANLAW ABBEY, in Cheshire, was founded in 1172, by John Constable, of Chester, and baron of Halton. Such, at least, is believed to have been the time when the foundation was begun; for what is named the foundation charter,^a in which the convent was appointed, bears the date of 1178. The House was to be of the Cistercian Order; was dedicated to the honour of the Virgin

Mary; was endowed with the manors of Aston, Stanye, and other lands, and was appointed to be called "Locus benedictus." The situation, however, was low and unpleasant: at spring-tides nearly inaccessible, and sometimes overflowed; beside that the sea made continual encroachments upon the adjoining lands. In consequence of these inconveniences, upon application to Pope Nicholas the Fourth, that pontiff gave permission for the translation of the Convent to WHALLEY, in Lancashire, where a better habitation was provided for them by the pious munificence of Henry Lacy, Earl of Lincoln; to which they removed on the festival of St. Ambrose, April 4th, A.D. 1296.^b previous to the removal to Whalley.

The following are the names of the persons who presided as

RALPH, the first abbat, died on the day of St. Barthol. A.D. 1209.

OSBERN, the second abbat, died on the day of St. Philip and St. James.

CHARLES, in the time of John Scott, constab. of Chester, died 3 non. Jan.

PETER died prid. non. Mart.

SIMON died 7th 1268.

RICHARD THORNTON died 7th id. Dec. 1269.

RICHARD NORTHBURY died 7th kal. Jan. 1272.

ROBERT HOWARTH, having resigned the abbey, he remained at Stanlaw, where he died 10th kal. May, 1304.^c

STANLAW continued as a Cell to Whalley down to the Dissolution.^d

The foundation-stone of WHALLEY ABBEY was laid on the morrow of St. Barnabas, as Dr. Whitaker states, in the year of the translation, by Henry de Lacy in person; and in ten years from that time the work was in such forwardness, that on the 4th kal. May, 1306, great part of the abbey and the whole precinct were consecrated by Thomas, Bishop of Candida Casa, commissioned by the Bishop of ^a See the Append. of Instrum. Num. I.

^b See Num. XII. Compare, Whitaker, Hist. Whalley, pp. 48, 49, 50.

^c See Whitaker, pp. 50, 51.

^d When Whitaker published his History (2d edit. A.D. 1806) it was merely a Farm-house, the property of Sir Ferdinando Poole, Bart. The Abbat of Stanlaw, he adds, was one of the spiritual barons who held under the Earls of Chester, and sate in the little parliament of that palatinate.

In the Augmentation Office there is a Roll containing Transcripts of Deeds relating exclusively to Stanlaw, which appears to have been written in the thirteenth century; though there is no date to any of the deeds. They are as follow:

1. Carta Ham. de Masey de quadam parte de dominico de Bacford.

2. Carta Hamond. de Masey de quatuor bovatis terræ in Southcroft.

3. Confirmatio Hamund. de Macy de dono patris sui.

4. Carta Ham. de Masey de decem landis terræ in villa de Bacford.

5. Carta Hamund. de Macy de terra quæ vocatur Hethediche.

Chester. Dr. Whitaker has given a few particulars of the subsequent continuation of the structure. The stone, he observes, with which the church was built, was brought from the quarries of Read and Symondstone. The Refectory and Kitchen appear to have been completed between 1362 and 1425. The last hand was put to the fabric of the abbey, according to the original plan, in 1438.

The following are the names of the

ABBATS of WHALLEY.

GREGORY DE NORTHBURY, the first abbat, died on the day of St. Vincent, A.D. 1309.

HELIAS DE WORKESLEY, D.D. He resigned his charge, and died A.D. 1318.

JOHN DE BELFIELD is said to have been elected in 1316. He died 8 kal. Aug. 1323.

ROBERT DE TOPCLIFFE was the next abbat. He made considerable accessions to the estates of the abbey. Dr. Whitaker thinks he must have resigned his charge long before the time of his death in 1350, since

JOHN LYNDLEY, D.D. occurs as abbat in 1342. It was under his rule that the Coucher Book of Whalley, which will be hereafter described, was compiled. He was alive in 1377,^e but probably died soon after: and was succeeded by WILLIAM SELBIE, vicar of Whalley, of whom nothing is remembered but the name.

NICHOLAS DE EBORACO, or YORKE, who occurs in 1392, and by inquisition appears to have died in the 5th Hen. V. A.D. 1417.

WILLIAM WHALLEY, the next abbat, died in 1434.

JOHN ECCLES succeeded Whalley. He died in the 21st Hen. VI. A.D. 1444.

RALPH CLIDERHOW;

NICHOLAS BILLINGTON;

ROBERT HAMOND, alias HARWOOD; and

WILLIAM BILLINGTON; were abbats, whose precise dates have not been discovered.

RALPH HOLDEN was elected in the 11th or 12th Edw. IVth. He died in 1480.

CHRISTOPHER THORNBERGH was the next abbat. He died in 1486.

WILLIAM REED, or REDE, succeeded. On his decease the convent elected

JOHN PASLEW, in 1506; who was arraigned and convicted of high-treason in the spring of 1537, for assisting in the northern rebellion. He was executed at Whalley on March 12th that year. Speed says that two of his monks were executed with him.

Dr. Whitaker says, the state of the receipts and expenditure of this monastery will best appear by placing the annual Computus of two different periods in opposite columns; one, "Compotus fratrum Johannis Kypas et Christopheri Thornbergh burs. de Whalley, A.D. 1478. necnon

It is at present the property of Richard William Penn Curzon Howe, Earl Howe and Viscount Curzon.

The REGISTER of Whalley Abbey, quoted by Dugdale, is now in the possession of Earl Howe, by whom it has been obligingly lent for the use of this work.^c Other Manuscripts and Records relating to this Abbey are referred to by Bishop Tanner.^d

The ARMS of Whalley Abbey are given in the initial letter to the present account.

Dr. Whitaker has engraved a ground-plan of Whalley Abbey, partly obtained from an investigation of the ichnography by digging, in 1798. The Area of the Close contained thirty-six acres, three roods, fourteen perches; and is still defined by the remains of a broad deep trench. The approaches to the house were by two strong and stately gateways, yet remaining. The house itself consisted of three quadrangles, besides stables and offices. The first and most westerly of these was the cloister court, of which the nave of the Conventual Church formed the north side; the Chapter House and Vestry the east; the Dormitory the west; and the Refectory and Kitchens the south. The other courts were inferior, consisting of the abbat's lodgings, &c. Remains are still visible of the Chapter House, Vestry, Dormitory, Refectory, and Abbat's Lodgings: but the Conventual Church has been levelled nearly to the foundations.

An impression of the COMMON SEAL of Whalley Abbey has been discovered by one of the Editors of the Monasticon in the Office of the Duchy of Lancaster: it is on green wax, and appendant to a Deed 34 Edw. The Seal is round, and of a moderate size; in the middle the Virgin is seated with the divine Infant on her left arm, under a gothic canopy: on each side of her is a shield, that on the dexter bearing three garbs, with a star over it, the one on the sinister a wolf, over it a crescent surmounted with a fleur-de-lys; in a niche beneath, a monk on his knees, praying; the legend, s. Jan. 17, 1760. Lord Willoughby of Parham exhibited to the Society of Antiquaries an Original Deed fairly written: being a Confirmation by Inspecimus under the Privy Seal of Edw. III. of the grant of the perpetual Advowson, right of presentation, and patronage made anno 1288, by Henry de Lacy, earl of Lincoln and constable of Chester, of the church of Whalley with the chapels dependant thereon, to the abbat and monks of Stanlaw, with the churches, lands, and privileges, which had before been granted to them by John, grandfather to the then present earl, and confirmed by K. Edw. I. This deed bore date anno 8 Edw. III.

UNIVERSIS sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis, tam praesentibus quam futuris, Johannes, constabularius Cestriae, salutem. Notum vobis facio, quod ego Johannes, constab. Cestriae, construxi quoddam coenobium monachorum in terra mea, de proprio feudo et baronia mea, quod Stanlawe sive Locus Benedictus dicitur, quod dedi et concessi, et charta mea confirmavi, abbati et monachis ibidem Deo servientibus, cum omnibus pertinentiis et libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus quas ego vel antecessores mei unquam habuerunt in terra illa, libere et quiete et absque omni exactione seculari. Scire etiam omnes volo, literatos et laicos, praesentes et futuros, et firmiter tenere, quod nullus vicinorum praefati coenobii in pastura marisci quod dicitur Ryshemarsh communionem de jure vel debito, sine gratuita voluntate abbatis aut fratrum praedicti loci, habere debet. Sed neque abbas vel monachi Cestriae in festivitate sancti Johannis ad nundinas in praedicto marisco herbam vel juncum ad logas suas tegendas, ex jure vel debito, vel aliqua consuetudine, sine bona voluntate aut gratuita permissione abbatis aut fratrum Loci Benedicti, habere debent, quia nunquam temporibus meis, aut antecessorum meorum, alio modo habuerunt.

[Ibid.]

Hæc sunt gravamina quibus abbas et conventus de Salleye se conqueruntur aggravari, de translatione abbatiae de Stanlawe ad ecclesiam de Whalleya.

Primum est, quod abbatia de Whalleya nimis propè situata est ad abbatiam de Salleya, contra constitutiones ordinis.

Secundum est, quod monachi de Whalleya modò occupant et expendunt decimas ecclesiae de Whalleya, quas monachi de Salleya solebant emere tempore domini Petri de Cestria rectoris dicti ecclesiae, et tempore omnium praedecessorum suorum, ad sustentationem suam, pro majori parte, sed modo impediuntur per praedictos monachos de Whalleya, ad dampnum ipsorum de Salleya c. sol. per annum.

Item monachi de Whalleya modò discurrent, per se, et per suos servientes et procuratores, infra patriam de Craven, et in foro dicti abbatis de Salleya emunt omnimoda blada quae monachi de Salleya emere solebant ad sustentationem suam, et venduntur modo eis blada infra Craven carius, causa illorum omni anno ad tertium denarium, ad dampnum ipsorum x.l. per annum, quia oportet ipsos de Salleya emere bladum suum, et cariare per xl. sive lx. leugas pessimae viæ, si vivere volunt.

Item quod butirum et caseus ex quo venerunt dicti monachi, apud Whalleyam, venduntur carius monachis de Salleya ad tertium denarium, ad dampnum eorum xl.s. per annum.

Item quod maremium quo monachi de Salleya aedificare deberent, et aedificia sua sustentare, venditur eis carius ad quartum denarium ratione quod monachi de Whalleya modo aedificant, et imposterum aedificare intendunt, ad dampnum ipsorum de Salleya xxx.s. per annum.

Item ferrum et sal venduntur eis carius causa illorum ad tertium denarium, ad dampnum illorum de Salleya xx.s. per annum.

Item venditores tanæ in partibus illis, sperantes monachos de Whalleya magnam tanariam habituros, tanam carius vendunt ad tertium denarium, unde tanaria de Salleya ferè destructa est, ad dampnum ipsorum c.s. per annum.

Item pisces rarius veniunt ad Salleyam causa illorum, et venduntur carius eis cum veniunt, ad tertium denarium, ad dampnum illorum xl.s. per annum.

Item aucæ, gallinæ, ova, et cætera minuta necessaria, carius venduntur eis ad tertium denarium, quia rarius inveniuntur, ad dampnum illorum xx.s. per annum.

Summa omnium dampnorum xxvij.l. x.s.

* Chron. S. Werburgæ Cest. in bibl. Cotton.

Salleya contra abbatem et conventum de Whalleya, super quibusdam articulis de nimia propinquitate, et majori caristia venalium causa propinquitatis abbatiae de Whalleya ad Salleyam, datis iudiciis a capitulo generali, domini videlicet de Ryevale et de Bellalanda abbatibus, qui dictam causam secundum consuetudinem ordinis pace vel iudicio terminarent. Tandem vocatis, et assistentibus partibus coram dictis iudiciis in ecclesia Hospitalariorum juxta S. Botolphum, in crastino S. Petri ad vincula, anno D.M.CCCV. mediantibus venerabilibus patribus de Revesby et Swinsheaved abbatibus, et annuentibus praefatis iudiciis, in hac forma amicabilem conquirevit; videlicet, quod sopitis et extinctis amicis omnibus querelis de temporibus retroactis, deinceps utraque pars, bona fide, alterius negotium tanquam proprium promovebit, commodum et proficuum procurabit; et si forte monachi vel conversi de Whalleya contra domum de Salleya in aliquo notabiliter excesserint, cum de tali transgressione, abbatem et conventum de Whalley manifeste constiterit, delinquentes ad abbatiam de Salleya sine mora mittentur puniendi in capitulo monachorum secundum quantitatem delicti, et ad arbitrium praesidentis; et si a parte ipsorum de Salleya aliquid tale contigerit, per ipsos de Whalleya similiter punientur. Et si illi de Whalleya decimas venales habuerint, quas abbas et conventus de Salleya suis usibus viderint competentes, vendentur eis citius et liberius quam aliis, saltem pro precio quod alii dare volunt. In cujus rei testimonium tam partes quam iudices et mediatores huic scripto cyrographato sigilla sua apposuerunt. Datum apud Sanctum Botolphum, die et anno subscriptis.

NUM. IV.

De Ecclesia de Whalleya data, et postmodum abrepta Prioratui Sancti Johannis de Pontefracto, et data Abbati de Stanlawe, et de Amotione Monachorum de Stanlawe usque ad Whalley, et de aliis occurrentibus nota dignis.

[Ex cartul. S. Johan. de Pontefracto penes Thomam Waddington equit. aurat.]

QUIDAM antecessorum comitis Lincolniae, Hugo de Lavale nomine, dedit jus patronatus ecclesiae de Whalley priori et conventui de Pontefracto per cartam suam, quam habent. Qui praesentaverunt ad eam successivè A.B.C.D. qui omnes praedicti admissi et instituti fuerunt; inter quos erat quidam nomine Sparlinge, quo defuncto, successit ei quidam Liwlphus, qui cognominabatur Cuttewulfe, eo quod sedens quadam vice in foresta de Rossendale, ad locum qui vocatur Ledmesgreve, respiciendo canes suos currentes, lupum quendam juxta se currentem decaudavit; defuncto verò praedicto Liwlpho, quidam praedecessor dicti comitis, vacante dicto prioratu, et in sua custodia existente, praesentavit, nomine custodis, quendam Galfridum de eandem, qui duxit in uxorem filiam domini Gospatricii de Samalesbury, de quo genuit filios et filias, de quorum progenie multi adhuc nobiles in partibus illis manent. Defuncto praedicto Galfrido, successit ei Galfridus filius ejus, quasi nomine haereditario, gratia, super hoc, priùs à curia Romana impetrata; quo defuncto quidam antecessor dicti comitis praesentavit quendam Rogerum, et post ipsum, Petrum de Cestria, praedictis priore et conventu reclamare non audentibus. Vivente autem Petro de Cestria praedictus comes Lincolniae, Henricus de Lascy nomine, dedit patronatum praedictae ecclesiae de Whalley, Coventrensis et Lichfeldensis diocesis, abbatem et conventum de Stanlawe, ordinis Cisterciensis dictae diocesis, recepta priùs ab eis litera obligatoria quod quotienscumque vacaret, praesentaret ad eam quem ipse aut haeredes sui vellent, et non alium, nisi possent eam in proprios usus impetrare; qua impetrata, augmentarent numerum solitum monachorum; ita quod ab illo tempore essent sexaginta, ubi priùs fuerunt quadraginta, et quod monasterium suum ad territorium dictae ecclesiae transferrent. Postea Nicolaus papa quartus concessit eis appropriationem ejusdem (cedente vel decedente rectore) salvis congruis portionibus pro vicaria. Postea papa Bonifacius revocavit appropriationes concessas per praedictum praedecessorem suum Nicolaum, de quibus non habebatur ipso die jus in re licet ad rem. Postea decessit praedictus Petrus de Cestria octodecimo kalendas Januarii, anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo nonagesimo quarto, quondam ad praesentationem avi dicti comitis, id est, domini Johannis de Lascy institutus, qui in vita sua nunquam cedere voluit; quo defuncto, praedictus Henricus de Lascy comes, tanquam in jure proprio existens, ingressus est ad dictam ecclesiam, dictos religiosos multis diebus excludendo, qui pro ingressu habendo remiserunt et quietum clamaverunt, dicto comiti et haeredibus suis imperpetuum, nullum jus ad appropriationem praedictam, ut praedictum est, habentes, praesente populo non parvo et clamante, Væ vobis Simoniacis. Postea composuerunt cum domino Rogero de Meauland tunc episcopo contra hujusmodi ingressum provocante, appellante, et sequestrum interponente, de cccl. marcis sterlingorum, de quibus post obitum suum satisfecerunt executoribus dicti episcopi de centum libris sterlingorum, obligantes se et successores suos ad anniversarium dicti episcopi imperpetuum pro residuo faciendum, et sic pacto, et pretio mediantibus, adepti sunt possessiones dictae ecclesiae, nullum jus habentes ad ejusdem appropriationem. Et sic lapsu temporis duodecim annorum devolvitur collatio ejusdem ad dominum papam, eo quod de jure vacaret per idem tempus. Ex praemissis patet quod prior et conventus praedicti habent cartam et sesynam, quod non est aliud nisi praesentatio cum effectu. Abbas et conventus praedicti habent cartam solomodo sine sesyna, eo quod nunquam praesentaverunt. Ecclesia verò praedicta valet singulis annis ad minus, deductis expensis, quinquaginta marcas sterlingorum. Qualiter postea impleverunt confirmationem praedicti papae Bonifacii (nulla facta mentione de conventionibus praedictis,) et confirmationem episcopi qui tunc temporis fuit, pro mille marcis sterlingorum, et confirmationem capitulum Coventrensis et Lichfeldensis, et loci archidiaconi, pro quindecim libris sterlingorum annuae pensionis imperpetuum solvendis, non est opus exprimere; sed errores praedictos radicis infectae. Hoc autem sciendum quod omnia praemissa notoria sunt, et quod ab ingressu dictorum religiosorum in dictum beneficium, de malo in pejus, usque ad hodiernum diem, ad scandalum cleri, et populi dissensio semper pullulavit. Et sciendum quod omnes rectores dictae ecclesiae usque ad tempus domini Petri de Cestria cognominabantur decani, et non rectores. Nuper decessit vicarius dictae ecclesiae, cujus portio, secundum ordinationem ordinariorum valebat annuatim centum libras sterlingorum. Et praesentatus est ad vicariam, nuper ordinatam per dominum papam, nunc quidam capellanus, contra cujus ordinationem appellatum est per episcopum et archidiaconum. Et causa per impletionem, similiter et collatio, eo quod de jure, et de facto, per annum et dimidium jam vacavit, devolvitur ad papam.

De Statu de Blagborneshire.

Ecclesiae de Whalleya prima Fundatio per Augustinum Archiepiscopum Doroverniae, aliarumque Ecclesiarum infra limites de Blagborneshire. Successio Decanorum in eadem. Ejusdem appropriatio, et concessio Monachorum de Stanlawe per Johannem de Lascy Comitem Lincolniae, cum multis nota dignissimis.

[Ex autenticis nuper penes Radulfum Asheton, baronet.]

MEMORANDUM quod tempore Ethelberti regis Anglorum, qui coepit regnare anno Domini dxcvj., eo videlicet tempore, beatus Augustinus Anglorum apostolus missus per beatum Gregorium papam, tertio papatus anno, ad instantiam et rogatum dicti regis, praedicavit in Anglia, et fidem docuit Christianam, fuit apud Whalley in Blagborneshire ecclesia quaedam parochialis constructa, in honore omnium sanctorum; in cujus quidem ecclesiae cimiterio erant cruces quaedam lapideae tunc erectae, et vocatae à populo cruces beati Augustini, quae sub eodem nomine usque hodiè ibi durant, appellataque erat, tempore illo, ecclesia supradicta Alba ecclesiae subtus Legh. Infra fines autem et limites parochiae ejusdem ecclesiae continebantur tunc temporis, tota Blagborneshire et tota Boland, et sic annis plurimis perdurabant. Post hæc autem crescente fidelium devotione, numeroque credentium augmentato in partibus illis, constructae fuerunt aliæ tres ecclesiæ infra Blagbornshire; videlicet, ecclesia de Blagborne, ecclesia de Chepyn, et ecclesia de Ribblechester; parochiæ ecclesiarum earundem ab invicem distinctæ, et certis undique limitibus designatæ, prout in præsens usque continuè perseverant, et apud omnes partibus illis innotescunt. His autem temporibus, dum dictæ ecclesiæ taliter fuerant ordinatæ, non erat in Blagbornshire apud Cliderowe, vel alibi, castrum ædificatum, neque capella quæcunque, præter ecclesias supradictas, nec dominus aliquis qui patrociniū dictarum ecclesiarum vel alicujus earundem ullatenus vendicaret; sed rector quilibet terram et villam in qua ecclesia sua fuerat situata, tanquam dotem ecclesiæ suæ tenuit et possedit; ipsamque ecclesiam suam sic dotatam tanquam patrimonium suum et hæreditatem propriam gubernavit; successoremque sibi de filiis vel amicis suis liberè subrogavit, interveniente duntaxat acceptatione seu institutione episcopi Lichfeldiensis; fuerantque dicti rectores de Whalley et de Blagborn, præcipuè, homines uxorati, et domini villarum. Et quidam de Whalley decani, non personæ, fuerunt appellati. Cujus causâ verisimilis æstimatur, quod tempore foundationis ejusdem ecclesiæ, et per tempora diu postmodum subsequentiâ, populus illarum partium tam rarus fuerit, tamque indomitus et silvestris, tanta insuper vulgum et ferarum nocivarum ibidem existerat multitudo, necnon locus quasi hominibus inaccessibilis adeo videbatur, quod tam episcopi ejusdem loci qui pro tempore fuerant, quam ipsorum officiales totam jurisdictionem ordinariorum parochiæ supradictæ, pertinentem ad officium communium decanorum, præfatis rectoribus propter incommoditates prælibatas penitus reliquerunt, et quasi jugiter commiserant, causis difficilioribus et arduis duntaxat episcopo reservatis. Undè ex hujus decanatus officio quod successivè et continuè exercebant, non rectores, sed decani à populo vocabantur; ac per hunc modum ordinabantur ecclesiæ usque ad tempus regis Willielmi conquestoris; scilicet per cccclxx. annos; et post tempus ejusdem regis Willielmi conquestoris usque ad concilium Lateranense (1215) prout ex antiquis et veracibus cronicis satis liquet. Quis autem dominium de Blagborne-shire tenebat ante tempus dicti regis Willielmi sub certo in cronicis non habetur. Vulgaris opinio tenet, et asserit, quod quot fuerant villæ vel mansæ, seu maneria hominum, tot fuerant domini, nedum in Blagbornshire, verum etiam in Rachdale, Tottington, et Boland, et toto convicinio adjacente, quorum nullus de alio tenebat, sed omnes in capite de ipso domino rege. Memorandum quod rectores de Whalley ab antiquo fuerunt uxorati, et decani vocabantur, non rectores aut personæ; tenebantque dictam ecclesiam, una cum ecclesia de Rachedale, jure quodam hæreditario. Ita quod semper filius patri, vel frater fratri, aut alius parens proximior in jure, possessione dictarum ecclesiarum hæreditariè succedebat; sic videlicet, quod defuncto quocunque decano de Whalley, statim filius ejus, aut frater, aut alius parens ad quem jus hæreditarium dictarum ecclesiarum pertinebat offerret se domino de Blagbornshire tanquam hæredem proximum earum ecclesiarum, et acceptis ipsius domini litteris hoc testantibus, ad episcopum loci ordinarium, presbiteros aliquos, in prædictis ecclesiis, et earum capellis, servituros, ad eundem episcopum cum suis et præfati domini litteris transmitteret pro cura parochianorum subeunda, vel saltem pro licentia et potestate ministrandi ecclesiastica sacramenta in eisdem ecclesiis et capellis. Et per istum modum regebantur ecclesiæ supradictæ usque ad concilium prædictum Lateranense. Et sciendum quod primus rector sive decanus ecclesiæ de Whalley, de quo in registro diocesanorum Lichfeldiensium mentio reperitur, vel cujus nominis est memoria in cronicis, vel apud plebem, vocabatur Spartlingus, vocabatur decanus de Whalley, cui successit Liwlfus Cutwolfe filius suus et hæres, decanus ejusdem ecclesiæ appellatus. Post hunc successit Cudwolfus ejusdem ecclesiæ decanus. Huic etiam successit Henricus senior hæres, similiter ejusdem ecclesiæ decanus. Post quem Robertus filius suus et ejusdem ecclesiæ decanus; et huic successit Henricus junior filius et hæres, ejusdem ecclesiæ decanus. Cui successit Willielmus decanus. Post hunc successit Galfridus senior, ejusdem ecclesiæ similiter decanus. Iste Galfridus senior desponsavit filiam domini Rogeri de Lasey tunc domini de Blagbornshire; huic etiam Galfrido successit Galfridus junior filius suus et hæres, ejusdem ecclesiæ decanus; cui successit Rogerus filius etiam suus et hæres, qui ultimus ejusdem ecclesiæ decanus existit nomina-tus, nec extunc permittebatur successio hæreditaria in decanatu, vel in possessione ecclesiæ supradictæ, quæ per homines uxoratos, et successionem hæreditaria, ut præmittitur, solebat antiquitus occupari, obstante concilio Lateranensi tunc temporis celebrato clericis quibuslibet, et ecclesiarum rectoribus, continentiam imponente.

Quamobrem dictus Rogerus continenter vixit, et ad sacerdotalem se fecit ordinem promoveri. Consideransque quod beneficia ecclesiastica juxta ordinationem concilii supradicti non debebant extunc per concessionem hæreditariam occupari, volensque nobili viro domino Johanni de Lasey comiti Lincolnæ, ac domino de Blagbornshire cognato suo placere, et jus patronatus totius ecclesiæ suæ de Whalley cum capellis, sibi et hæredibus suis confirmare, ac ipsum transferre, cessit rectoriæ et decanatu ecclesiæ suæ prædictæ, ut sic jus præsentandi ad personatum ejusdem ecclesiæ per dictum comitem et hæredes suos, quantum in ipso fuerat, evidentius affirmaret, solum sibi retinens, per assensum episcopi, ejusdem ecclesiæ vicariam, unde dominus comes ad personatum dictæ ecclesiæ de Whalley quendam clericum suum Petrum de Cestria præsentavit. Qui quidem Petrus extitit primus ejusdem ecclesiæ persona nominatus; atque ad præsentationem ejusdem domini comitis ab episcopo Lichfeldensi Alexandro, admissus ad eundem personatum et institutus canonicè ac inductus, et eandem ecclesiam extunc tenuit, et possedit per totam vitam suam, videlicet per quinquaginta novem annos, et amplius. Idem tamen Petrus, pro tempore dicti Rogeri, non habuit de præfata ecclesia nisi quinquaginta marcas annuæ pensionis nomine rectoriæ suæ, et dictus Rogerus totum residuum ecclesiæ habuit dum advixit, nomine vicariæ, prout in literis præsentationis, et institutionis dicti Petri, et ordinationis episcopi inde factis, satis liquet. Huic autem Petro successerunt in personatu prædicto, religiosi viri, abbas et conventus vocati, quondam de Stanlaw, nuper de Whalley, et intraverunt in manerium de Whalley, (domino Gregorio de Norbury tunc abbate) septimo idus Aprilis, anno regni regis Edwardi viginti quatuor, ætatis verò domini Henrici de Lasey, comitis Lincolnæ, quadragesimo septimo, anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo nonagesimo sexto, anno bissextili, littera dominicali G. &c. Sciendum quod prædictus Galfridus, junior decanus de Whalley, fratrem quandam habuit nomine Robertum, cui idem Galfridus dedit capellam de Alnetham nomine vicariæ de Whalley, ut patet ex munimentis inde factis. Qui quidem Robertus, postmodum ad ecclesiam de Rachedam nomine hujus vicariæ promotus, dedit prædictam capellam cuidam Henrico filio filii Hugonis de Clayton nepoti suo, nomine vicariæ prædictæ, prout scripta indè facta testantur. Supradictus igitur Petrus de Cestria, postquam rectoriam ecclesiæ de Whalley integram est adeptus, dictam capellam de Alnetham ad jus et proprietatem pristinam ecclesiæ suæ de Whalley, per viam litis, reduxit, coram priore sanctæ Fredeswyde de Oxonia, judice subdelegato in hac parte per decanum de Warwyk principalem delegatum sedis apostolicæ deputatum; coram quo dictus Petrus eandem capellam per sententiam diffinitivam judicialiter obtinuit et evicit, videlicet in die crastino Cinerum, anno Domini m.cc.xlj., et sic eadem capella, extunc usque in præsens, tanquam capella dependens, et ad eandem ecclesiam pertinens, obtinetur. Supradictus Rogerus decanus considerans quod beneficia ecclesiastica, juxta ordinationem concilii supradicti, non debebant extunc per successionem hæreditariam occupari, cuidam fratri suo, nomine Richardo postmodum dicto de Townley, saltè in parte sui patrimonii de Whalley, providere volens, cum in toto non posset, dedit eidem Richardo capellam beati Michaelis, in castro de Cliderow, per assensum domini Rogeri de Lasey, domini de Blagbornshire, cujus consanguineus erat, una cum dictis oblationibus et proventibus eidem capellæ assignatis. Dedit etiam eidem Richardo villam de Townley, et quam adhuc tenent hæredes ejusdem Richardi, et manerium suum de Coldecotes, quæ de patrimonio fuerant decanorum de Whalley. Sed præfatus Petrus, postquam rectoriam integram ecclesiæ de Whalley, post mortem dicti Rogeri decani, adeptus fuerat, dictam capellam de præfato Richardo, tanquam jus et parcellam ecclesiæ suæ supradictæ repetiit, et obtinuit ab eodem. Galfridus decanus dedit cuidam servienti, nomine Eliæ, pro homagio et servitio suo, totam illam terram suam quæ fuit Radulphi Proudfofe, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis; et insuper dedit etiam eidem Eliæ, totam terram suam dominicam ex orientali parte viæ quæ ducit de Wiswall apud Reved, cum novo asserto, et totam terram quam poterit assartare à prædicta via in Garecloghes, salvo dicto decano bosco suo, habendum et tenendum dicto Eliæ et hæredibus suis, de ecclesia de Whalley et decano et successoribus suis, reddendo ipsis annuatim tres solidos pro omni servitio ad festum omnium sanctorum, &c. Quæ omnia prædicta terra, &c. decanus Petrus recepit, et suæ ecclesiæ restituit; de quo Roberto Suelleshon, ut lucidius in cartis inde factis patet. Galfridus decanus dedit septem acras et dimidiam in Reved cuidam Luca citharædo, tenendum et habendum de illo et ecclesia de Whalley, &c. Postea abbas et conventus considerantes quod prædictæ terræ, &c. in villa de Reved fuerant libera elemosina et jus pertinens ad ecclesiam suam de Whalley, et non laicum feodum Lucæ, et aliorum qui jure hæreditario successivè tenuerunt, tulerunt breve de "juris utrum" versus Johannem fil. &c. et per placitum in curia domini regis recuperaverunt, ut patet in chartulario de Whalley, titulo 20. Tempore Johannis Lindelay abbatis decima pars manerii de Reved acquisita fuit.

NICHOLAUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis abbati et conventui monachorum Loci Benedicti de Stanlawe, Cisterciensis ordinis, Coventrensis et Lichfeildensis diocesis, salutem in Domino. Noveritis nos, caritatis contemplatione, dedisse, concessisse, et hac præsentī carta nostra confirmasse, Deo et beatæ Mariæ, et abbati et monachis nostris, Loci Benedicti de Stanlawe, advocationem ecclesiæ de Whalley, illius partis quam prius non habuerant, de dono alicujus antecessorum nostrorum, et ad quam Petrus de Cestria fuit admissus, ad præsentationem nobilis viri Johannis de Lascy, comitis Lincolnæ, avi nostri; ita quod dicti abbas, et nobis in Christo carissimi, de cætero habeant jus patronatus totius prædictæ ecclesiæ de Whalley, cum omnibus pertinentiis, integritatibus, juribus, et libertatibus ad ipsam pertinentibus, quantum pertinet ad laicalem donationem, tenendam de nobis et hæredibus nostris, sibi et successoribus suis imperpetuum, dictam advocationem, sive jus patronatus totius ecclesiæ de Whalley, cum omnibus prænomatis ad ipsam pertinentibus, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, nihil inde nobis vel hæredibus nostris faciendo vel reddendo, nisi salutaria suffragia orationum. Et nos, prædictus Henricus et hæredes nostri, dictis abbati et monachis nostris, et eorum successoribus, dictam advocationem sive jus patronatus totius prædictæ ecclesiæ, ut prædictum est, contra omnes gentes imperpetuum warrantizabimus et defendemus. Considerantes etiam, oculata fide dictis abbati, et monachis nostris, nobis in Christo carissimis, grave periculum imminere, ex vicinitate maris, quod jam terram ipsorum ex una parte monasterii consumpsit, et devastavit, et ex alia in proximo est consumpturum, adeò quod per ipsius maris minas, et insuetas inundationes diutinam moram ibidem facere non possunt. Volentesque quod ad honorem Dei et ad ipsius sanctissimi cultus augmentum, tempore nostro prædictis abbati et monachis, et eorum successoribus de securitate mansionis provideatur, et status eorum, tam in numero personarum, quam in sustentationis possessione ampliatur: volumus, quantum in nobis est, et pro nobis et hæredibus nostris concedimus, quod dicti viri religiosi periculo maris fugiendo, monasterium suum, ab eo loco, quo per antecessores nostros fundatum est, amoveant, et in terra dictæ ecclesiæ de Whalley, ubicunque sibi viderint expedire, de novo construunt et ædificant, ossa antecessorum nostrorum, et aliorum ibidem humatorum, per assensum diocesis episcopi, secum transferendo, et apud Whalley honorificè reponendo. Quia verò quidam antecessorum nostrorum, Johannes de Lascy nomine, constabularius Cestriæ, primus fundator dictæ domus, mutato nomine de Stanlaw, voluit Locum Benedictum nominari; nos prædictus Henricus eam transferentes, et in loco quieti religiosorum competentiore collocantes, volumus quod idem nomen obtineat, et Locus Benedictus de Whalley appelletur, omnesque terras, possessiones, tenementa, jura, libertates, pasturas et prata, et omnia quæcunque dicti abbas et monachi habent in feudo nostro, ex dono sive concessione alicujus antecessorum nostrorum, sive ex dono nostro, eisdem et suis successoribus imperpetuum possidenda et habenda grato concurrentes assensu, prædictam ecclesiam, cum omnibus capellis, juribus, et pertinentiis suis, vobis, autoritate apostolica, in usus proprios concedimus, à vobis, vestrisque successoribus, in usus ipsos perpetuo retinendam; ita quod cedente vel decedente ipsius ecclesiæ rectore, possessionem ejus apprehendere, autoritate propria, valeatis, alicujus assensu minimè requisito: vobisque transferendi vos ad locum prædictum, in quo ecclesia præfata consistit, sine juris præjudicio alicui, ac ibidem sub prædicti ordinis observantia imperpetuum remanendi, eadem autoritate, licentiam elargimur: et quod ipsius ecclesiæ fructus, redditus, et proventus, in usus proprios possitis convertere supradictos, reservata tamen ex eis vicario perpetuo, in eadem ecclesia servituro, et ad præsentationem vestram, per eundem diocesanum, in ipsa ecclesia instituendo, congrua portione, ex qua commodè sustentari valeat, jura episcopalia solvere, et alia incumbencia ipsi ecclesiæ onera supportare. Et nos, prædictus Henricus et hæredes nostri, dictis abbati et monachis nostris, et eorum successoribus, dictam advocationem sive jus patronatus totius prædictæ ecclesiæ, ut prædictum est, contra omnes gentes imperpetuum warrantizabimus et defendemus. Capella Castri de Cliderow ab Henrico de Lascy, Comite Lincolnæ, per vim à Matrice Ecclesia de Whalley capta.

MEMORANDUM quod dominus Henricus de Lascy, comes Lincolnæ, post donationem advocacionis ecclesiæ de Whalley, per ipsum comitem nobis factam, confirmationemque domini episcopi diocæsani nostri, de donatione sua subsequentem, et appropriationem dictæ ecclesiæ in usus proprios, per summos pontifices nobis perpetuò possidendam, dicti domini comitis super appropriatione prædicta expressum assensum, et quietam clamationem per ipsum de omni jure, et clamio suo, nobis factam; confirmationemque domini regis, super hiis subsequentem, pacificamque possessionem nostram in eadem ecclesia de Whalleia, et ingressum, post mortem domini Petri de Cestria, ultimi rectoris ejusdem, decimarum majorum, et minorum, oblationum, et obventionum quarumcunque in dicta ecclesia, et in omnibus et singulis capellis ejusdem perceptionem, dominique episcopi diocæsani, et capitulorum suorum Coventrensis et Lichfeldensis confirmationem de dicta ecclesia nobis factam, capellam beati Michaelis in castro de Cliderhou sitam, ecclesiæ præfatæ de Whalley, cum omnibus juribus et pertinentiis suis annexam, et ab eadem ut à matrice ecclesia dependentem, non aliquo jure quod in ea habebat, aut privilegio per summum pontificem, sed per vim et magnitudinem suæ dominationis, cui ad illam horam resistere nullatenus valebamus, à nobis voluntariè abstulit, et extorsit, contra formam donationis suæ nobis factæ (ut in pluribus instrumentis in isto titulo quinto superius est expressum), dictamque capellam castri de Cliderhou cuidam clerico suo Willielmo de Nunney dedit, et quantum in ipso fuit injustè à matrice ecclesia de Whalley abstulit, et non sine gravi periculo animæ suæ separavit. Quam quidem injuriam post mortem dicti Henrici de Lascy, comitis Lincolnæ, omnes domini dominium de Blagburnshire habentes continuaverunt, dictam capellam diversis clericis successivè dantes, qui dictam capellam per donationem laicalem ingressi, fructus, et obventiones præfatæ capellæ perceperunt omni auctoritate ordinaria circumscripta; quæ quidem injuria per diversos dominos continuata fuerat successive per longum tempus, usque ad annum domini Edwardi regis Angliæ tertii post conquestum quintum. Et in eodem anno dominus Robertus de Topeclif, tunc abbas hujus domus, petitionem suam de jure quod habebat in præfata capella castri de Cliderhou, ratione ecclesiæ suæ de Whalley prædictæ, eidem domino regi dedit in pleno parlamento suo, continentem inter cætera quod eadem capella fuit annexa eidem ecclesiæ suæ de Whalley; et per potentiam dominationis advocati ejusdem, injustè ablata, et non capella libera, prout idem dominus rex credebat, eo quod non habebat baptisterium, nec sepulturam, nec aliquod privilegium à sede apostolica, quod aliæ liberæ capellæ habent in diversis partibus Angliæ: sed omnes parochiani ejusdem capellæ baptismum et sepulturam capiebant in aliis capellis ecclesiæ de Whalley supradictæ. Quæ verò petitio dicti abbatis, de consensu regis, episcoporum, comitum, baronum, et omnium aliorum magnatum Angliæ, tunc in parlamento existentium, missa fuit domino cancellario regis, ut coram eo super eadem fieret diligens discussio, et ad finem debitum duceretur. Præfatoque abbate dictam petitionem suam de parlamento in parlamentum continuè prosequente, cancellarius misit breviam regis in diversis locis ad inquirendum si aliquid allegari posset, quod dictum abbatem à petitione sua excludere valeret. Et cum nihil inveniretur quod contra eum ad cassandam petitionem legitimè objici potuisset, dominus rex, super præmissis, cum consilio suo (matura deliberatione præ-habita), quicquid juris vel clamei in advocacione præfatæ capellæ castri de Cliderhou habuit, dicto abbati, et conventui, et eorum successoribus, de se et hæredibus suis imperpetuum relaxavit, et cartam suam eisdem inde fecit.

[Ibid. fol. 108.]

EDWARDUS Dei gratia rex Angliæ, dominus Hiberniæ, et dux Aquitaniæ, omnibus ad quos præsentis literæ pervenerint salutem. Licet nuper credentes, nos jus ad collationem capellæ de Cliderhou, infra castrum de Cliderhou, habere, eandem capellam dilecto clerico nostro Johanni de Woodehouse, dederimus et concesserimus, habendam, cum suis juribus, et pertinentiis universis. Idemque Johannes possessionem ejusdem capellæ, virtute donationis, et concessionis nostrarum prædictarum, adeptus fuisset. Qui tamen per diversas evidencias coram nobis et consilio nostro, in diversis parlamentiis nostris, ostensas, sumus plenius informati, quod capella prædictæ ecclesiæ de Whalley (quam dilecti nobis in Christo, abbas et conventus de Whalley tenent in proprios usus) fuit et est annexa, ut de jure, ecclesiæ suæ supradictæ: volentes ipsorum indemnitati prospicere in hac parte; advocacionem capellæ prædictæ, de assensu concilii nostri, præfatis abbati et conventui reddidimus, necnon totum jus et clameum quæ in advocacione illa habemus, eis, et eorum successoribus, pro nobis et hæredibus nostris remittimus, et quietum clamamus imperpetuum, volentes et concedentes, pro nobis et hæredibus nostris, quantum in nobis est, quod præfati abbas et conventus habeant et teneant capellam prædictam, cum suis juribus et pertinentiis quibuscunque, sibi et successoribus suis, ecclesiæ supradictæ annexam, sicut Petrus de Cestria, quondam persona ecclesiæ prædictæ, eandem capellam eidem ecclesiæ annexam tenuit, priusquam eadem ecclesia, ut præmittitur, extitit appropriata. In cujus rei testimonium has literas nostras fieri fecimus patentes. Teste me ipso apud Northampton xvij. die Martii anno regni nostri octavo.

UNIVERSIS sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis, ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit, Thomas comes Lancastriæ et Leycestriæ, senescallus Angliæ, salutem in Domino sempiternam. Noveritis nos dedisse, concessisse, et hac præsentī carta nostra confirmasse, Deo et beatæ Mariæ, et monachis nostris Loci Benedicti de Whalleye, illum locum integrum, qui vocatur Tocstath, tam infra claustrum quam extra, et Smethedon, quem prius tenere solebat in defenso. Habendum et tenendum dictis abbati et monachis, et eorum successoribus, dictum locum de Tocstath integrum, et Smethedon, tam in venatione, quam in aliis quibuscunque, sine aliquo retinemento, cum omnibus suis pertinentiis, et cum liberis et sufficientibus introitibus et egressibus, sine aliqua perturbatione nostri vel hæredum nostrorum, ad omnia sua necessaria carianda, fuganda, sive minanda, de nobis et hæredibus nostris, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, quietam de omni servitio seculari exactione et demanda, nihil nobis et hæredibus nostris indè reservando, præter preces et orationes. Et nos vero dictus Thomas et hæredes nostri, dictis abbati et monachis, et eorum successoribus, dictum locum de Tocstath integrum, et Smethedon, cum omnibus suis pertinentiis, integritatibus, et liberis introitibus et egressibus, ut prædictum est, contra omnes gentes warrantizabimus et imperpetuum defendemus. Considerantes etiam quod situs abbathie de Whalleye minus sufficiens est, maxime propter defectum bosci, et maremii, ad monasterium suum de novo construendum, et alias domos suas faciendas, et propter defectum focaliæ, et propter distractionem, et insufficientiam loci prædicti ad blada, et alia cariagia abbathie necessaria, tam victualia quam alia quæcunque; volentes quod ad honorem Dei et beatæ Mariæ, locus habitabilis, et pro abbathia magis sufficiens et idoneus, dictis abbati et monachis, et eorum successoribus, provideatur, volumus, quantum in nobis est, et pro nobis et hæredibus nostris concedimus, quod dicti religiosi inhabitationem et insufficientiam loci prædicti fugiendo, monasterium suum ab eo loco de Whalleye (quo per nobilem virum dominum Henricum de Lascy, quondam comitem Lincolnæ, fundatum est) amoveant, et in dicto loco de Tocstath, ubicunque sibi viderint expedire, ac de novo construant et ædificent. Quia verò dictus Henricus comes, fundator dictæ domus, mutato nomine de Whalleya, voluit Locum Benedictum nominari: nos prædictus Thomas comes, eam transferentes, et in loco quieti religiosorum competentiori collocantes, volumus quod idem nomen obtineat, et Locus Benedictus de Tocstath appelletur; omnesque terras, possessiones, tenementa, jura, libertates, pasturas, præta, et omnia alia quæcunque dicti abbas et monachi habent, ex donatione sive ex concessione alicujus prædecessorum nostrorum, eisdem et successoribus suis imperpetuum possidenda et habenda confirmamus, ut eisdem juribus, foefamentis et libertatibus gaudeant, apud Tocstath, per nos translati, quibus gaudere solebant apud Whalleye, per prædictum Henricum de Lascy prius fundati; et quod illi idem jus ibidem imperpetuum habeant, tam in libera chace, et in omnibus ad eadem pertinentibus, quam in aliis quibuscunque, sicut et nos melius et liberius prius habuimus, et ita liberè et quietè, sicut aliqua elemosina liberius et quietius dari potest et concedi. In cujus rei testimonium præsentī scripto sigillum nostrum fecimus apponi. Hiis testibus dominis Roberto de Holand, Willielmo Tuchet, Willielmo de Holand, Hugone de Cuylli, et Willielmo de Dacre, militibus, Edmundo de Neovile, tunc vicecomite Lancastriæ, Roberto le Norres, Johanne fratre ejus, Ada de Hibernia, Richardo le Molyneus de Seton, Matheo de Haydoke, Roberto de Schirburn, et aliis. Datum apud Whalleye, in festo sancti Jacobi apostoli, anno Domini millesimo trecentesimo decimo sexto.

NUM. XII.

Genealogia Fundatorum Monasterii de Stanlawe et de Whalley secundum Cronicas.

VENIT quidam miles cum Hugone, comite Cestriæ, Nigellus nomine, qui duxit secum quinque fratres, scilicet Hudard, Eadwardus, Wolmer, Horswyn et Woffanus. Nigellus genuit Willielmum, qui fundavit Nortonam, qui sepultus est apud Cestriam. Cui successit Willielmus filius ejus. Iste obiit in Normannia, non relicto hærede de corpore suo, sed habuit duas sorores, scilicet Agnetam et Matildam, inter quas divisa fuit hæreditas de Halton. Matildam desponsavit quidam miles nomine Eustachius qui postea interfectus fuit in Wallia. Aubry verò Gredeley desponsavit Agnetam. Eustachius verò prædictus genuit quendam filium nomine Ricardum qui duxit in uxorem Auberiam sororem Roberti de Lascy, de qua genuit Johannem fundatorem domus de Stanlawe in Wyrle et fratrem Robertum hospitalarium. Prædictus verò Johannes fundavit domum de Stanlawe anno Domini m.c.lxxij. et fuit constabularius Cestriæ et dominus de Halton eodem tempore, et desponsavit Aliciam sororem Willielmi de Mandevilla, et prædicto anno profectus est in Terram Sanctam, et ibi obiit. Huic Johanni successit Rogerus filius ejus qui vocabatur Rogerus Helle constabularius Cestriæ et dominus de Halton, et sepultus est apud Stanlawe, cujus ossa sunt modò apud Whalley. Huic Rogero successit Johannes de Lacy constabularius Cestriæ et dominus de Halton, et desponsavit comitissam Lincolnæ, et comes factus est, et sepultus est apud Stanlawe, et ossa ejus apud Whalley. Huic Johanni successit Eadmundus filius ejus constabularius Cestriæ et dominus de Halton, et non fuit comes Lincolnæ, quia obiit matre sua vivente, et sepultus est apud Stanlawe, et ossa ejus apud Whalley. Huic Eadmundo successit Henricus comes Lincolnæ, et sepultus est apud London in nova fabrica supra chorum in monasterio sancti Pauli, et ille fuit novissimus comes Lincolnæ illius generis. Iste Henricus habuit filiam nomine Alesiam quæ fuit comitissa Lincolnæ, quam desponsavit dominus Thomas de Lancastria. Et dominus Henricus de Lacy, comes Lincolnæ, feoffavit dominum regem Angliæ in terris suis ut ipse dominus rex Edwardus bonus feoffaret dominum Thomam de Lancastria in eisdem terris et dominiis, ita quod si idem obiret sine hærede de corpore suo procreato cum Alesia uxore sua, quod eodem mortuo terræ dominia reverterent ad hæredes suos legitimos. Et sic factum est quod dominus rex Edwardus, tertius à conquestu, feoffavit dominum Henricum ducem Lancastriæ.

Primus fundator Johannes dedit habitationem de Stanlawe et grangiam de Staney et villam de Aston et quosdam redditus in Cestria. Rogerus filius ejus dedit advocationem ecclesiæ de Rachedale Brindewod et iiij. bovatas terræ in villa de Castelton. Johannes filius ejus et comes Lincolnæ dedit medietatem ecclesiæ de Blakeburnstaynges, videlicet Hordene, Neuton, Balderstath et manerium cum molendino. Edmundus filius ejus dedit alteram medietatem ecclesiæ de Blakeburn et villam de Croenton. Henricus filius ejus et comes Lincolnæ dedit advocationem ecclesiæ de Whalley, et iiij. bovatas terræ in Castelton. Et tempore dicti Henrici translata fuit abbatia de Stanlawe apud Whalley propter nimias inundationes maris apud Stanlawe imminentes. Sicut patet in cartis suis nobis concessis.

Memorandum quod rex Willielmus conquestor dedit cuidam Ilberto de Lacy militi qui secum venerat de Normannia in conquestum et hæredibus suis jure hæreditario possidendum dominium de Blakburnshire, una cum dominio et honore de Pontefracto et alias terras multas. Hujus autem Ilberti primi filius et hæres fuerat Ilbertus junior, cui etiam successit in hæreditate Henricus de Lacy filius et hæres ejusdem Ilberti junioris, qui quidem Henricus de Lacy fundavit abbatiam de KIRSTALL anno Domini m.c.xlvij.

Huic etiam Henrico successit Robertus de Lacy filius ejus et hæres regnante rege Henrico ij. qui dicebatur filius imperatricis. Dictus autem Robertus de Lacy hæredem non habuit de corpore suo procreatum, unde dominium de Blakeburnshire ac totalis hæreditas ejusdem Roberti post ejus mortem ad hæredes domini Ricardi constabularii Cestriæ et domini de Haulton, qui desponsaverat dominam Aubreyam sororem unicam et hæredem dicti Roberti descendebat. Et sic hæreditas dominorum de Lacy et hæreditas constabulariorum Cestriæ sunt conjunctæ, &c.

[Ibid.]

Dictus autem Ricardus constabularius sic descendebat à conquestu. Nam cum rege Willielmo conquestore venit quidam nobilis nomine Nigellus qui fuit factus constabularius Cestriæ et dominus de Haulton per dominum Hugonem primum comitem Cestriæ. Huic Nigello successit Willielmus filius ejus et hæres qui fundavit prioratum abbatiam de Norton. Huic Willielmo successit Willielmus junior qui habuit duas sorores Agnetem et Matildem. Matildem desponsavit quidam miles Eustachius nomine de qua genuit Ricardum constabularium Cestriæ, qui desponsaverat Abreiam Lysours sororem Roberti de Lacy, de qua genuit Johannem de Lacy constabularium Cestriæ et primum fundatorem abbatie de Stanlawe.

Anno ab incarnatione Domini m.c.lxxvij. fundata fuit abbatia de Stanlawe per dominum Johannem de Lacy constabularium Cestriæ et dominum de Haulton, qui dedit habitationem de Stanlawe, Stanney, Aston, et quosdam redditus in Cestria, et obiit in Terra Sancta anno sequenti. Cui successit Rogerus filius ejus et hæres, qui dedit nobis advocationem ecclesiæ de Rachedale Brendwod et iiij. bovatas terræ in Castelton, et obiit anno Domini m.cc.xj. in festo sancti Remigii, et sepultus apud Stanlawe cum uxore sua. Cui successit Johannes filius ejus et hæres postea comes Lincolnæ per uxorem suam Margaretam filiam Roberti de Quency, qui dedit ecclesiam de Ecclis et medietatem ecclesiæ de Blakburn, Staynges, Hordene, Neuton, et multa alia bona, qui obiit anno Domini m.cc.xl. in festo sanctæ Mariæ Magdalene, et sepultus apud Stanlawe cum patre. Cui successit Edmundus filius ejus et hæres, qui dedit alteram medietatem de Blakburn cum capella et villam de Croenton cum corpore suo, qui obiit anno Dom. m.cc.lvij. nonis Junii, et sepultus apud Stanlawe. Cui successit Henricus filius ejus hæres et comes Lincolnæ constabularius Cestriæ et dominus de Haulton, qui dedit ecclesiam de Whalley cum capella et alia multa bona. Tempore dicti Henrici translata fuit abbatia de Stanlawe apud Whalley propter nimias maris inundationes anno Domini m.cc.xcvj. in festo sancti Ambrosii episcopi. Et iste Henricus obiit anno ætatis suæ lx. et anno Domini m.ccc.x. in festo sanctæ Agathæ virginis et martyris, et sepultus apud London. Et sic fluxerunt anni ducenti octodecim à fundatione abbatie de Stanlawe usque ad vicissimum primum regis Ricardi secundi post conquestum, de quibus verò ducentis octodecim annis abbas et conventus manserunt apud Stanlawe et apud Whalley centum duobus annis.

Anno Domini m.cc.xcvj. indictione nona anno bisextili littera dominicali G. vij. idus Aprilis anno regis Edwardi xxiiij. anno ætatis domini Henrici de Lascy xlvij. intravit conventus de Stanlawe in Wirall in manerium de Whalley præsidente in officio abbatis viro venerabili domino Gregorio de Northbury.

[Ex registro de Kirkstall in officio ducatus Lancastriæ, fol. 71.]

Eustachius quidam duxit Matildam in uxorem qui postea interfectus in Wallia. Aubertus de Grelley duxit dictam Agnetam de Gaunt. Prædictus verò Eustachius habuit cum dicta Matilda unum filium, qui vocabatur Ricardus. Iste Ricardus duxit in uxorem, sororem Roberti de Lacy, quæ vocatur Aubray de Lysures, de qua genuit duos filios, scilicet, Johannem constabularium Cestriæ, fundatorem de Stanlawe, et Robertum hospitalarem, et duas filias, scilicet, Saram et Aubrayam: Sara verò data fuit Roberto de Aldford, sicut habetur supra in prima parte. Altera verò, scilicet Aubraya, data fuit domino Henrico Byset. Johannes verò constabularius, filius prædicti Ricardi, et Aubræ de Lysures duxit in uxorem Aliciam Ver, sororem Willielmi de Mandevill, &c.

NUM. XIII.

Epitaphium Rogeri Lacy.

[Ex veteri MS. in bibl. Cotton. [sub Cleopatra C. 3.] fol. 325 b.]

Hic sepelitur herus generosus in orbe Rogerus, Coniuge cum cara, quam mors prostravit amara.
 Forti Sampsoni similis fuit atque leoni
 Tauro cornuto pungendi semper acuto.
 Tectum torace nullus superare valebat,
 Regnum cum pace miles sub rege regebat.
 Nullus Trojanus sibi par fuit in probitate.
 Victor in ætate fuit alter Waspasianus.
 Gentes linguarum malè credentes variarum,
 Sectas Persarum, Medorum, Sparsiatarum, Græcos, Cretenses, Romanos bella moventes,
 Francos, Flandrenses nautas portis rapientes,
 Hic dum pugnavit pugnans pugnando domavit.
 Vivus ut optavit defuncto tumba paratur
 Pictor adornavit petram sub qua tumulatur.
 Inferni claustrum careat perflatus ab austro
 Sit prece conventus fulgoris in arce retentus.
 Inclita matrona digna Matilda corona
 Sit cum matre pia Christi conjuncta Maria.
 Qui legis, absque mora pro fundatoribus ora.

NUM. XIV.

Epitaphium Johannis Lacy.

[Ibid.]

EGREGII comitis en hæc est tumba Johannis.
 Hostibus immitis cunctis dum vixerat annis.
 Jure suum comitem luget Lincolnia mitem,
 Quem plangunt unum Cestrensis castra tribunum.
 Anglia flet rite tali caruisse quirite,
 Et Stanlawe bonum dolet amisisse patronum.
 Christo devotus miles fuit, undique notus,
 Wallea quem Scotus timuit mundus quoque totus.
 Gallus et Hispanus, Normannus, Britoque Danus, Almannus gnarus bello, Lombardus avarus,
 Indus, et obscænus gentilis, atrox Saracenus,
 Æthiopes fuscæ, Græci, Babilonia, Tusci,
 Rex et Soldanus, omnis populusque prophanus
 Hunc cum cernebant armatum corde tremebant.
 Vicit eum vermis qui victor erat in armis;
 Sic et vincemur. Pro quo dicendo precemur
 Ultima censura cum venerit illa futura,
 J. comes à dira servetur iudicis ira.

Epitaphium Commendationis Johannis de Lacy Comitæ Lincolnie et Fundatoris iij. Locæ Benedicti de Whalleya.

[Ibid.]

UT hoc in loco legitur, sub hac structura tegitur cor comitis Johannis,
 In carne non plus clauditur, sed à carne dividitur in universis annis.
 Cordis et carnis unitas efficitur dualitas et paritas partita.
 O misera conditio, tam flebilis divisio nunquam fuit audita!
 Tristantur cives Cestriæ, plangunt primates patriæ, nec volunt consolari.
 Flet Pontefrati populus, vir uxor senex parvulus non cessant lacrimari;
 A solis ortus cardine cuncti debent ex ordine rurales et burgenses,
 Magni minores pariter, præ cunctis singulariter lugent Lincolnienses.
 Nec mirum, flos militiæ jam marcuit, lætitiæ spes est exinanita.
 Quia post hunc in sæculo, carnali visus oculo non erit vicens ita,
 Heu planctus fit perpetuus cum pugil tam præcipuus privatus sit hac vita.
 Planctus, ploratus, gemitus nunquam cessabunt ampliùs sæcula per infinita.
 Ut Job simplex ut Salomon doctus, et sicut Absolon pulcher et Sampson fortis, Ut Joseth fuit providus, ut Mars in bello validus, totius dux cohortis.
 Hic erat mundi lilium, solempnitas nobilium, se tamen æquans imis.

Ut Moyses mitissimus, ut Josue justissimus, plus audax Gedione.

Vellem fari quis fuerit, sed nulla dici poterit humanâ ratione.

Non fuit inter millia tam promptus quis ad prælia, sub armis tam discretus,

Nullus ad arma promptior, in armis nec ferocior, post
 arma tam quietus.

Lorica corpus, galea frons, ense femur, lancea manus ecce munitur,

Scuto latus protegitur, morte tamen subigitur, per hæc non impeditur.

Castra, domus, famuli, et opes, et his similia non poterunt prodesse.

Lira, census et prædia jam nulla dant remedia quin mori sit necesse.

Et jam consumptis carnibus nunc esca datur vermibus qui fuit tam probatus,

Nunc ejus aula tumulus, et vermis suus famulus, et lira fit ploratus.

Sic transit mundi gloria, sic vita transitoria disparet et de-letur.

Sic desinit dies hominis sic et ominis laus nunquam finietur, Johannes Dei gratia fertur sine fallacia nomen interpre-tetur,

Precemur ergo singuli ut iste prece populi cum sanctis
 gloriatur;

Et Christus vera veritas det ut sua posteritas sit hæres
 ejus morum;

Et hanc in cunctis prosperet, et hunc à pœnis liberet æternis infernorum.

XVI.

Epitaphium Commendationis Edmundi Lacy.

[Ibid.]

Mors probat Edmundi brevis est quod gloria mundi
 Mendax et mundus quamvis quandoque secundus.
 Scandere qui primò cum cœpit lapsus in ymo,
 Monstrat quod mundus est labilis atque rotundus.
 Nilque fit in mundo quod non pertransit eundo
 Protinus à mundo, cum sit quasi vas sine fundo, Ergo det Edmundo Deus à contamine mundo Uti jocundo vultu Christi redeundo.

Respice qui transis, in me circumspice quid sis,
 Exemploque mei sis memor ipse tui.

Sum quod eris, quod es ipse fui, mundoque superstes
 Florueram mundo, terra cinisque modò.

Quid probitas, quid opes, quid honor, quid gloria mundi.
 Omnia quid fuerint cum cecidere docent.

Hic jacet et funus Cestrensis jure tribunus.

Me pro posse bonum sensit domus ista patronum.

NUM. XVII.

Epitaphium Commendationis Locæ.

[Ibid.]

O STANLAWEA mortis jura me solventem positura tibi in depositum,

Non in vanum sub figura pro locali est natura tibi nomen positum.

Fatis licet pressa sævis nunc existas famæ levis, es nequaquam minima.

Adhuc restat hora brevis qua potenter loca queas transcendere finitima.

Stan et Lawea sunt diversa, sed ad Lawam Stan conversa
 est ei apposita;

Hæc ne duo sint dispersa, sunt in unum ambo versa, et fit pars composita.

Lawe est collis, Stan est lapis quem exercet lassa apis sui refrigerio.

Hujus dicti rem si sapis rei dictum gratè capis nec sine misterio.

Christus lapis angularis est, et collis singularis altitudo Domini.

Lapis sacris jacet aris, in quo cibus salutaris fit donandus homini.

He Stanlaw tuum nomen tale tibi dedit omen auctor tui nominis.

Nunnery of Nun Appleton,

In the Deanry of Aynsty and Archdeaconry of West Riding,

IN YORKSHIRE.

HIS Nunnery was founded by Adeliz or Alice de St. Quintin in the latter part of the reign of King Stephen,^a and was commended to the patronage of the Virgin Mary and St. John the Evangelist. Tanner says, herein were a prioress and thirteen or fourteen nuns: but eighteen beside the prioress were here in the 31st Hen. VIII.^b

In Pope Nicholas's Taxation we find that in 1291 the Prioress of Appleton held temporal possessions in the diocese of Lincoln to the amount of 13*l.* 13*s.* 10*d.* per annum; and in the diocese of York to the amount of 23*l.* 15*s.* 10*d.*; beside a pension of 3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* from the church of Rither.^c The possessions of this House, as recorded in the 33d of Henry the VIIIth, will be found in the Ministers' Accompts in the Appendix.^d There is no return of the possessions of this Nunnery in the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII. Dugdale and Speed have however preserved a note of the Valuation at that time, which appears to have amounted to 83*l.* 5*s.* 9*d.* in the gross, and to 73*l.* 9*s.* 10*d.* clear income.

Tanner says the Site of this House was granted in the 33d Hen. VIII. to Robert Darknall; but among the Abstracts of the Rolls called Originalia the homages of Guido and Thomas Fayrfax are recorded for the House and Site.^e Another grant is recorded of the same in the 7th Edw. VIth. to Sir William Fayrfax, Knt. and Humphry Shelley.^f

The following is a list of the

PRIORESSES of NUN APPLETON.

HAWISIA is the earliest who has been met with. She resigned in 1295.^g Burton mistakes in stating her to have resigned in 1362.^h

JOANNA DE NORMANVILL received confirmation as prioress, 3 kal. May, 1303.ⁱ

ELIZABETH DE HOLBEK received confirmation 8 kal. Nov. 1316.^k She resigned non. Nov. 1320:^l when

ISABELLA DE NORMANVILL was chosen.^m

MARGARET DE NEVILL resigned Nov. 4th, 1334.ⁿ

LUCIA DE GAYNESBURGH was the next prioress; upon whose death

AGNES DE EGMONTON was elected. She was confirmed May 25th, 1367.^o

IDONEA DANYELL, upon whose death

ELIZABETH FITZRICHAUD received confirmation in the month of December, 1426.^p

AGNES DE RYTHUR, t. Hen. VI.^q

JOAN DE RYTHUR occurs in 37 Hen. VI. A.D. 1459.^r

MATILDA TALBOYS was confirmed prioress Sept. 17th, 1489.^s Upon her death

ANNE LANGTON was appointed by the archbishop Feb. 28th, 1506.^t

Tanner's references to Manuscripts and Records relating to this Nunnery will be found in the note below.^u

A beautiful Impression of the SEAL of Nun Appleton Nunnery is appended to the Harleian Charter, 44 A. 5, an indenture between the nuns and Neuhns Abbey concerning tithes in Kilvingham, dated on St. Mary Magdalen's day, 1272. The impression is on green wax, and oval. It represents the Virgin Mary crowned, holding a staff with a cross at top in her right, and a book in her left hand: with this inscription, SIGILL. SANCTE. MARIE. SANCTI. IOHANNIS. D. APELT.

Nun Appleton is not far distant from Tadcaster; and is now the seat of Sir William Mordaunt Sturt Milner, Bart. whose ancestor obtained it by purchase from the family of Fairfax.

Codenham Nunnery, in Yorkshire.

ISHOP Tanner's mention of this Nunnery, with the Charter printed by Dugdale, is all that we know of Codenham. The church of St. Mary of this place, it appears, was given pretty early in the reign of King Henry the Second, by Eustace de Merch, for the founding of a Nunnery of the same Order with that of Nun Appleton, which had been instituted by his wife: but whether this design was ever perfected, is not discoverable, nor any thing more about such a Religious House.

Bindon Abbey, in Dorsetshire.

BINDON ABBEY was founded in 1172, by Robert de Newburgh and Matilda his wife. William de Glastonia first built, or began to build it at Little Bindon, in this county. Roger de Newburgh removed it to Great Bindon.

Coker, in his Account of Dorsetshire, says he had seen in old manuscripts that Maud Arundel, wife of William de Newburgh, countess of Sarum, was so great a benefactress to it, that she was reckoned the chief foundress. So also Leland.

This Monastery was dedicated to the Virgin Mary: but a charter of Hawise de Garteney, 4 Hen. III. styles it the Monastery of St. Salvator of Benindon.^a Hutchins has given a very detailed account of the Possessions of this abbey in Dorsetshire, to which the reader is referred.^b By grant of Edward the Third, the monks here had the manor of Bayworth, in Berkshire.

The following is Hutchins's List of the ABBATS of BINDON.

JOHN who resigned in 1191, and was made abbat of Ford.

HENRY.

WILLIAM.

ROBERT, who occurs in 1252.

WILLIAM occurs in 1316 and 1332.

^a Compare Gough's Edit. of Hutchins's Dorsetshire, edit. 1796, vol. i. p. 211.

^b In the Taxation of 1291 the possessions of this monastery, entirely in the diocese of Sarum, amounted to the annual revenue of 107*l.* 6*s.* See the Entries in the Taxat. P. Nich. IV. foll. 183, 183 b, 184, 184 b.

Among the Chancery Proceedings at the Tower, temp. Eliz. are several relating to the possessions of the dissolved monastery of Bindon, respectively marked C. c. 17. 49. C. c. 7. 47.

ROGER HARNHULL received the benediction as abbat 2 kal. Oct. 1332.

WILLIAM DE COMENORE was elected in the month of April, 1337. He occurs again in 1361 according to Tanner, unless

WILLIAM CHETUS or CLETUS, who was confirmed in the office Nov. 13th that year is intended.

WILLIAM FORDINGTON is the next abbat who occurs, early in the fifteenth century.

ROBERT LULWORTH was summoned to convocation in 1433.

JOHN SMITH was summoned to convocation as abbat in 1444.

WILLIAM COMERE occurs in 1446.

ROBERT in 1458, and again in 1464.

THOMAS occurs in 1473.

JOHN in 1488, 1495, and 1496.

JOHN BRYAN occurs in 1499, and again in 1508. He died in 1510.

JOHN WALEYS occurs in 1523.

JOHN NORMAN was the last abbat. He surrendered his monastery to the king twice, in 1536 and 1539: for although this House was suppressed in the 27th Hen. VIII. among the smaller houses; yet in the next year, by letters patent bearing date 16th Nov. 28th Hen. VIII. it was restored, and the abbat and monks reinstated in their church and possessions. Hutchins has printed an attested copy of the Deed of re-foundation from the original in the Rolls Chapel.^c This House was finally surrendered 14th March, 30 Hen. VIII.

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross amount of the Revenues of this House was returned at 229*l.* 2*s.* 1½*d.* The clear income at no more than 147*l.* 7*s.* 9½*d.*

The Scite was granted in the 32d Hen. VIII. to Sir Thomas Poynings.^d

Bishop Tanner says here were usually nine monks.

The ARMS of this abbey in Wolveton House, in Dorsetshire, and in Coker, are Paly of eight, Or. and Gu. Bishop Tanner was informed it bore the arms of Mohun, O. a cross engrailed sable; but, though it was not unusual for abbeys to assume the arms of their founder, or some principal benefactor, it does not appear that any of that family were benefactors to it.

The Seal affixed to a Deed of abbat Ralph of lands in Dunnington, bore a dexter hand coupé, holding a crozier in pale. This was probably the abbat's private seal.

An Impression of the CONVENTUAL SEAL of Bindon, but a very imperfect one, is attached to the surrender of this monastery in the Augmentation Office. It represents two female figures, one of them crowned, and having on each side of them a shield, but the arms are completely defaced; underneath in a niche is a monk praying; no part of the legend is preserved.

The buildings of this abbey were demolished soon after the Dissolution. The great gate was standing about 1750, a few paces from the west end of the church; but it has long since fallen. Of the Abbey Church but small traces are now remaining, except the north-west angle of the tower. Hutchins says, the body of the church, including the choir, was a hundred and seventy feet long and thirty broad. The north and south aisles were equal; a hundred and fifteen feet long by fourteen broad. The tower fifty-eight feet high by thirty-eight feet square. Hutchins has engraved a ground plan of the abbey.

The family of Weld are the present proprietors.

Crokesden or Croxden Abbey, in Staffordshire.

HOTES, or Chotene, and Crokesden, or Croxden, says Tanner. A.D. 1176, Bertram de Verdun gave the Cistercian monks of Aulney in Normandy a piece of ground at Chotes whereon to build an Abbey of that Order, which was in three years removed to Crokesden, where it continued till the general Suppression. Chotene, Tanner suspects to have been Cotton or Cawton, a member of the lordship of Alveton, the chief place of residence of the Verduns in those times. This Monastery was dedicated to the blessed Virgin, and stiled "Abbatia de Valle Beatae Mariæ de Croxden." The annals of Burton and Croxden^a give the above date of 1176: those of Parco Lude place the foundation in 1189, as Tanner supposes for 1179.

King John was a benefactor to this Abbey at his death. He ordered his heart to be buried here: and gave land to the monks of Croxden to the value of ten pounds a year. The abbat appears to have been the King's physician in his last moments.^b

Stowe, in his Annals, has recorded an anecdote relating to Croxden Abbey in Edward the third's time which we shall transcribe here. Under the year 1331 he says, "Such a wet sommer, with exceeding raine was this year, that the corne in the field could not ripe, so that in many places they beganne not harvest till Michaelmas. The House of Croxton got not in their wheat till Hallontide, and their pease not before S. Andrewes tide. The monks on Allhallown day, and Martlemas day, were served with pease green in the cods, instead of pearces and apples."^c

The Temporalities of this Abbey were thus recorded in the Taxation of 1291. "Dioc. Linc. In Huntyngdon 8s. In Decanat. Rotelond 6l. 9s. 6d. In Decanat. Staunford, Goscote, Gudlakston, et Rotelond 46l. 13s. 2d. Dioc. Coventr. et Lichf. In archidiac. Stafford 36l. 19s. In Decanat. de Ripendon 20l. Apud Hertescot in Dec. de Scarvesdale 18s." Among their Spiritualities the monks of Croxden had the Church of Alveton in the latter diocese appropriated to them.^d

Tanner says that beside the abbat this foundation consisted of twelve monks.

In the 26th of Henry VIII. its yearly revenues amounted in the gross to 103l. 6s. 7d.; in clear income to 90l. 5s. 11d.

The SITE was granted 16th March, 36th Hen. VIII. to Geoffrey Foljambe of Walton in Derbyshire.^f

Of the SEAL attached to the Surrender, being the Common Seal, there is a neat impression on red wax remaining in the Augmentation Office. The subject of it is the blessed Virgin and her Infant; she is seated under an ornamented canopy, having on her right side a Shield with the arms of Bertram de Verdun the founder, Or. fretty gules. In an arch underneath the Virgin is an abbat standing with his crozier. Legend, s. ABBATIS . ET . CONVENTVS . ECCLIE . BEATE . MARIE . DE . CROKESDEN.

The REMAINS of this Abbey are situated in a narrow valley, watered by a small rivulet, which supplied a mill formerly in the precincts. The west end of the church, the south wall of the transept, part of the cloister, the outer walls of the chapter house, and some parts of the offices may still be traced. The style of architecture corresponding with the date of the foundation. The windows being lancet-shaped and the capitals of the columns foliated.

Keldholm Priory, in Yorkshire.

URTON calls this Kildenholtm, Keldon, or Keldholm, Duna, or Dona Priory, in the Deanry of Rydale and Archdeaconry of Cleveland.^a It was founded in the time of Henry the First, for Cistercian Nuns, by Robert de Stutevill; and was dedicated to the Virgin Mary.^b From Robert, the founder, the patronage of this House descended to the Wakes, lords of Lyddel.^c In the 11th Hen. IV. Edmund de Holand, earl of Kent, died seised of two parts of the advowson of this priory, then valued at 2*l*. per annum, which had been given by King Edward the Third to Edmund, earl of Kent, his uncle.^d

The following is a list of the places in which the Nuns of this House held lands: Beregby, Bergh magna et parva, Bodlum, Brandeshal, Crofton, Cropton, Edeston, Evennit, Fadmore, Farendale, Gillingmore-mill, Habbeton magna et parva, Horseford, Ingleby, Keldholm, Kirkeley, Nunnington, Rorgeberg, Thorenton-mill, and Tranetherne.^e

PRIORESSES of KELDHOLM.

SIBILL, t. Hen. I.^f
BEATRIX DE CRENDON resigned in 1293, when EMMA DE STAPILTON succeeded. She is stated to have been confirmed in her office by the archbishop of York 3. non. Feb. 1293;^g and to have resigned in 1301.^h Who succeeded at this time does not appear, but we find either this or another
EMMA DE STAPILTON chosen by the convent, and confirmed by the archbishop non. Mart. 1308;ⁱ upon whose cession
EMMA DE EBOR. was confirmed, non. Mar. 1315.^k
JOAN DE PYKERING, a nun of Rossedale, was appointed by the archbishop upon EMMA DE EBOR.'s resignation, 3. kal. Aug. 1308; the archbishop, it is represented, finding no person in Keldholm Nunnery fit to hold the office.^l The Nuns of Keldholm, however, and their partizans, opposed this appointment vehemently: and, finally, Joan de Pykering gave in her resignation.

MARGARET ASLABY is the next prioress who occurs. She resigned through infirmity of body in 1406; on the 25th of June in which year
ALICIA SANDEFORD was elected.^m
AGNES WANDESFORTH died in 1461; upon Sept. 25th in which year
ELENA WANDESFORTH was elected.ⁿ A commission for a fresh election, in consequence of her death, was issued Nov. 14th, 1464;^o but who was chosen to succeed her is not recorded.
KATHERINE ANLABY is the next prioress who occurs. Upon whose death
ELIZABETH DARELL, who had been previously prioress of Basedale, was confirmed Aug. 20th, 1497.^p Upon her death
ELIZABETH LYON was confirmed, May 9th, 1534.^q At the dissolution of this house she had a pension granted to her of 5*l*. per annum, which she still enjoyed in 1553.^r

No entry relating to the Valuation of this House occurs in the Taxation of 1291. The particulars of the Return in the Ecclesiastical Valor of the 26 Hen. VIII. relating to it are also lost; nothing remaining but the following: "PRIORATUS DE KELDOME valet clare per annum in Spiritualibus et Temporalibus 29*l*. 6*s*. 1*d*. Decima inde 2*l*. 18*s*. 7½*d*." It is remarkable, too, that there are no Ministers' Accompts of this priory remaining in the Augmentation Office.^s

The SITE of this House was granted in the 30th Hen. VIIIth. to Ralph, earl of Westmoreland, whose ancestors were then said to have been what were called the founders, that is, the patrons of this Monastery.
Not a vestige of this House is now remaining, and on the SITE is erected an oil and flax mill. In 1813, when part of the foundations were cleared away, several tombstones and stone coffins were discovered.
No SEAL of this Nunnery has been as yet discovered.

Abbey of Robert's Bridge, or De Ponte Roberti, IN SUSSEX.

ROBERT'S-BRIDGE Abbey, according to the Chronicle of the Church of Rochester, was founded, in 1176, by Robert de St. Martin;^a but more authentic accounts make Alured de St. Martin the founder.^b It was dedicated to St. Mary. Robert's-bridge is probably a corruption of Rother's-bridge, the Abbey having been built upon the banks of the river Rother.

The possessions of this Abbey were confirmed by King Richard the First in his tenth year; and by the charters of several other kings.^c

The monks bought the lordship of Sutton of Cecily de Abrincis.^d

Simon de Echingham gave to them a certain water-course between Saleham and Ochgam.^e

In the latter end of 1192, on the rumour of King Richard the First being taken prisoner on his return from the Holy Land, the abbat of Robert's-bridge and the abbat of Boxley were the lords justices sent into Germany to find out the king, who having traversed all Germany, met with him at last in a village called Oxefer in Bavaria, where he was brought in his way to the emperor, of whom he was to have an audience on Palm Sunday. These abbats were present at the peace and agreement concluded upon between the emperor and king on the Thursday before Easter; and brought an account thereof on their return to England, which was soon after Easter, 1193.^f

A.D. 1315, 8th Edw. II. the king borrowed of the abbat and convent of Robert's-bridge forty pounds to enable him to carry on his wars in Scotland.^g

JOHN GOODWIN, April 5, 1507.^l

THOMAS TAYLOR was the last abbat. He, with eight monks,^m surrendered this monastery to the king, April 6, 1539, 30th Hen. VIII. and had a pension granted to him of 50l. a year. This pension was still payable in 1553, together with 8l. a year to Thomas Sprat, 6l. 13s. 4d. to William Lendon, 6l. to Lawrence Thrower, and 4l. to Robert Cowper, surviving monks.ⁿ

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross revenue of this house amounted to 272l. 9s. 8d.; the clear income to 248l. 10s. 6d.^o

The Scite was granted in the 32d Hen. VIII. with other lands to Sir William Sydney and his wife Agnes, in exchange for the manor of Kingston upon Hull, the manor of Myton, and some other possessions in the counties of York and Lincoln.^p The Sydneys were afterwards earls of Leicester. Sir Thomas Webster, bart. purchased the estate here for 28,000l. of — Sambrooke, esq. who had purchased it of the earl of Leicester.^q

The References to Manuscripts and Records relating to this Monastery are, for compression's sake, given below.^r

Impressions tolerably perfect of the Common and Counter Seal of this Abbey on red wax exist in the Augmentation Office, appendant to the Instrument of Surrender, bearing date 16th April, 29 Hen. 8. the former having, under a gothic canopy richly ornamented, a male figure seated, giving benediction to a female figure, both of them crowned; in base are the heads of two monks, and between them an abbat with his crosier, praying. The Inscription, S. CÔE. ABBATIS. ET. CONVENTVS. DE. PONTE. ROB'TI. The Counter Seal represents the abbey situate on a bridge of three arches, flanked with a tower on each side. In chief are the letters P. R. Legend, HEC. PRESENS. CELLA. DOMVS. EST. DE. MATRE. PVELLA.

The small REMAINS of the Offices of Robert's-bridge Abbey have been converted into a farm-house.

[Ex ipso autogr. penes Will. Hayward de Tanridge in Com. Surr. Eq. aur.]

NOVERINT tam præsentem quam futuri, quod ego Alizia comitissa Augi concessi, et præsentem cartam meam confirmavi, pro animâ Willielmi comitis Arundeliæ patris mei, et Alizie reginæ, matris meæ, et pro animâ domini mei J. comitis Augi, et Godefridi fratris mei, et Matildis et Margaretæ filiarum mearum; et pro salute animæ meæ, et omnium antecessorum et successorum meorum, abbatiæ de Ponte-Roberti, in puram et perpetuam hospitalitatem ibidem sustentandam, de libero mariagio meo, de feudo de Bilsington, Snelingum de Snergate et hæredes ipsius, cum toto tenemento suo, cum omnibus serviciis et consuetudinibus ejusdem tenementi. Ad hæc autem dedi eidem abbatiæ, totam terram meam de Snergate, infra wallam et extra, tam ex parte feudi mei, quàm de parte Willielmi de Curci; salvâ conventionem quam feci contra Lewinum Ram et filios ejus, sicut cirographum quod feci contra eos determinat; quod et monachis dedi, cum toto tenemento illo, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam ad hospitalitatem sustentandam. Concessi etiam eidem abbatiæ et confirmavi terram quam emi à Radulpho de Wicham, et fratribus ejus, reddendo eidem Radulpho, et hæredibus ejus sex denarios annuatim ad sanctum Michaelem, pro omni servicio, quod ad eum pertinet. Pro hac autem emptione dedi prædicto Radulpho unam marcam argenti in ghersam, et singulis fratribus ejus duodecim denarios. Et ipsi affidaverunt, pro se et hæredibus suis, hanc conventionem tenere. Wyckham Nunnery,

In the Deanry of Rydale and Archdeaconry of Clebeland,
IN YORKSHIRE.

AIN FITZ OSBERT, or de Wickham, says Tanner, about the year 1153,^a built and endowed at Wyckham a Priory of Cistercian Nuns^b to the honor of the blessed Virgin Mary.^c Its possessions were at Aton in Pickering lythe, Beverley, Boddale, Chatton, Edbriston alias Ebberston, Flixton, Hosmundysham, Hoton-Buscel, Irton juxta Semer, Leche, Lulbrune, Marchmoth in Pickering vale,

Octune, Raddak, Roston or Ruston, Scardeburg now Scarbrough, Snainton, and Wicham.^d

In the Taxation of 1291, the Temporalities of this Priory were rated at 22*l.* 15*s.*^e

Tanner says, about the time of the Dissolution here were nine religious. Their estate had increased so little in value in the 26th Hen. VIII. that their temporalities even then were valued at no more than 25*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* per annum.

^a In the time of Bernard, prior of Bridlington, and Henry Murdoc, archbishop of York.

^b Dodsworth MS. vol. cxxxi. and Monasticon. But Gervase of Cant. alias Sulgrave, and Speed, say this House was for Gilbertine monks or Canons and Nuns; and at first perhaps there might be religious of both sexes. For in Dodsworth, vol. vii. p. 293, is a deed "inter Walterum de Harpham rectorem domus de Wickham et Conventum ejusdem loci et Radulph. de Bolebec, qui quiete clamavit eisdem magistro et monialibus herbagium bosci de Langdon."

^c So in all the transcripts of the Charters belonging to this Monastery in MS. Dodsworth, vol. vii. But in the Charter in the Append. to the present Account, Num. VI. it is St. Michael.

^d See Burton, Monast. Ebor. pp. 256, 257.

^e Taxat. P. Nich. IV. p. 325.

Tanner gives the following references to Manuscripts and Records

PRIORESSES of WYCKHAM.

EMMA DE DUNSTAN was confirmed 6. id. Aug. 1286.^f She resigned 3. non. Decemb. 1300.^g

ISABEL occurs in 1321 and 1337.^h

ELIZABETH EDMUNDSON.ⁱ

KATHERINE WARD was confirmed prioress Feb. 13, 1487.^k

ALICE HORNBY confirmed 18th Sept. 1502.^l

KATH. NANDIK, Aug. 30, 1508.^m

Pensions to nine nuns were still payable in 1553.ⁿ

In the Augmentation Office, is a Paper Survey, 31 Hen. 8. describing the demesne lands with much minuteness; they appear to have consisted of about 100 acres.

The COMMON SEAL of this Nunnery had for its subject the Virgin Mary, crowned, with the Infant Jesus in one hand, and a sceptre in the other; an imperfect impression remains in the Augmentation Office, among the conventual leases there; the Instrument bears date 30 Hen. 8.

The Scite of this House was granted in the 35th Hen. VIII. to Francis Poole.^o It is now the property of the honourable Mr. Dawney.

Et quia pium est ut omnibus qui seculi vanitates et mundanas divicias derelinquant et ad regis regum obsequia voluntarie convertuntur principum assint præsidium et tutela, volo pro me et hæredibus ac successoribus meis quod iidem monachi tam præsentem quam futuri habeant et possideant omnes terras prædictas per limites et fines ac terminos prænominationis, in silvis et campis cultis et incultis, pratis, pascuis, pasturis, piscariis, stagnis, vivariis, aquis, molendinis, viis, semitis, moris, glebariis, lapidibus, metallis, avibus, omniumque avium nidis, litoribus, portubus, naufragiis, thesauris, omnibusque rebus tam super terras suas quam sub terris suis inventis, benè et in pace, liberè, quietè, integrè, plenariè, honorificè, firmiter et inconcussè, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam imperpetuum, solutas et liberas ab omni terreno servicio et exactione seculari; volo etiam ut iidem monachi tam præsentes quam futuri omnibus prædictis libertatibus quietantiis et aliis liberis consuetudinibus per omnes terras meas et per totum principatum meum imperpetuum gaudeant et utantur; et prohibeo sub periculo indignationis meæ ut nullus hominum eisdem monachis aut servientibus suis contra hanc cartam meam præjudicium faciat aut gravamen. Quoniam ipsos et omnes res ac possessiones suis sub protectione mea suscepi. Et ut hæc mea donatio atque confirmatio imperpetuum firma et inconcussa permaneat, ne aliqua contentio aut perturbationis occasio contra prædictos monachos possit in posterum suboriri eam præsentis cartæ munimine et sigilli mei impressione roboravi. Nun Cotun, or Cotham Nunnery, in Lincolnshire.

ANNER says Alan Muncels, or Munceaux, in the latter part of King Henry I. or beginning of the reign of King Stephen, built a Cistercian Nunnery here to the honor of the blessed Virgin Mary. The founder's mentioning his gifts, he adds, to be among others, "pro salute Steph. com. Albemarle et Hawisiæ uxoris," not "pro salute animæ," makes it probable that this House was built during the life of that earl, who does not occur after A.D. 1129;^a and its being confirmed by Pope Anastasius, A.D. 1154, is good reason to place it higher than formerly.^b

The entries relating to this Nunnery in Pope Nicholas's Taxation will be found in the note below.^c

Herein, says Tanner, were, about the Dissolution, a prioress and twelve nuns, whose revenues, according to Leland, amounted to no more than forty pounds a year; but the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII. says 46*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*

The House and Site were granted 5th May, 32 Hen. VIII. to Edward Skipwith.

Dugdale saw the REGISTER of this Abbey in 1652, in the hands of Sir Dudley North; and has given copious extracts from it, in the charters of Alan de Muncels, and Engeram his son, in a bull of privileges from Pope Alexander; in a charter from Ivo de Graynesby; in another from King Henry the Third, exempting the Nuns of Cotun in common with other Houses of the Cistercian Order from the payment of tithes pursuant to the Pope's bull; and in the constitutions of the house as settled by Hugh, bishop of Lincoln, in his visitation.^d

The SEAL used by the prioress and convent, at their surrender, 9th July, 31 Hen. VIII. was an Agnus Dei: the Impression of it, on red wax, is in the Augmentation Office.

Hæ sunt Literæ Constitutionum Hugonis Lincoln. Episcopi in Visitatione.

[Ibid.]

OMNIBUS Christi fidelibus ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit, H. Dei gratia Lincolnæ episcopus salutem in Domino. Cum ad congregationem ancillarum Christi de Cotun, causa visitationis, ex officii nostri debito faciendæ accederemus, ad ea quæ didicimus ibidem corrigenda, remedium studuimus adhibere. Advertentes igitur multitudinem monialium ampliorem quam sustinere valeant domus illius facultates, habita deliberatione statuimus, cum consensu magistri, priorissæ, et conventus, quod congregatio monialium, de cætero, trigintarium numerum non excedat, sororum numerus sub denario concludatur, duodecim fratres conversi ad officia ruralia sint ibidem excercenda. Magister capellanus, cum duobus capellanis tantum, ad divina deputentur ad implenda. Nulli verò religionis habitus in eadem domo tribuatur donec minutus fuerit præsens conventus ad numerum prætaxatum, nisi propter manifestam domus utilitatem, et hoc ex speciali licentia diocæsanæ. Sigillum domus sub custodia magistri, priorissæ et monialium ad hoc communiter electæ, cujus religio fuerit et discretio approbata, sub clavi triplici reservetur, nec aliquod scriptum inde signetur, sine conscientia totius capituli, vel majoris vel sanioris partis ejusdem. Redditus omnes, instaure, proventus quicunque, singulis annis redigantur in scriptum, quod priorissæ et sub-priorissæ, et cæteris quatuor de melioribus et prudentioribus, à toto capitulo, vel majori ac saniori parte communiter electis, tradatur custodiendum. Magister et procuratores domus, totam pecuniam domus in denariis vel hujusmodi ex quacunque causa domui suæ provenientem cum coram eisdem sex numerata fuerit, sub sigillo magistri signatam ipsi tradent, quam eadem ad negotia domus expedienda quociens necesse fuerit, et quantum opus fuerit, sub fidei testimonio, tam magistri quam aliorum, sine difficultate liberabunt, et residuum sigillo magistri signatum iterato reponent. Singulis autem mensibus, eadem sex compotum audient de simplicibus ejusdem domus expensis. Et quoniam abdicatio proprietatis professioni religiosorum est annexa, firmiter inhibuimus ne qua vel quis in eadem domo, post susceptum religionis habitum, aliquid proprium habere præsumat, sed sint eis omnia communia. Eodem etiam pane, tam moniales, capellani, fratres et sorores, quam hospites vescantur, et potum habeant eundem; excepto quod infirmorum necessitati, prout oportunitas fuerit, delicatius provideatur. Quia verò per frequentiam secularium quies religiosorum turbari solet, prohibuimus ne vir vel mulier recipiatur in habitu seculari moram facturum in domo memorata, nisi forsàn hospitalitatis gratia quis ibi pernoctaverit. Item ne quis vel qua, sive secularis persona, sive religiosæ professionis aliundè veniens, cum sola moniali solus vel sola loquatur, sed honesto testimonio, tali quod sinistra careat suspitione, et cum licentia, secundum regulam suam ab hiis quæ præsumunt, obtenta. Præterea quia religiosus, et præsertim in sexu mulieri, discurrere vel vagari modis omnibus est inhonestum, constituimus ne soror, vel monialis, apud grangiam moretur, causa nutrimentorum animalium, vel aliqua qualibet occasione. Moniales etiam, causa visi-tandi proximos, aut parentes, nullatenus extramittantur, ex earum sola voluntate vel levi qualibet occasione, nec tandem ullo modo, sine magistri et priorissæ licentia speciali, et maxima ac cognita necessitate. Quia simoniaca pravitas plures, in errores et interitum adduxit, animarum saluti providere volentes, districtè prohibuimus, ne vir vel mulier, pro pecunia vel re qualibet temporalì, recipiatur unquam ibidem ex pacto. Sub anathematis interminatione præcipientes quod omnia præmissa salubriter a nobis constituta firmiter ab omnibus utriusque sexus in eadem domo servantur inperpetuum.

^c Historic Collect. pp. 76, 77.

WILLIAM WEDMORE confirmed April 7th, 1353.
ALEXANDER BURLESCOMBE admitted Aug. 1397.
RICHARD LAMPORT succeeded July 17th, 1399.
JOHN BOKELOND admitted June 10th, 1410.
JOHN OTERY confirmed 26th April, 1439.
SIMON succeeded Feb. 13th, 1441.
THOMAS DULLTON occurs in 1478, and again in 1486.
RICHARD PYTMYSTER occurs Sept. 1st, 1498.
JOHN WHITMORE occurs July 6th, 1509.
JOHN LEY, the last abbat, was confirmed June 23d, 1529.

“In numerous indentures and leases,” says Mr. Oliver, “still extant, I observe frequent mention is made of their manors of Hackepay, Broadhembry, Shildon, Shabbecombe, Bolham, Bowerhays, Wolveston, Auliscombe, Werynstone, Ugstom, Wollfarwchurche, and Old Dunkeswell. The abbey had property also in the parishes of Coleton Rawleigh, Payhembry, Uffculm, Kentisbere Dodington, and Honiton. In Exeter, a house and garden, situated in St. Paul's parish, belonged to the abbey, and which, I think, was the Abbat's town house.” The parish church of Dunkeswell was appropriated to the abbey.^c

The following are the possessions of the abbey as recorded in the Taxation of 1291:
“Abbas de Donkeswell habet maner. de Wlfrechurche quod tax.

In the 26th of Henry VIIIth, the Abbey of Dunkeswell was found to be endowed with a gross revenue of 298*l.* 11*s.* 10*d.* The net income appears to have been 294*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.* The account of the pensions granted to the monks of this House at the Dissolution will be found in the notes below:^a together with Tanner's and some other references relating to its history and possessions.^b

Mr. Oliver says, "In the letters patent of Henry VIII. dated 4 July, 1540, in which that monarch bestowed on Lord John Russell so great a proportion of abbey and church lands situated in the county of Devon, the grant of Dunkeswell forms a distinguishing feature. It is therefore unaccountable that Sir William Pole should positively pronounce, p. 203 of his Collections, 'that the Abbey of Dunkeswell continued in the crown until King James I. added it unto the revenue of the Duchy of Cornwall.' This egregious mistake will be sufficiently exposed by quoting the words of the letters patent. 'Insuper ex uberiori gratia nostra speciali et ex certa scientia et mero motu nostris damus et pro consideratione prædicta, per præsentis, pro nobis, hæredibus, et successoribus nostris concedimus præfato Johanni Russell militi, baroni Russell, totam domum et scitum nuper Monasterii sive Abbatiiæ B. Mariæ Virginis de Dunkyswell in dicto comitatu nostro Devon. modo dissolut. ac totam ecclesiam campanile, ac cæmeterium ejusdem nuper monasterii, ac omnia messuagia, domos, ædificia, grangias, orrea, stabula, columbaria, stagna, vivaria, ortos, pomaria, gardina, terram, et solum nostra, tam infra quam extra scitum, septum, ambitum, circuitum, et præcinctum ejusdem nuper Monasterii de Dunkyswell existentia, ac molendinum nostrum aquaticum, duo gardina et quatuor curtilagia cum pertinentiis in Olde Donkyswell in dicto comitatu nostro Devon, quæ dicto nuper Monasterio de Dunkyswell spectabant sive pertinebant.' Then follows an enumeration of various parcels of land, comprehending about sixteen hundred acres, besides other property belonging to the abbey, which the king bestows on baron Russell, together with the advowson, patronage, and appropriation of the parish churches of Old Dunkeswell, Auliscombe, and of a free chapel there."

Mr. Oliver says the ARMS of this abbey were precisely those of the founder, viz. Two Bends wavy.

In the Office of the Duchy of Lancaster is an Impression of a SEAL of one of the abbats of Dunkeswell, representing an abbat with his crozier. Legend, SIGILLVM . ABBATIS . DE . DUNKEWELLE. It is in good preservation, but small in size.

Dunkeswell Abbey was situated near Honiton.

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross amount of the revenues of Beaulieu Abbey rose to 428*l.* 6*s.* 8½*d.* The clear income was 326*l.* 13*s.* 2¾*d.*

The Scite was granted in the 30th of Henry the Eighth to Thomas Wriothesley, esq. afterwards earl of Southampton. In the reign of William the Third, the abbey estate passed, by marriage with the heiress of the Wriothesleys, to Ralph Lord Montague, afterwards duke of Montague, from whom, through the daughters of John, second duke of Montague, the scite and manor descended to the Lord Beaulieu and the duke of Buccleugh, the latter of whom is the present owner. The circumference of the manor is said to embrace an extent of twenty-eight miles; the revenue amounting to more than five thousand pounds a year.

The COMMON SEAL of this Abbey attached to the Surrender in the Augmentation Office, dated 2d April, 29 Hen. 8. was very elaborate, the subject being the Virgin and Child, with a number of persons on their knees praying on each side of them, the whole surmounted by a triple canopy; underneath in a shield, the arms of the abbey. A crozier in a crown, on the sides of the shield a fleur-de-lys and lion passant. Legend. SIGILLVM . COMVNE . MONASTERII . BELLI . LOCI . REGIS.

The immediate precincts of Beaulieu Abbey were encircled by a stone wall, nearly a mile and a quarter in circumference, entered by a stone gateway.

The Abbat's Lodgings, immediately after the Dissolution, were altered and converted into a dwelling house, in which condition they still remain. A building eastward of this edifice is thought to have been the Dormitory. The ancient Kitchen is also standing; and near it the Refectory, now used as the parish church of Beaulieu, a plain stone edifice with buttresses, a raftered roof, and a rostrum of stone, now used as a pulpit, from which the lessons, &c. were read to the monks during their meals. This part of the Remains of Beaulieu has been engraved for the present Work. Traces of the Cloisters are discernible; and the fish-ponds of the monks at a little distance.

LANACHEBRAN, or LAN-A KEBRAN, alias ST. KEVRAN, in the Deanery of Kerrier, in Cornwall, was a CELL to BEAULIEU. Here, says Tanner, was a society of Secular Canons, at or about the time of the Conquest, dedicated to St. Achebran:^a and afterwards here was a Cell of Cistercian Monks subordinate to Beaulieu; and the manor here, as parcel of the possessions of Beaulieu, was granted, in the 2d year of Queen Elizabeth, to Francis Earl of Bedford.^b

FARINGDON, or FARENDON, in Berkshire, was also a CELL to BEAULIEU. Tanner gives the following account of this Cell. He says, "Some Cistercian monks happening to fix here, King John, 2 Nov. A. D. 1203, gave the whole manor to the head house of St. Mary, at Cistercium, or Cisteux, in France, upon condition that an abbey should be forthwith built within the same: but the same king having founded in the next year a large monastery of that order at Beaulieu, in Hampshire, it was agreed by all parties that this donation should be transferred thither; so that here were settled only some few monks, subordinate to the Convent of Beaulieu; and, as parcel of the possessions of that abbey, this manor, hundred, the fairs, and other liberties were granted to Sir Francis Englefield, in the 2d of Queen Mary."^c

[Ex Chron. S. Bened. de Hulmo in bibl. Cottoniana, A. 1204.]

ANNO millesimo ducentesimo quarto Johannes rex construxit quandam abbatiam in Nova-forestā quæ vocitatur Bellus-locus, et conventum triginta monachorum fecit adduci de domo Cisterciensi.

NUM. II.

Fundationis Historia.

[Ex MS. codice in bibl. Cotton. ad abbatiam de Kirkstall spectantes.]

ANNO sexto regis Johannis idem rex construxit quoddam cœnobium ordinis Cisterciensis in Anglia, et Bellum-locum nominavit. Quod quidem cœnobium tali occasione narratur ab eo factum. Quia enim idem rex versus abbates, et alias personas ordinis Cisterciensis prænominatas, supra modum, sine causa est iratus, et eosdem non mediocriter per ministros suos gravarat, ad quoddam parlamentum, quod ipse apud Lincolniam tenuit, abbates dicti ordinis venerunt, si quo modo regis ejusdem gratiam et favorem potuissent aliquatenus invenire. Quibus visis sicut crudelis animi erat, præcepit suis, ut dictos abbates sub pedibus equorum viliter conculcarent; regis verò injustum tam facinorosum et inauditum hactenus mandatum ab aliquo principe Christiano, perficere nolentibus, hii domini abbates, jam ferè desperantes de regia benignitate, ad sua hospicia festinanter accesserunt. Nocte vero sequenti cum idem rex Johannes in lecto suo dormiret videbatur ei quod coram quodam judice prædictis abbatibus illuc assistentibus ductus fuisset; qui eisdem abbatibus jussu dictum regem supra dorsum suum, cum flagellis et virgis verberare; quam quidem verberationem, manè vigilans, se sensisse dixit. Sompnium vero suum cuidam personæ ecclesiasticæ, de curiæ sua narravit, qui dixit ei, quod Deus erga eum supra modum esset misericors, qui eum tam clementer, et paternè, in præsentem seculo dignatus est corripere, et eidem sua misteria revelare; et consuluit regem ut pro abbatibus dicti ordinis velociter mitteret, et ab eisdem de reatu suo veniam humiliter imploraret. Rege siquidem acquiescente, pro eis, ut ad regem venirent, missum est. Quod audientes per nuncium regis putaverunt se ab Anglia fore exterminandos, Deo tamen, qui suos non deserit, aliter disponente; cum nunc ad conspectum regis venissent indignationem suam quam erga eos habuit, rex remisit.

Medmenham or Mendham Abbey, in Buckinghamshire.

UGH de Bolebeck, who beside numerous other lordships possessed that of Medmenham at the time of forming the Domesday Survey, had issue Hugh and Walter, who both succeeded to their father's barony. Hugh the younger, having founded the abbey of Woburn in Bedfordshire, gave the manor of Medmenham to found a Cell to it; but this religious house not being built till the barony came into the possession of Walter, the latter has erroneously been considered the founder.

This abbey may be considered to have been founded in the year 1200, 2 Joh.^a A Digby manuscript, however, at Oxford, which Tanner follows, says 1204.^b is very imperfect. The house being subordinate to the government of Woburn Abbey, Langley found the difficulty of getting at an extended catalogue of them great.

The List of the

ABBATS of MEDMENHAM

- ROGER occurs in 1256.
- PETER, Sept. 11th, 1295.
- JOHN DE MEDMENHAM, 1308.
- HENRY, 1416.
- RICHARD, 1521.

JOHN TALBOT was the last abbat, A.D. 1536, when Medmenham was annexed to Bisham Abbey. At this time,

Medmenham had but one monk, whose name was Guy Strenshill.^c

The abbat of Medmenham was epistolar of the Order of the Garter at Windsor. His office was to read the epistle in the communion service at the feast of St. George. Ashmole, in his History of the Order of the Garter, has, by mistake, assigned this office to the prior of Mendham in Norfolk.^d

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the clear annual revenue of Medmenham Abbey amounted to 20*l.* 6*s.* 2*d.*; the gross income to 23*l.* 7*s.* 2*d.*^e

After the Suppression of Bisham Abbey, the Scite of Medmenham was granted in the 38th Hen. VIII. to Robert Mone and others.^f The Messrs. Lysons more correctly say to Thomas and Robert Moore. The estate was conveyed by the Moores in 1558 to the family of Duffield, who resided at the abbey, and continued in possession till 1778, when the scite of the abbey was purchased by John Morton, esq. chief justice of Chester, and was sold by his widow in 1786 to Robert Scott, esq.^g

The celebrated antiquary Browne Willis speaks of part of the north aisle of the conventual church as standing in his time; part of a single column is now to be seen. Some buildings in imitation of ruins have been of late years erected on the site of the abbey, and are now almost overgrown with ivy. Mrs. Scott of Danesfield is the present proprietor.

According to Willis the SEAL of the Abbey was the effigies of the Blessed Virgin crowned, sitting on a splendid throne, in her bosom the venerable Infant. He adds, the only Impression remaining is that of John, 1308, which is a neat oval seal, with this Inscription at the edge, s . FR̄is . JOH̄is . MENDHAM.

Abbey of Grace-Dieu, in Monmouthshire.

RACE-DIEU, De Gratia Dei, Trody,^a Stow,^b or Newham, says Tanner, a small abbey of the Cistercian Order, was built A.D. 1226 by John de Monmouth, knight, lord of Monmouth, to the honor of the blessed Virgin. Dugdale gives the date of 1229 for the foundation of this house, from the chronicle of St. Werburgh; but as appears by Tanner's references it is mentioned upon the close rolls in the 10th Hen. III. the year first named. In 1233 it appears to have been ruined in an incursion of the Welsh;^c but was afterwards rebuilt.

King Edward the Third, in the 35th year of his reign, gave to this Monastery the Hermitage of St. Briavel, in the forest of Dean, to maintain a chantry of two monks, to perform divine service for ever for the souls of his ancestors.^d

Here were, says Tanner, in the 26 Hen. VIII. only two monks, and possessions to the value of 19*l.* 4*s.* 4*d.* per annum clear, and 26*l.* 1*s.* 4*d.* in the whole.^e The Scite was granted in the 37th Hen. VIII. to Thomas Herbert and W. Bretton.^f

As a Ruin, the present remains of the Abbey are insignificant, consisting of a building converted into a barn, in a dilapidated state, and a few fragments of mouldering walls. The Seal of the Abbey is engraved in Coxe's Monmouthshire, part 2, p. 427.

queen, thirteen bishops, most of the barons, and above three hundred knights, whom he entertained with incredible state and plenty, letting fall this generous and devout expression, "I wish it had pleased God that all my great expenses in

AYLES ABBEY, called also Tray,^a was founded by Richard, earl of Cornwall, second son to King John, afterwards king of the Romans and Emperor of Germany. He began the buildings here in 1246; and in 1251, when he had expended ten thousand marks in finishing the monastery, had the church dedicated to St. Mary on the ninth of November in presence of the king and my castle of Walingford had been as wisely and soberly employed." This foundation is said to have been the consequence of a vow, made when the earl was in danger at sea on his return from Gascony. Its first inhabitants consisted of twenty monks from the abbey of Beaulieu, already described. Leland says that the church, the dormitory, the cloister, and the refectory, were all finished in 1251.^b

The Annals of Waverley say that after the solemnity of the dedication was over, the founder gave the monks a thousand marks to purchase lands or build houses: and the king by charter settled on them the yearly rent of twenty pounds.^c

Edmund, earl of Cornwall, son and heir of Richard the founder, having, in his travels in Germany with his father, obtained a portion of a relic considered to be the blood of our Saviour, gave a third part of it, after his father's death, to this monastery in 1272, occasioning a very increased resort to it. Another portion of this blood he gave to the house of the Bonhommes at Ashridge.^d

^b Tanner says, "So Annales Waverl. in anno 1246. The Parco-lude MS. placeth this foundation A. D. 1240." He adds, "N. B. what-ever is met with upon the records or in historians about Hales Abbey, before A. D. 1246 or 1240, belongs to Hales Owen in Shropshire." Notit. Mon. Glouc. xvi.

^d See Kennett, Paroch. Antiq. vol. i. p. 346, new edit.

^e Ibid. pp. 423, 424. The Chronicle of Hayles and Aberconwey, in the Harleian Collection, num. 3725, dates the gift in 1270, and says the relic was authenticated by an account written by Pope Urban the Fourth to accompany it. "A. D. 1267. Eodem tempore Edmundus comes Cornubiæ ibidem (i. e. in Alemannia) illam nobilem portionem sanguinis Jesu Christi perquisivit, quam apud Hayles postea, A. D. 1270, die exaltationis Sanctæ Crucis cum propria historia a beato P. Urbano quarto edita et confirmata deportavit."

In 1295 this relic appears to have been placed within a cross. "A. D. m.ccc.xcv. undecimo kalendas Novembris die Sabati, nobilis vir Edmundus comes Cornubiæ crucem auream cum pede de aumail apud Hayles de domo sua transmisit, quæ nobilissimam portionem sanguinis

In 1271, the abbey church of Hayles and most of the surrounding buildings were burnt down, the total loss extending to the damage of eight thousand marks.^a This accounts for the following entry in the chronicle of Hayles in 1277: "Sexto kalendas Januarii feria quinta dedicatum est novum opus ecclesiæ de Hayles, cum scrinio in quo sanguis Christi preciosus reponitur, a domino Godfrido Wigorn. episcopo." In 1337 the abbey of Hayles was again injured, but by floods.^b

There is a manuscript illustration of the History of Hayles Abbey among those in the Royal Collection in the British Museum, marked 12 E. xiv.: written in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, in several hands. It contains, 1. Formulæ Procuratores et Appellationes faciendi in Monasterio de Hales. 2. De Officio Judicis circa Inquisitiones et formam procedendi. 3. Litteræ et alia Instrumenta, præcipue ad Monasterium de Hales spectantia. 4. Articuli inquirendi a Reformatore Ordinis Cisterciensis; cum formula Appellationis. 5. A matrix of the Abbey SEAL is in existence,^m of which an Impression is in the hands of one of the Editors of this Work, it represents a male figure, supposed to be that of the founder, standing on a pedestal, and having in one hand a globe surmounted by a cross, and in the other a sceptre. The Inscription is SIGILLV. FRATERNITATIS. MONASTERII. BEATE. MARIE. DE. HAYLES.

Rudder, p. 487. has given a full account of the Remains of this Abbey as they stood in his time.

From the ruins, the buildings appear to have formed a quadrangle with a cloister, inclosing an area about forty yards square. The S. W. angle contained the abbat's lodgings; and part of the entrance tower still remains. The other part of the abbat's lodgings extended over the cloister. Some broken arches of the cloister, the conventual barn, and some of the offices made into cottages, are the other chief remains. The Arms and other painted glass which adorned the windows of the abbat's house were removed by the Tracys to Todington Hall in the neighbourhood. Hayles church, a small mean edifice, was constructed from the ruins of the abbey as early as the beginning of the seventeenth century.

OWER humble dewties observyd unto your gudde Lordeshippe it may lyke the same to be advertysed that we have taken the surrendre of the late monastery of Haylys, wher we founde the father and all hys brothren very honest and conformable persons; and the Howse clerly owt of dett. Hys arable londe also wasse in lyke maner husbondyd: no small nombre of acres redy sowen with whete, and the tylth seasonablie orderyd for barlye: and dydde surrendre hys Howse with suche descrete and frank maner as we haue seen no other do better in all owr jorney. The Howse clerly dispacched and commytted according to the Kings Majesties Lettres unto the custody of Mr. Acton. We have from that Howse right honest sorts of juellys, plate, ornaments, and monye besyde the garnyshyng of a small Shryne, wherein was reposyd the counterfett relyk in tymys past; which all we do safly reserve unto the Kyngs Highnes use; and thowzt it our parts to declare and signifie unto your lordeshipe thys honest manne is behavior and doings to thentent he myzt have at your honds condinge prayse and thanks for hys trew dealinge; and to humbly desyer your lordeshippe to be gudde lorde unto hym as hys full trust ys ye will be. Abbey of Newenham, in Devonshire.

EWENHAM ABBEY was founded by Reginald de Mohun, Earl of Somerset, according to the Annals of the two Houses of Parcolude and Chester, in 1241; but Tanner says not before 1246, because Richard bishop of Exeter, who was one of the witnesses to the foundation charter, was not consecrated till 1245.^a Richard Blondy, the bishop of Exeter here alluded to,

was also a benefactor to the establishment.^b The monks who colonised the foundation were brought from Beaulieu, in Hampshire.^c

The ground for the abbey church was marked out on July 6th, 1250, when Prior Walter laid the foundation stone. Other stones of foundation were laid in 1254.^d John de Geytingtone, who was abbat from 1325 to 1338, built the cloister next to the Infirmary and Lavatory, and began a new hall, which was finished by his successor.^e These are all the ancient particulars which we are acquainted with respecting the building. William of Wyrcestre says, the church was two hundred feet in length; the length of the transverse aisle a hundred and fifty-two feet; and the length of the choir eighty feet.^f

Dugdale has given the charter of foundation from an Inspeximus of King Henry the Third:^g with a confirmation of the possessions by King Edward the Third,^h and various memoranda relating to the different benefactors.ⁱ

Mr. Oliver has given the completest List of the

which we here transcribe, with a few corrections and additions made by himself.

JOHN GODDARD, a native of Canterbury, the first abbat, was instituted Jan. 6th, 1246, and resigned August 16th, 1248.

HENRY DE SPERZHOLT succeeded Sept. 6th, 1248. He resigned May 3d, 1250.

Mr. Oliver says, "In vol. i. Grandison's Register," (bishop of Exeter) "fol. 4. it is stated that Pope Alexander IVth. (between the years 1254 and 1261) appropriated to Newenham Abbey the church of Lovepit or Luppit, in the deanry of Dunkeswell."

He adds, "From different passages in the Registers, it appears that the abbey pretended a claim to the church of Axminster, which was the cause of much litigation. But the claim was protested against by the rectors, and rejected by the bishops. The living, at least for a considerable period, was in the gift of the bishop: still, however, two prebends in Axminster church, called Warthell and Greendale, belonged to St. Peter's church, in the city of York. Bishop Stapledon, in fol. 153. of his Register, acquaints us that they had formerly been annexed to that cathedral, by one of the Kings of England."

"Axminster fair was held on the vigil and on the feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist, as I find in an ancient lease. The profits of this fair are reserved by the abbat to himself and his convent: but he leases out the profits of the market for the annual consideration of sixty shillings."—Historic Collections, ut supr. pp. 58, 59.

Netley Abbey, in Hampshire.

ETLEY, Nettely, Lettely, Edwardstow, or De loco Sancti Edwardi: these are the various names by which the Abbey of Netley was designated. It was founded by King Henry the Third, in 1239, and commended by him to the patronage of the Virgin Mary and St. Edward.^a The first monks of this House came from Beaulieu.

John earl of Warren and Surrey, confirmed to this monastery the grant of the manor of Schire, which had been made to the monks by Roger de Clere, in the year 1252.^b

According to the entries in the Taxation of Pope Nicholas the Fourth, the revenues of this abbey must then have been exceeding small, the total of the temporalities amounting to scarcely more than 177.^c

It was subsequently, however, still further endowed by Edmund earl of Cornwall, Robert de Ver, and Walter de Burg; the last of whom invested it with lands in the county of Lincoln, which he held of the king in capite, by the service of presenting him with a head-piece lined with fine linen and a pair of gilt Spurs.

Tanner, from a Manuscript in the Library of Benet College Cambridge, says, that about the time of the Dissolution here were an Abbat and twelve Monks.

The following Names of the

ABBATS of NETLEY

occur among Cole's Manuscripts, and in Tanner :

The Revenues in the 26th Henry VIIIth. amounted in the gross to 160*l.* 2*s.* 9½*d.* The clear income was no more than 100*l.* 12*s.* 8*d.* per annum.

The Scite was granted in the 28th Hen. VIIIth. to Sir William Paulet.^d From his family it passed to that of the Earls of Hertford. It afterwards became the property of the Marquis of Huntingdon; and subsequently passed through several families to Sir Nathaniel Holland, Bart.

^a King Henry the Third's charter, reciting the foundation and endowment of this House, will be found in the Append. of Instruments, Num. I. Tanner, in a note upon the name of EDWARDSTOW, says, "So Godwin, in the life of Peter de Rupibus, bishop of Winchester, whom he makes Founder; as doth Leland, Collect. tom. i. p. 69. He might intend," he adds, "or begin this monastery, but died 5 id. Jul. 1238. and hence Weaver makes this bishop Peter founder of the Priory of Edmundston, in Suffolk." The date of 1239 for King Henry the Third's foundation occurs in the Annals of Waverley and Parcolude.

No REGISTER of this Abbey is known to exist. Tanner's references to public Records relating to it will be found in the note below.^e

Leland, in his Collectanea, notices but one manuscript in the LIBRARY of this Monastery; the "Rhetorica Ciceronis."

SEALS. Jan. 26, 1797, the late Rev. John Brand exhibited to the Society of Antiquaries the Matrix of a Seal, the property of Mr. George Spence, of Old Bond-street: the form round, and little bigger than a shilling: device a priest praying to the Virgin Mary, circumscribed s' BEATE MARIE DE STOWE S^ci EDWARD'. Mr. Brand was of opinion that the kneeling figure might be St. Edward. Drawings of two other Seals of this abbey are preserved in the Archives of the Society appendant to a Deed of the time of Edward the IIIrd. One is the Abbat's Seal, representing the full length figure of an abbat, holding a book in one hand, and a crozier in the other, with this inscription s' ABB'IS LOCⁱ. S^ci EDWARDI. The other is much mutilated; the area represents an abbat with four monks, two on each side of him: the remains of the Inscription are . . . COMMVNE . ABB . . . EDWARDI . DE . LETTE . . . An Impression of this Seal, appendant to the Harleian Charter, 44 F. 22. has the preceding Impression here noticed stamped upon the back as a counter-seal.^f

The destruction of the Abbey Church, or Chapel of Netley, according to Browne Willis, commenced about the period when it was inhabited by the Marquis of Huntingdon,^g who converted the nave, or west end, into a kitchen and offices. Sir Bartlet Lucy, as appears from this writer, (but others say the Marquis of Huntingdon) sold the materials of the whole fabric to a Mr. Walter Taylor, a builder of Southampton, soon after the beginning of the eighteenth century; but an accident which befel Mr. Taylor saved the edifice. The Chapel was built in the form of a cross, and was originally an elegant structure. The east end and the southern transept still afford the best remains of its Ruins, which have been so long known to the lovers of the picturesque, that little need be said here of their beauty. The length of the chapel appears to have been about two hundred feet, and its breadth sixty; the extent of the transept, when entire, was nearly a hundred and twenty feet. There are a few remains also of the offices of the abbey; among which, the outlines of the abbat's Kitchen, the Chapter House, and the Refectory, or Dining Hall, may be distinctly traced. The precinct was surrounded by a moat. Many parts of the Ruins of this Abbey are beautifully mantled with ivy; and the numerous trees which have sprung up amongst the mouldering walls add much to the beauty of the Ruins.

Abbey of Rewley, or De Regali Loco, IN THE SUBURBS OF OXFORD.

RICHARD, King of the Romans, says Tanner, having by his will directed a foundation for some secular priests to pray for his soul, his son and heir, Edmund earl of Cornwall, thought his father's desire would be better fulfilled by Regulars;^a and therefore, in the year 1280,^b he built a monastery here for an abbat and fifteen monks of the Cistercian Order.^c Its tutelar saint was the Virgin Mary.

Stevens, in his Continuation of the Monasticon, has given the following details of the History of this Abbey from Antony à Wood's Manuscripts, at Oxford.

"RULEY ABBY OF CISTERCIANS, NEAR OXFORD.

"Westward from this city, beyond Kithbridge,^d stand the ruins of an abby, called Rewly, in Latin evidences stiled Locus Regalis, in North Ousney. It was sometime seated within pleasant groves, and environed with clear streams, remote from the city, and for its solitariness agreeable to the disposition of the inhabitants, who, as it has always been observed, made choice of such places to exercise their devotion. I shall now proceed to speak of its foundation, of which a certain author writes thus.

"Eodem anno, viz. 1281, Edmundus comes Cornubiæ fundavit, &c. In the same year (that is to say anno 1281) Edmund Earl of Cornwall, founded a new studying place at Oxon, of the Cistercian order, and brought from Thame monks of that fraternity, whom he there planted, &c. causing Robert Burnett, then Bishop of Bath and Wells, and the king's chancellor, to dedicate the place of this abby, which he did the third of the Ides of December, in the aforementioned year, and the same day laid the foundation, and called the church by the name of North-Ousney. Thus the said author; but Rossus Warwicensis will tell us otherwise, in Histor. de Regibus, in Hen. 3. MS. Bib. Cotton; for he in his history, speaking of the bountifulness of King Henry the III. that founded St. John's Hospital at Oxon, saith, that Richardus frater hujus, Richard brother of this man, (meaning Henry III.) built Royall, alias Rewley Oxon; which is altogether disagreeable to the former, thereby making the father to be the author of the son's work, which is plainly a mistake, as may be proved from Mat. Paris, Chronic. p. 1007, edit. anno 1640, who saith, that the said Richard Earl of Cornwall died, anno 1271, which is full ten years before the foundation hereof.

"To let that pass, therefore, you must know, that before the founder had laid any stone of this fabrick, there happened a controversy between Richard abbat of Thame, (whose discretion in this work he much relied on) and William, the abbat of Ousney, concerning the payment of the tithes due from North-Ousney,^e wherein this abby was to be erected, and which was in the limits of Ousney Abby, called South-Ousney, but Oliver, bishop of Lincoln, assuming the matter wholly into his own hands, did reconcile them together by a fair composition, dated 8 Cal. September, 1281, the tenor and substance of which being too long and tedious now to relate; but amongst the rest of the articles one was (which the said bishop appointed), that because of the subtraction of tithes, by reason of the ingress of these monks, in North-Ousney, they should allow those of South-Ousney 36*l.* and so the business was concluded. Other controversies also happened afterwards between the abbats of the same churches, concerning the consecration of this place, the abbat of Thame having the office thereof (as he said) granted to him by Oliver bishop of Lincoln;^f but this also being large I shall baulke, and for brevity sake omit.

"The abbat of Rewly took out monks out of St. Edmund's School, which makes me think 'twas before founded.

"Come we now to speak of the lands they did enjoy, either from the hands of their founder, or other benefactors. The founder, Edmund Earl of Cornwall, did in his foundation-charter, dated anno 1281, anno Edward I. 9. institute, &c. V. Dugdale in the front of the said charter; where before I go any further, I must examine a certain note, Thom. Alleni Aulæ Gloc. Oxon. int. Collect. Twinianas, that I accidentally met with in the writing hereof. It speaks thus; Eodem anno (viz. 8 Ed. I.) Edm. comes Cornubiæ fundavit juxtà Oxon. monasterium Cisterciensis ordinis Roley dictum, ea intentione, ut pro tribus sacerdotibus secularibus, quos pater ejus Ricardus, pro anima sua, divina velit celebrare, et sex monachis de quibus magis confidebat Deum devotius exorarent. Thus he. By which it should seem that there were but nine at first planted here; but I suppose this author, whosoever he was, which to me is as yet unknown, is, with Rossus Warwicensis, aforementioned, much mistaken. To go on therefore and speak of their maintenance which their founder gave them, was in the first place all his lands and tenements that he had in North-Ousney, being the antient honor of St. Waleries, and the place wherein the abby, as I have said, was founded, which, as I understand from an inquisition, did descend hereditarily to him from his father, part of which ground containing sixteen acres, valued then at 10*l.* 8*d.* lying on the west side of the said abby did King Edward I. anno reg. 26. at the desire of the founder, give leave to the abbat and monks of this place towards the enlarging of their walks, and for their own private use, to include. The next portion of land that the founder gave them, was all his mannor of Erdington, &c.^g Concerning the title of which there was afterwards great controversy between the abbat of Einsham and of this place; for in a certain note that I have seen, it is said, that the mannor of Yarnton did belong to Einsham Abby before the conquest, which afterwards came into the hands of Remigius, bishop of Lincoln. After his death (some time

^a "Edmundus comes Cornubiæ fundavit Oxoniæ Monasterium Cisterciensium monachorum eà intentione, ut pro tribus sacerdotibus sæcularibus, quos pater ejus Ricardus pro animâ suâ divina velit celebrare, sex monachi, de quibus magis confidebat, Deum devotius exorarent."—*Annal. ^b So the MS. Annals of Louth Park, which might be consistent with the first designing it in 1279 (as Paroch. Antiq. p. 291.) and the finishing the buildings and dedication of the church in 1281. (Ibid. p. 297. and Mon. Angl.) but the foundation of this abbey by Richard King of the Romans (as J. Ross has it), who died in the beginning of

coming between) it came to King Henry II. who granted it to Bernard de Sancto Walerico, and so it did descend to his son Thomas, and from Thomas to Earl Robert de Brus, but the aforesaid Edmund, Earl of Cornwall, having it by descent, and belonging to the honour (as I take it) of St. Waleries did (though the title thereof was somewhat fickle) give it to this abbey; but the monks of Einsham, not willing to part with it in that manner, commenced a suit against these, and ending in a determination or composition, the abbat of Einsham, by his charter,^a dated anno Ed. fil. Johis, did wholly remit to these monks all their right in the said mannor; and they again the same year,^b 1294, grant the said abbat of Einsham a free enjoyment of the tithes thereof for ever, and so the controversy was concluded.^c

"Another of their benefactors was one Joane Gille, wife of Edmund Gille, of Oxon, the daughter of William Daguyll, of the same place, gentleman, who in the year of her decease, anno 1486, gave these monks her farm place in St. Giles's parish, Oxon, called by the name of Black-hall, with twenty acres of arable land, and a meadow behind Ousney, conditionally that they should in their prayers remember the health of her and her friends' souls, and yearly keep her obit, whereon the monks should receive 6s. 8d. to be distributed amongst them for ever. Other sums they had given them by charitable folk of this city, as I find in their wills; but being small they need not inserting in this place. Thus much of their lands. Moreover that this abbey was at its first foundation appointed for one abbat and fifteen monks, yet, as I have seen, in Collect. Dris Leonardi Hutten Ædis Christi Oxon, quondam canon penes me A. W. there were at the Dissolution, I mean in King Henry the VIIIth.'s days, one abbat and 21 monks, which doth denote, that their number was increased by other benefactors, but who they were I am doubtful of; a representation of which number were 21 elm trees standing in two ranks, between the outward and inward gates of the abbey, through which was the common passage from one to the other, and at the upper end a tree by itself, which they said did represent the abbat. As for their privileges, which they had throughout most of their lands, were of no mean consideration, for I find that all their lands in the county of Oxon, owned suit and service to no court or hundred within the same county, that they were exempt from the power of the bishop of Lincoln (whose diocess they were in) from all taxations and subsidies; that they had visum francplegij,^d which, according to our lawyers, is a writt to exempt one from coming to the view of frankpledge, who is not within the hundred resident, it being worth to the said monks, 28 Ed. I. in profits and perquisites of the court, 2s. per annum. The site of North-Ousney, moreover, they had free, excepting some small suit to the founder and heirs, which he reserved to himself, as 'tis expressed in his charter, but after his death divers controversies happened between these monks and the townsmen, who pretended jurisdiction therein, till such time as the monks complained and appealed to King Edward the III. who thereupon sent his brief to the mayor and commonalty to cease their suit, and committed the hearing thereof to William Breden, guardian of the honours of Walingford, and St. Waleries,^e whose grievances I find arose, because they claimed cognisance of pleas of lands and tenements, within the lordships of St. Walerie. Concerning which controversy I have not as yet met an issue, but amongst many other priviledges they did enjoy in relation to other matters, I find^f one they wanted, and that was, they had no place either amongst us, or monks of this university, in our general possessions, and this it seems they had no licence from the pope so to do, and therefore they did not enjoy so many indulgences as we did.

"The church here which stood by the lock, on the right hand, as we go from the outward gate to the abbey itself, with the site of the abbey, as also the church-yard adjoining, was dedicated to the memory of the blessed Virgin St. Mary, by Robert Burnell, bishop of Bath and Wells, the third of the Ides of December, anno Dom. 1281. Much of this house, as also of the refectory, is yet standing, and sometime encompassed with rivuletts, pleasant walks, and convenient fish-ponds; in one of the windows of the upper chambers is the proportion of a shorn monk kneeling and having his habit on; other antique effigies there were with inscriptions, formerly in the same windows, but defaced in the late war, by soldiers that kept watch and ward here. Over the gate which is the entrance into the court, are two antient coats of arms carved in stone, the one being an eagle with two heads displayed, which was the arms of the founder's father, as he was king of the Romans, the other a lion rampant within a bordure of besants, which was also the paternal coat of the founder, and always borne by the abbat and convent hereof, as the common arms belonging to their abbey.

"Having now concluded what I have to say concerning this abbey, I come to its fatal survey in the 26 of Henry the VIIIth. being the bad omen of its dissolution, though 'tis said that it was dissolved as an alien abbey, long before, viz. anno 1414, but afterwards I find 'twas inhabited by the same order, till Henry the VIIIth.'s time, when it was dissolved, and then the yearly revenues belonging thereunto were certified to be 174*l.* 3*s.* 6*d.* per annum. The site of which was, 33 of Henry the VIIIth. inter alia, granted to George Owen, doctor of physick, who, as I find, was sometime Fellow of Merton College, physician to Queen Jane, King Edward the VIth. and Queen Mary successively, who, it seems, did not long keep it, for the same year (whether by an exchange or otherwise I know not) it was given by King Henry the VIIIth. to the dean and canons of his cathedral of Christ-Church, Oxon, excepting the bells and the lead thereto belonging, who ever since, and to this day, are the owners thereof.

"Mr. Robert Parret, organist of Magd. (one that enriched himself by the spoil of religious houses) seems to have bought the church of Ruly, for at its dissolution he sold much stone, and int to the proctors of our Lady's Chapel, in St. Mary Magd.

"Mr. Hearne, in his preface to Textus Roffensis,^g speaking of North-Ousney, alias Rewley Monastery, tells us, that beside the chapter-house (as he takes it to be) now converted into a brew-house, there still remains a considerable part, though that also be put to the use of the brew-house. Then he proceeds thus: Would to God the church of the monastery were standing, as also the chapel of Ela Longespe here seated, and other parts of the monastery, and that sacrilegious hands had not pulled down and taken them away, which I guess partly hapned in the reign of Elizabeth. For on a certain chimney of the place we read, anno Dom. 1574, under which note, Leonard Cox, a late inhabitant, has caused 1711 to be cut with the first letters of his name, at the time when that chimney was repaired. Men of good credit report many things of the misfortunes of the inhabitants, who likewise relate, that many ruins of the church, among which were the foundations of the belfry, were dug up about 30 years since. But, in discoursing of these things, they also tell wonders of some sacrilegious persons, who in this place were reduced to want bread and all other necessities, though ever so rich before. Besides I have been told by old men that great quantities of men's bones (not to mention a multitude of stones, and rafters, beams, and leavers drawn hither) are frequently dug up in the churchyards of both Ousneys, and that they are often barbarously used, without considering that the persons there buried were renowned for all sorts of virtues, and particularly for justice, clemency, and bounty towards the poor. But enough of this. For I foresee what the advocates of sacrilege will say, not regarding those who bewail the calamity of so many churches and monasteries avariciously and cruelly robbed. Thus this worthy lover of antiquity, and professed enemy to sacrilege.

"As for the abbats of this place, I have not met with any more than those few Mr. Willis gives us from Mr. Twyne's Collections, A. Wood, &c. as follows,

The Entries relating to the property of Rewley Abbey in Pope Nicholas's Taxation, A. D. 1291, will be found in the note below.^c In the 26th of Henry VIII. the gross annual value was rated at 188*l.* 15*s.* 11*d.*; the clear income at 174*l.* 3*s.* 0*½d.*

The Scite was granted in the 33d of Henry VIII. to Dr. George Owen;^d and in the 38th Henry VIII. to the dean and canons of the King's New College, or Christ Church, Oxford, with whom it still continues.

No REGISTER of Rewley Abbey is mentioned any where. Tanner, however, has given a few references concerning it to Manuscripts and Records.^e

The COMMON SEAL of Rewley is engraved in the Lives of Leland, Hearne, and Ant. à Wood, vol. i. p. 138, and re-engraved by Mr. Skelton in his Oxonia Antiqua Restaurata.

The RUINS of this Abbey, as they stood in 1720, were engraved by Hearne in the Appendix to the Textus Roffensis; whose Views were copied by Steevens, and lately by Mr. Skelton in the Work already mentioned, pl. 113. Mr. Skelton has also engraved, pl. 117, another View of what, beside the shields of arms of the earl of Cornwall and the kingdom of the Romans, now constitutes the principal remain.

Abbey of Vale Royal, or de Valle Regali, in Cheshire.

VALE ROYAL ABBEY has been so amply written on by Mr. Ormerod in his History of Cheshire, that the Editors of the New Monasticon have little to add to his materials.

The foundation, it appears, was owing to a vow made by Prince Edward, eldest son of Henry the Third, when upon the point of suffering shipwreck. Tanner says, he began in his father's lifetime, A. D. 1266, an Abbey in his manor of Dernhale for one hundred monks of the Cistercian Order: but Mr. Ormerod informs us that the colony of monks who were first introduced to it from Dore Abbey were not brought there till 1273; eight years after which the whole were removed to Vale Royal.

King Edward the First laid the first stone of the buildings of Vale Royal Abbey on the 2d of August, 1277, upon the site of the high altar, in the presence of a great concourse of his nobles. Two other stones were laid by Queen Eleanor, one for herself and one for her son Alphonso. The site was consecrated by Anianus, the second bishop of St. Asaph of that name.

Tanner says the monks-removed hither about the year 1281, but were forced to live in mean and strait lodgings for several years, till their great Abbey and all its offices, which in this cheap country cost 32,000*l.* in building, were finished A. D. 1330.

The Conventual Church was dedicated to our Lord Jesus Christ, the Virgin Mary, St. Nicholas, and St. Nicasius.

The following is Mr. Ormerod's List of the

ABBATS of VALE ROYAL,

the four earliest of whom resided in a temporary edifice near the abbey which was erecting for their successors.

JOHN CHAMPNEYS was the first abbat, by whose perseverance and interest with the crown the greatest part of the estates were gained to the abbey. He was succeeded by WALTER DE HEREFORD, who occurs soon after 1300.

JOHN DE HOO was the next abbat. He resigned.

RICHARD DE EVESHAM was the fourth abbat.

PETER was his successor in 1327; during whose abbacy great quarrels took place between the monks of Vale Royal and the inhabitants of Dernhall. Mr. Ormerod has given various details of the excesses committed.

ROBERT was abbat in 1342.

THOMAS occurs abbat in 1346, and again in 1366.

STEPHEN, Mr. Ormerod says, is incorrectly stated by Willis to have been abbat in 1349. He occurs in the Leiger Book of Vale Royal in 1373; and again in 1389.

HENRY DE WEYNGTON is the next abbat who occurs, about the beginning of the reign of Henry the Sixth.

WILLIAM occurs in the 17th of Henry VI.

THOMAS DE KIRKHAM, bishop of Sodor and Man. He occurs first in the Leiger Book in 1440, and again in 1472. He died before 1475.

WILLIAM STRATFORD occurs in the latter year.

JOHN BUCKLEY, called Butler by Willis, occurs early in the sixteenth century. He commanded his tenantry in person, to the number of three hundred men, in the battle of Flodden, with the assistance of Sir George Holford and John Bostock, Esq.

JOHN HARWOOD was abbat of Vale Royal at the time of the Suppression.

Mr. Ormerod has preserved the following Letter of this Abbat to Lord Cromwell. The original is in the Bodleian Library at Oxford.

“To the right honorable and my singulere good lord, my lord of the kinges most honorable prive sealle.

“Right honorable and my singulere good lord, in my most humble manore, that I can, I recommend me unto your good lordship, and pleseth it your good lordship, I have received your most honorable letters, dated at the Rolles the viiith day of March, whereby I do perseave it is your lordship's pleasure to have the farm of Darnall, with the demeanes thereof, according to your former letters to me in that behalf directed, my aunswer thearunto made affoare time to your good lordship notwithstanding.

“And I do perseave by your laste letters, that your lordship is enformed, that I have in my hand the maner of Knighte, the maner of Bradford, the maner of Heffreston, the ferme of Conersley, besyde the demeanes of my monastery, and also the personages of Frodsham, Weverham, Kirkham, and the tenth of Overe, and that they be sufficient to furnishe the monastery of corne and pasture.

“My lord, it is truth, the moast part of the grounds belonging Knighte, Bradford, and Conersley be let out to ferme for terme of yeares unto diverses of my tenants: and the foarsayd maner of Heffreston is let unto one person in farme; and as touching a great part of the tenths of Weverham and Frodsham, they are let out to sundry persons, for terme of yeares; and the whoale personage of Kirkham is let out to farm for many yeares; and I have not the tenthes of Overe, but in ferme of the prioress of the noones of Cheshire at her will and pleasure; and moreover I have not in wheate, of the tyeth of the parish of Weverham and Frodsham yearly above xii bushels or thereabouts; and the most part of the demeasne ground of the abbey, is sound (sand) ground, and will bear no wheate.

“So that the substance of the finding of my house in wheate is gotten and had at the maner of Darnall; and without the said manor and demeanes I am not able to furnishe my house accordingly as I have written and advertysed your lordship by my other letters—wherefore, yf it might please your good lordship, that if thear be any other ground, that I have in my hande, that might please your good lordship to have, the same shall be at your pleasure during your lyffe, without any rent for the same, paying the premeses notwithstanding.

“Now your good lordship knoweth the truth in the same, I am contented to accomplish your pleasure and commandement in the foresayd maner and demeanes of Darnall, reserving the woode and waters, with the barne there to receive our sayd tythe of corn of Overe, and also all such ground, as is lett out by our convent sealle or otherwise, there, for terme of yeares to diveres persons.

“My lord, I most humbly beseech your good lordship, for the love of God and our blessed Lady, and for the mayntenance of good service, and pooare hospitalitee to be kept in the house, which we are not able to do, as we do now, unless it may please your good lordship of your graciouse petyte to have good . . . elle and respect for us in the premeses—I am at your commandement and will in all thinges that I can do, to my lytell power; for in your good lordship is all my most single trust, and confydence under God, and the kyng our sovereign lord, as knowethe the Holly Goste, who evermore have your good lordship in his blessed keeping, with ogmentac’on and increase of honor.

“Scribled at Vale Royall, this xxi day of March, by your humble, obedient and dayly oratour, JOHN, Abbot of Vale Roial.

The compromise, Mr. Ormerod says, offered in this letter was rejected, and on the 7th of September, 30 Hen. VIII. a deed of surrender was completed, purporting to be signed by the abbot, Alexander Sedon the prior, and thirteen monks. In the Harl. MSS. is a fragment of an original letter, written by the abbot, from Lichfield, two days after, in which he roundly denies the authenticity of these signatures, and states himself to be coming to London as fast as his sickness would permit. It appears from this document that Holcroft, the subsequent grantee, was the principal agent in extorting or forging the deed of surrender. It is impossible to read the abbot's simple and earnest protestations, without a high degree of compassion for the poor wretches on the brink of being turned out into a world they were so unfit to struggle with: and their rapine, their oppression, and their bigotry, are all lost for a moment in ideas that only turn in compassion to the hospitality, the alms, and the piety of Vale Royal.

The letter most probably commenced with mentioning that Holcroft had shewn to — “me and my brethren, the kyng's most graciouse as drad comyssion, wherein his graciouse plesure was, that, for the gratuyte that his grace trusted in me and my brethren, that we wold clerelye of one consente surrendre into his graciouse honds o' monast'ye, beyng of his most graciouse fundacion, and whereof your lordship is steuard. My good lord, the truthe is, I, nor my said brethren, have never consented to surrender our monast'y, nor yet doo, nor never will doo by our good willes, unless it shall please the kyng's grace to giff to us commandem't so to doo, which I can not p'ceve in the comission of maist' Holcroft so to bee. And if any informacyon be giffon unto his magestye, or unto your good lordship, that we shulde consent to surrender as is above sayd, I assure your good lordship, upon my fidelitye and truthe, there was never non such consente made by me nor my brethren, nor no person nor persons had auctoritee to do so in our names. Wherefore I humbly beseech your good lordship, in whom is my single trust under God and the Kyng's mag'stye, to be meane for us unto his grace, so that wee may continewe in our said monast'ye to pray for his most noble grace and your good lordship, which we shall dayly doo, according to our bounden duties, during our lyves. I assure your lordship I am cumyng upwards as fast as my sekenes will suffer me, to beseeche your lordship of charite to be good to our poor monastery. I send unto your lordship the bill indented, made by me and my brethren, which, in presence of worshipfull men, I offered to m' Holcroft, which to take he refused. And thus o' Lord God p'serve your lordship in good helthe. Wrytten at Lychevyld the ix day of September,

By your pou'r bedeman,

JOHN, Abbot of Vale Royall.”

“To the ryght honorable S^r Thomas Cromewell, Lord Cromewell, Lord privye sealle, and chefe Secretarye to the Kyng's Hygheness.”^a

The ruin of the house was now finally accomplished, and the distribution of its possessions quickly followed. Of its Cheshire estates, Darnall, with its appendages,^b was granted 33 Hen. VIII. to Sir Rowland Hill, Knt. and merchant of the city of London. In the same year,^c March 7, the site of Vale Royal, with the granges of Conersley, Bradford, Ernesley, and Merton, Petty Poole Hill and Dam, and Bradford Mylne in the parish of Whitegate, Heffreston Grange and Onston Mylne in Weverham, Ernesley House in Weverham and Whitegate, and the Pool of Oakmere, were granted to Thomas Holcroft, an esquire of the body, for the sum of 450*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.* subject to the reserved rent of 3*l.* 5*s.* 8*d.* payable to the court of augmentation of the king's revenue.

In the 37th of the same reign, Aug. 1,^d the manors of Weverham and Over, with all their privileges, were granted to the same, now Sir Thomas Holcroft, subject to the rent, of 10*l.* 0*s.* 4*d.* in consideration of the sum of 464*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.* and the manor of Cartmell given in exchange by Sir Thomas.^e time, that the sayd license was not lawfull, and caste it away in despite, and over sayd that the kynges grace was not lawfully married.

“Furthermore the sayde Jury sayth that Roger Harwood, brother to the late abbot, in the tyme of the insurrection, asked of one William Robinson, of the lordship of Weram, and of others, what tydings? and the sayde Robinson and others sayde to him, none; and then the said Roger sayd to them, I can shewe to you good tydinge, for the commons be uppe; and sayd that the kynges good grace did overpresse his poor commons.

“And the Jury sayd that Roger Bromfield, and others, his father's servants and partakers, tooke and led away out of the Haywoode, certain loade of woode and where John Cowper, baylyfe of Overe and Weram did arreste to the kynges good graces use; and that Ralphe Bostocke is a common hontere within the libertyes.”

The copy of the original inquisition from which this is transcribed, is preserved in the Bodleian, and appears to have been written with a view of conveying to Thomas Holcroft the earliest intelligence of the final success of his machinations against the abbat; it is indorsed:

“To my brother, Thomas Holcrofte, be thes d'd with speede.”

Cheshire tradition has given to the story the tragical catastrophe which might naturally be expected from the protracted resistance of the abbat, and these formidable preparations; and has grounded thereupon the fulfilment of one of the prophecies of Nixon. Willis states that the final consummation of his injuries was spared the poor abbat, who was allowed to retire on an inconsiderable annuity; but, from an examination of the pension roll of the reign of Queen Mary, the statement of Willis appears to be incorrect, as the name of the abbat is omitted in this document, and no notice whatsoever is taken of him or his convent in the earlier roll of the time of Hen. VIII.

^a Harl. MS. 604, fol. 62. Harwood's journey, Mr. Ormerod says, as might be expected, failed in attaining its object, but his resolution remained unshaken, and a capital indictment was the only resource of his enemies. The jurisdiction of the abbey court afforded an easy opportunity of gratifying their wishes, and lord Cromwell, the seneschall of the abbey, presided in person, at a court held at Vale Royal on the Monday after the feast of the Annunciation, 30th Hen. VIII. in which fourteen jurors found a bill against the late abbot and others for the following offences.

“That John Harwood, late abbot of the monastery of our Blessed Ladi of Vale Royal, consented to the slaying of Hughe Chaliner his monke, and that the day before the said monkes throat was cut, the saide monke saide unto a childe, being his brother's son, of xii yeares of age or thereabouts, that he, the saide monke, would be with his brother at Chestore, before the Assumption of our Blessed Lady then next after, or else he said he should suffer death, if he tarried any longer in the said monasterie.

“And furthermore the sayde jury sayth that the sayde late abbot sayde unto Richard Nightingale, that if the sayde Richard Nightingale wolde go in the Kynges warres, at the tyme of the insorectyon, that he should syt in nō house of his, nor that he wold not take hym for hys tenant, nor do the kynges grace service at his putting.

“And further the sayde jury sayth, that the tenant asked the sayd abbot who should be their captain at the said insorection, and he answered and said unto them, that it made no matter for them, for they shold do no service to the kyng his Grace, for no house of his, nor at his bidding; and if that Peter Dutton, knight, and Hughe Starkey, esquier, had not byne, the sayde abbot would have caste certen of them into prison.

“Furthermore the sayde Jury sayth, that when there came a license to the vicker of Weram, for towe poore persons to marry together, from the officere of our most soverayne lord the kyng, supreme head, under God, of the Chorche of England, the sayd vicker sayd, at that

The impropriation and advowson of Frodsham were given to the dean and chapter of Christ Church, Oxon, and the impropriation and advowson of Weverham to the bishopric of Chester.

The revenues were valued in the 26th Hen. VIII. at the gross sum of 540*l.* 6*s.* 2*d.* The clear income amounted to 518*l.* 19*s.* 8*d.*^a

Thus, says Mr. Ormerod, fell the abbey of Vale Royal, the abbat of which, for nearly three centuries, had maintained a style of splendour equal to that of many powerful barons. Like them he had his seneschall and his under seneschall, the former of which offices was filled, as an office of honour, by Cromwell himself at the Reformation. The ordinary law of his court was administered by a coroner, and the bailiffs of Over and Weverham, in whom a capital jurisdiction was vested, with the powers of "Infangtheof and Outfangtheof," equally serviceable in screening his own vassals from whatever enormities they might commit, and of subjecting to the abbat's vengeance, without possibility of appeal, all trespassers on his privileges within the limits which the charter had assigned him. He had his page to attend upon him in the abbey, and his palfreyman to hold the reins of his horse on his journeys, in which, from the account of the skirmish in Rutlandshire, he appears to have travelled with a powerful retinue, and to have been attended by considerable families of the county. The names of Coton and Walensis, or Hooton, appear in this instance, and, at another time, we find the families of Holford and Bostock, serving under his orders at the battle of Flodden.

The abbat of Dore was visitor, and on each visitation received xxx*s.* iv*d.* for his travelling expenses, a quarter of a mark for each of his chaplains, and 1*s.* for each of his other attendants.

Tanner says, "Vide REGISTRUM Abbatiae de Valle Regali, penes Thomam Merbury de Merbury in com. Cestr. arm. A. D. 1658, 1666." There is nothing now remaining that can be referred with probability to the original abbey, but a few door-ways in the offices, of a style anterior to the additions by the Holcrofts. Parts of the ancient walls and gates of the abbey were removed by the present proprietor. A name attached to one spot preserves the site of the high altar, and another, called the Nun's Grave, indicates a place where most probably some inmate of the Chester priory wished to be interred, from a confidence in its superior sanctity. The ancient road from the abbey to Northwich, now disused, sweeps over some of the hollows near the monastery with mound worthy of the workmanship of a Roman legion.^e

Sir Thomas Holcroft, the grantee of Vale Royal, was second son of John Holcroft, of Holcroft Hall, near Leigh, in Lancashire. He owed his fortunes to his situation as an esquire of the body to King Henry the Eighth, and was one of the Cheshire gentlemen who were knighted at Leith, in Scotland, in 1544. The Vale Royal estate continued in his family two generations, and was sold, A. D. 1616, 15 Jac. I. to Mary, Lady Cholmondeley, widow of Sir Hugh Cholmondeley, of Cholmondeley, and daughter and sole heir of Christopher Holford, of Holford, Esq. called by King James, who visited her here in 1617, "The Bold Ladie of Cheshire."

By Inq. 1 Car. I. Lady Cholmondeley died seised (inter alia) of the site of the late dissolved monastery of Vale Royal, with messuages, gardens, 2460 acres of land, free warren, goods and chattels of felons and fugitives, wayfes and strays in Vale Royal, Bradford, Conwarsley, Sutton, Weverham, Over, Merton, and Whitegate, and common of all kinds on Delamere; all of which, except a place called New Bottoms, she had given, 16 Jan. 21 Jac. I. to Thomas Cholmondeley, Esq. her fourth son, and his heirs male, held by the tenth part of a knight's fee.

From this period, the dissolved monastery of Vale Royal has lineally descended to Thomas Cholmondeley, Esq. the present proprietor, who also inherits from Thomas Cholmondeley, son of Lady Cholmondeley, the manor of Over; and from Thomas Cholmondeley, Esq. his father, the manor of Knights Grange; and has himself added to the estates, by a recent purchase, the estate of Merton Grange. By these successive acquisitions, nearly the whole property of Vale Royal Abbey, in the parishes of Over and Whitegate, with the exception of the granges of Darnall and Hefferston, is now vested in this branch of the family of Cholmondeley.

There is a long Survey on Paper, temp. Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office, touching this abbey and its possessions. There are also in the same repository some Proceedings in the Court of Augmentations, temp. Hen. VIII.

^e The situation is in every thing contrary to what it is described in Warton's elegy, who speaks of Edward diffusing "His crowded spires on the broad mountain's brow," and the illuminated windows "high o'er the trackless heath at midnight seen." It is, in fact, seated in a deep valley on the immediate banks of the Weever, now confined by artificial limits, but formerly spreading a wide surface over the ground, which presents a range of luxuriant meadows. The oak thrives well in the vicinity, being sheltered from the injuries of the sea breezes; and, at the period of the foundation, when the woods descended from the heights of the neighbouring forest in thickets of natural growth, there is no doubt, if the taste of the inhabitants bore any analogy to the rules of the order they professed, that the whole scene was as solemn and sequestered as any that could be selected for the residence of a Cistercian.

NUM. I.

De Initio Foundationis Abbatiae de Valle Regali, et de Voto Regis.

[Ex Registro Abbatiae de Valle Regali penès Thomam Marbury de Marbury, in com. Cestriae, arm. 18. Aug. a. 1658. fol. 3. a.]

INCIPIUM foundationis abbatiae de Valle Regali, erat miraculosè per Mariam Virginem præmonstratum: nam dominus Edwardus princeps Walliae et comes Cestriae, cum haberet patrem sanctissimum, Henricum, viz. regem Anglorum, qui fuit filius regis Johannis, et iste Henricus quinquaginta sex annis regnavit, undè præfatus Edwardus in armis tam strenuè se gerebat, quod ob amorem crucifixi, ad paganorum exterminium Terram Sanctam pluriès visitaret: igitur, cum quadam vice versùs Angliam rediret, et ad mare jam venisset, in navi cum suis omnibus decenter receptus est; ipso ergò versùs Angliam, cum maximâ multitudine navigante, tempestates in mari subito exortæ sunt, ita ut omnia navis armamenta minitatem, in momento, rumpebantur: nautæ igitur, non habentes ultrâ quid facerent, et de suâ salute penitùs desperantes, præ timore ad Dominum fortiter vociferârunt, et hii qui in navi cum ipsis fuerant persuaserunt, ut singuli Domino voverent quid unicuique Spiritus Sanctus inspiraret: quod, cum ab omnibus devotissimè fuisset impletum, nondum pro hiis cessârunt tempestates, sed magis ac magis in eos ingruerant: contemplantes ergo sibi mortem adesse vicinam, omnes qui erant in navi, unanimiter principem devotissimis precibus, cum lacrimis exorabant, quod et ipse, qui cum aliis votum non emiserat, dignaretur votum aliquod emittere, per quod et Dominum placaret, et ipsos periclitantes posset ab imminente periculo confestim liberare.

Quorum lacrimalibus precibus princeps sacratissimus delinitus, Deo et beatissimæ Virginis Mariæ humillimè devovit, quod si se suos et sua Dominus salvos faceret, et ad terram usque perduceret illæsos, quod tunc monasterium alborum monachorum, ordinis Cisterciensis, in honore Dei genitricis Mariæ, de novo infra regnum Angliæ, in loco ad hoc competenti, citissimè fundaret; quod quidem tam copiosè rebus et possessionibus ditaret, quod ad centum monachorum sustentationem sufficeret in æternum. Et ecce virtus Dei ad salvandas gentes statim apparuit; nam vix princeps Christianissimus expleverat sermonem, et tota illa tempestas, aeris serenitate apparente, penitùs dissipata est, ita ut omnes de tam subitâ mutatione mirarentur; undè factum est, ut navis illa, quæ per multa loca rupta, fissa, et lacerata erat, ita ut aquæ periculosissimè undique introirent, per Mariam Virginem, in cujus laudem princeps votum emiserat, absque omni humano ministerio, navis eadem, cum omnibus in ea contentis, miraculosè ad terram transportata est; cunctis hæc videntibus, et præ gaudio mirantibus, atque Virginem gloriosam, supra humanum modum, letanter venerantibus, quæ sic devotos nunquam sinit perire. Cæterùm, præter hoc res mira valdè horâ eadem, quæ non est silentio transigenda, fertur accedis; nam cum cuncti de navi res suas asportassent, princeps post omnes in navi residebat: cum autem navis jam esset vacua, ipse ad terram de mari egressus est, quo ascendente, navis in duas partes, in ictu oculi, divisa est; ut per hoc daretur intelligi, quod vir sanctus, dum in navi mansit, suis meritis integram eam præservavit; nam postquam prædicta navis divisa apparuit maris profunda concitò quæsivit, nec ultrâ se humanis aspectibus repræsentare curavit.

NUM. II.

Quomodo Dominus Rex assumpsit sibi Conventum de Monasterio de Dorâ, et de tempore quo venerat idem Conventus apud Dernehale, et dehinc ad quandam parvam Abbatiam juxta Vallem Regalem.

[Ibid.]

Hiis igitur ita peractis, applicuit prædictus princeps in Angliam; et cum esset quædam dissensio inter dominum Henricum regem patrem suum, et Anglorum nobiles, comites, et barones exorta, prædictus princeps fortiter omnes expugnabat. Factum est autem, ut in conflictu quodam præfatus Edwardus captus esset, et usque ad civitatem Herefordiæ transmissus carceri et custodiæ à suis emulis ibidem commendatus, sed postmodum gratiosè è manibus custodum, Domino sic disponente, evasit: mansit tamen aliquandiu in custodiâ in civitate prænotatâ: erant igitur viri valdè religiosi et sancti juxta eam habitantes in abbatia de Dorâ, qui crebro prædictum principem, in captivitate positum, juxta vires consolabantur; et eidem, cum Marthâ, necessaria sæpissimè ministrabant; et tandem ab eo pro suâ reverentiâ invenire gratiam meruerunt. Igitur prædictus Edwardus sui juris effectus, votum quod in mari Virgini devovit, cogitabat adimplere; et ob devotionem quam gerebat erga monasterium de Dorâ, pro beneficiis eidem in captivitate ab ipso impensis, conventum suum de memorato monasterio sibi assumpsit. Exivit autem conventus de monasterio de Dorâ usque Vallem Regalem quinto idus Januarii anno Domini m.cc.lxxiii. et xix. kal. Februarii, venit idem conventus apud Dernehale, et ibi morabatur per octo annos et ampliùs, quantum distat à die adventus sui usque ad diem sancti Roberti; quo die primò venit de Dernehale ad Vallem Regalem: et anno Domini m.cc.lxxvii. viz. ix. kal. Augusti consecratus est locus, qui primò dicebatur Wetenhalew et Munechene-wro, à venerabili patre Aniano Assavensi episcopo, ad abbatiam novam construendam; cui imposuit præfatus Edwardus nomen Vallis Regalis; dans evidenter cunctis intelligi, quod suæ esset voluntatis, quod non esset aliquod monasterium illo regalior in libertatibus, divitiis, et honore, in universâ terrâ; sed, heu! morte naturali præventus, quodammodò frustratus est desiderio suo.

NUM. III.

Quomodo Dominus Rex posuit, in novo opere, primum Lapidem; et de hiis qui interfuerunt.

[Ibid.]

POSTEA verò eodem anno sexto, viz. idus Augusti, anno Domini m.cc.lxxvii. præfatus Edwardus tunc illustrissimus rex Angliæ, congregatis ad hoc majorum natu totius regni sui, manibus suis posuit primum lapidem, in loco ubi majus altare construi deberet. Domina etiam Alianora regina Angliæ, quæ et ipsa præsens fuerat, posuit duos lapides, unum pro se, et alium pro domino Alfonso filio suo. In eodem verò loco venerabilis pater, dominus Robertus Burnel, tunc Batoniensis et Wellensis episcopus et etiam domini regis cancellarius, solempniter quoque assistente sibi Aniano Assavensi episcopo, missam celebravit.

Erant et subscripti cum rege, Gilbertus de Clare comes Gloucestriae, Edmundus comes Cornubiæ, Johannes de Warennâ comes Surreihæ, Willielmus de Bellocampo comes de Warwiko; dominus Mauricius de Croun, Oto de Grandisono; Johannes de Greyly; Robertus Typpeythoth; Robertus de Vere; qui omnes, post dominum regem in loco prædicto majoris altaris lapides posuerunt. Qui quidem rex lapidem posuit in honore Domini nostri Jesu Christi, et gloriosæ Virginis Mariæ, et sanctorum confessorum Nicholai, Nichasiique episcoporum; et locum tunc illum deinceps fecit appellari Vallem Regalem, quod Anglicè sonat Kynggesdale. Fuerunt etiam ibi tunc cum domino rege duo comites de partibus transmarinis.

NUM. IV.

De parvâ Abbatia, in qua Monachi habitabant per tempora quatuor Abbatum, et quomodo ad novum Monasterium translati sunt.

[Ibid.]

ISTIS igitur sic peractis, fecerat dominus rex parari unam abbatiam pro illo conventu suo, non longè à novo opere Vallis Regalis distantem. Ibi per longa tempora abbas et conventus moram traxerunt, eo quod juxta novum opus prænotatum, nondum erat ædificium aliquod constructum: undè ad abbatiam illam parvulam, translatus est conventus de manerio de Dernehale, tertio idus Maii, die viz. S. Roberti abbatis, anno Domini m.cc.lxxxi. In eodem verò loco, quatuor abbatum temporibus, integrè remanserunt, viz. domini Johannis Cheampeneys primi abbatis; et etiam domini Walt. de Herford, qui erat secundus; et domini Joh. de Ho, qui in numero fuerat tertius; et domini Ric. de Evesham, qui æquè quartus extiterat. Tandem mediante gloriosissimâ virgine Mariâ, de illâ abbatia deformi et ruinosâ, superiùs expressâ, ad novum usque monasterium de Valle Regali, in festo viz. Assumptionis beatissimæ Dei genetricis, Mariæ, anno Domini m.ccc.xxx. reverendus ille conventus magno cum honore translatus est.

Abbas autem, qui tunc præerat, quoscunque nobiles et etiam prælatos, cæterosque vicinos, ad hanc solemnitatem specialissimè evocarat; qui omnes in tantâ multitudine confluabant, quod vix præ turbâ, illud novum monasterium ipsos infra se poterat continere; inter quos advenerat bonæ memoriæ magister Ric. abbas de Dorâ, qui et ipse illo die solempniter celebravit, et sermonem de beatâ Virgine, ad populum faciens, cibo specialis alimonie, more suo consueto, devotissimè reficiebat. Sacer igitur iste conventus, cum hiis qui advenérant prælatis, et aliis viris magni nominis, deducebant festum Virginis cum jubilo, in ymnis et psalmis, et canticis spiritualibus, in organis etiam, ac ferè omnium genere musicorum, et illam devotissimè benedicebant; in cujus honore locus ille extitit consecratus, per quem in mari miraculosè fuerat voto solempni iniciatus.

Contigit autem in prædicto festo Assumptionis, mirum quoddam, relatu dignum; nam inter illud festum, per quadraginta dies ferè et noctes, tanta inundatio omnes circumquaque adeo commovit, ut credebatur iteratò Dominum, diluvium, sicut in diebus Noæ, adduxisse super terram; sed res mira valde accidit; nam in vigiliâ Assumptionis, et duobus sequentibus diebus, tanta apparuit aeris serenitas, ut nec gutta quædam aquæ caderet super terram; sed omnibus, ad tanti festi solempnitatem, necessariis rite consummatis, et omnibus in suâ receptis, inundatio, ut priùs suborta est, quæ per multa tempora postea non quievit. Quis ergo dubitet istam aeris serenitatem meritis ac precibus beatissimæ virginis Mariæ, non fuisse veraciter impetratam, ne sibi in hiis solempniis devote ministrantes, per aeris intemperiem à suo ministerio vel in modico impedirentur? Acque luce clariùs patet, secundùm jam relata, quod valde acceptus erat Virgini beatæ ad suum monasterium in ipsius honore in maris periculo mirabiliter fundatum, suorum monachorum accessus et adventus; unde, ut reor, quilibet intra se monachorum, cum ad locum Domini desideratum jam venisset, ait, Hæc requies mea in seculum seculi; hic habitabo, quoniam elegi eam; quos omnes Virgo beata alloquebatur, dicens quod in Apocalypsi describitur, Ambulabunt mecum in albis, quoniam digni sunt, et non delebo nomina eorum de libro vitæ.

NUM. V.

Qualis erat Locus Abbatie ante ipsius Foundationem.

[Ibid.]

FERUNT enim antiqui, quod in loco ubi præfatum monasterium modo situm est, erat prædorum habitatio, et nunc per Mariam virginem factus est locus ille sanctorum monachorum conversatio; non quorumcunque monachorum, sed alborum monachorum, secundùm quod in capitulo ex parte tuâ noveris de decimis, patet manifestè. Tales enim sunt omnes professi in ordine Cistercii, sicuti tenet curia Romana, et ideo in partibus transmarinis dicuntur albi monachi, monachi beatæ Mariæ, qualis erat dominus Benedictus papa duodecimus, et alii quamplures summi pontifices, qui de ordine Cistercii eum præcesserunt: girant proinde miseri ac ydiotæ, qui ipsos griseos monachos, in contemptum apostolicæ sedis, præsumunt appellare, cum hiis diebus pauci vel nulli vix inveniantur de ordine griseorum; nam albi monachi juxta canonum instituta, tenent locum in ecclesiâ, quoad proprietatis abdicationem, duodecim apostolorum; et de quocunque ordine à se venientes admittere possunt, per paucis exceptis: ipsi autem ad aliorum ordines, ne videntur descendere, transire non possunt.

NUM. VI.

De Mutatione Nominis Loci ubi modo Abbatia sita est, per Regem facta.

[Ibid.]

Locus namque in quo monasterium modò situm est, binominus erat ab antiquo; dicebatur enim Munechewro, quod Latinè interpretatur Monachorum silva; ad designandum, quod locus ille veraciter futurus esset religiosus, seu religioni applicandus, quia Munechene Anglicè, Monacha seu Monialis dicitur Latinè. Wro verò Anglicè, Latinè dicitur silva.

Dicebatur etiam locus ille Quettenhalewes, quod Latinè sonat Frumentum sanctum, vel Frumentum sanctorum; et congruè dici potuit Frumentum sanctum; nam de puro grano frumenti, et non de alio conficitur sanctum corpus Christi; ideo, quia futurum erat illud frumentum ibidem consecrandum, de quo in Ewangelio scribitur, Nisi granum frumenticadens in terra mortuum fuerit, ipsum solum manet meritò Quettenhalewes locus ille dictus est. Benè autem Frumentum sanctorum locum illum appellamus, quia frumentum Latinè whete Anglicè; et halewes Anglicè, sancti dicuntur Latinè; ad designandum, quod de loco eodem esset frumentum excolendum, per quod viri sancti et religiosi in hac lachrymarum valle degentes, corporaliter ad literam ibidem alerentur; ut sic, per temporale subsidium pervenirent sancti ad regnum sine fine mansurum. Et ideo convenienter dominus rex locum illum fecerat Vallem Regalem appellari, quod Anglicè sonat Kingesdale, per quod designatur, quod quælibet creatura rationabilis ab ipso Domino ad vitam æternam præordinata, debet esse Kingesdale; hoc est rex, se ipsam benè regens in valle humilitatis; et sic à Christo merebitur audire istud; Veni, sponsa Christi, accipe coronam quam tibi Dominus præparavit in æternum; quam coronam non accipit, nisi qui legitime voluerit decertare in Regali valle, scil. in Christi humilitate.

[Ibid.]

NARRANT viri catholici et valdè veraces, quod dum locus, qui nunc Vallis Regalis dicitur, erat vasta solitudo, multa annorum curricula priusquam abbatia ibidem fundaretur, à patribus suis multotiens se audisse, quod in festis sollempnibus Dei genetricis Mariæ, ipsi et pastores sui in eodem loco circa medias noctes audièrunt voces, tanquam in cœlo psallentes: splendor etiam coruscæ lucis eisdem apparuit, qui noctis obscura in diem transmutavit; nec in hiis defuit sonitus campanarum. Et postquam ecclesia constructa fuerat, quidam qui usque ad hæc tempora superfuerunt, asserebant se tantum in eadem lucem contemplasse in noctis oppaco, quod multi hæc videntes credebant ecclesiam totam fuisse igne succensam: factumque est, ut ad tam grande spectaculum, quidam cum maximâ admiratione accurrerunt: alii ab eodem loco longè positi, extra sua domicilia, ab aliis excitati, salientes, pro visione mirificâ, Dominum colladabant. Hæc autem dixerim, ut cunctis appareat, quod locus ille à Christo veraciter pro monasterio fuerat ab æterno præordinatus, qui mortalibus de ipso tot et tanta miracula reserare dignatus est. Et ad majorem hujus rei probationem, unum relatu dignum in fine non omitto; quod cum rex Angliæ, fundator abbatie memoratæ, monachis suis, tunc in manerio de Dernehale conventualiter residentibus; quia locus ille pro abbatia aptus non fuerat, dedisset in mandatis, ut per totum regnum Angliæ locum sibi providerent, in quo competenter posset abbatia ordinari; qui jussa regis implentes, circuibant ubique terrarum, et quamvis diversis in locis sumptos magnos apposuisent, nunquam tamen, quousque venissent ad locum qui Munechewro et Quettenhalewes dicitur, requiem invenerunt; quod nutu Dei factum fuisse, nullus sanæ mentis est, qui ambigat; ibi ergo fixerunt tabernacula sua temporibus sempiternis.

NUM. VIII.

De Portione Ligni S. Crucis, de Terra Sancta per Regem adquisita, et cum rebus aliis Monasterio collata.

[Ibid.]

SILEAMUS interim de secretis cœlestibus; et quomodo

rex piissimus votum suum implere curavit, ulteriùs prosequemur. In superioribus, qualiter præfatus dominus rex, dummodo comes Cestriæ extiterat, patresuo vivente, Terram Sanctam quæsierat, enarravimus transcurrenter; sed quid indè attulerit, nusquam declaratur. Ipse etenim rex, pro Christi sui nomine, paganos ac Saracenos, cum esset ibidem, non cessavit expugnare; quinimo, tanquam bonus miles Christi, pro Domino suo animam suam morti addixit; et quousque ad locum ubi lignum crucis residebat, in quo pependit salus mundi, pervenisset, pes ejus non quievit; undè et ab ipso portionem pulcherrimam, cum ingenti gaudio violenter aufererat, quam usque in Angliam secum lætanter transportavit; per ejus virtutem, omnes sibi undecunque adversantes tam fortiter debellerat, ut nullus esset sibi similis in regibus in universâ terrâ: nec mirum, nam circa colli nuda, in omni exercitu secum gerebat sanctissimum Christi vexillum, per quod et diabolus est victus, et mundus Christi sanguine redemptus. Istam sanctæ crucis sacratissimam portionem, in primâ fundatione abbatihæ, magnâ contulit cum devotione, ut ex ipsâ persecutoribus incuteret timorem, et religiosè viventibus vitam conferret sempiternam.

Et præter istud jocale pretiosissimum, quæsit rex devotus ibique sanctorum reliquias, canonicè approbatas, et illas suo monasterio benignissimè commendavit, de vasis insuper sacratis, ac vestimentis elocericis, unâ cum libris pretiosis, illud nobilissimè ditavit. Dulcissima præterea, et in Christo præamanda domina Alianora, tunc Angliæ regina, tanquam altera Maria, quæ pro peccatoribus non desinit exorare; sic et ipsa regem, pro monasterii confirmatione, non destitit imprecare: nec sic est satiata concupiscentia sua, sed monasterium ac monachos immensis honoribus ac muneribus incessanter adornavit. Quapropter viri illi sanctissimi et Deo devoti, non degeneres, neque tantorum beneficiorum immemores, inter se statuerunt, quod annis singulis in eodem monasterio, in festo translationis S. Thomæ martyris, fieret regis prædicti anniversarium, cum solempnitate; et pro dominâ reginâ fiet illud idem tertio kal. Decembris, in vigiliâ S. Andreae. Ad hæc statuitur et ordinatur, quod diebus singulis, pro prædicto domino rege, missa peculiaris, ac pro dominâ reginâ, in eodem monasterio, celebretur usque in sempiternum; et quod unusquisque divina in altari pertractans, collectam pro rege effundat Domino specialem, præter cotidianam memoriam, quam de rege ac reginâ in memoria pro defunctis habendâ cotidiè tenebuntur facere specialem. In horis etiam canonicis collectam optinent ab omnibus constitutam. Insuper et in fine gratiarum, post refectionem corporalem, semper à præsidente dici consuevit, Animæ regis Edwardi, reginæ Alianoræ, et omnium fidelium defunctorum, per misericordiam Dei requiescant in pace; ad quod cuncti respondeant, dicentes, Amen.

NUM. IX.

De Ecclesiâ de Kyrkham, quomodo Rex Monasterio suo eam contulerat: et de Placito inter ipsum Regem, et Dominum Theobaldum le Botiller, et Otonem de Grandisono.

[Ibid.]

IN superioribus utcumque de rebus variis monasterio collatis pervagati sumus, nunc verò de hiis quæ omisimus, aliqua disseramus. Quodam namque tempore dominus rex volens certiorari super valore omnium reddituum præfato loco de Valle Regali spectantium, quibusdam suis justiciariis dederat in mandatis, ut diligenter de præmissis inquirerent veritatem, et ipsum super hiis redderent certiores. Quibus juxta præfati regis ordinationem ritè peractis, perpendit dominus rex illa, ad onera prædicto monasterio incumbentia sufficere non posse; ideoque liberato consilio suo, advocacy ecclesiæ de Kirkham decrevit eidem erogandam. Quo audito, dominus Theobaldus Walteri, majestati regis in facie resistebat: asserebat namque advocacy illam hæreditario jure sibi competere debere, pro intentione suâ plura in medium perducens argumenta. Rex verò, adunato consilio suo, omissis illis quæ ad propositum non faciebant; allegabat, quod pater suus ultimò de jure regali ad prædictam ecclesiam, tanquam rex, nomine coronæ suæ, præsentabat clericum suum quendam, qui admissus fuerat et institutus in eadem, et non ratione custodiæ hæredum Theobaldi

Walteri. Præfatus verò Theobaldus, per attornatum suum, coram justiciariis domini regis fatebatur cum rege, quod rex nomine suo præsentaverat, sicuti inferioribus continetur, et non ratione custodiæ, quapropter advocatio domino regi extitit adjudicata, et dominus Theobaldus in misericordiâ remanebat.

Erat autem illo in tempore cum domino rege vir bonus et sanctus, ac in armis miles strenuissimus, Oto videlicet de Grandisono, cujus memoria sit in benedictione in seculum seculi. Ipse verò propter negotia regni ad sedem apostolicam nuncius destinatus est, ubi cum pervenisset, instinctu Spiritus Sancti, ut credi potest, ductus, appropriationem ecclesiæ de Kirkham monasterio de Valle Regali, ab Honorio papâ quinto perpetuò impetravit. Cum autem in Angliam, cunctis negotiis regis gratiosè jam peractis, applicuisset, abbati de Valle Regali bullam ejusdem ecclesiæ de Kirkham devotissimè commendavit. Ipse verò abbas, tantorum non immemor beneficiorum, perpendens, quod nullus teneret propriis stipendiis militare, præfati militi optulit auri et argenti non parvam quantitatem. Miles verò malens à Deo, quàm ab homine præmiari, cuncta penitus tanquam vana recusabat: quapropter abbas, cum unanimi consensu conventus sui, statuit ac decrevit, ut præfati militis memoria perpetuò à cunctis haberetur in eodem monasterio specialiter recommendata; et ideo gesta ejusdem militis præsentibus sunt inserta, ut per hoc futuris in monasterio annuntientur, pro eo incessanter Christum exorare, quatinus pro suo labore temporali ad præmia perveniat sempiterna.

NUM. X.

De Consecratione Loci ubi nunc Abbatia sita est; et de Pænd ingredientium aliunde quam per Fores Monasterii.

[Ibid.]

REX etenim sacratissimus considerans, quod benedictio patris firmat domos filiorum, volens providè relinquere post se benedictionem, advocat archiepiscopos, episcopos, et cæteros regni sui prælatos, ad locum de Valle Regali benedicendum: qui omnes jussa regis adimplentes, de finibus suis adventarunt; atque locum illum suis sacratissimis benedictionibus consecrantes, postquam divina inibi in altari optulissent, sacras suas vestes, quibus induebantur, in sui perhennem memoriam devote satis referuntur ibidem optulisse. Erat autem inter eos tunc temporis quidam magnus, et apud regem valde carus, patriarcha Jerosolomitani, dominus Antonius de Beck, episcopus Dunelmensis; qui et ipse, cum aliis, locum prælibatam benedicebat, et missam celebrabat. Igitur benedictione solempniter consummatâ, præfati episcopi indulgendo separatim omnibus, præfatum locum ob amorem Christi frequentantibus, et gloriosissimæ virginis Mariæ, matris ejusdem, quadraginta dies de injunctis sibi penitentiis perpetuò concedendo relaxarunt.

Insuper dominus rex terminos ejusdem abbatihæ suæ, sub isto procinctu quadrangulum ordinavit; incipiendo, viz. ad locum illum, ubi nunc parvus exterior, quæ barra abbatihæ Wlgodre situatur; et sic sequendo quoddam magnum fossatum usque ad grangiam conventus de novo constitutam, et crucem supstantem pro signo in primâ fundatione per regem ibidem collocatam, linealiter usque ad aquam de Wevere procedendo: et sic sequendo aquam de Wevere usque ad finem fossæ de novo circa parvum fabricatæ, quæ usque in eandem aquam de Wevere æquè derivatur: et sic sequendo fossam circa parvum, usque ad molendinum abbatihæ, et de molendino abbatihæ, ascendendo directè usque ad prædictum parvum exteriorem, barram primitus nuncupatam. Et ne locus iste sacer, à tot et tantis patribus benedictus, de cætero pateret despectui, seu gressibus impiorum esset conculcatus, ad nutum domini regis prædicti, prælati excitati, statuerunt omnes et singuli patres annotati, ne qui alteriùs aliunde quam per portas monasterii quoquo modo introirent. Ac etiam in contra venientes majoris excommunicationis sententiam solempniter fulminarunt; quæ quidem sententia à cunctis illius monasterii habitatoribus, et illam etiam contempnentibus, usque in hodiernum diem non mediocriter formidanda est. Post multum verò temporis episcopus Evachdunensis sex altaria in novo opere, perfectè ædificata, consecravat, atque suis indulgentiis gratiosissimè decoravit.

NUM. XI.

De quatuor primis Abbatibus, qui in eodem Monasterio præfuerunt; quomodo Monasterium rexerunt, et de ipsorum Conversatione.

[Ibid.]

INTER opera caritatis non censetur esse minimum, gesta virorum fortium in ecclesiâ pro Christo dimicantium, ad aliorum informationem cunctis enarrare: ad hoc namque Christi exemplo provocamur, qui idcirco sua facta per ewangelica scripta nobis voluit denudare, ut sic per ea instruerentur mundum debellare; igitur de abbatum virtutibus, qui ante nos præfuerunt, quædam brevia præsentibus duximus inserenda, ut præsentis et futuri eorum edocti exemplo, discant in templo Christi ad consimilia hannelare, quatinus ipsorum opitulantis meritis, ad gaudia æterna pervenire mereantur.

Primus igitur omnium abbas de Valle Regali, JOHANNES CHAUMPENEYS hic erat. Et reverâ, de virtute sermonis nominis sui, et cognominis, justè iste præfectus est primus in abbatem loci memorati: nam Johannes ille, in quo est gratia, vel Domini gratia interpretatur; quia ergò gratiâ Dei mediante monasterium fundatum fuerat, per votum regis emissum in mari, per cujus virtutem populus innumerus extitit à periculo mortis mirabiliter liberatus: ideo, quia Salvator noster Johannem voluit monasterio suo primum præesse pastorem, ut per hoc cunctis patesceret, quod non solùm abbas à Domino electus, sed etiam locus ipse sacer gratiosus esset futurus: quia ergò Domini gratiâ regem salvavit in maris fluctibus, ipsâ eadem gratiâ Johannem abbatem gubernabat in terris. Ipse etenim Johannes illi discipulo similis erat, qui requievit in cenâ supra pectus Jesu: nam inter cæteras quas habebat virtutes, erat inter omnes humilimus; edoctus ab eo, qui ait, Discite a me, quia mitis sum et humilis corde, et invenietis requiem animabus vestris. Ferunt enim de eo, qui eum noverant, in hac luce, quod injurias etiam à subjectis sibi allatas non vindicabant; sed juxta præceptum Domini eas dimisit Domino vindicandas; ideo animæ suæ requiem invenire merebatur: et sic Johannes Ewangelista præfuit apostolis et discipulis Christi in castitate, sicut et iste Johannes votum castitatis emittens in eoque in finem puriter perseveravit; et ideo benè Johannes dictus est; id est gratia Dei; quippe qui tantâ in conspectu domini regis meruit gratiâ decorari, ut monasterium cui præerat, rebus et possessionibus rex, sui contemplatione, a Deo ditaverat, ut ei similis inventus non sit prælatus in universâ terrâ: quapropter convenienter Chaumpneys cognominatur, per quod campio designatur. Et reverâ iste campio erat fortissimus, qui tres hostes, diabolus, carnis, et mundum viriliter devincebat; mundum per terrenorum abdicationem, carnem per ipsius macerationem, et diabolus per propriæ voluntatis renunciationem. Insuper alios hostes domui suæ nocere volentes, gratiosè expugnabat; ut sic non immeritò Johannes, id est gratia Dei, et cognomento Chaumpneys diceretur, qui gratiâ Dei mediante taliter se habebat: nec injustè campio Christi appellari mereretur, qui ubique victoriâ potitus est. Quæ omnia præsagium futurorum erant; viz. quod locus de Valle Regali foret in eventum, tam Deo, quàm hominibus, satis gratiosus, et ecclesiæ persecutoribus cunctis Christi inimicis terribilis ac timorosus; unde de loco illo jam infallibiliter dici potest, Non est hic aliud nisi domus Dei et porta cæli.

Tandem, post Johannem abbatem primum, supervenit abbas secundus, WALTERUS DE HEREFORDIA, qui ipse vir pulcherrimæ figuræ, quantum ad exteriorem aspectum erat: verumtamen, quia talis pulchritudo vanitati comparatur, absque eâ, quæ intrinsecus latet, de interiori vane nituit pauca perloquamur. Fuit enim vir iste vitæ venerabilis, Deo et beatæ Virgini semper et ubique devotus; qui etiam in bonis operibus strenuè Christo militavit: cilicio namque utebatur carnem edomando, per cujus exercitium illam spiritui servire coegit. Carnibus raro, vel nunquam, nisi in casu permissio, propter infirmitates, vescebatur. Ipse etiam, tanquam pastor bonus, pro ecclesiâ suâ se ultro morti addixit, ut cum illo mereretur annumerari, qui ait, Ego sum pastor bonus, qui pono animam meam pro ovibus meis. Aliquando namque accidit, quo major pars provinciæ, in quâ habitaverat, ad instanciam cujusdam tyranni, tunc temporis justiciarii ibidem, levato vexillo insurgeret contra eum in monasterium suum. Factum est autem, cum venisset ante tribunal in conspectu tyranni supradicti abbas memoratus, ac secum maximam multitudinem nobilium adduxisset, omnes timore percussi, relicto abbate domino suo, solo, in fugam versi sunt; sed ipse solus intrepidus, fundatus super petram, usque in finem perseverans, causam ecclesiæ suæ audaciter defensavit; et ideo meritò impositum est ei nomen Walterus, quod interpretatur valdè ferus; quia opprobria hominum pro Christo nunquam legitur expavisse. Aliâ autem vice quidam miles, cum maximâ multitudine armatorum advenerat, qui iter per medium monasterii sui sibi competere maliciosè vendicabat: quo audito, abbas inermis præfatæ multitudini tam fortiter, cum paucis, pro jure ecclesiæ suæ resistebat, ut omnes in momento in fugam versi sunt; quod meritis viri sancti accidisse dubium non est: dignè igitur iste Walterus, id est valde ferus, abbas istius novi monasterii factus est, velut quia propter novitatem ab omnibus impetebatur, esset ferus, qui staret murus ex adverso, et ipsorum malicias in principio expugnaret, juxta illud,

Legitur etiam, quod quodam vice, ubi sanctus in sellâ suâ orationi, more suo incumberet; factum est, postquam ab oratione surrexisset, et ecce intuebatur dæmonem, pice nigriorem, in fenestrâ sellæ suæ residentem; quem cum evidenter aspexisset, quæsit ab eo quisnam esset: qui respondet ei, Legio sum. Cui præcipit sanctus, ut statim discederet, et deinceps in loco eodem, nullum Deo devotum molestaret: cujus sanctitatem malignus spiritus ferre non valens, continuo discessit; et ultra, juxta sermonem viri Dei, humanis aspectibus se ibidem non exhibuit. Ne ergo sine causâ iste Walterus, id est valdè ferus, secundus in ordine successit Johanni, id est gratiæ Dei, velut per hoc cunctis daretur intelligi, quod feritas Walteri, per quam et hostibus et malignis spiritibus resistebat, non sibi, sed Dei gratiæ esset attribuenda, ut in veritate dicere posset cum apostolo, Gratiâ Dei sum id quod sum; et gratia ejus in me vacua non fuit. Nec abs re de Herfordiâ extitit oriundus; nam in illâ nobili civitate et regiâ, ab olim erat virorum sanctorum habitatio, inter quos et ipse ab infantiâ erat educatus, à quibus didicerat Jesu Christo humiliter ministrare, ut sic sanctorum meritis et ipse sanctus efficeretur, juxta quod scriptum est, Cum sancto sanctus eris, et cum viro innocente innocens eris. Et non solùm acciderat ei sanctitas à sanctorum cohabitatione, verum etiam à naturali imitatione; quâ ratione, de suis progenitoribus intelligi potest, quod de sancto quodam dictum est, Omnis cognatio ejus in sanctâ conversatione permansit.

Isti igitur viro nobili et religioso, vir bonus, mitis et simplex, tertius in ordine successerat, qui JOHANNES DE Oo cognominatus est: ipse etenim, sicuti et prædecessores sui, sacrum illum conventum sibi commissum honestissimè in omnibus gubernabat, qui à Deo gratiosus et mansuetus erga omnes extiterat, ut justè Johannes, id est ille in quo est gratia, appellari mereretur: ipse enim tantâ pietate nituit, ut pro fratribus delinquentibus sæpissimè lacrymas non poterat continere; et tamen rigorem quandoque cum mansuetudine visus est temperare; nam quos à viâ Domini reperit devios, ad tempus à grege suo segregavit, ut sic spiritus salvus esset in die Domini nostri Jesu Christi. Erat etiam Johannes iste valdè graciosus erga dominum regem, ita ut ei à rege pluriès diceretur, Pete è me quod vis, et dabo tibi: qui peccato avariciæ, et alterius mali omnino experts, ut sibi officio suo cedere liceret, à rege simpliciter postulavit: cum et rex eidem nullatenus acquiesceret, ipse corporis infirmitatem et plebis maliciam constanter allegabat, malens apud regem periclitari, quàm contemplationis secreta declinare; volens cum illis annumerari, quibus loquitur Dominus in Ewangelio, dicens, Vos qui reliquistis omnia, et secuti estis me, centuplum accipietis, et vitam æternam possidebitis. Rex igitur viri Dei supplicationibus inportunis devictus, abbatem de Dorâ literas suas speciales, pro ipsius cessione admitteudâ quamtotiùs destinavit; atque ipsius simplicitati compaciens, quadringentas libras, in quibus monasterium præfatum regi fuerat, pro quodam converso escaetore obligatum, ob dicti Johannis abbatis reverentiam et amorem penitus relaxabat; volens similiter, quod in vitæ necessariis, tanquam benè merito, juxta proprii arbitrii discretionem perpetuò eidem provideret; quod et factum est: igitur iste Johannes non immeritò dici potest ille in quo est gratia, qui tantam in conspectu regis optinuit gratiam, qualem nullus ante eum assecutus est.

Dictus est insuper cognomento Hoo, per quod interpretatur excitatio; nam quando quis vult aliquid excitare, Hoo scilicet proclamare; id est, surge et parate: congruè igitur Hoo cognominatus est, pro eo quod vocem Domini eum excitantem audivit, quâ dicit, Nisi quis renuntiaverit omnibus quæ possidet, non potest meus esse discipulus: quo audito, ipse relictis omnibus secutus est Christum redemptorem; à quo Johannes, id est, Dei gratia, meruit appellari: bene ergo iste Johannes graciosus successit Waltero, qui erat ferus, juxta sui nominis interpretationem; quia nisi prælati essent misericordes, non invenirentur in hominibus, qui pœnas canonicas, pro peccatis irrogandis aliquantulum sustinerent. Sanctus iste Johannes adeo mitis et misericors et mitis apparuit, ut dissimularet peccata hominum, saltem occulta propter pœnitentiam; considerans sententiam Domini, dicentis, Estote misericordes, sicut et pater vester misericors est; et nolite judicare, et non judicabimini; et illud

Aut sumus, aut fuimus, aut possumus esse quod hic est.

De præfato venerabili viro Joh. adhuc superstite, ulterius non proseguamur, ne scriptori simulatio imponatur, quia simulator ore decipit amicum suum; et ne etiam commendatus in superbiâ erigatur, qui potius cum omnia benefecerit, quod servus inutilis sit proprii vocis oraculo, à summo doctore, Christo Domino instructus habet profiteri; ut per hoc ab eo, pro suâ humilitate, ut supernis ascendat cum gloriâ evocari mereatur.

Istis igitur tribus margaritis in arâ Christi, hostiam sanctam, Deo placentem, se ultro offerentibus, atque in pace ecclesiæ cum Domino quiescentibus interim ômissis, ad quartum abbatis commendationem, quamtotiùs properemus. Vir namque iste sanctus et justus, qui quartus rexerat monasterium de Valle Regali, RICARDUS DE EWESHAM hic erat; quique à flore juventutis ex omni corde suum dilexerat Creatorem, tandem cum Mariâ optimam partem, quam elegit, à Domino meruit optinere. Bene ipsius virtutes absconderat sub modio, ne laudem ab hominibus in hoc mundo, loco mercedis acceptaret. Et quia perfectus est, qui non offendit in verbo; iste quasi mutus, et non habens in ore suo redargutionem effectus, ad vana os suum non aperuit. Insuper vacabit die noctuque legi Domini, quatinus per hanc, corpus et animam Deo mundissimè conservaret: legerat namque ubi sanctus, quod amans scientiam scripturarum, carnis vicia non amabit. Corpus etiam suum vigiliis ac jejuniis macerando, cilicii asperitate non minùs edomabat. Ipse autem incessanter cœlestia cogitans, mundum penitùs deserebat; nec minùs didicerat; namque ab apostolo, quod nemo militans Deo implicat se negotiis secularibus; quia juxta veritatis vocem, Non potest quis Deo servire et Mammonem: quapropter vir Dei, spontè, virtutis amore, dignitati suæ renunciâns, usque ad ultimum vitæ suæ hiatum, in sanctâ conversatione jugiter permanebat: et ideo verè beatus dici potest, qui post aurum non ambiit, nec speravit in pecuniæ thesauris. Fecit enim mirabilia in vitâ suâ, quæ per sequentia patebunt.

Quidam monachus viri Dei, ipso in remotis agente, infirmitate gravissimâ detentus est, et accersito quodam confessore, omnia peccata sua, undè et apertè eidem confitetur, confestim viam universæ carnis ingressus est. Post hæc abbas ad proprium monasterium regressus est; et cum audisset de morte confratris sui, dolore cordis attactus est; sequenti autem nocte, iis, qui defunctus est monachus abbati, post matutinas paululùm quiescenti, in vestibus albis, sui habitus formam prætententibus, legitur apparuisse; qui quidem defunctus abbatem piis precibus humiliter, inclinato toto corpore ad terram, absolutionem postulabat; qui statim de loco consurgens, et cuncta per ordinem fratribus enarrans, præfatum defunctum in capitulo absolvebat, et sic eum liberum ad cœlos usque compulit avolare; ex quibus liquet evidenter, quod vita ipsius multum Deo placuit, quia sic rebus humanis exutus, pro absolutionis beneficio tam devotè exquisivit.

rientium plurimi periclitabantur: ipse tamen ita opulenter suos protegebat ab hac peste, cum in rei veritate parvum vel nihil possideret, ut nullus dubitaret quin ab omnipotenti Deo ista procul dubio essent à cœlo usque ad terras, meritis beati viri infallibiliter derivata. Alio quoque tempore, vir Dei, priusquam monasterio præerat, ab abbate suo, contra quosdam tyrannos, pro decimis colligendis, ad quandam locum, non longe à dicto monasterio transmissus est; quo cum venisset, tyranni insurgentes, volebant eum trucidâsse, et non poterant; sed equum, quem insedebat, per medium sagittantes, ipse illæsus, Domino disponente, mirabiliter evasit. Istis, et aliis signis claruit vir Domini Ricardus; qui idcirco dici potest Ricardus, id est ridens, carus, et dulcis; qui quia in hac vitâ, propter Dominum, à risu se abstinuit; idcirco nunc, cum Domino, ipsius tristitia in gaudium conversa est. Erat etiam dulcis, quia illi soli perfectè adhæserat, de quo canit ecclesia, dicens, Dulcis et rectus Dominus, propter hoc legem dabit delinquentibus in viâ. Et iterum, Spiritus meus super me dulcis: et propter hanc sanctitatis dulcedinem, quam ab ipso summo vero Deo habuerat, potest dici Deo carus; et ideo ne malicia mutaret intellectum illius, de seculo nequàm raptus est, atque à Domino ad cœli culmina evocatus, ubi jam cum ipso regnat in gloriâ in secula seculorum.

Istos igitur quatuor abbates, qui pro monasterio de Valle Regali tam viriliter diebus suis agonizârunt, ut pro ipso parati essent etiam muros ferreos penetrare, quatuor angelis eos possumus comparare, quos in Apocalypsi Johannes viderat stantes supra angulos quatuor terræ, tenentes quatuor ventos terræ, ne flarent super terram, vel alicui nocerent; sic et istorum sonus ad instar quatuor ewangelistarum, exivit in omnem terram, ad expugnandas gentes, et omnes præfati monasterii inimicos: quapropter, de illis intelligi potest, quod ab angelo Johanni dictum est in Apocalypsi, Hii qui amicti sunt albis, hii sunt qui venerunt ex magnâ tribulatione, et lavârunt stolas suas, et dealbaverunt eas in sanguine Agni. Et ne frustra in vineâ Domini, et absque denario diurno contingeret eos desudare, adnectitur, Ideo sunt ante thronum Domini, et Agni, et serviunt ei die ac nocte in templo ejus, ubi non esurient, neque sitient amplius; et non cadet super eos sol, neque ullus æstus; quoniam Agnus, qui in medio throni est, reget illos, et deducet ad vitæ fontes aquarum, cum quo jam coronantur et vivunt in secula seculorum, Amen.

Buckland Abbey, in Devonshire.

OCKLAND, or Buckland, Abbey, seated on the eastern banks of the Tavy, was founded in honour of our Lady and St. Benedict, in the year 1278, by Amicia countess of Devon. For this new foundation, says Mr. Oliver, she obtained a colony of Cistercian monks from Quarrer, in the Isle of Wight. These Religious, without the previous licence and approbation of Walter Bronescombe, the bishop of Exeter, presumed to celebrate mass, and to exercise their functions. The bishop resented this trespass on his diocesan jurisdiction, and subjected the community to excommunication and suspension. But he soon relieved them from this penalty, at the solicitation of the Queen Eleanor.^a

The following is Mr. Oliver's List of the ABBATS of BUCKLAND.

- GALFRIDUS occurs in 1304.
- THOMAS, in 1311.
- THOMAS WAPPELEGH, in 1373.
- JOHN BRYTON was admitted August 1st, 1385.
- JOHN SPORE, confirmed Sept. 28th, 1449.
- JOHN HYLLE, admitted Oct. 16th, 1453.
- THOMAS OLYVER succeeded March 20th, 1464.
- JOHN BRUNDON was the next abbat.
- THOMAS WHYTE, who succeeded Brundon, was alive in 1527.^b
- JOHN TOKER, or TUCKER, was the last abbat.^c

In Pope Nicholas's Taxation, A.D. 1291, we have the following churches entered among the spiritualities of the diocese of Exeter, as appropriated to the Abbey of Buckland: "Ecclesia de Tany Sanctæ Mariæ 3l. 6s. 8d., ecclesia de Walkamton 4l., ecclesia de Tany beati Petri 4l." The following are the manors entered as the temporal possessions: "Boklond quod taxatur 16l. 2s. 8d., Bikeley quod taxatur 16l. 2s. 8d., Wolkampton et in Dertemore quod taxatur 6l. 10s. 8d., Colompton quod taxatur 9l. 15s. 4d., Item apud Bikecumbe quod taxatur 13s. 4d." The sum of the Temporals amounting to 39l. 13s. 5d.^d

The total of the Spiritualties and Temporalities in the 26th of Henry the Eighth was 241l. 17s. 9½d. dim. q. Steevens mistakes in valuing it at 341l. 17s. 9½d. et dim. q.

Sir William Pole, in p. 337. of his Collections, says Mr. Oliver, mistakes the order of the occupants of this dissolved monastery. The scite was first granted 33 Hen. VIII. to Richard Greynfeld,^e and four years after conveyed to Richard Crymes, of London. In the time of Queen Elizabeth it was purchased by Sir Francis Drake, in a descendant of whose family it still continues.

Bishop Tanner's References to public RECORDS concerning this monastery will be found below: ^f beside which, there are divers copies of Charters respecting this abbey and its estates in the Chapter-house at Westminster.

Mr. Oliver says the ARMS were Ar. and Gu. a crozier in bend, Or.

Buckland having been founded by Amicia countess dowager of Devonshire, her name is inserted in the COMMON SEAL of the abbey. A drawing of it, taken from an Impression attached to a Deed, A.D. 1310, is in the possession of one of the Editors of the present Work: it represents the blessed Virgin and Child; underneath is the word AMICIA, and a shield of arms, being a lion rampant. The Legend is, SIGILLVM . ECCLESIE . LOCJ . SCI . BENEDICTJ . DE . BOCLAN'.

^b I have seen an Indenture, says Mr. Oliver, made between the abbat, Thomas White, and Robert Derkeham, organist; it is dated 28th May, 1522. The abbat engages to pay Robert an annuity of 2l. 13s. 4d.; to provide him a decent table; to allow a furnished room over the west gate of the monastery, and a gown every year of the value of 12s. He farther engages to Robert the reversion of a tenement at Milton, then occupied by John Brooke; and in the mean while to provide a decent dwelling-house garden, the moiety of the rent to be paid by Robert Derkeham, who is however to have the feeding of two cows, until he obtains possession of John Brooke's tenement. Robert is also to be allowed five ounces of bread and a quart of beer every night throughout the year; a wax. candle from 1 Nov. until 2 Feb.; and thirty horse-loads of faggots for his fire. In consideration of all this, the said Robert is to assist in the choir every day during divine service, and to teach four boys of the convent, any one of whom he may choose to wait upon him as his servant. He further engages to instruct the boys, and those monks who may wish to learn, in the art of music and playing the organ.

N.B. This indenture was admitted and allowed by the Augmentation Court, 18th Dec. 1540.

Wilton or Hulton Abbey, in Staffordshire.

F Hulton Abbey our information is extremely scanty. The Annals of Parcolude date its foundation in 1219; but Tanner says it was erected by Henry de Audeley in 1223, to the honor of the Virgin Mary. The charter of foundation, another from Herveus de Stafford of land in Normancote, and the licence for the assignment to this house of the Alien Priory of Cameringham in Lincolnshire from the Abbey of Blanchland in Normandy, in the 19th Ric. II. will be found in the Appendix.^a

In Pope Nicholas's Taxation one spiritual possession of this Abbey occurs, in "Ecclesia de Audeley 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*" The total of the temporal possessions amounted to 20*l.* 4*s.* 2*d.*^b

ROBERT occurs abbat, 1240 and 1241.

JOHN was the last abbat.

Tanner says, "In bibl. Harleiana, MS. 280, fol. 77. Nomina quorundam abbatum:" but Robert, just mentioned, is the only abbat who occurs. He also refers to the Harleian MS. 2060, fol 1. for a composition between the abbat of Hulton and prior of Trentham.^c

At the Dissolution this House was valued in the gross at 8*l.* 10*s.* 1½*d.* per annum. In the clear sum, at 7*l.* 14*s.* 11½*d.*

The Scite was granted in the 34th Hen. VIII. to Sir Edward Aston, Knt.

The COMMON SEAL of the priory is appendant to the Surrender in the Augmentation Office, dated in the 30th Hen. VIII. Like most of the religious houses of the Cistercian Order, the subject is the blessed Virgin with the divine Infant; underneath is a shield with the arms of the priory. The Inscription is not perfect: all that remains is, SIGILLV. COMVNE TE. MARIE. DE. HVLTON.

Of the Priory buildings there are but small vestiges.

Abbey of St. Mary Graces, East-Minster, or New-Abbey, without the Walls of London.

THE following, with the correction of a single date, 1359 to 1349, is Newcourt's Account of the Abbey of St. Mary Graces. He says,

"It stood east from East-Smithfield, and was founded by King Edward the III^d. in the year 1349, upon the following occasion.

"In the year 1348, 23 Edward the III^d., the first great pestilence in his time began, and increased so sore, that for want of room in church-yards, to bury the dead of the city and of the suburbs, one John Corey, clerk, procured of Nicholas prior of the Holy Trinity, without Ealdgate, one toft of ground, near East-Smithfield, for the burial of them that died, with condition that it might be called The Church-yard of the Holy Trinity; which ground was caused, by the aid of divers devout citizens, to be enclosed with a wall of stone; and the same was dedicated by Ralph Stratford, bishop of London, where innumerable bodies of the dead were afterwards buried, and a chapel built in the same place to the honour of God. To which King Edward aforesaid, having regard, after having been in a tempest on the sea, and in peril of drowning, at which time he made a vow to build a monastery to the honour of God, and the Lady of Graces, if God would grant him to come safe to land, he there built a monastery, causing it to be called East-Minster, placing in it an abbat and monks of the Cistercian, or White Order.

"To this purpose and for the founding and endowing thereof, the said King Edward, by his letters patents, bearing date at Westminster, March the 20, in the 24th of his reign, 1349, gave to the abbat and monks thereof all those messuages, with the appurtenances at Tower-hill, which he had of John Corey aforesaid, in pure and perpetual alms; ordering this house to be called The Royal free Chapel of St. Mary of Graces. And afterwards by other letters patents, dated October 5, in the 50th of his reign, he gave and granted to John duke of Lancaster, Simon archbishop of Canterbury, John bishop of Lincoln, and others, certain manors and lands, which he purchased in Kent, and elsewhere, for the farther endowment of this abby, which they after his death granted and confirmed to the said abbat and monks, for a certain term of years.

"But these lands being for certain causes seized into the hands of King Richard the II^d. as forfeited, he, by his letters patents, dated August 3, in the 12th of his reign, by advice of his council, gave and granted the rents, issues, and profits of those manors and lands, which were the manors of Leybourne, Gravesend, Leach, Wattingbury, Gore, Parrock, and Bykenore, with their appurtenances, together with the advowsons of the churches above-mentioned, with all their appurtenances, in the county of Kent; as also the reversion of the manor of Gonshalf, with its appurtenances, in the county of Surrey, after the death of Thomas de Stowes, to pray for the good estate of the said king whilst living, and for his soul when dead, and for the soul of his grandfather, King Edward the III^d. and for the souls of all his progenitors, his heirs and successors, and all the faithful deceased, according to the intention and will of his said grandfather. And farther, gave license to the said John duke of Lancaster, and John bishop of London, the surviving feoffees of Edward the III^d. to release and quit claim the said manors and lands, to the said abbat and monks, and their successors, as appears by his letters patents, dated at Nottingham, July 3.

"WILLIAM DE SANCTA CRUCE, or the Holy Cross, then abbat of Geronden, of the Cistercian order, was, at the king's instance, made the first abbat of this house, to whom the king gave 20*l*. per annum, for the maintenance of himself and his monks, March 24, 1349.

"WILLIAM WARDEN, it is likely, was his successor, being made abbat of this house, August 27, 1360. And these are all the abbats we can meet with of this monastery.

"The abby was surrendered in the year 1539, 30 Henry the VIIIth. and was valued at 546*l*. 10*s*. per annum, according to Dugdale; Speed says 602*l*. 11*s*. 6*d*. Of the manner of the surrender we find no account, which gives occasion to guess that it was done by such as were in no authority, and therefore it was thought fit to conceal the knowledge thereof.

"Since which time, the said monastery being by King Henry the VIIIth. in the 34th year of his reign, granted to Sir Arthur Darcy, was clean pulled down; and of late time, in place thereof is built a large storehouse for victuals, and convenient ovens are built there, for baking of biskets for the royal navy, and it is the victualling office for the same to this day. The grounds adjoining and belonging formerly to the said abby, have small tenements built thereon."

The following particulars are all which the Editors of the New Monasticon have been able to collect, supplementary to Newcourt.

PASCHALIS occurs in a Record which will be quoted presently in the 8th Hen. V.

JOHN LANGTON, abbat of Graces was presented by the abbat and convent of Pipewell to the vicarage of Gedingham, Aug. 28, 1494, and in 1498 by Sir Thomas Lovel to the vicarage of Stokedanbeneye, in the diocese of Lincoln.^a

JOHN, probably the same person, occurs in 1503.^b

HENRY MORE made his profession as abbat May 7th, 1516.^c

De Valle Crucis Abbey, in Denbighshire, sometimes called Llanegwast.

UGDALE quotes no more than a brief notice of the foundation of this Monastery from Leland; from whose Collectanea we learn that Madoc ap Griffith Maylor, prince of Powis, founded it,^a about A. D. 1200;^b and dedicated it to the blessed Virgin.

The revenues of the Abbey of Vale Crucis in 1291 amounted to the sum of 14*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.*^c The clear value of this House in the 26th Hen. VIII. amounted to 188*l.* 8*s.*; the gross income to the annual sum of 214*l.* 3*s.* 5*d.*

The Scite was granted in the 9th James I. to Edward Wotton.

Tanner says, “Vide Godwinum de præsulibus Angliæ, p. 657. de decimis Wrexhamiæ et Llangollen appropriatis huic Cænobio per Reinerum, Abrahamum, et Howel episcopos Asaphenses.”^d

In the Lord Treasurer’s Remembrancer’s Office is “De E. H. arm. et aliis assignatis ad inquirendum de Intrusionibus factis super possessione Situs nuper Mon. de Valle Crucis in com. Denbigh et aliis articulis.” Hil. Commiss. 15 Eliz. vol. iv.

The SEAL of this Abbey was oval, representing the Virgin Mary, crowned, sitting under a canopy holding the Infant Jesus with the right hand, standing, and a sceptre in her left. In the base a shield of arms, checky. Legend, SIGILLV. COMVNE. DOMVS. BE. MARIE. DE. VALLE. CRUCIS. An imperfect impression of this seal is in the Augmentation Office on red wax.

A large portion of the remains of Valle Crucis Abbey has been converted into a farm-house. The east and west ends, with part of the transept of the abbey church, are also remaining.

The Abbey of Strata Marcella or Stratmargel in Montgomeryshire, was also called Vall-Crucis Abbey.

Gokwelle, or Goykewell Nunnery, in Lincolnshire.

OKWELLE, Gaukevel, or Gowkeswell, says Tanner, a Cistercian Nunnery founded by William de Alta Ripa before A. D. 1185.^a It had a prioress and six nuns about the time of the Dissolution, whose yearly income was rated according to Dugdale at 16*l.* 12*s.* 10*d.*; according to Speed at 19*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*

One giving the clear, the other the gross value. Leland says 20*l.*^b

The Scite of this monastery was granted in the 30th Hen. VIII. to Sir William Tyrwhit.

No SEAL of this Nunnery has, as yet, been discovered; nor have the Editors of the Monasticon met with any charters, originals or transcripts, relating to it.

There are but small traces of the Remains of this Monastery.

Wintenepe Nunnery, in Hampshire.

UGDALE, in the former edition of this work, placed Wintenepe among the Benedictine monasteries; but the registers of the see of Winchester, as well as other authorities of the better kind, speak of it as Cistercian. Tanner says it was built to the honor of the blessed Virgin Mary and Mary Magdalene, or St. Mary Magdalene and St. John the Baptist. Jeffrey the son of Peter, he adds, is said by one to have been the founder,^c and Roger Colrith, Esq. and Thomas his son, by another.^d Little mention of it occurs till after the year 1200.

The only charter which Dugdale has printed of this monastery, is the confirmation of a grant from Richard Makarel of lands in Southorp and Eslande.^e

No mention of Wintenepe occurs in Pope Nicholas's Taxation A. D. 1291. In the 26th of Henry the VIIIth. its gross income amounted to 59*l.* 1*s.*: the clear revenue to 43*l.* 3*s.*^f The best enumeration of the lands which belonged to it in the 29th Hen. VIII. will be found in the Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts.^g

The Scite was granted in the 30th Hen. VIII. to Richard Hill, Esq. serjeant of the king's cellar.

IV. p. 1, m. 25. pro ten. in Clixby.

The Cottonian manuscript Claud. D. III. the contents of which will presently be noticed below, contains an obituary of Wintenei Monastery,^a from which it appears that the convent church was dedicated in 1234.

The ABBESSES, or PRIORESSES

as they are called, which occur in this obituary, are EMMA, SABINA, CLARICIA, LUCIA, JULIANA, ALICIA, a second LUCIA, HAWISA, CECILIA, and ROISA: but the dates of the months only are given, without the years, of their deaths.

The following persons are named in this obituary as benefactors; Nicholas bishop of Winchester, Philip de Barton archdeacon of Surrey, Richard de H'ierde who is called "fundator ecclesiæ nostræ lapideæ," William de Farneham, Geoffrey the son of Peter "fundator ecclesiæ nostræ," William Wichet, Elias abbat of Reading, Matilda de Cumens "fundatrix dormitorii nostri," Richard Holte, Margaret Zowche lady of Farelehe, John who is called "Prior de Novo Loco," probably Aldebury in Surrey, and Peter Ruscivale.

ALICE PRESTON occurs prioress in 1420.^b

Tanner says about the time of the Dissolution here were a prioress and seventeen nuns.

No REGISTER of this monastery is known;^c nor has any SEAL belonging to it been as yet discovered.

Wintenei Nunnery was situated near Hertford Bridge.

Heyninges, or Hebenynge Nunnery, in Lincolnshire.

F this Nunnery we know little more than is preserved in Tanner. It was founded by Rayner Evermue about A.D. 1180, and was dedicated to the Virgin Mary. Leland, and the Surrender of this House, speak of it as "Ordinis Sancti Bernardi," but other authorities call it a Benedictine House. Tanner says, "Here were at first Religious of both sexes, like one of the Gilbertine Houses, and it is reckoned as such in the Monasticon, without good authority." It had a prioress and twelve nuns, and was maintained with a yearly revenue which in the 26th Hen. VIII. amounted to 58*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* in the gross, and to a clear income of 49*l.* 5*s.* 2*d.*^a

The Scite was granted in the 31st Hen. VIII. to Sir Thomas Henneage.

Tanner's references to Records relating to this Monastery will be found below.^b No REGISTER of it is known to exist.

An impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Nunnery to a deed without date, but apparently of the 13th century, on white wax, is in the Office of the Duchy of Lancaster: it is a coarse seal, with the usual subject of the blessed Virgin and divine Infant, but little of the legend remains.

The small vestiges of this monastery are situated in the parts of Lindsey, in the parish of Lea.

Stykoswold, or Stixwold Nunnery, in Lincolnshire.

THE Countess Lucy, says Tanner, relict of Yvo de Tailbois, Roger de Romara, and Ranulf the first earl of Chester, built here, in the time of King Stephen, a monastery of Cistercian^a Nuns, under the direction of a master.^b It was dedicated to the blessed Virgin.

In Pope Nicholas's Taxation, A.D. 1291, the Nuns of Stykeswold are represented to have received a pension of 1*l.* from the church of Alford, in the diocese of Lincoln. The temporalities of this House in the same diocese are rated at the sum of 6*l.* per annum.^c

Tanner says, here were thirteen nuns, whose possessions appear to have been rated in the gross, in the 26th

Hen. VIII., at 163*l.* 1*s.* 2½*d.*; in clear income at 114*l.* 5*s.* 2½*d.*

Being one of the lesser monasteries, this House came to the crown by the act 27 Hen. VIII.; but that King was pleased, in the 29th year of his reign, to refund the same for a prioress and nuns of the Premonstratensian Order,^d which continued only two years, till the dissolution of the greater abbies.^e

The Scite was granted in the 32 Hen. VIII. to Robert Dighton.

JOHANNA occurs as prioress of this House Feb. 18th, 1502.

MARIA MISSENDEN was the name of the prioress appointed upon the re-foundation in the 29th Hen. VIII.

Tanner says that a REGISTER of this Abbey was formerly in the possession of John Coventry, Esq. son of Thomas, Lord Coventry. His other references will be found in the note.^f sion of 34*l.* by the year for ever. Good Mr. Heneage, we most humbly pray and desire you in the way of charity, and for God sake, to be mean to my Lord Privy Seal, that he will of his goodness be suitor to the King's Majesty for to remit and forgive the said pension of 34*l.* a year; or else we shall never be able to live and pay the king the afore-said money.

"We be eighteen nuns, and a sister, in our House; besides officers and servants, to the number of fifty persons in all: and our stock and cattel being delivered up this year past; which was our chief hope and living. And if, by my Lord Privy Seal's goodness and yours, we may obtain redemption of the said yearly pension, we shall take pains, and live poorly, and serve God, and pray daily for the King's Majesty, my Lord Privy Seal, and you, during our lives. And if at your contemplation we cannot obtain grace of the said pension, we shall upon necessity, for that we shall not be able to pay and perform all such payments as we be bound, give up the House into the King's Highnes hand: which were great pity, if it pleased God and the King otherwise. And thus we pray God send you much worship. From Styxwold the viij. day of January.

By your poor bedes-women,
the whole Convent of Styxwold."

^a Tanner has a note upon the word Cistercian, referring to the old edition of the Monasticon. "Thus the charter of Hen. III. Mon. Angl. vol. i. p. 924. and Leland, Collect. vol. i. p. 92. but the Monasticon, vol. i. p. 486. placeth it among the Benedictine monasteries; and ibid. vol. i. p. 1041. and vol. ii. p. 809. amongst the Gilbertine; and so doth Mr. Speed. The last foundation was undoubtedly Premonstratensian; which makes it probable that the old monastery was so too. But it is neither to be found in the protections of that order, 22 Edw. I. nor in the Visitations of bishop Redman. MS. Ashmol. 1519. In the old Catalogue ascribed to Gervase, of Canterbury, or Hen. Sulgrave, here are placed canons and nuns as at Sempingham, Haverholm, and other Gilbertine monasteries; but it not being mentioned among the houses of that order, either in Mon. Angl. vol. i. p. 788. or any of the bulls and confirmation of the Sempingham houses, there seems to be most grounds to make it Cistercian."

^b So in the Records, "Magister et moniales de Stikeswold;" or "Magister monialium de Stikeswold;" but according to Mr. Willis, History of Abbies, vol. ii. p. 117. here were more men besides the master or prior. Leland. Collect. vol. i. p. 92, says, that there were formerly, as he had heard, brethren in this House, which seems to imply that at the Dissolution it consisted only of females.

^e Strype, in his Ecclesiastical Memorials, vol. i. p. 256, has printed a letter to Mr. Heneage, one of Cromwell's visitors, in 1536, in which the favour shewn to the nunnery upon this occasion is announced by the convent, and the hard terms upon which it was for a short time granted.

"Right worshipful sir, as your poor and daily bede women, we humbly commend us unto you; adverteising you that by the goodness of my Lord Privy Seal, and by his only means and suit to the king's Majesty, our House doth stand, paying to his Highnes nine hundred mark for a fine, besides our first fruits, which is 150*l.*, and also a pen-

Caerleon, or Caeruske Abbey, in Monmouthshire.

F the history of this monastery little is known but what is detailed in Tanner; and he has combined it with the notice of several earlier foundations at Caerleon. "It is said by Jeffrey of Monmouth,"^a he observes, "Giraldus Cambrensis,^b and their followers, that in this old city were built, long before the coming of the Saxons, three magnificent churches; one of the martyr Julius, adorned with a convent of religious virgins; a second, dedicated to the honour of his companion St. Aaron, graced with a noble choir of canons; the third was for monks, and was the metropolitan Church of all Wales, till that honour was translated by St. David to Menevia." But "It is more certain that after the conquest there was at Karliun, or Karlynn, an abbat and monks of the Cistercian order, whom King John, whilst earl of Morton, privileged to be free of paying toll at Bristol;^c and they had leave to appropriate the church of Llankathelen."^d

The property of this monastery enumerated in Pope Nicholas's Taxation in the diocese of Llandaff, amounted to the annual revenue of 18*l.* 8*s.* 4*d.*; beside 13*l.* arising from what was called "exitus animalium."^e

In the 26th Hen. VIII. its income was rated in the gross at 79*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.*; the deductions amounted to 8*l.* only; leaving a clear income of 71*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.*

The Scite was granted in the 31st Hen. VIII. to John Parker;^c and again in the 1st of Queen Mary to Thomas Carpenter and William Savage.

It is said there is a matrix of the Seal of this monastery in the Bodleian Library, Oxford.

The only Remains of the original buildings of this religious House are the Stone Cells converted into stables, the conventual Garden Walls, and a Gateway with a fine arch in the pointed style, that formed the entrance. Llantarnam House, erected out of the materials of the abbey, belongs to D. Hollingworth, Esq.

Sewarddesley Nunnery, in Northamptonshire.

SEWARDESLEY NUNNERY was founded by Richard de Lestre, lord of the manor of Eston Neston, in the reign of Henry the Second; and continued under the patronage of his several successors in the said manor. To these Nuns Robert de Pinkeny gave a virgate of land in Canon's Ashby, which was confirmed to them by Simon de Pinkeny his grandson.^a This with six messuages in the same parish were afterwards exchanged with William de St. John for the manor of Eston Neston.^b

Geoffrey de Leifermuter, about the time of Henry the Second or Richard the First, gave the Nuns here his wood in Middleton and Colintre.^c

The revenues of Sewarddesley were reduced so low in 1459, the 23d of Henry VI. that at the petition of Sir Thomas Green, the then patron, the bishop of Lincoln appropriated this Nunnery to the Monastery of St. Mary de la Pré near Northampton, as not being sufficiently endowed for the support of the nuns, and the repair of their house.^d

Tanner says, a little before the Dissolution here were only four nuns.^e

The revenues of this nunnery are totally unnoticed in Pope Nicholas's Taxation.

By the Survey of 1535, 26th Hen. VIII. it appears that the revenue of this house then amounted to 18*l.* 11*s.* 2*d.*; five pounds of which arose from the demesne lands kept in the hands of the nuns; 6*l.* 17*s.* 10*d.* from rents and farms in Sewarddesley, Harleston, Hardington, Heythencote, Tyfield, Kittyhanger, Aldrington, South Newton, Whitfield, Northampton, and Stoke-Bruern; and 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* from the tythes, oblations, and other profits of the appropriate rectory of Eston Neston: out of which deducting for pensions to the bishop of Lincoln 16*s.* 8*d.*; for synodals and procurations to the archdeacon of Northampton 10*s.* 7*d.*; for rents re-solute paid to the king for certain tenements in Northampton 12*d.*; to Sir John Longueville and Sir Edmund Knightley, as the price of one pound of pepper, 2*s.*; to the lord of Duston for a rent charge called Peverels fee 12*d.*; for a stipend to the chaplain 4*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*; amounting in all to 6*l.* 4*s.* 7*d.*; the clear value left to the convent was no more than 12*l.* 6*s.* 7*d.*^f

PRIORESSES of SEWARDESLEY.

FELICIA.^g

JULIANA resigned in 1238.^h

FLORENTIA, one of the nuns, succeeded. She was chosen by the convent with the consent of Sir Robert de Paveli their patron.ⁱ

MARGARET DE LODBROKE was appointed by the convent in 1349, but the election was set aside by the bishop of Lincoln.^k

ALICE BASING resigned in 1439, when

AGNES DRAKELOW was chosen.^l

ELEANOR SCARESBRIG was appointed in 1525 at the nomination of the bishop of Lincoln.^m She presided five years. Upon her death the convent made choice of

AGNES CARTAR; but this election was declared void by the Bishop of Lincoln by reason that the said Agnes was "mulier corrupta, apostata, et unius prolis mater, et eo prætextu ad hujusmodi officium indigna."ⁿ

ELIZABETH CAMBELL was the last prioress.^o

The Scite of this Nunnery with the possessions which the nuns had in Sewarddesley were granted in 4th Edw. VI. to Richard Fermor, Esq.^p who died seised of them in the year following, and left them to Sir John Fermor his son.^q

No REGISTER of Sewarddesley Nunnery is known.^r

A very imperfect Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Nunnery, representing the Virgin Mary crowned, sitting with outstretched hands, and the Infant Jesus in her lap, remains in the Augmentation Office: the whole of the Legend is gone; the Impression is on white wax, of the reign of Edward the Third.

Bridges says, "To the north-east of Hulcote, at a small distance, lies Shordsley or Sewesley, and more anciently Sewarddesley, at present a farm-house of no considerable note, but formerly a Nunnery of the Cistercian Order, dedicated to the Virgin Mary. It was seated near a large wood, part of which is now called Nun-wood and Chapel-coppice. On the right-hand side of the House, which in some parts of it consists of very old walls, and hath belonging to it a very old kitchen, are the remaining marks of ponds, which were fed by a water out of Chapel-close. The foundations of the Chapel, not many years ago, were dug up to build a barn. By the footsteps of it which are left, it appears to have been forty-six foot long, and twenty-four foot eight inches broad; when measured on the outside, and to have been round at the east end."^s

The Kitchen and a few other vestiges are still visible in a house occupied by a farmer.

The Will of William de Paveli, who about A.D. 1240 bequeathed his body to be buried in the Nunnery Chapel, is printed in Madox's Formulare Anglicanum.

Brewood Nunnery, in Shropshire.

REWOOD, Byrwoodde, or Briwerne Nunnery, dedicated to St. Leonard, is believed to have been as old as the time of Richard the First or King John. Leland, in his Itinerary, vol. vii. pag. 22, says it was situated "In the very marche of Shropshire toward Derbyshire." The parish, says Tanner, is part in Staffordshire and part in Shropshire: so that the White Ladies here, and the Black Ladies mentioned in Staffordshire, were in the same parish, though in different counties.

At the time of the general dissolution the convent of Brewood consisted of only six religious.

The total value of the revenue of this house amounted annually to 31*l.* 1*s.* 4*d.* The clear income to 17*l.* 10*s.* 8*d.* per annum.

The Scite was granted in the 31st Hen. VIII. to William Whorwood; and is still called White Ladyes, the same that is mentioned in the account of the escape of King Charles II. from Worcester fight.

No Impression of the COMMON SEAL of Brewood has yet been met with.

Abbey of Clyve, in Somersetsshire.

CLYVE or Cliff Abbey was founded by William de Romare, youngest son, or rather nephew of William de Romare, earl of Lincoln, before A.D. 1188, to the honor of the Virgin Mary.

For the early endowment of this monastery the reader is referred to the charters in the Appendix.

In Pope Nicholas's Taxation, A.D. 1291, the following temporalities occur of this House: In the diocese of Exeter, "Apud Branton quodtaxatur 4*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*; manerium de Boghewill 6*l.* 7*s.* 4*d.*; manerium de Treglast 5*l.* 10*s.*: In the diocese of Bath, Bynham cum membris 15*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.*: making a total temporal revenue of 32*l.* 5*s.* 8*d.*^a

Tanner says, not long before the Dissolution here were seventeen monks, who were endowed with 155*l.* 9*s.* 5½*d.* per annum.

Cistercian Cell of Horewelle, near Coventry, IN WARWICKSHIRE.

IR William Dugdale, in his History of Warwickshire, noticing the petty villages and decayed places then existing in the neighbourhood of Coventry, gives the following account of HOREWELLE.

"This is also now, and hath been long depopulated. But in 7 Edw. I. Oliver de Aubeny, lord of Asthull, was owner thereof, and held it of Roger de Montalt; having at that time one carucate of land and a half in demesn, and suit of court twice a year, with seven freeholders, who held twenty-nine acres of land, paying certain rent, and doing suit to his three weeks court.^a

But it seems that the Monks of STONLEY had it soon after: for in 12 Edw. I. they obtained a charter of free warren in all their demesn lands of Stonley, and divers other places, whereof this is one.^b That which they had here being two carucates of land, as in 19 Edw. I. was certified, and a certain CELL; ^c which petty Cells were made use of by the abbats in those days as places of penance or punishment to such monks as either for any offence committed, or some displeasure from their superior were hither sent.^d But more of Horewelle I find not, other than it is included within the county of this city by King Henry the Sixth's charter."^e

In the Taxation of 1291 the Cell of Horewelle is thus noticed in the enumeration of the temporal possessions of the abbey of Stoneley:

"Item habet apud Horwelle quæ est quedam CELLA in eodem decanatu duas virgatas terræ et valent per annum 14s."^f

Cistercian Cell of Bleatarn, in Westmoreland.

F this Cell we know scarcely any thing. The Abbey of Byland, say Nicolson and Burn in their History of Westmoreland and Cumberland, had a Cell of monks here at Bleatarn, the manor of which place belonged to the abbey. The buildings covered a large space of ground. Among other vestiges of this Cell they mention fish-ponds, and a ground S. E. from the ponds, which went by the name of the Abbey Park.^g Llanlunan Nunnery, in Montgomeryshire.

ANNER says that the Nunnery of Llanlunan was founded before the year 1239, as in that year Hugh bishop of St. Asaph, appropriated the Church of Llanvain to it.^h

The following is the notice of this House in Pope Nicholas's Taxation:

"DIOC. ASSAVEN. Bona Abbath. de Lanlunan; Abbatissa habet ii. carucat. terræ et dim. cum parvo redd. et aliis commodit. 17. 1s. Abbatissa habet octo vaccas exitus 8s. Summa bonorum Abbathiæ de Lanl. 17. 9s."ⁱ

The value of the annual Revenues of this House in the 26th Hen. VIIIth. amounted to 22l. 14s. 8d.

No SEAL of this Nunnery has been met with: nor any references to Records concerning it. Nor are there any REMAINS of this Nunnery, but some of its painted glass is now in the chancel window of the parish Church.

Whiston, or Wytestane Dunnery, in Worcestershire in Claines: all of which were confirmed, together with the Scite of the House, by the prior and convent of Worcester, in 1255.^b On the 2d of the ides of July in the same year, the church was dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen.

Habingdon's Manuscripts inform us that bishop Giffard

HIS Priory, of seven or eight Nuns, situated in the north part of the city of Worcester, in the parish of Claines, was founded, according to Nash,^a by Walter de Cantilupe, bishop of Worcester.

Its endowment consisted of fifty one acres of arable land and two acres of meadow at Aston, of the tithes of half the demesne lands at Norwike and Newland, and of the lands of Richard Blund and Peter la Flagge gave to these Nuns the manor and patronage of Eston; but he quotes no authority for the gift, and Dr. Thomas could find nothing in the bishop's register confirming it. That Bishop Giffard, however, was a considerable benefactor appears in several places of the record called his Domesday: it is there said that he gave them twelve acres of arable land in Little Furlong which he bought of Peter de la Flagge.^c

Joan Talbot, lady of Richard's Castle, gave these nuns lands in Flagge, in 1331.^d

In the 8th Edward III. that king gave them licence to purchase lands to the value of 100*s.* a year: at the same time granting leave to Sir William Beauchamp to give them twenty acres of land in Northwick, and to Hugh de Hanford, chaplain, to give them two acres more in the same village.^e

Bishop Clifford, in 1407, appropriated to them the church of Weston: and King Edward the Fourth, in 1461, granted them 10*l.* a year out of the rents and profits of the county of Worcester.^f

The following is Nash's List of the

^a Hist. Coll. for Worcestershire, vol. i. p. 209.

PRIORESSES of WHISTON.

JULIANA, 1262.
AGNES DE BROMWICK died in 1308.
ALICE FLAGGE succeeded in the same year.
JULIAN LE POWER, 1328.
AGNES DE MONYNTON, 1349.
ELIZABETH HAMBURY, upon whose death
ELIZABETH TEWKYSBURY was chosen in 1428.
ELIZABETH WOTTON occurs in 1461. She died, 1472.
MARGARET SWINFEN succeeded in 1473.
JOAN MORTON was the next prioress.
JANE BURGHILL the last prioress was elected in 1535.
She had a pension granted to her at the Dissolution of 5*l.* 10*s.* which she still received in 1553.^a
This Nunnery does not appear to be noticed in Pope Nicholas's Taxation, probably upon account of the low ebb of its revenues.^b Its gross income in 1535 was 56*l.* 3*s.* 7*d.*; the clear revenue 53*l.* 3*s.* 7*d.*^c

The Scite of this Nunnery with the lands belonging to it in Claines were granted in the 35th of Henry VIII. according to Tanner, to one Richard Callowhill; Nash says, to Richard Callowhill, John Callowhill, John Callowhill the elder and John Callowhill the younger. The Scite of the Nunnery at present, which, from the dress of the Cistercian Nuns, retains the name of White Ladies, is held under the governor of a charity founded soon after the Reformation, as Nash believed by Queen Elizabeth, for the support of a blue-coat school in the city of Worcester.^d

No REGISTER of this foundation is known to exist.^e Some Proceedings as to this Nunnery temp. Hen. VIII. are in the Augmentation Office.

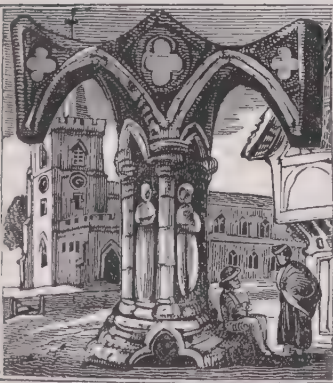

Nash has given very copious extracts in his Appendix of Records relating to this Priory, vol. i. p. 211—224, from the Registers of the Bishoprick of Worcester, chiefly relating to the appointment and confirmation of Prioresses.

Nunnery of Kirklees, or Kirklegthes, anciently Kuthales, near Wakefield, in Yorkshire.

HAT this was a Cistercian House, and not a Benedictine, as stated in the former edition of the Monasticon, we have the authority of the Registers of the See of York. Tanner says it was built in the time of Henry the Second. The founder was Reynerus Flandrensis. The edifice was dedicated to the honor of the Virgin Mary and St. James.
Reynerus's charter, with a confirmation from William earl of Warren as his superior lord, will be found in the Appendix,^f together with a general confirmation of the endowments of this Nunnery by King Henry the Third.^g
This Nunnery is not mentioned in the Taxation of Pope

Nicholas the Fourth, A.D. 1291, probably on account of its small endowment.
The church of Mirfield in Yorkshire was appropriated to it in 1403.^h
The following are the only names of the

PRIORESSES of KIRKLEES
which have occurred:

ELIZABETH DE STAYNTON, some time in the thirteenth century. Her tomb, which was found at Kirklees, is engraved by Hearne in the second volume of Leland's Itinerary, App. p. 96.: it had the following inscription in old French: "Douce Jhesu de Nazaret fites mercy a Elizabeth de Staynton jadis Prioires de cest Maison."
MARGARET DE CLAYWORTH, confirmed 4 kal. Oct. 1306.ⁱ
ALICIA DE SCREVVYN, confirmed 4th id. Jan. 1307.^k

MARGARET TARLTON was elected. She received confirmation as prioress April 24th, 1499.^b

MARGARET FLETCHER was confirmed March 10th, 1505.^c

CECILIA TOPCLIFFE, the last prioress, was confirmed in her office July 9th, 1527.^d

At the time of the Suppression, the Nunnery of Kirklees was valued at 20*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.* a year gross, and 19*l.* 8*s.* 1*d.* clear income.

The Scite was granted in the 36th Hen. VIII. to John Tasburgh and Nicholas Savill.

No REGISTER of this priory is at present known to exist.^e Nor has any SEAL been met with.

Kirklees came into the possession of the Armitages 8th Eliz. by purchase from Robert Pilkinton, and in this family it has continued to the present day, Kirklees Hall being now the seat of Sir George Armitage, Bart.

Margan Abbey, in Glamorganshire.

UGDALE gives the date of 1147 as the year when this Abbey was founded by Robert earl of Gloucester, who dedicated it to the blessed Virgin. In this date, also, the Annals of Margan agree, and mention it as the year of the earl of Gloucester's death.^a

The Chronicle printed in the second volume of Gale's Scriptores, called the "Annales de Margan," is a History of general scope, from 1066 to 1232, and throws but little light upon the particular affairs of the Monastery in which it was written. It gives the names, however, of four abbats; mentions three or four incursions of the Welsh, one in 1161, the others in 1123, 1124, and 1127, upon the property of the house;^b and remarks that Margan and Beaulieu in Hampshire, were the only Monasteries among the Cistercians released from King John's extortions in 1210. Margan was released upon the particular score that King John had been entertained there that year in his passage both to and from Ireland.

A portion in the church of Olneston, in the diocese of Worcester, of 10s., arising from tithe of hay and small tithes, is the only spiritual possession of the Abbey of Margan named in Pope Nicholas's Taxation. Temporalities, in the diocese of Worcester, are entered to the amount of 12*l.* 0s. 10½*d.*; and in the diocese of Llandaff in two distinct entries, to the amount of 243*l.* 6s. 6*d.*^c

Leland ascribes to this abbey the privilege of sanctuary:

^a The MS. Annals of Parcolude date this Monastery in 1146. Lel. Itin. vol. viii. p. 49. "Ex annalibus incerti autoris," says, "A.D. 1151 fundata est Abbatia de Margan à Roberto com. Gloucestræ:" and Speed says temp. Hen. II., who did not begin to reign till 1154, whereas Robert died Oct. 31, 1147. Quære, therefore, whether Robert might not begin this house only a little before his death, and William, his son and successor, finish it some time after. *Tann. ABBATS of MARGAN.

WILLIAM, the first abbat, died in 1153.^e

ANDREW, the second, died on the 11th kal. Jan. 1155.^f It was probably in the time of this abbat, or in that of his successor, that the altar of the Holy Trinity in the abbey church was consecrated by William bishop of Llandaff, 4th kal. Nov. 1187.^g

GILBERT resigned on the 15th kal. July, 1213: and died in the following year at Kirksted.^h

JOHN was his successor.ⁱ

Tanner speaks as if more than one REGISTER of this abbey was in existence. He says, Vide "REGISTRA et Cartas penes Thomam dom. Mansel de Margan."^k

An Indenture between the abbat of Margan and J. ap W. as to tithes, oblations, &c. in the churches of Enys Avon, Glincorrock, and Margan, is recited in Proceedings in Hil. 12 Eliz. rot. 490. in the King's Remembrancer's Office in the Exchequer.

A large Collection of original Charters belonging to this abbey is still preserved with the Harleian Manuscripts in the British Museum. The titles of the most important among them will be found with their references in the note below.^l

The COMMON SEAL of this abbey, appendant to a Deed dated 1518, has been elegantly lithographed by the care (as is believed) of the Rev. Mr. Traherne.

The Scite was granted to Sir Rice Maxwell, Knt. The abbey was afterwards the seat of Thomas lord Mansell. It now belongs to a family of the name of Talbot.

Heretofore the buildings of this abbey were very superb; but the present remains are insignificant.

NUM. IV.

The Grant of Thomas de Aven, to the Abbey of Margan, as I found it translated into English, among the Collections of the late Mr. Hugh Thomas, without mentioning whence he had it.

[Steevens's Contin. of Monasticon, vol. ii. p. 53.]

To all christian people to whose knowledge this present writing shall come, Thomas de Avene, the son of Sir John de Avene, Knight, lord of Avene, wisheth eternal happiness. Be it known unto you that I have, for the salvation of my soul, and for the souls of my father and mother, and of all my ancestors and successors, granted, released, and entirely quitted claim, for myself and my heirs and assigns for ever, to God and the church of St. Mary of Margan, and the monks serving God therein, as a free and perpetual alms, all the title I have had, or might any way have, to three acres and an half of meadow land, with its appurtenances in the marsh of Avene, which I have had from the Lady Margaret de Avene, in her free and legal widowhood, in exchange for five acres of meadow, in the same marsh of Avene, by the advice and consent of the aforesaid Sir John de Avene, my father. Which three acres and an half of meadow, begin at the highway eastward, and reach westward to John Dany's meadow, and to his arable land in Clandsannan northward, and southward to a meadow of the house of Margan, called Smith's Mead. The said three acres and a half, to have and to hold, as a free and perpetual alms, in such manner, that neither I the said Thomas de Avene, nor my heirs, nor assigns, nor any one in our name can ever require or claim any right or title to the said three acres and an half of meadow; but are by this present writing perpetually excluded. And furthermore, I the said Thomas de Avene, and my heirs and assigns, shall for ever defend, warrant, and maintain the said three acres and an half of meadow, with the appurtenances thereunto belonging, against all men. Moreover, I the said Thomas de Avene, having, after a diligent view thereof, considered the noble and magnificent structure of the walls continually made in the said monastery, have granted, and by these presents confirmed, unto the said monks all donations, grants, confirmations, and sales whatsoever, which they enjoy by the bounty of all my predecessors and their vassals; namely, whatever they have by the gift of Morgan ap Cradoc, as well in Rhos Onlyn, as in the marsh and moor of Avene, in lands, meadows, herbage, pastures, and in all the woods and appurtenances thereof, according to the tenor of the charters of the said Morgan. Also whatever they have by the gift of Leysan and Owen, the sons of the same Morgan; and all they have by the gift of Morgan Cam and his heirs. Also all they enjoy by the bounty of Morgan Vaghan, and Sir Leysan, the sons of the said Morgan Cam. Likewise whatever they have by the gift of Sir John de Avene, my father, as well in Rhos Onlyn, as in the marsh of Avene. All these donations, grants, confirmations, and sales, by all my ancestors, and their vassals, in what manner soever made over to the said monks, I bestow, grant, and confirm, and by this my present writing, ratify in my own name, and also for my heirs and assigns, in such manner that they are to have and enjoy for ever, all that is above specify'd, in as free and quiet a possession, as any other alms whatever may be held and enjoy'd. Granting nevertheless, and confirming to the said monks, for myself and heirs, and assigns for ever, all the hurdles or rods they shall have occasion for, on all the lands of my lordship, towards fishing in their water of Avene, without any lett or hindrance; and also, that they have free ingress and egress over all my lands, as well in the summer as winter, for their carriages from Rossonlyn to their abby, without giving them any lett or molestation, on that account, at any time whatsoever. In testimony of all which premisses, I have affix'd my seal to this present writing. Dated at Avene, the tenth of February, One thousand three hundred forty-nine.

Kinner, or Kemmer Abbey, in Merionethshire.

IR WILLIAM DUGDALE'S error relating to this Monastery, has been unfortunately perpetuated in the present edition. The confirmation of the possessions of Kemmer Abbey by Llewelin, Prince of North Wales, in 1209, has been printed in the Appendix to Cumhyre Abbey. See the present volume, p. 458.

Speed ascribes the foundation of Kemmer to this Llewelin: but Bishop Tanner thinks he was a benefactor only, and that the time of the foundation of the Abbey is not clear. Llewelin became Prince of North Wales in 1195, and died in 1240. Tanner says this Abbey was in a flourishing condition in 1231, when, in the wars of King Henry III. with the Welsh, the English would have burnt it, but the Abbat gave them three hundred marks to spare it.^a

The Harleian Manuscript 696. fol. 119. preserves a Pleading in Quo Waranto relating to the Liberties claimed by the Abbat of Kinner in the time of King Edward the First.

Tanner says "Vide Cart. 11 Edw. I. n. 3. Pat. 9 Edw. II. p. 1, m. 4. pro terris in Newgall. Pat. 17 Edw. II. p. 2, m. 23. Pat. 6 Edw. III. p. 2, m. 11 vel 12."

Not any SEAL of this Abbey has been yet met with.

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the clear income of this House was 58*l*. 15*s*. 4*d*.; the net revenue 51*l*. 13*s*. 4*d*.

Kemmer is a mile distant from Dolgelly, and near to the banks of the river Mowthy. The walls of the Church yet remain.^b Nunnery of Marham, or Marham Barbara, in Norfolk.

LOMEFIELD, in his History of Norfolk, vol. iv. p. 125, says, This Abbey, for so he calls it, was founded by Isabel, widow of Hugh de Albini, earl of Arundel; and dedicated to the Virgin Mary, St. Barbara, and St. Edmund the King, by Richard de la Wiche, bishop of Chichester, Jan. 27th, 1249. The foundation Deed will be seen in the Appendix.

On St. Bartholomew's day, 1252, this Nunnery was incorporated into the Abbey of Waverley by the Abbats of Waverley and Beaulieu in Hampshire. This Incorporation, Blomefield's continuator conceives, was the reason of some author's asserting this House to have been founded in 1252. Walter, bishop of Norwich, granted licence for this Incorporation Sept. 6th, 1251.

The Foundress endowed this House with the manor and lands which her father had in Marham, and which he gave her in frank marriage, as appears by his deed in Blomefield: and this gift of the Foundress was confirmed by John earl of Warren her brother. She also gave a rent of twenty-two shillings to these Nuns, which she had purchased of Sir Roger de Wymples of Thuringthorpe for fifteen marks of silver; together with a messuage, land, and the whole tenement which Thomas de le Wro, chaplain, once held of her in Marham, and a tenement there, and land, meadows, &c. in Suldham, which she had of Ralph de Waleys.

King Henry the Third confirmed the foundation deed and grants of the Foundress Sept. 3d, in his 36th year.

Walter, bishop of Norwich, in 1251, granted the Nuns free sepulchre in their Chapel here, with power to perform divine offices, reserving their proper rights to the parochial Churches of the Holy Trinity and St. Andrew in Marham; which was ratified in 1294 by the Prior and Convent of West Acre, and the Vicar of the said Churches.

Other benefactors of small portions of property in Marham, Schuldham, Kentford, Gaysle, Needham, Her-ingswell, Besthorpe, and Stow Bedon, are enumerated in Blomefield.

King Richard the Second confirmed the charters of this House in the 9th year of his reign. In his 18th year, the convent had an additional patent for fifty acres of land in Waynflete.

The churches appropriated to this Nunnery were, Carlton Forhowe in Norfolk, Stow Bedon, Dedlington, Hackford, and Rockland St. Peters.

In the 12th Edw. II. a fine was levied by John earl of Warren and Surrey, by which he settled the advowson or patronage of this house, which came to his family on the death of the foundress without issue, on the Earl of Lancaster; and, in 1347, the said Earl John died seised of the patronage, leaving Alice his sister and heir, married to Edmund Fitz Alan, earl of Arundel; but the patronage came to the house of Lancaster by the aforesaid fine; and, in the 34th Edw. III. it was settled by Henry duke of Lancaster on Maud his daughter and coheir, married to William earl of Hainault. In the 40th Edw. III. Blanch, the other daughter and coheir of Duke Henry, with her husband John Duke of Lancaster, were possessed of it.

The Abbess had the power of proving the Wills of those who died within the jurisdiction of the House.

ABBESSES of MARHAM.

MARY occurs about A.D. 1251.

SARAH, 17 Edw. II. and 1316.

AGATHA HOWARD, 16th Edw. III. In the 39th Edw. III. called late Abbess.

MARY DE INGHAM, adm. 7th July 1363.

EGIDIA HOWARD occurs 3 Rich. II.

ELIANOR WEYLAND occurs 1384, and 6th Hen. V.

MARGERIE, 5 and 6 Hen. IV.

JOAN NARBURGH occurs 1453 and 1467.

JOAN HEIGHAM, in 1486 and 3 Hen. VII. and 1501.

BARBARA MASON occurs in 1511. She was the last Abbess.^a

This Nunnery appears to have been but meanly endowed, and was therefore often pardoned and excused from the payment of tenths, and more particularly by King Edward the First, in the 10th year of his reign.^b

^a Compare Blomef. iv. p. 125—129.

^b Taxat. P. Nich. IV. fol. 305 b.

The only entry of the property of this house in Pope Nicholas's Taxation, is in an article among the temporalities of the diocese of York: "Priorissa de Marham habet apud Eston, 1*l*. 0*s*. 0*d*." ^a

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross revenue of this House was returned at 4*l*. 4*s*. 7½*d*. the net revenue at 3*l*. 0*s*. 1½*d*. At the Dissolution, strange crimes were laid to the charge of some of the nuns of this House, in the "Compendium Compertorum."

The Scite of Marham Nunnery, with various other lands in the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk, was granted in the 38th Hen. VIII. to Sir Nicholas Hare, knight, and to John Hare, citizen and mercer of London. ^b

Tanner notices a REGISTER of Marham Nunnery as in the possession of Sir John Hare of Stowhall in Norfolk in 1632. Some Collectanea of family history from it, taken by Sir Symonds D'Ewes in 1637, are preserved in the Harleian MS. 294. fol. 173 b. Tanner's other references will be seen below. ^c

A Rental of Marham Abbey is in the Library of the Duke of Buckingham and Chandos, at Stow. Press iv. num. liii. ^d

There is a Paper Survey of Marham, of the time of Henry the Eighth, in the Augmentation Office.

An Impression of the SEAL of this Nunnery is said to be among the evidences of the family of Hare. Blomefield, and Mr. Taylor in the Index Monasticus after him, have described an imperfect Impression.

Sir Thomas Hare, Baronet, is the present owner of Marham.

Elreton, or Ellerton-upon-Swale Nunnery,

IN YORKSHIRE.

TANNER says, "On the south side of the Swale, a mile beneath Maryke, was a small Priory of White-cloathed or Cistercian Nuns, thought to have been founded by Warnerius, dapifer to the Earl of Richmond, or his son Wymerus, temp. Hen. II."^a

Burton, in the Monasticon Eborascense says,

"By Kirby's inquest it appears that the Prioress of this place held two oxgangs of land here in 15 Edw. I.^b And, by the same inquest, it likewise appears that this Prioress, with the heirs of Thomas de Hereford, were joint lords of Ellerton cum Staynton."^c

Tanner gives the following MS. references relating to this Nunnery: Vide "In MSS. Dodsworth, vol. lxxiv. fol. 162. Cartam Brithivæ fil. Normanni de Elreton et Adami nepotis, de terris in Alretona concessis Priorissæ et Monialibus. Fin. Ebor. lig. I. 52 Hen. III. n. 57. Plac. assis. apud Ebor. 14 Edw. I. rot. 22. de ten. in Melsomby. Pat. 21 Edw. III. p. 3, m. 2."

The revenues of Ellerton appear to be unnoticed in Pope Nicholas's Taxation. In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross income was 15*l.* 14*s.* 8*d.*, the net income 15*l.* 10*s.* 6*d.*

Tanner says that the Scite was granted, in the 33d Hen. VIII. to John Aske (of Aughton); but Burton says this is a mistake.

The COMMON SEAL of this Nunnery has not yet been discovered.

Its small remains are situated a little below the Priory of Marrick. The shell of the church is entire.

St. Bernard's College of Cistercians, in Oxford.

WITH this House we close our account of the Cistercian Monasteries.

The following was extracted relating to it, by Stevens in his Supplement, from the Manuscripts of Antony à Wood. MS. in Musæo Oxon. 8491. See also Pat. 15 Hen. VI.

"Henry Chichely, archbishop of Canterbury, and primate of all England, considering that the schollers of the Cistercian Order, as well of England and Wales, as of Ireland, studying in the university of Oxon, had no place to them or their order, appointed within the said university in which they might dwell together, and for which cause they inhabited separate, and dispers'd in divers inns and halls therein, and for the same cause did not perform the dues of divine service, or laudably would, or could, fulfill the customs and statutes of their order as they ought to do: for which reason, I say, some devout scholars, finding themselves troubled in their consciences, have formerly refrain'd the university, and some, though they were elected according to the custom of their order to go to Oxon to obtain philosophical learning, have notwithstanding refus'd so to do, to the great detriment of science and renown belonging to that order.

* Tanner adds, "See, in Mon. Angl. tom. ii. p. 370. two grants of these, Warner and his son Wymer, to the Hospital of St. Leonard or St. Peter, in York, of the ninth sheaf of their demesne lands in Elreton; after the recital of which, Mr. Dodsworth, MS. vol. vii. fol. 30, adds, 'Opinor prædictum Wymerum seu Warnerum patrem suum fuisse fundatores Monialium de Ellerton.' Mr. Thoresby, in Ducat. Leod. p. 72, saith JOHN BARDEN (who lived in the time of VOL. V.

king Edward III. or Richard II.) was sole founder. But the Records shew that the House was much older. Mr. Gale saith, Append. to Richmond, p. 245, he hath heard, that the foundation charter was in the hands of Henry Drax, Esquire, owner of this place, A.D. 1722."

^c Burton, Monast. Ebor. p. 263.

This then the archbishop considering, desir'd King Henry the VIth. that he might perform some acceptable thing to God, in helping or contributing towards the necessities of these holy Cistercians, in building them a place where they might gain humane and heavenly knowledge. Wherefore the said king, by his letters patents, dated at Lambeth, 20 March, the 15 year of his reign, that is, 1437, gave him leave to erect a college to the honour of the most glorious Virgin St. Mary, and St. Bernard, in the street commonly call'd Northgate-street, in the parish of St. Mary Magdalene without Northgate, and on the ground of the said archbishop, containing five acres, or thereabouts, which he held of the king in capite. This he did building it of free stone, in the same place aforespecify'd, on the east side of that street, and after the same mode and fashion, for matter of workmanship, as his college afterwards of All Souls was built.

"Dr. Houden, in the Life of Chichely, MS. tells us, that he intended this college at first for scholars, but disliking the situation, left it to the Cistercians, and built All Souls.

"The lands that these monks did enjoy as belonging to this college: I have not as yet met with any, for those that inhabited here were as those of St. Mary's College, maintain'd by the abbies of their orders, at their own particular charges. They were govern'd by a provisor, and he and they subordinate to the chancellor,^a who I find was their visitor. They had their logick and philosophy readers maintain'd by stipends rais'd from the monks, and were chosen by the provisor, and three of the seniors of the said house, and when they had gotten a competency of university knowledge, were to be sent for home, and exercise the same in their own abbies, and others sent in their places, amongst whom I find^b one or two that were always maintain'd here, at the charges of the abbat and convent of Rewley, paying thereto 7*l.* per annum. This it seems they were enjoyn'd by their statutes so to do, as also by the ordination of King Henry the VIIIth. and which was reckon'd among their revenues in that fatal survey in the 26 of the said king; amongst divers exercises that I find^c these monks perform'd in the university were that they preach'd at the church of St. Peter, in the East Oxon, twice in Lent time, which probably may be the reason why St. John's College Fellows, who succeeded these monks in their college, do usually to this day perform the same custom.

"6. ROBERT CUMBE provisor. Anno 1532, Regist. p. 282.

"7. Father PHILIP ACTON, about the year 1535, as I think.

"As for the buildings and lodgings they enjoy'd, was at first only the front, and the south side of the college, the hall and some other small edifices; being (as I find by a controversy between the abbat of Treynties of this order, and certain masons) not built till anno 1502, or thereabouts; the chapel also, which is yet standing, was not consecrated till anno 1530, which was by Robert King, bishop of Reonen. suffragan to John Longland, bishop of

Lincoln, in whose diocese Oxon then was, and somewhat before which time they were free from mortuaries, and other exactions, due to the vicar of Magdalene Church, in whose parish they were. Adjoining to their lodgings they had pleasant walks, enlarg'd with land purchas'd (by several long leases to succeed each other) of the master and fellows of University College, as also a parcel of ground, rented of Durham College, for which they paid an annual pension, and all, both lodgings, chambers, edifices, and gardens, were, as I have seen, in a roll concerning the particulars of St. Frideswide's Monastery, in King Henry the VIIIth's reign, esteem'd in length and breadth but two acres, and worth, if let to farm, but 20*s.* per annum; by which we may understand (considering the premisses) how this place, at or about the time of its dissolution, was so much (as 'tis here express'd) undervalu'd, and therefore sold, I verily believe, as they say, for Robin Hood's pennyworths.

After its suppression, from the use of the monks, though not of buildings, which I find was not till after the year 1539, was, viz. all its buildings, gardens, enclosures, &c. excepting the bells and lead, in the 38 of Henry the VIIIth. granted to his new erected college and cathedral of Christ Church, which college afterwards, upon the pious intention of Sir Thomas White, citizen of London, did, by their writing, dated 25 May, in the 1 and 2 of Phil. and Mary alienate it to him, for the use of a college of students, which he did endow, calling it by the name of St. John Baptist's College.

"Arms in St. Bernard's College Chapel, against the South Wall at the upper end, cut in Stone.

"1. Three chevrons.

"2. A bend chequy, surmounted of a crosier in pale.

"3. Three horse-shoes.

"4. A lion's face in dexter canton, a fleur-de-lis in base dexter, a crosier in pale on the sinister side of the escocheon.

"All the arms in the chapel, besides these, were set up since the chapel was restor'd by Sir Thomas White."

Warton, Lif. of Sir Tho. Pope, 2d edit. p. 295, note 6, says:

"Bernard College was inhabited by students under that name, in the year 1549; and as I conjecture two or three years afterwards. I find a Manciple of Bernard College suing for battels in the Vicechancellor's Court, 1549. Regist. Cur. Cancell. Oxon. GG. fol. 37. Its last prefect, called Provisor, before its endowment by Sir Thomas Whyte, was Dr. Kennall. It had been an academical convent of Bernardines built by Archbishop Chichely. Pat. ann. 15 Henr. VI. membr. 24. [A.D. 1437.] The king sets forth, that whereas Henry Chichely, archbishop of Canterbury, intends to found 'quoddam congruum et notabile mansum collegiale in honorem gloriosissimæ Virginis Mariæ sanctique Bernardi, in vico vulgariter Northgates strete, vel saltem prope dictum vicum, in parochia sanctæ Mariæ Magdalene, juxta et extra portam borealem villæ Oxon. in solo ipsius archiepiscopi, continente quinque acras terræ vel circiter, quæ de nobis tenentur in capite,' &c. In a roll in the Court of Augmentations, the scite and garden of Bernard College, containing two acres, with all its edifices, and the garden of Durham College, is valued at xx*s.* per annum. Pyx S. Frideswyde, Oxon."

King Richard the Third's Letters to the Abbats of the Cistercian Order in England for the encouragement of the buildings of this Monastery, dated May 24th, and Dec. 2d, in the first year of his reign, may be seen in the Harleian Manuscript 433, foll. 125 b. 230 b.
